In 1960 this percentage slumped to 43%. LaBlance contends this was due to the religious issue in the presidential race. In 1962 it was back up to 45%.

In 1964, he says, it will be at least 50% for the first time in history.

THE REPUBLICAN split between Gov. George Romney and presidential nominee Barry Goldwater will help the Democrats in Charlevoix County, LaBlance said.

He especially feels it will be important in Staeble's bid to upset Romney. In 1962, LaBlance pointed out, Staeble got 100,000 more Michigan votes than Romney did.

The two major issues LaBlance feels will carry Johnson over the 50% mark in Charlevoix County --and with him Staeble-- are:

1--Democratic support for medi-care. Many senior citizens and their families, LaBlance said, strongly favor the medicare bill.

2--The upswing in the economy makes people leery of any change in government. Michigan's healthy economy, he said, is due to Democrats in Washington...not Republican in Lansing. To support this argument he points the entire country's economy--not just Michigan's -- is booming.

THE COUNTY Democratic Committee will hold a campaign strategy meeting Oct. 3, 8:30 p.m., in the Charlevoix City Hall.

At the meeting township and ward get out the vote chairman will be advised in how to do their job.

Charlevoix Democratic get out the vote chairmen are Frances Martin, first ward; Ivan Whitley, second ward, and Mrs. Elmer Gibson, third ward.

Others are: Charlevoix Township, Julius Elzinga; Marlon Township, Anton Mutt; Hayes Township, Mrs. Theodore Tunison; Norwood Township, Mrs. Clyde Warner; Eveline Township, Joe Howe; Boyne City, Irving Smith and Pete Johnson; East Jordan, Don Bowers; Pease Township and St. James Township, Alvin LaFreniere.

Mrs. LaBlance is county get out the vote chairman.

Staeble Group

Mrs. Clyde Warner, Charlevoix County Staeble-for-Governor Committee chairman, reports she has appointed six sub-committee chairmen.

They are: Carl Skornia, Boyne City, education committee; Archie Murphy, East Jordan, agriculture; Dr. Walter Hoffmann, Charlevoix, business and professional; Peter Johnson, Boyne City, labor; Ted Tunison, Charlevoix, senior citizens, and Arthur Osborn, Charlevoix, finance.

"the Path of the Just"

--- is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

Prov. 4-18.

Are you dimming that light? Is your shadow deepening earth's gloom?

Our world is in peril, and the soul, the immortal spirit which gives us power to think and reason, is all that will survive. If you are God's light, set in the midst of darkness to show someone the way to church, the way to usefulness, the way to help others, then your living is worthwhile.

We may know our light is showing the way when the cause of our home, our church, our community, our world are advanced. God knows the hour is late and the way is dark, but He is the one who spoke "Let there be light, and there was light."

You In The Church
The Church In You

ELLSWORTH GRIDDER Walter Kooyer (number 45) reaches for this pass in Friday's game with Bellaire, but it is knocked down by the Eagles' Bryon Smith (48). Coming in, but too late, to assist is Lancer Carl Goeman (46). (COURIER PHOTO)

Ellsworth Bows To Eagle Attack

by ROY STAUDENMEYER
Things can only get better for Ellsworth's Lancers after Friday's 25-6 defeat at the hands of a big, experienced Bellaire Eagles squad.

The Eagles kicked off to Ellsworth Gibbs received on the 15 and ran it back to the 25. Boss calling the plays for the Lancers moved the team for a first down. The next series of plays failed, so Richardson punted.

Bellaire tried a few power plays but could not advance. Most of the first quarter was played in this fashion with the Lancers refusing to let the Eagles cross the middle strip.

In the second quarter the Lancers had two chances to smell the goal line, but Bellaire defense changed the aroma.

Late in the second half the Eagles' Ash romped to the 5. After trying the center on second down, Ash skirted the left end for the touchdown. Extra point missed.

With only a minute and a half before the half ended Ellsworth pushed the ball to the 20 yard line, with Boss using Kenon the outside and Doctor going up the middle it seemed like they would strike pay dirt. Boss tried to tread the needle but Bellaire had the territory covered. Half ended with Bellaire 6 Ellsworth 0.

It was Ellsworth's turn to kick off to the Eagles and they ran it back to their 35, with the Lancers holding the Eagles to a small gain on fourth down Mike McMullan busted through the center and ran for the TD. Ash's kick for the extra point was good, Bellaire 13, Ellsworth 6.

Bellaire once again kicked to the Lancers, but the kick was offside, and the ball was placed on Ellsworth's 30 yard line, with first and ten, Kenblast-ed for 15 yards. Boss sent Bert off right guard for four yds. Boss faked to Doctor and threw a pass to Walt Kooyer playing end. It went into his hands and he dropped it. A pass play with TD written all over it. Boss on last down threw a pass and it was intercepted on the 25 of the Eagles, with the quarterback trying his backs to no avail Ash fumbled, drawing Ellsworth defense in he picked up the ball dodged several tacklers and sent a pass to McMullan who was in the clear and outran Gibbs and Richardson in hot pursuit, Bellaire 19.

In the third quarter the Lancers had the Eagles going backwards the Eagles fumbled and Bert recovered. Another opportunity to cash in on some points but the taste of the goal line was not to their liking.

Bellaire started another drive and within ten plays Bryon Smith scored Ash covering the extra point, Bellaire 25.

Ellsworth receiving the ball on its 30. Kooyer now calling the signals ran a quarterback option and kept it. Being tackled by the face mask, gave the Eagles a 15 yard penalty and automatic first down. Two good running plays with Richardson eating up most of the yardage. Walt kept on a quarterback sneak and Ellsworth was on the score board for the first in the game, Ken missed the extra point, Bellaire 25 Ellsworth 6.

Even though Ellsworth lost the game there were many exciting moments. The Lancers did not give up.

Ron Drenth played a good game with key tackles and kept his side well blocked. Carl Goeman is looking better on defense with gaining more experience in each game. The Torng Twins are erasing the rust spots. Vandenberg is improving at center and Gibbs at guard is a new position for him he will play anywhere the coach needs him.

This month the Conservation Commission is expected to make a decision of crucial importance to Michigan's pioneering and most dedicated conservationists: Whether flies - only fishing should be continued on a limited number of trout streams.

At this writing it seems unlikely the flies - only regulations on the AuSable River and others will be discarded. But in this era when mass recreation is King anything can happen.

THERE HAVE BEEN protests against restricting some of the nation's best trout water for fly fishermen. The basic argument against flies only rules is that too few people benefit.

If anyone can tell us how many people fly fish it is Jack Schwagert of Roscommon. Jack's been in the tackle business in the heart of the trout fishing country for 30 years. His wife ties some of the finest trout flies sold.

Jack, himself, isn't particular. He would just as soon sell worms. But he no longer stocks garden hackle. There's just not enough call for worms from the men who sooth their tensions and numb their quiet prayers along the AuSable, Manistee and other Michigan trout streams of national fame.

When he started in the tackle shop business 80% of his patrons asked for worms, Jack tells this column (which is one of his most devoted customers). Today less than 20% of his customers ask for worms. So he doesn't even stock them.

"MORE PEOPLE ARE fishing for the sport of it," Jack says. "More people realize the true value of the outdoors is not measured in the pounds of game they get.

"Years ago they used to

Few Takers on Late Season

Charlevoix trout fishermen have lost their original enthusiasm for the late season on flies-only waters of the main stream and South Branch of the AuSable River.

Charles Weleh, Rosecommon, Conservation Dept. Information division chief for the northern Lower Peninsula, reports practically no local fishermen have been taking advantage of the late season.

THE SEASON THIS year on the flies-only stretches of the two streams lasts until Oct. 11. There have been a few light hatches since the regular season closed Sept. 13.

However, the weather has been unseasonably wet or cold, especially on weekends, making fly fishing almost impossible.

come in and beef if they didn't catch anything now. Now they come in empty handed and say, "Gee it was nice down there (on the stream)."

Not only are more trout fishermen using flies. Jack says his business volume increases every year. This, he contends, is because there are more fishermen. He is undoubtedly right. But I suspect it is also because his reputation for quality tackle and good advice has grown.

Why are more people turning to the peace and intimate association with nature that fly fishing offers? Jack doesn't have the answer to this anymore than the Conservation Commission can measure the value of the outdoors to a tension-bound society.

REMOVING THE FLYS - ONLY limitations on the handful of streams where they apply would only be rubbing salt in the wound for this growing number of angling purists.

They already face a constant assault from canoeists who threaten to drive them from their streams. Which is also a subject on which Jack has some pretty strong opinions.

Trout fishermen, he points out, salvaged the streams after lumbermen left their banks bare and their bottoms filling with silt. The banks were beaded up and forests planted. Then the trout fishermen paid license fees for years, while warm water fishermen paid nothing. This money went to purchase public access to the streams and keep them beautiful.

Now the canoeists, who pay nothing, are forcing the fishermen into a corner on the land they preserved.

NOT ONLY THAT, the canoeists are slowly whittling away at the natural beauty of streams by leaving tons of litter, smoldering fires and shamelessly cutting trees at random.

Jack would have the canoeists pay something for the right to use the streams fishermen paid to save. He would also make canoeists prove they are skilled in their craft before launching their tin cans to run down wading anglers. And, he suggests, the number of canoes on a stream should be limited so that some room is left for fishermen.

But the commission has done its best for years to ignore the canoe controversy. The issue at hand this month is preserving flies-only regulations.

Let's hope the commission takes into consideration the opinion of men like Jack Schwagert. Unfortunately, most of the state's fly fishermen are a quiet, gentle lot who fish to get out of the battleground of the big city and do not figure they should have to fight to save the sport they love.

In Showdown with East Jordan

Chips on Line for Rayders

By FRANK MARTIN

The defending champions of the Northern Michigan Class C League, Charlevoix and East Jordan, clash Friday in what is one of the most important games of the season.

Whether the Rayders are to continue as contenders for this year's title will depend on the outcome of Friday's meeting to be staged at Kipke field at 8 p. m. The same may well be true of East Jordan's future.

HOWEVER, CHARLEVOIX with a line that is not only inexperienced for the most part, but light compared to East Jordan's, will go into the game as the underdog after its 19-13 loss to Harbor Springs last week. East Jordan boasts 18 returning lettermen, among them Dave Donaldson, 175 pound senior fullback, and Fred Malpass, 185 pound halfback who is playing his third season of Varsity ball, who are expected to make their initial appearance this week after being benched because of injuries.

Rayder Coach Don Carey, in commenting on the Rayders' game with the Harbor Springs Rams last Friday, said his players made a good showing against a more experienced team. He added they have a fine attitude and great determination and these two things may have to be counted on to carry them through against this week's adversary. The team has fair speed and some experience in the backfield but when they must run against a big line like Harbor's or East Jordan's, the going gets pretty tough, he added.

IN LAST WEEK'S GAME, the Rayder defense was real tough; the offense however, was not as consistent or as sharp as it has to be to have a winning team, coach Carey continued.

"East Jordan has a veteran club and we will have to play better ball than we have up until now if we hope to win," Carey said.

Only a desperation pass on fourth down that clicked with 95 seconds remaining in the clock gave East Jordan a 6-6 tie at Grayling last week. Though the Red Devils were without the services of Malpass and Donaldson who are due to start this week, the Jordanites had not anticipated much opposition from the Vikings and so were startled when Grayling made a successful goal line stand early in the game.

This week Red Devil Coach Wes Fleet, who has been grooming this team for the past three years when he started a rebuilding program, said that his team's defense would have to be tightened and the offense sharpened if they were to successfully defend the title they now share with the Rayders.

NEITHER COACH would hazard a forecast on the outcome of this week's game but both agreed their teams would have to play their best ball if they are to stay in the running for the title.

At Harbor Springs Friday night, where Charlevoix finished on a wrong end of a 19-13 score, the young Rayders could not contain hard-running George Kilborn, 220 pound junior fullback who is playing his third season of Varsity ball, and senior halfback, 200 pound Andy Skocylas, who were the Rams' chief ground-gainers, taking their orders from another veteran, quarterback George Lauer.

Neither team made any appreciable gains as the first period ended with the Rams in possession of the ball on their own 40 and leading 6-0.

As the second period got underway, the Rams continued their battering attack on the Rayder line. Lauer passed to Winegard in the end zone for the touchdown. This time Lauer's conversion kick was good.

THE RAYDER offense then started to click and, after returning the kick-off to their own 45, Charlevoix, in five plays, moved to the Harbor eight where Del Terrilli pitched one to Rich Grunch for the scoring play. Steve Smith's conversion boot was wide.

The Rams countered with a third scoring play when Kilborn again bucked the line for the touchdown. The conversion kick was wide and the score stood at 19-6 as the half ended.

The Rams turned to controlled ball as the second half got underway and the action slowed down with neither team making inroads into the other's territory.

After the ball had changed hands several times in the final period, Charlevoix recovered a Ram fumble on Harbor's 43 and moved to the two-yard line where Dave Smith went in to score with 5:05 remaining on the clock. Steve Smith's kick was good to make the score 19-13.

Salinity may reduce crop yields as much as 25 percent and, under extreme conditions, may ruin soil for almost any type of agricultural production. All waters contain some salt and a salinity threat exists wherever irrigation is practiced, says C. D. Welch, Texas A & M extension soil chemist.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER the Beautiful SPORTS

Boyne Proves Tough

By FRANK MARTIN

The results of this week's games in the Northern Michigan Class C league should begin to point up the capabilities of the eight teams in the loop in contention for the title.

Other games will find Harbor Springs traveling to Grayling, Boyne City will travel to Gaylord and Mancelona will host Pellston.

Touted earlier as a "has-been" because of the lack of material, the Boyne City Ramblers come through with a 19-0 victory over Mancelona to become a strong contender for the title.

This week the Ramblers will travel to Gaylord to take on the Blue Devils, who were nothing short of lucky in their 12-7 win over Pellston.

WITH QUARTERBACK Jim Johnson and Gene Sanders the "big guns" in the backfield and with a line that boasts little experience, the Blue Devils are not expected to be any match for Coach Paul Pfahler's stubborn Ramblers. Chances are Boyne City will return home this week with another win to its credit.

After holding a favored East Jordan eleven scoreless until the last 95 seconds and allowing them only one touchdown, the Grayling Vikings have proven they cannot be discounted as a strong contender for a league title. Their opponent this week will be another title-bound team, the Harbor Springs Rams. This game could be close and, if the Vikings can cut down the Ram first stringers, they might come through with a victory over a team whose weakness is its lack of depth.

The Pellston-Mancelona game will likely end in a win for the Hornets whose sting may yet be felt despite their earlier loss to Gaylord.

Pistols Have Pretentious Bark

ONE OF CHARLEVOIX'S least known, but most enthusiastic groups is the Rod and Gun Club's pistol team.

Every Thursday evening the pretentious bark of 22 rim-fire pistols fills the clubhouse at the Rod and Gun Club on U. S. 31, four miles north of town.

A DOZEN, OR SO, men stand behind tables aiming pistols at metal target traps 25 yards away at the other end of the clubroom.

Some of their pistols are elaborately machined and balanced pieces of equipment. Not the kind you see in a cops and robbers movies. Others are plain and unadorned.

The pistol's appearance and "feel", of course, means something to the shooter. But the real objective is to see how many rounds they can put in the tiny bullseye.

And many of the team's shooters are some of the best anywhere. Their weekly scores regularly include several in the 200's and 280's. This is only ten or 20 points from perfect.

THE TEAM ALWAYS welcomes new members, whether beginners or sharpshooters. Just contact one of the members shown in these Courier Camera closeups.

BERNIE WARD JR., one of the team's top shooters shows his championship form as he aims into the Courier Camera's lens.

BOYNE CITY--Today, Thursday Oct. 1, is the first of eight cooperative feeder cattle sales here in Northern Michigan. The sale for this area will be held at the Northern Michigan Beef Breeders Association yards at Gaylord.

Some 3,300 head of feeders were sold last year. With the prospects of a larger sale this year, the directors have made two sales. Yearling cattle will be sold today starting at noon. The calves will be sold one week from today, next Thursday Oct. 8.

ABOUT 25 LOCAL BEEF producers sold cattle at the sale at Gaylord last year. They brought back to Charlevoix County slightly more than $50,000.

This is truly a cooperative sale. The members own the sale yards. They all help to get the cattle ready for the sale. The cattle come in on Monday and Tuesday, are sorted, weighed and placed in groups of 6 to 40 per pen.

Anyone that is considering a feeder calf program is urged to come over to this annual event and learn first hand about the business.

Clevenger Launches Campaign

Ray Clevenger, Democratic Candidate for Congress, announced today that Marquette Banker Homer Hilton, Jr., will head up his 11th Congressional District campaign committee as chairman.

Hilton is Vice-President of the Union National Bank. Other district committee officers are: Mrs. Elora Vader of Escanaba, Vice-Chairman; Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City, Secretary; and Premise M. Brown Jr., of St. Ignace, Treasurer.

CLEVENGER KICKED off his campaign at a meeting in the Northland Hotel in Marquette, with a statement that the number one issue of the campaign is to get the economy of the 11th District moving.

"We've had problems growing for years, and we've had many, many studies that have told us how to solve these problems," Clevenger said. "But we haven't had the political action needed actually to solve our problems and I intend to show what a vigorous effort can do for the District."

"One person can't run a railroad by himself. But a person who is asleep at the switch can derail a train. Our job is to get this train back on the track and get it moving."

TOOT Tour Here

Seventy members of the Greater Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce are in Charlevoix today on their TOOT (Toot Our Town Tour).

The Grand Rapids businessmen and civic leaders chose Charlevoix as their "fun stop" for the tour. Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport said. They have been making brief stops in other towns to promote Grand Rapids.

HOWEVER, THEY are staying over in Charlevoix to eat lunch and, weather permitting, play golf with approximately 60 members of the Charlevoix chamber at the Belvedere Golf Club.

GOP Grumbles While Romney Rides Alone

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY'S closest fan club is being lulled into an unreal security.

At least that's the impression one gets from intimate conversation with Charlevoix County Democratic leader George LaBlanc. And it adds up to good sound reasoning.

IF YOU'RE TRADING soundings out the political scene, you find signs of growing unrest among Charlevoix Republicans due to Romney's cold shoulder toward the party's standard bearer, Sen. Barry Goldwater. This was evident at the County Republican Convention, when Charlevoix Republicans stood up and demanded to know why Romney has grown so big for his bristles he feels he can spin the party that put him in office.

The answer they got was that Romney feels he will lose independent, Negro and Democrat votes if he supports Goldwater.

Doesn't Romney realize, they ask, that he was elected by Republicans? Some Democrats may have switched over, but if Romney thinks he can get elected by Democrats he better reclaim his American Motors throne before Nov. 3.

It was Republicans, this increasing number of irritated GOP faithfuls point out, who went to work on a door-to-door campaign in Detroit and suburban Wayne County to convince Democrats to switch over. But, in the final analysis, it was the outstate Republican vote that elected Romney.

IN SPITE OF THEIR qualms about Romney's support for income taxes, closed union shops, minimum pay and other moderate views, thousands of Republicans worked their tails off to get him elected.

A lifetime local Democrat who voted for Romney in 1962 and intends to vote for Goldwater -- but not Romney -- in 1964 got downright nasty about the civil rights issue recently. Romney, he declared, never demonstrated a feeling for minority races in his home life or work. Only when it became politically expedient to do so did he get on the civil rights bandwagon. President Lyndon Johnson shares this hypocrisy with the Michigan governor, my turncoat friend claims.

Now the governor condemns Goldwater for voting against the 1964 civil rights bill. This licks the Charlevoix man who has decided to bolt his party. Goldwater, he points out, championed the cause of Negro rights at home and in business long before he entered politics, but could not support the civil rights bill because it makes a mockery of the constitutional guarantee of equality for all men.

HOWEVER, THE CRUX of the mounting local displeasure with Romney comes from old line Republicans. They contend Romney would hehethering his and Goldwater's chances of election if he would help spread the Arizona Senator's message in Michigan. These people believe in Goldwater. The GOP faithful say they have never seen so much local enthusiasm for a presidential candidate.

Weekly Republican party meetings (8 p.m. Thursdays in City Hall) draw ever larger crowds of young people who made it a point to ignore politics until this fall. One visit to a meeting leaves no doubt but what Goldwater is the reason for the enthusiasm.

Many remarks are heard like, "I've got half a mind not to vote for Romney." But, so far, I have not heard a loyal Republican say he definitely will withhold his vote for Romney.

HOWEVER, IF CHARLEVOIX'S mood is typical of Michigan, on election day some Republicans are going to desert Romney. Let's hope

George Romney
During July Visit Here

It isn't too many.

Michigan's national and business and industrial image has greatly improved under Romney's leadership. There has been a reawakening, but few results, in the legislature. The economy is good, for which no politician can take credit, Romney has been a good Michigan governor. He deserves re-election.

I have not talked with one Charlevoix Republican who disagrees with this. But, they argue, Romney is in debt to the Republican party for getting him elected, and now he's refusing to pay off.

While all of this is going on Neil Stoeblar is playing the crafty underdog to the hilt. He isn't out wooing Republican votes. He's on Johnson's bandwagon and knows darn well if LBJ can carry the state by a big enough majority Neil will ride in with him. Romney's closeness to Goldwater is doing nothing but smoothing the route between Ann Arbor and Lansing for Stoeblar.

REPUBLICANS HAVE ONE consolation. Stoeblar would certainly be a better Democratic governor than the last two.

Annexation Only Way To Safeguard Future

EVEN BEFORE MAYOR E. D. Hawley called last week's City Council meeting to order there was a latent tension in the air that might, or might not, burst into the open.

However, when Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann finally did bring the issue--annexation--into the open the tension rapidly disappeared. Councilmen got down to the serious business of facing up to their responsibility to the nearly 3,000 people they represent. The pros and cons had been hashed out in weeks of informal conversation. So little discussion was required before, on William Fochtman's second, the motion to annex Medusa's 800 acres received unanimous council support.

WHY ANNEXING The cement company's property should have caused nervous stomachs is a mystery to the Courier. Charlevoix Councilmen are elected to look after the best interests of city residents and their future and that of their children's children. The only logical way they could do this was to call for annexation of the property.

Township officials have complained that if the city gets the property the township will be losing a lot of tax income. The city's interest is not as mercenary as the township's. The city made the move only to protect our natural beauty.

Of course, the township will lose some tax income. But, if we assume that property is taxed to pay for services government provides to it, the township has lost nothing, because it will not be obligated to service the land the city annexes. If Charlevoix Township had in mind to use tax money it received from Medusa for someone else's benefit, then its motives are rather rank.

Hoffman Paved Way On City Annexation

COUNCILMAN DR. Walter Hoffmann last week (to borrow a handy phrase) broke the ice which paved the way to one of the most important decisions city fathers may ever make.

For some reason, which escapes the Courier, councilmen were reluctant to make the motion for annexation. Their unanimous vote in the motion proves they all favored the action.

HOWEVER, IT FELL to Dr. Hoffmann to actually get the proposal on the table. Then it almost died for lack of a second, until Councilman William Fochtman joined with the freshman councilman from the Second Ward.

Once the motion had a second it was smooth sailing. Not a single councilman appeared to wince at giving it an affirmative vote.

But without Hoffmann's initiative, and Fochtman's support, the city would not have made the effort to protect its fresh air.

In addition, Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach was heard to agree recently that tax income from the proposed Medusa cement plant would not pay for what it cost to enact, regulate and enforce a smoke abatement ordinance that meets the city's rigid requirements.

WERE THE CITY strictly after industrial tax income it would have long ago moved to annex American Mold, Hoskins and others that are just outside the city limits.

It may be that changes in the cement business will cause Medusa to cancel its plans about building a plant here in less than decade.

But if the plant does come--which all indications are it will--annexation of the property assures future generations our fresh air will always be protected by legally enforceable ordinances. They cannot have this protection under township government.

City Attorney John Michael last week asked Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach if townships have the legal power to enforce a stringent, technical ordinance. Rabach hedged the question. In downstate areas courts have regularly dismissed township ordinance restrictions.

UNTIL TWO WEEKS ago Rabach was still contending the present township ordinance served the purpose. Then city authorities got to studying the ordinance and found that it was not even a token of what is required.

The township then suggested the city help it write an ordinance. Dr. Hoffmann objected. Why, Hoffmann asked, should the city help draft an ordinance it will have no authority to enforce? The township's reluctance to enact a technical ordinance is good indication it has no desire to enforce it. Further, the township does not have the resources to enforce such an ordinance.

Somehow, the issue temporarily became clouded when someone suggested the city should annex the entire township. Councilmen are to be commended for resisting this deliberate effort to sidetrack the issue.

The city has no legitimate reason for trying to swallow up the entire township. If township people want city services they should petition to join the city, and then be made to pay for an engineering study to determine if such a move is financially feasible.

BY LIMITING THEIR annexation request to the uncoupled Medusa property the city was unselfishly moving to protect its citizens, who represent a ten to one majority over the township residents involved. This is why people form city governments instead of remaining townships: To obtain added protection not available under township law.

When the County Board of Supervisors is asked, Oct. 15, to approve the annexation let us hope its decision is based strictly on the number of people represented on each side of the question and its true merits. The city is seeking annexation to safeguard the interests of nearly 3,000 people. Fewer than 300 in the township live in an area that would be affected by the plant.

The Courier is not opposed to township government. The newspaper's editor lives in a township now, and has most of his life. But this newspaper is aware that township government was constituted for rural areas and is not equipped to deal with urban and industrial problems.

Asking Charlevoix Township to deal with air pollution is like proposing the State of Michigan be responsible for the nation's defense. Michigan neither has the resources or know-how to handle the country's defense.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

Backs City Annexation

DEAR EDITOR:

We have all heard and read about the controversial subject of the Medusa plant. The way I see it, most of the arguments seem to be legitimate. However, some of them I can't go along with, especially the one about relocating the proposed dock.

My view point is strictly that of a resident and taxpayer of the City of Charlevoix.

We all tend to get carried away with ourselves once in a while. One way I do at times is by thinking of dense smoke or particles floating around the city. The smoke and carbon monoxide was so bad that one could breathe only with difficulty. It was terrible. Can you imagine trying to survive in an atmosphere like this? The thought of it is horrible.

ON THE OTHER HAND I can see a prosperous resort city with a modern cement plant and everything working in harmony.

We cannot look at just the 75 stable jobs along (or whatever the figure). This plant would not only be a blessing for its employees, it would be a blessing for the whole city. It doesn't take much math to figure out that 75 employees at $6,000 per year comes to $450,000. If we anticipate only 50% will be spent in Charlevoix it comes to $225,000 per year. This pay tell is quite a sizeable figure. This is a quarter of a million dollars put into Charlevoix's economy. This is one point that we cannot turn our back on.

If we face the facts straight in the eye we can see that we want a more prosperous city. We want to remain a resort city. We cannot turn industry away unless it is detrimental to the city.

First, and foremost, on the list is the so called smoke problem. There is a need for a good smoke ordinance and it definitely would demand enforcing. I have seen from first hand experience modern dust collectors in operation. I have also seen large companies in operation.

I HAVE NO doubt that with the most modern, and I underline most, dust collectors Medusa will keep our atmospheric air pollution to a tolerable level. Our problem begins after two or three years of operation of the Medusa plant. At this time small mechanical difficulties are going to happen. Dust collectors can't operate forever without repairs. They can be repaired yes. But how far do you let them go before repairs are made. I don't know what their net output per day money wise will be but it should be a considerable amount. In any event the Medusa company officials will have to make a decision as to how bad the holes in their dust collectors get before they shut down for repairs. Their down time per day will no doubt amount to a considerable sum of money. With their down time on one side of the scales and the dust collector leaks on the other side of the scales they may decide to operate "just a little longer." This is when and only when Charlevoix the Beautiful will suffer.

As the City itself we have no jurisdiction over the Medusa property, and unless we do I feel we will pay the consequences.

We believe the Charlevoix Township government is not as equipped as the city's organization to cope with the problem of enforcement of an air pollution law.

The city's first problem then is to get into a position where we will have something to say as far as air pollution and the Medusa property is concerned.

We cannot annex Charlevoix township as the voters in the township would not stand for it. The City is not in a position to provide all the township residents with all our benefits. As a result the township would turn down any annexation issue.

THE ONLY OTHER alternative as I see it is to annex the Medusa property itself. Our good councilman Dr. Hoffmann tells me it is possible for the city council to inform the County Board of Supervisors that the city wishes to annex the Medusa property. If passed by the County Board of Supervisors they city will then have jurisdiction over the Medusa property.

WHY DON'T WE DO IT?

The other point I want to voice my opinion on is the Medusa dock. I say let the company build their dock where they want to. How many taxpayer's view is this dock going to obstruct? Sure we have a beautiful Boulder Park, but it isn't even necessary to plow the main road down there during the winter months. You know this dock issue might be just the straw that breaks the camel's back. This large company has owned their property for 40 years. They might say "the heck with it" and build their plant elsewhere. Or again they may say "the heck with it" and put it on south point they way they see fit.

Medusa has been bending over backwards to listen to all our pros and cons. This proves something although what it is I'm not sure.

I SAY: ANNEX THE Medusa property. Pass a good air pollution ordinance. Let Medusa build their dock where they may. Require a monthly report from Medusa as to the quantities of particles being released to the atmosphere.

YOURS TRULY,
BERNARD L. SCHANER

This is an SOS...I need some information...What, pray tell, is a 'Chanfron'? ...Mrs. Ken Forbes sent me a classified ad from a San Jose, Calif., newspaper...Seems a friend of hers who collects antiques sent her the ad and said she'd 'sell her soul' for one and asked the aid of Mrs. Forbes in finding one... As Mrs. Forbes said, it's pretty hard to find something when you haven't the vaguest idea what you're looking for... If you know, won't you give me a buzz or drop me a note and I'll pass it along to the puzzled lady...And I'd kinda like to know too...

NOT TOO LONG ago I had a note from Victor Hampton with a bit of information about the early days in Charlevoix... Many of you may not know that at one time the local harbor was a very busy one...Of course, it wasn't day before yesterday, but there was a time when sailing vessels came and went here, hauling logs, tan bark, lumber and what have you...These sailing vessels were not equipped with auxiliary motors so had to be towed into the harbor by harbor tugs, much as similar tugs bring the big ocean-ships into the harbor at New York today...As a result there were many tugs in the harbor and when a sailing vessel came into view, the skippers would rush out and, if the owner hadn't made arrangements for a given tug to take over, I'm told things could get pretty rough...

Mr. Hampton, whose father once owned the Charlevoix Courier, was reared here as were his reminiscing friends, Clark Coulter and Jim Hilton...He sent me a list of some of the skippers they remembered and the boats they skippered...Chances are a few other old-timers will remember these and a few more... There was John O'Neil who operated the tug "Palmalee"; Capt. George Weaver of the tug "Wheeler Cummings"; Gelk Gelken and his tug, "Gelken"; "Part" Partidge and tugs, "J. V. Taylor" and the "Avery"; Tim Smith and the "C. V. Martin"; William Finucan who was captain of the cruise ships, "Illinois," "Missouri" and "Manitou"; George Jepson of the steamboat "Chrysler"; "Pilgrim" and the "Hum" (the latter two were small passenger vessels operated in Lake Charlevoix); Lou Guard of the steamboat "Gordon"; Pete Campbell of the "Hackley" and the "Beaver". Four others were named, though their first names and the names of their boats omitted... They are Captains Emory, Small, Wilbur and Sanford...If you can supplement this list I'd certainly like to hear from you...There's one name that I happened to know should be included and that's my dad, John Martin, who skippered a couple tugs whose names elude me at the moment...and I should know for, like all the older members of my family, I grew up with stories of sailing days on Lake Michigan and the early days of Charlevoix...

Another bit of information these three passed on (and I'm still trying to dig out how come they know about such things) are the names of the proprietors of the community's early bars...and I'm told there were many of them...for this was a shipping center and also boasted many logging camps...In other words, the West as pictured on today's television has nothing on Charlevoix back in the last quarter of the 19th century and the early days of this one...So, for posterity, here are a few of the early saloon keepers... Lee Payne, Gus Kaloupek, George Mlssier who also operated the old Fountain City House on River St., Sam Beaubien who was also a blacksmith, Jim Gellick, Antoine Richards, a Mr. McKinnon whose given name was not mentioned, and Len Adams...I'm not sure that all the saloons they operated were in existence at the same time, but I've been told that it wasn't hard to find a place to quench your thirst in those days of the swinging doors...

Many thanks to Mr. Hampton for sharing a bit of Charlevoix's early history with us...Perhaps it will jog a few memories and these people will share the things they remember...I'd love to have it...

AND WHILE I'M on the subject of the 'olden days' in this area, I'd like some information from the readers (I hope I have)...Time was, I've been told, when just about every cross-road, country store and logging camp boasted its own postoffice...If memory serves me right such communities as Barnard, Norwood, Phelps, Burgess and heaven knows what others were legal postoffices, complete with regular postmarks...If you know of any of these, won't you tell me about them? And if you have a picture taken in such a postoffice or a store which housed a postoffice, I'd love to borrow it for a story...I'll expect to hear from some of you...OK?...because I truly mean it when I say I'm serious about gathering this information...

If the 'bit' about the weather for the next 90 days being the same as the day of the equinox, then we're in for a mighty moist three months...for the day of the equinox (Sept. 22) featured a bit of everything...fairly warm but humid weather, a bit of sunshine and rain, rain, rain... We'll wait now and see if this forecast is true...

I hope that if it does rain a lot, the storms will be limited to days other than Tuesday and Friday for those are the days our football teams take to the field...the J-V's on Tuesday and the Varsity on Friday.

Chamber Launches New Program to Bolster Interest

Doug Way Election President; Outline Objectives for 1965

The Ellsworth Chamber of Commerce is back in the drivers seat and planning more aggressive efforts to promote the community and downtown business district.

The board of directors has elected Doug Way, president; Jerroll Drenth, vice president, and Neil K. Kruse, secretary treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were Doug Way, Jerroll Drenth, Kruse, Art Drenth, Bob Klooster and Bill Muha.

The chamber, it was announced, has a bank balance of $471.

Roy Staudenmeyer and George Koster were appointed to recruit new members and re-enlist former members.

On the chairman's request, seven objectives for the 1964 chamber year were suggested:

1. More publicity through the Charlevoix Courier.
2. Repair and paint signs at entrances to Ellsworth and Atwood.
3. Sign on US 31 at blinker light in Charlevoix directing traffic to Ellsworth.
4. Chamber of Commerce ask County Road Commission to waive load limit restrictions on county roads in and out of Ellsworth.
5. Tourist and resort brochure for area.

Community Turns Out For Picnics

At the recent Chamber of Commerce meeting Paul Doctor suggested a community picnic. The suggestion gathered momentum and the group made Paul chairman, John Klooster treasurer, and Bob Smalley in charge of entertainment with Doris Carlisle handling the games.

Business places closed at 3 p.m. Friday and school recessed at 1 p.m.

Activities were started with running races, ages 10 to 16 years, sack races 12 to 16 years of age, penny scramble, with Mike Muha finding 66 pennies. His father, owns the Ellsworth Lumber Co.

A bubble gum blowing contest was held with 15 participants Diane Best blew the biggest bubble.

The men showed their skill pitching horse shoes as 16 sets took advantage of the courts. The ladies made good spectators with their laughing and cheering.

Melvin Essenberg gave rides in his Scout, up and down the beach.

When the dinner bell sounded 165 hungry people sat down to devour the vittles. The Pot Luck supper would make a smorgasbord look sad.

After the meal Art Drenth led the group in community singing with Ardis Drenth playing the piano. Darlene Klooster and Diane Vanderark sang twombbers accompanied by Sharon Drenth. Bob Smalley introduced magician Bob Nowakowski from Charlevoix, who had everyone guessing, as his magic thrilled young and old alike.

Lancer Fans Show Spirit, But Team Has Rough Edges

The Lancers, with their many friends and high school spirit, came to the football game, Friday in large numbers.

This being the first home game of the season and against Bellefleur was sure to be filled with action.

BOTH TEAMS WERE in good physical condition and the weather ideal for football, but with all the rain the field was soggy.

Drying the field was tried during the afternoon by spreading sawdust on the wet spots.

Coach Danforth moved Ken Richardson to halfback and Walt Kooyor to an end. Both of these boys are very versatile.

Bert Doctor, has not the punch he carried last year, Bert has the ability to be the outstanding player in the league.

The four players who lost experience by not playing last year have played in two games and are sharpening up on their timing, experience cannot be denied.

The coach is unable to go out on the field and play for them. Let us, as Ellsworth supporters, give the coach, Bob Danforth, and the team the feeling, that we are behind them. Show your co-operation by attending the Inland Lakes game Wed. Sept. 30 at 1:30 p.m. --Roy.

Streets Get First Signs

The Village Council decided to cancel future Mayors Exchange Days.

It was decided the money usually spent on this day could be used more readily for a village project.

MAYOR MARVIN Wynsma suggested street signs be erected so visitors and business people can more easily contact an individual. The Council had a discussion on the matter and they found out it would cost less than the expense of a Mayor Exchange Day.

The Senior class with the supervision of Levi Donaldson have erected the signs. Many residents are surprised to many to find out what street they are living on and the name of the street of their friends.

It also dresses the city up, council members, who have had many compliments on the project report.

Quiet Rites Unite Couple

A quiet wedding took place at the First Congregational Church of Lowell, when Miss Lynda Nadine Smalley became the bride of Thomas B. Orgonek.

The Rev. Davis read the marriage vows. Miss Marlene Wynsma friend of the bride and Mr. Mike Orgonek brother of the groom were the attendants.

THE BRIDE WORE a blue suit and Miss Wynsma a blue dress. Both had navy blue accessories and wore corsages of white carnations and red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Orgonek were members of the Ellsworth graduating class of 1963.

The newlyweds will make their home in Ellsworth.

Coop Modernizes For New Trends

The years before 1960 the area around Ellsworth had many potato farmers. Since that time, farmers have discontinued the potato operation.

The agricultural trend has been to dairy cattle and beef cattle.

LARGER operations were anticipated to cope with the increased feeding program. The Ellsworth Farmers Exchange board of directors studied the new methods of unloading grain, bulk handling of feed and storage of grain.

In the spring of 1963 the Coop installed a new 4,000 gallon tank holding molasses and a new two ton capacity Marion mixer 40 hp.

"No feed too wet to mix", was the statement made by the manager Darwin Orcutt.

WIN AN EXTRA mixer of one ton capacity 5 hp and a Blue Streak Prater hammer mill 50 hp the Coop has an ideal operation for milling. To speed up these operations and handle bulk grains, another new method was devised.

A farmer can bring in bagged grain or bulk. In the driveway a shaker pit was installed, where a farmer can dump his load of grain. A 60 foot elevator leg will transport grain to the hammer mill or to the bins.

A BULK SELF-unloading grain truck brings concentrated feed to the Coop and it is stored in three bulk bins for supplement each holding 15 tons.

One bulk bin for corn holds 30 tons. A truck with 15 tons of corn from Economy mill can unload in approximately 30 minutes.

With this type of operation the Coop sells about 30 tons of concentrated feeds, 20 tons of corn, and seven tons of molasses per month. If a farmer wishes he can take out bulk.

FRED VANSTEDUM said, "We are able to save the farmer time, lifting and money."

Farm Bureau feeds and supplies are sold through the Ellsworth Farmers Exchange. Jack McPherson drives the gas truck, Pete VanderSlik delivers coal and supplies, Harold Jansen is bookkeeper and clerk and Darwin Orcutt is manager.

City Takes Look at Slum Removal Plan

Charlevoix councilmen Monday discussed planning and slum clearance with a professional consultant and took the first step toward getting a program underway.

George Vilcan, of the statewide Vilcan and Leman planning firm, told councilmen blighted areas of the city can be eliminated through orderly planning, and, if desired, federal urban renewal assistance.

THESE PROGRAMS, Vilcan said, are aimed at small communities, such as Charlevoix. He said local residents maintain complete control over the project, but pay only one-quarter to one-third of the cost.

The municipal planning consultant said the city will ultimately recover all money it spends on planning and slum clearance through increased taxes from the property after it has been improved in value.

"I think this is the best money we could spend right now," City Attorney John Michael said.

Other Councilmen, asked by the Courier, agreed development of a master plan for the entire city should be started as soon as possible.

VILCAN ESTIMATED the cost would be $4,000 a year, for two years, or less.

The master plan would include revision of all existing zoning regulations.

The plan would also reveal what retail services the community needs and wants. This, Vilcan said, often results in new businesses coming to a town.

He described the Master Plan as a "comprehensive plan for orderly future land use." It would make a house by house analysis to determine areas where houses are deteriorated.

THE CITY WOULD then be able to go ahead with purchasing blighted homes and preparing the property for resale. The federal government would pay three-quarters of the cost.

Charlevoix County supervisors open their bi-annual week-long October session Monday with a full agenda and some fireworks anticipated.

The 25-member Board of Supervisors will hold daily sessions from Oct. 12-16 in the court room of the County Building in Charlevoix. All sessions are open to the public.

THE OCTOBER meeting could continue into Saturday, or even Monday, Oct. 19, if supervisors are bogged down by the heavy agenda.

Though it is generally impossible to predict what will develop at a supervisors meeting, at least three major issues are sure to create interest next week. They are:

1-Setting of salaries for elected officials. Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach has said he will spearhead a drive to boost salaries.

Rabach contends hiking salaries for elected officials is the only hope the county has for attracting top flight candidates when such veterans as Clerk Pete Bulow and Treasurer Lillis Flanders retire as they are expected to do after one more term.

2--THE MAIN concern of the board will be setting the 1965 operating budget. The tentative budget drafted in April calls for spending $339,959 next year. This is $28,000 more than 1964's budget.

The tentative budget sets the tax levy at 5.52 mills. Major increases over 1964 are $11,000 for an electronic tax roll computer, $4,000 in the Sheriff's Dept. and a $3,500 increase in the welfare budget.

When supervisors adopted the tentative budget in April they declared it was balanced and would not result in deficit spending. However, the tentative budget is traditionally cut before it is finally approved at the October session. Rabach heads the finance committee.

3--THE THIRD major issue that can be expected to create controversy is the City of Charlevoix's request to annex Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s South Point property from Charlevoix Township. This is slated for hearing at 2 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 15.

City Councilmen unanimously voted to request the annexation from the Board of Supervisors, so an air pollution ordinance can be drafted to guarantee the city's future generations there will be no smoke or dust from the proposed cement plant. Medusa has publicly stated it is

Detroit Man New Car Dealer Here

Charlevoix has a new Pontiac-Rambler-Cadillac dealer this week.

Bill Kusina, 45, has purchased Urick Sales and Service from Mrs. John A. Urick. He has been approved for the company franchises to sell the three automobiles.

KUSINA COMES to Charlevoix from the Detroit area, where he was a sales manager for a large automobile dealer, he has been an automobile salesman since 1951.

His wife, Bernice, and son Dennis, 15, will continue to live in their Lathrup Village home until a house is purchased here.

The automobile dealership has been renamed Kusina Motors Inc. Kusina owns the business and has a five year lease, with option to buy, on the property, which Mrs. Urick still owns.

All present personnel will stay with the dealership, Kusina said. Mrs. Urick has not made definite plans, but Kusina said he hopes she will stay on in sales.

THE NEW OWNER said he will put emphasis on good customer service and low-profit auto deals, hoping to increase the agency's volume. The more cars he handles, Kusina said, the lower prices he will be able to offer.

The agency was bought by John A. Urick in 1956. He died Dec. 10, 1963. Mrs. Urick has operated the business since her husband's death.

Because the agency handles two popular automobiles -- Pontiac and Rambler -- and has the elite Cadillac franchise, it is considered one of the most valuable in the area.

Kusina is the nephew of Henry Fette, who owns the Airport Inn in Charlevoix. The new auto deal-

Chest Makes Last Ditch Aim at Goal

The Charlevoix Community Chest has fallen short of its goal.

Mrs. Margaret Duerr, executive director, said Tuesday the chest drive failed to meet its $12,000 goal at the scheduled deadline this week. She said $10,070 was collected by Tuesday, or only 84% of the goal.

THE DRIVE WILL be extended into another week in hopes of raising the additional $2,000, Mrs. Duerr said.

She added at least one major industry has not reported its employees contributions.

Mrs. Duerr urged all volunteer solicitors to complete their calls. Anyone who hasn't made a donation can call Mrs. Duerr at LI 7-2603.

WHAT YOU'LL FIND INSIDE

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP Supervisor Clarence Rabach seems to be stepping out of his usual role of leader in the campaign for better government, the Courier state's editorially on page 11.

ELLSWORTH READERS will find plenty to keep them busy on pages 9, 10 and 11 of this week's Courier.

THIS IS A BIG WEEK for the Charlevoix world. Don't go to Friday's game here until you've read this week's Courier Sports page, 9.

Downtown Building Eyed for New Shops

The building at the corner of Park Ave. and Bridge street is in the process of being purchased by a Chicago Club resident for summer shops.

Henry M. Hogan, a summer Chicago Club resident, and Birmingham, Mich. attorney and newspaperman and member of the Michigan Legislature, is purchasing the property.

HOGAN SAID THE empty corner building, now owned by Theodore Birnkant of Detroit, will be rebuilt and turned into quality summer shops.

The other two buildings, owned by Mrs. Harold Gelson, and the Oddfellows, will not be developed immediately. Hogan said he will hold them as an investment and not disturb the present occupants.

Hogan said the property transactions has not been finalized. He agreed to release information on his plans to the Courier when he learned that the pending transaction was common knowledge in Charlevoix, and is creating considerable speculation.

He said he hopes to run the corner building as a sort of arcade of quality summer shops.

How does Charlevoix's overtime parking fine and retail store hours compare to other northern Michigan towns?

A recent Alpena Chamber of Commerce survey of 23 communities' gives some answers.

ON PARKING fines Charlevoix is among the lowest. On store hours Charlevoix is one of three out of 23 communities where the majority of merchants do not stay open late Friday evenings.

Charlevoix's overtime parking fine is 25¢. The survey shows that seven towns charge $1, eight charge 50¢, seven charge 25¢, two charge 2¢.

The business districts in 20 of the communities remain open until 9 p.m. Fridays. Eight also stayed open late other evenings.

Fewer U.S. Cargo Carriers on Lakes

Permanent withdrawal of nine vessels with a total trip capacity of 90,000 tons since Jan. 1 leaves the U. S. Great Lakes fleet with only 260 bulk cargo carriers, the Lake Carriers' Assn. reports.

An association spokesman called the situation "alarming" and blamed the decline in U. S. boats on subsidized Canadian shipping.

ARE YOU COVERING UP

— why the mask? Is the strain of the business world too much? Are you actually that other person?

Why the mask? When caught in the transforming grace of that cover you claim a wonderful appreciation

... the wrinkles soften... your approach is so different. And so it is with your life and mine, — with your strength, — courage, — patience and even with your church. Too often these attributes can be seen only through your mask... friends don't see you as you really are. The true self is translated and reflected through the false cover. Don't be deceived.

Your wrinkles, your outlook on life will never be softened and humanized by a mask.

Please discard it forever. Your better self need never be reflected from the lower reaches of your soul.

Rayders Eye Grayling

The Charlevoix Rayders like to the gridiron Friday against Grayling in an effort to break into the win column or the first time this season.

after playing favored East Jordan to a 6-6 tie last week. Grayling comes to Kipke field with a record identical to the Rayders, a 6-6 tie with East Jordan and a loss to Harbor Springs.

IN COMMENTING on this week's game with Grayling, Coach Carey called attention to the fact that the Vikings were short-handed and that last week's score should not be an indication of this week's game.

"Grayling has always given Charlevoix a good game and I don't expect this year to be any exception," Coach Carey said, adding that the Vikings are stronger this year than they have been in some time.

In speaking of Friday's game, he said the team did a good job defensively but the offense failed to capitalize on opportunities to score. He added that the team showed good spirit and determination and was shaping up well which they proved when they held the Jordanites and out-played them in most instances.

This week's game can be counted on to be a strong defensive battle for this seems to be the strong point of both teams. If Grayling is at full strength, this could turn into one of the closest and hardest fought games of the current season.

IN LAST WEEK'S game with East Jordan, the Rayders held the visitors scoreless until the final minute when the Jordanites, taking advantage of a Rayder fumble, took to the air to put the ball in scoring position. With just 23 seconds on the clock, Mike Egan pitched the ball 22 yards and Mick Bell for the touchdown.

The Rayders took the kick and returned it to the Charlevoix 37 and, in two plays, carried it to the nine before time ran out. The two teams played to a scoreless first half which was marked by an exchange of fumbles and punts with neither team making any serious threat as the game was confined to the area between the 30 yard markers.

Charlevoix kicked off to East Jordan to open the second half. Rayder Rich Grunch fell on an E J fumble on the 16 to gain possession and set up the scoring play.

Mark Bourgoine carried to the nine and Dave Smith to the two before Bourgoine went off right tackle to score with 6:02 of the third period remaining. The conversion kick was low and wide as the score remained at 6-0.

The Lancers' fans are hoping the fuse stays ignited. Even the JV acquired some of that spark in the game. The fans became alive when Fred Gibbs showed his speed and caught a Bulldog who was heading for pay dirt. When the Bulldogs barked Ron showed his teeth and hit hard.

Keep Going Ellsworth! Mackinaw is the next victim. Friday Oct. 9 at 1:30 p.m. the Lancers will visit Mackinaw City, everyone make an effort to see the action.

EAST JORDAN, AFTER managing a last minute tie with Charlevoix last week, will be taking on one of the league leaders this week, the Harbor Springs Rams, who edged Charlevoix 19-13 in their first loop game.

The Rams, with their strong offensive attack, should have little trouble with the East Jordan Red Devils whose defense was not particularly strong against the Rayders.

East Jordan has Dave Donaldson and Frank Fisher who run well, Mike Egan who passes well to Mick Bell and a fairly good defense but it hardly seems likely that these will halt the title-bound Rams. Boyne City and Pellston will meet on the Hornets field Friday afternoon in a grudge battle for these two teams are old enemies and each has had a chance to upset the other's hopes on occasion. This season will be no different from the others. The Ramblers, however, do have a victory to their credit while the Hornets were robbed of a win by the Gaylord Blue Devils. This same team edged Boyne City 12-6. But the Ramblers have a scrappy halfback in Dan Cikalo who has kept his team in the running. Unless the Hornets can halt this lad, they may end up on the short end of the score.

PELLSTON, however, is hungry for a victory and if they are at full strength they will give the visitors a close game and may just rack up their first win.

Deadline Friday

For Doe Permits Charlevoix deer hunters have until tomorrow (Friday) to get antlerless deer permits. Permits are available at local hardware stores.

ALL OF CHARLEVOIX County is open to doe and fawn shooting during the regular Nov. 15-Nov. 30 season. When getting antlerless permits hunters are reminded by the Conservation Dept. to be sure the application has the same number as the one on their regular license.

New Rules for Duck Hunters

The duck season opened in Charlevoix County today (Oct. 8).

Conservation Officer Harley Burris reports native ducks can be found on most of the county's lakes and along its larger streams.

NEW FEDERAL regulations make it necessary for hunters to carefully study restrictions to be sure they are within the law. All migratory birds must have one fully-feathered wing attached while being transported to home or freezer plant.

Ellsworth Breaks Through for Victory Over Inland Lakes

By Roy Stendenmeyer
The barricade across the goal ne came down when Ellsworth's ancers played Inland Lakes' wildcats, winning 19-0.

The day was sunny, ideal afternoon for football. Ellsworth's crowd out-numbered the position and gave the Lancer quad encouragement every play of the game.

Coach Bob Danforth decided to start Walt Kooyer at quarterback, Ken Richardson and Bert Doctor at halfback, Carl Goeman and Chet Boss at ends, Fred Gibbs and Lerry Tornga at guards, and Marvin Vanderberg at center. The Inland Lakes Bulldogs kicked off to the Lancers and Walt, with his teammates started to jell, and after five plays scored. Bert was plunging up the middle. Walt used Ken when the defense set up against Bert. ON THE FIVE yard line Kooyer faked to Doctor and threw a pass to Ken in the end zone. The Lancers tried to run the extra point but failed, Ellsworth 6.

Later in the first quarter Ellsworth started to move the ball but the Bulldogs intercepted Walt's pass and stopped the advance. Two touchdowns in the second quarter were made when Chet Boss was calling the signals. Chet went across the goal on a quarterback sneak. Ken kicked the extra point and Ellsworth had 13 points to their favor. Ellsworth's defense kept getting tougher which held the team spirals high and Boss maneuvered the offense to another TD, with Bert going over from the four.

Richardson's kick was blocked, Ellsworth 19, Inland Lakes 0. The second half turned out to be a defensive game. Ellsworth threatened twice and each time a misplay was executed. Neither team scoring, the game ended Ellsworth 19 Inland Lakes 0.

The team from Ellsworth showed what they are capable of doing. Coach Bob Danforth was well pleased with their performance.

BERT DOCTOR came to life and his power carried him for long gains. Ken Richardson sure uses his feet, if not for kickoff they are put into service for kicking extra points, punting or getting away from would-be tacklers. Walt sparked the team which lit the fuse and the Lancers were off to victory.

The Lancers' fans are hoping the fuse stays ignited. Even the JV acquired some of that spark in the game. The fans became alive when Fred Gibbs showed his speed and caught a Bulldog who was heading for pay dirt. When the Bulldogs barked Ron showed his teeth and hit hard.

Keep Going Ellsworth! Mackinaw is the next victim. Friday Oct. 9 at 1:30 p.m. the Lancers will visit Mackinaw City, everyone make an effort to see the action.

Big Week For Boyne, Jordan

As the 1964 season goes into its third week of league play, East Jordan will host Harbor Springs, Boyne City will travel to Pellston for the only afternoon game at 2 p.m., and Mancelona will play at Gaylord.

All this while Charlevoix is entertaining Grayling in the hopes of breaking into the victory column for the first time.

EAST JORDAN, AFTER managing a last minute tie with Charlevoix last week, will be taking on one of the league leaders this week, the Harbor Springs Rams, who edged Charlevoix 19-13 in their first loop game.

The Rams, with their strong offensive attack, should have little trouble with the East Jordan Red Devils whose defense was not particularly strong against the Rayders.

East Jordan has Dave Donaldson and Frank Fisher who run well, Mike Egan who passes well to Mick Bell and a fairly good defense but it hardly seems likely that these will halt the title-bound Rams. Boyne City and Pellston will meet on the Hornets field Friday afternoon in a grudge battle for these two teams are old enemies and each has had a chance to upset the other's hopes on occasion. This season will be no different from the others. The Ramblers, however, do have a victory to their credit while the Hornets were robbed of a win by the Gaylord Blue Devils. This same team edged Boyne City 12-6. But the Ramblers have a scrappy halfback in Dan Cikalo who has kept his team in the running. Unless the Hornets can halt this lad, they may end up on the short end of the score.

PELLSTON, however, is hungry for a victory and if they are at full strength they will give the visitors a close game and may just rack up their first win.

Deadline Friday

Comment Fact Opinion

Rabach's Opposition Is Out of Character

IT WAS NO SURPRISE last week when Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach announced he will oppose annexation of Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s South Point property into the city. Nor was his statement that he will fight the move on the basis that it is a tax grab unexpected.

The Michigan Township Assn. advises its members to follow this strategy. Rabach, you may recall, also suggested the city is gerrymandering by asking the Board of Supervisors to approve annexation of only a small portion of the township. He proposed the city should try to annex all of the township. This, too, is the kind of strategy recommended by the township association.

THE COURIER DOES not condemn Rabach for his action. But we disagree with him, and we are somewhat disappointed. As the only regular spectator at Board of Supervisor meetings, we have admired Rabach's ability, grasp of local problems and foresight. Furthermore, we have deep respect for his progressive attitude toward the affairs of Charlevoix Township.

Rabach, we still believe, is an outstanding example of selfless service and dedication to local government. A township supervisor who tries to do a good job for his people can expect little but headaches in return. Rabach is one of these. Unquestionably his business has suffered.

In this era when more and more people are sluffing off their responsibilities to the federal and state government, men like Rabach are hard to come by. When society finds them it should hold on to them.

HOWEVER, IN SPITE of our esteem for Rabach, we completely disagree with him on the annexation issue. We expect more from a man of his caliber than his immediately negative position on annexation. We did not anticipate that Rabach would automatically follow the strategy that nearly all others follow.

Because he is a man of ability and

Ellsworth and Charlevoix now Allies in Progress, Beauty

THE NATURAL UNION of Charlevoix and Ellsworth has finally been semi-formalized through the Courier's emphasis on reporting the news of the small community.

By bringing Ellsworth its first really comprehensive local news, sports and advertising media the Courier is, in effect, making Charlevoix and Ellsworth allies in progress and beauty.

ELLSWORTH'S INLAND setting is, of course, in contrast to Charlevoix's dramatic perch on majestic Lake Michigan. But Ellsworth retains for itself a quaint, quiet beauty that is as much to be admired. Here is the ideal setting for the outdoorsman who wants to enjoy the peace of fishing the small inland lakes. The charm of the rolling hill country fascinates those who love landscapes.

But there is more to Ellsworth's credit than its natural beat beauty. Its progressiveness makes it a natural partner with Charlevoix.

The Ellsworth school system is as in step with the times as a district of its size humanly can be. Few large systems can boast that they are as devoted to the

Let's Show Hunters

BEAVER ISLAND IS getting literally yards of free publicity about its exceptional upland game hunting. Charlevoix should not ignore the opportunity to capitalize on this anticipated flow of hunters to the island.

Local sportsmen who know the terrain and game centers in the Charlevoix area can tell you that the partridge, squirrel and woodcock population on the mainland offers far more potential sport than will be tapped.

DURING THE COURSE of the season there are almost sure to be days when the boat cannot make the trip to the island, leaving hunters in Charlevoix. There will also be sportsmen arriving many hours early for the boat ride.

Rather than leave these people aimlessly and impatiently bidding their time foresight we hoped Rabach would see that city control of the South Point property is absolutely vital if a meaningful air pollution ordinance is to be enacted and enforced over the many decades ahead for Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Taxation is not THE issue Rabach must be aware of this. If the city were intent on grabbing off tax property it would long ago have gerrymandered around until American Mold, Hoskins and other industrial plants were on its assessment rolls.

YET, IT IS OBVIOUS that Charlevoix Township will be losing taxable property when the Board of Supervisors approves the annexation next week. However, we must repeat, that since the township will no longer be responsible for serving the property, it has no complaint on losing the small amount of taxes.

The city, at least for some time, will not benefit financially from the transfer. The cost of drafting, regulating and enforcing the ordinance will hardly be paid for by the tax income from the now vacant land.

If the day ever does come when servicing Medusa costs less than the city gets from taxation on the property, the excess money will be used for the benefit for 3,000 Charlevoix residents in the city, rather than 300 Charlevoix residents in the township.

The number of people represented by each side of the issue is the only legitimate point the Board of Supervisors has to consider next week. Let us hope it does not get sidetracked into a petty, emotional decision. The board is noted throughout the northland as one of the best in the state. We expect it will have the dignity and respect for the majority befitting the reputation it has justly earned.

WE HOPEFULLY LOOK forward to seeing Rabach reconsider his position before the day of decision and go to the Board of Supervisors with the best interest of the majority of Charlevoix's present and future residents his primary objective.

youth of their community.

The community's leaders have long encouraged industry, as evidenced by the cannery and Morwell. Being in an agricultural area, the Ellsworth Farmers Exchange prides itself on being one of the most modern in northern Michigan.

ELLSWORTH'S CHAMBER of Commerce has recently taken a new dose of pills and plunged into the job of actively seeking tourists, industry and a better community. This is a hard, and sometimes unrewarding, task for any community. But for one of Ellsworth's size it is an especially admirable undertaking.

There has to be something extra special about a community that can boast it has a Roy Staudenmeyer in its midst. Roy, as you know, has accepted the challenging task of covering and writing Ellsworth's news. This would be a formidable assignment for a trained reporter who can see. But for someone like Roy, with no formal experience and no sight, it seems impossible. The Courier is immensely proud to have Roy as one of its most important writers. We're sure Ellsworth is just as proud of this outstanding citizen.

We, too, Can Boast waiting for the boat, Charlevoix should make an effort to show them we have some fine hunting. Perhaps a sign could be erected near the Biver Beaver Islander's dock directing people to the Chamber of Commerce for "Hunters Information."

However, before the chamber is going to have any information for hunters it will have to get it from local men. So why not call Dean or Mrs. Kohler if you know where the shooting is good and give them the dope to pass on to visitors? You'll be doing everyone a good turn by sharing your knowledge.

Hunting is big business for some communities. It probably will never be a major factor in Charlevoix's income, but it can be considerably more important than it is.

THIS PICTURE BRINGS to mind the days when the scent of fresh mown hay and hard working men and horses was a part of rural living. Art Osborn brought the picture to the Courier. He wasn't sure when it was taken, but there must be many who miss these "good old days."

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

Says Poor Taste in Courier Rape Story

DEAR EDITOR:

In regards to your news item of a local man being charged with rape in your issue of Sept. 24.

By using the name of the person charged and withholding the name of the so called victim, it is my opinion that you are conveying to the public that he is guilty before he has had a fair jury trial.

AS USUAL the man is thought to be guilty and the woman guiltless in a case such as this, because the woman's word is believed by many, as the truth, which is evidently the view of our editor, or this would not have been published this way, until it was a proven fact that the man did rape this woman. The result being that many innocent people are affected.

I also believe that all names should be withheld and used only upon conviction of the crime "If Found Guilty."

After all this was not a brutal attack by a sex maniac, as even you must admit. It is the duty of the news media, to report news such as this, as accurately as possible which is even more important in news of this kind and seriousness.

I think that more discretion should be used in future publications of this kind.

THANK YOU,

Pastor Urges Daily Bible Reading Program for all

DEAR EDITOR:

"One Bible-reading amendment is possible immediately." Any person can amend his neglect of the Bible by joining the world's largest Bible class and reading a selected passage each day. This unique Bible-reading class starts on Thanksgiving Day and continues through Christmas.

Worldwide Bible Reading is sponsored by the American Bible Society and a distinguished committee of laymen. By reading the same pre-selected portion of Scripture each day, a spiritual bond is formed between Christians around the world.

A lonely marine, stationed in the South Pacific during World War II, originated the idea when he asked his family to read the same passage with him each day. The Society developed the idea, selected Bible readings for each day, and printed these selections on bookmarks. Since 1943 more than 80 million of these bookmarks have been distributed free to people desiring to participate in the program. Bookmarks for this year's Worldwide Bible Reading are available free at the Community Church of God and at many local stores, and banks and library.

Asks Crackdown on Littering

DEAR EDITOR:

We suggest the teachers at all schools try to impress their pupils about the law of litterbugging and ask them to avoid throwing small or large bits of paper along the wayside after shopping at a neighborhood grocery and buying the candy or ice cream on their way home.

We reported a case recently when two boys on bicycles deliberately threw several sheets of newspapers into the air and let them light where ever they might. This happened on the corner of State St. and Garfield. We called the delivery boy's mother...but when we saw she upheld her son in his wrong doing we called the police about 9 a.m. But at 11:30 a.m. the papers were still there and the boys had not been apprehended.

IF WE COULD GET quick action from the police department in a case like this we would be able to catch the offenders, but there are so many cases for a few officers it is going to be difficult.

What About Helping Kids?

DEAR EDITOR:

This case pictured in the Courier (neglected child story two weeks ago) was a pitiful case, but this family's children's need for clothing was reported last January and nothing was done about it.

This family has been living in a home without water.

WHO HAS CHARGE of the Lenore Goldman fund and where is that fund going to that was supposed to be used for the benefit of needy children?

The results of funds like these should be published in the paper because they are supposed to be used for the needy. Clothes and food should be bought and not let the parent have the money or in might end up in a bar or wine bottle or cases of beer.

By FRANK MARTIN

How about that weather? I was beginning to think we were about to have 40 days and 40 nights of rain. Someone said it had rained every day for 21 days. But before it did stop I was beginning to think we were about to have that Squaw winter we have to have, according to my good friend Jake White Sr., before we can have Indian summer...for there was a little snow mixed in with the rain one afternoon.

After the big blow when Lake Michigan kicked up as it hasn't in months, I felt sure all the leaves would be gone from the trees but such is not the case...In fact, the trees look greener right now than they have in weeks...Everyone tells me the colors away from the lake are beautiful.

WHEN I FIRST heard this I was a little reluctant to use it...Didn't want people to think that a member of my family might be seeing things...Since then, however, several people have reported the same thing so now I can mention it...My young nephew, Terry Cummings, wanted to come to town for J-V football game, so his sister, Mary Ann, brought him in and, on her way home, had turned off US31 onto the Barnard Rd. because there are often deer in the area about dusk...Sure enough, her headlights picked up a pair of glowing eyes so she slowed down to have all what she thought was a deer start across the road...At that she stopped to let it cross...After a quick look, she did another take for there in front of the car, as though it had all the time in the world, was a huge elk...Deer are usually a skittish at a time like that but not this stately beast...It was as though he had the right-of-way and was going to take advantage of it...She has seen many, many deer for they often come up to the apple trees on their farm to feed, so I was sure she couldn't be wrong...Later on, several others reported seeing the animal in the vicinity of the Loeb Farm property...for which Mary Ann was grateful...for, as she said, "I didn't want people to think I was seeing things"...

ONE DAY RECENTLY Mrs. Art Wexstaff stopped by with something she wanted me to see before turning them over to the school...They turned out to be programs for a variety of events sponsored by classes at the Charlevoix high school...For instance, there was the senior class play "The Private Secretary" presented April 14, 1910...with Harry F. Hooker, Herbert E. Paddock, Carl Meech, Lila S. Shapton and Eva Cram, to name a few in the cast...Then there was a concert presented by the seventh and eighth grades at the Opera House with the late Charley Hamlin appearing in a solo role, the Saunders Trio singing a selection from "The Trovatore" and solos by Dorothy Armstrong, Glen Kirby and Helen Marling...all familiar names to oldsters...got a boot out of the 'ambitious' selections by the youngsters...and the note at the bottom of the program stating "program liable to change"...

Then there was a May Festival given May 24, 1912...and among the names found on this were many I recognized...such as Phila Armstrong who did the Butterfly Dance...Helen Armstrong singing Schubert's "Ave Maria"...A quartet composed of Perry Mason, Ralph Coulter, Lloyd and and Franklin Weaver...solos by Hazel Mills, Edna Noble and Pauline Markham...and, in the chorus, such familiar names as Bernice Crandell, Rena Cram, Marlan McCall, George Todd, Helen Parsons, Florence Meggison, Beatrice Harrington, Doris Baker, Marva Cooper, Annis (triggett), Helen Shockley, Lela Gonnott, Theodore Kibby, Stanley Widdfield, Allen Arnold, William Skye, Robert Sloan, Sheridan Corey, Ernie Olney, and King Saunders, to name a few...I could go through that list and give you the present-day names of some of those gals but, instead, I'll let you do it...

Many people have asked about our high school song... "O Red and White Forever"...no one seems to know its origin...but among these papers is a souvenir copy of a pep rally dated 1911...which tells us that it's been around a mighty long time...I think we're the only high school in the area with an original song...that is, one not written to the melody of some well-known college song...

AND IF YOU THINK Charlevoix's rivalry with Boyne City is something new, I've news for you...among these treasures and apparently from the same era is a printed page of songs and yells...including a song with such words as "Farewell, Boyne City, farewell to you...Thou' you are losers, do not feel blue; Cheer up, be happy, make another score, Come back next year and we'll play one game more"...How about that?

Then there was a program which read "A. F. Bridge presents to his patrons the Charlevoix Dramatic Club in "Slaves of the Orient"...a musical farce comedy directed by Agnes M. Jarvis at the Charlevoix Theatre...Sam Levinson played the role of Ensign Carter, apparently the hero of this production...Leo Carey, Henry Partridge and Guy Lamphear, played such roles as those of Abue Ilammid, Said Pasha and Kephron with Lila Campbell the queen of the harem; Marjorie Miller, an Egyptian dancing girl; George Block, Elmer Wooley, George Miller and Milo Miller, Pasha's attendants; Charles Wilkins, Harold Jacobs and Verl Cram, soldiers; and Marie Nordrum, Ruth Shaberly, Marlon Swartz, Agnes Carey, Marguerite Woods, Pauline McFarland, Blanche Johnson, Alice McCall, Caroline Ross and Lulu Krulik, girls of the harem... Oh yes, and Otto Ilmes was captain of the flagship Brooklyn...and if all this does not jar a few memories, I'm going to be very disappointed...I might even reveal the identity of some of the girls in the harem...P. S. There was no date on this!

ONE OF BIGGEST

Cannery Packs 3 Million Cans

A group of farmers in search of a market for their produce decided in 1923 to form the Ellsworth Canning Company.

The first product canned was squash. In the years to follow apple cider, snap beans, beets and carrots were added to their canning process.

REID MURDOCK purchased the company in 1930, they were the packers of the Monarch brand. For many years the Lion emblem was seen over looking the plant.

In 1945 Consolidated Foods Corporation became the owners, this plant is part of Michigan Fruit Canners Incorporated - Columbia Foods Division.

Under this corporation green and wax beans were packed. In 1954 a cherry pack was started. A pack, in the industry, is the complete canning operation for a year.

Since its beginning 40 years ago, the Ellsworth canning factory has developed a maximum pack of one hundred forty thousand cases of cherries. In 1962 the plant discontinued packing cherries.

OTHER ITEMS canned are red beets, carrots and onions.

With the demand for quality products, Ellsworth's plant increased in production. For several years the plant had to rent space to store canned goods.

This spring the OK was given to build a warehouse, a structure was built 60 feet by 235 feet, along with the old warehouse 80 feet by 265 feet it was thought this would be ample room.

This year's bean crop was so tremendous the 140 thousand cases (3 million cans) filled the new structure.

The plant had under contract 1,400 acres of beans, 450 acres of red beets and carrots. They buy onions on the open market.

One new pack is the glass jar, Walker (the) Road, assistant plant manager and plant superintendent, said "We're packing stewed onions, harvard beets and pickled beets, with these items selling well."

A water used for making syrup and brine is from their own artesian wells, which the plant uses at the rate of 300 to 400 gallons per minute.

THE WASTE is disposed of by spray - irrigation on their own property.

To speed up unloading of produce a truck unloading hoist was installed. This hoist can lift a semi-trailer or a straight chassis truck.

Earl Denny, as assistant plant superintendent of the day crew and Klon Johnstone as assistant plant superintendent of the night crew, are in charge of the canning operation and have their crews in full swing to process 10,000 cases in 24 hours.

HENRY RUIS, Manager of Columbia Foods, states that the plant hires 175 to 200 people during the peak season, with two shifts of eight hours each.

The annual payroll is $300,000. It requires five employees in the office to handle the business affairs of this plant.

The peak season is from July 15 through November 15 and some times carries over into December, in this length of time they pack 500,000 cases of canned foods.

They ship products all over the continental United States and foreign countries.

Labelling, storage and shipping is under the supervision of Peter John Drenth. He reports both warehouses are jammed full and they are now storing canned goods at Elmer Kloosters building. By the way Pete is warehouse superintendent. Pete keeps a crew labelling and shipping through the winter and spring.

THIS PLANT operation is considered the largest in the northern part of the state.

Last spring when a large pack was anticipated, Drenth Bros. got the OK to build the warehouse and around April 15th work was started on the cement block structure with a self supporting roof. Drenth's completed the building July 15th.

An excellent view of the plant and the area it covers can be seen from the road above. Guided tours inside the plant are welcome.

For top quality silage from oats and other cereal crops, keep the cutter knives sharp so silage can be chopped as short as 3/16 to 1/4 inch, New Holland says. This allows better packing and preservation.

City Officials See Medusa Plant In Pennsylvania

Flying Jaunt Reveals Smoke No Problem if System Maintained

Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s Wampum Pa., plant makes an immediate and emphatic impression as a nonconformist when you see it for the first time.

Throughout the rolling hillsides of western Pennsylvania tall stacks pour heavy smoke into the air.

But, as eight Charlevoixians observed while flying over the area in light airplanes last Wednesday, Medusa's cement plant is an obvious exception.

Dave Rubinoff
Guests of Kiwanis Club

Plan Major Appearance Of Violinist

Nationally known violinist Dave Rubinoff will appear at Charlevoix High School for an evening concert Tuesday, Nov. 17, 8 p.m.

Tickets for the violin concert, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, can be purchased from Kiwanis Club members. Cost is $2 for adults and $1 for students.

HAROLD TOTEN, general concert chairman, reports any profits will be used for Kiwanis youth activities. Other concert chairmen are Fred Willis, publicity; Ralph Hamilton, tickets; and Curtis Burlin, finance.

On the afternoon of Nov. 17 Rubinoff will present free performances in St. Mary's School, Charlevoix Elementary School and High School.

Totten said Rubinoff is a nationally famed violinist. His Charlevoix performance will be one of 250 evening concerts he will give this year in American cities.

The evening program here will include 12 numbers, ranging from classical to "square dance fiddlin'." There will be ten minute intermission midway in the program.

Rubinoff will play his $100,000 Stradivarius violin.

Rambling
THE OBVIOUS seldom tells a story as convincingly as the subtle discoveries one chances to make. Such is the case with last week's flying inspection of Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s Wampum, Pa., plant.

A fella with the moniker, La Fontaine, once noted that "Every editor of newspapers pays tribute to the devil." Be that as it may, it is true that this editor wasn't willing to take the word of Medusa officials that the Wampum plant is as smoke-free as it appeared during our brief visit Wednesday of last week.

I THINK I made two discoveries that go a long way to proving I was wrong, and that Medusa officials are truly aware of Charlevoix's unmatched beauty and sincere in wanting to preserve it. I asked leading questions of laborers at the Wampum plant to discover if the plant was only presenting its best face for Charlevoix visitors.

It turned out the only one who got fooled was me. I learned that the plant during our visit was putting out more dark smoke than usual. And at that wasn't as bad as some of the coal furnaces in Charlevoix homes.

But what impressed me most was the pride Medusa Wampum employees take in working for the company.

Friction Over Library Policy Becomes Issue

City Studies...

Museum Plan

Creation of a museum on the Colonial Club property on Meech St. is being considered by City Council.

Councilman Jerry Whitley proposed using the city-owned property for a museum at last week's council meeting.

MAYOR E. D. Hawley said the museum could be turned over to a locally created historical society. This way, he said, it would not cost the city money to operate.

Whitley said authentic museums are becoming a real attraction in the north country. Vacationers, he said, are tired of cheap and gaudy tourist come-ons.

Photographer Robert Miles first proposed the idea to him, Whitley said. According to Miles many local people have historically interesting articles they would contribute to a museum, Whitley told councilmen.

Hail New Plan as Progress

To Borrow Books

Friction between advocates of public and school use of the Charlevoix library system came into the open at Monday evening's Board of Education meeting.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION runs the library system, including the high school library and the public library on the corner of Clinton and State streets. Taxpayers in 1962 authorized a five year, one-half mill, levy for library support.

Mrs. Robert L. Hooper, board member, and chairman of the library advisory committee, told school board members there is "constant haggling" over what books belong to the school and public libraries.

Mrs. Hooper asked board members to attend a library advisory committee meeting, to, she hopes, once and for all, resolve the issue.

However, there seemed to be a conflict of opinion concerning the library's service to the community.

"THE LIBRARY, let's face it, has gone backward. Instead of forward," board member Dale Boss said.

While not ignoring the conflict, others heralded the library's recent joining of the Grand Traverse Area Library Federation as the biggest step forward in its history.

Among those supporting this view were Mrs. Hooper, Supl. Rex Milligan and board member Darrell Dinwiddie.

The federation, Milligan explained, gives the library 5,200

Annual Chamber Dinner Plans Set

Tickets to the Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner meeting are being sold.

The annual dinner will be held Monday, Oct. 26, 6:30 p.m., at the Argonne. Tickets are $3 per person. Chamber manager Dean Davenport has the tickets.

THE NAMES of three new chamber directors will be announced at the meeting. Seven persons have been nominated for the three expiring terms.

Ballots to select three of the seven candidates went to chamber members last week. The candidates are: Irma Scheld, Julius Gilbert, John Michael, Wally Loder, Robert C. Miles, George LaBlance and Ronald Peterson.

All ballots must be returned to the chamber by 5 p.m. Oct. 23. Only voting chamber members can cast ballots.

Davenport said tickets to the annual meeting will be sold on a first come basis as only a limited number of accommodations are available.

Only YOU Can Help

Chest Drive Falters

The Charlevoix Community Chest has its back against the wall and only YOU can help, campaign leaders announced after Tuesday's weekly report meeting.

The Chest drive was to have been completed two weeks ago.

HOWEVER, NOW, two weeks late, drive chairman Don Meggison reports the Chest is still $781 short of its $12,000 goal.

There are many people who have not given, Meggison said. People who have not contributed can do so by calling Chest secretary Mrs. Charles Duerr, LI 7-2603.

He urged them to remember the Community Chest is a once-for-all donation. Ten local charities and youth organizations depend on the chest to stay in operation.

The Chest, Meggison reminded residents, is aimed at making it as possible for them to support these agencies without constant harassment for contributions and duplication of fund raising costs.

THE LOCAL agencies that benefit from the Community Chest are: community nurse program, Girl Scouts, Retarded Childrens Assn., Boy Scout, Red Cross, Charlevoix Hospital, City Recreation program, Salvation Army, Charlevoix Servicemen's Organization and Mt. McSaub. In addition, more than 30 state and national agencies receive assistance.

Don Anders, Community Chest board president, emphasized that the 1964 budget was adopted after all benefiting agencies submitted their requests. These were carefully reviewed and approved when Chest directors were sure there was no waste.

He also pointed out the United campaign costs less than 5% for campaign and administrative costs. This, Anders, said, is far below the cost of independent campaigns.

Rose Says Losing Men Due to Low Salaries

Undersheriff Philo Sumner has resigned from the Sheriff's Dept. to take a job with the Boyne City Police Dept.

Sheriff Glenn Rose reports Sumner took the Boyne City job for financial reasons. After eight-and-a-half years with the Sheriff's Dept. Sumner was making $4,100 a year, Rose said. He will start at $4,500 in Boyne City.

ROSE ALSO pointed out his former deputy, Getch Campfield, has quit the department to go into business. Campfield, Rose said, was making $3,400 a year.

Byron Stockwell, 44, Rte. 2 Charlevoix, has been hired to replace the former deputy who worked for Hess Furniture Co.

Wage Row Boils At County Meet

New Ad Feature

Edwards IGA ad this week begins a unique new feature inspired more by Dick and Louis Edwards' interest in the community than their desire to sell groceries.

The weekly ad, on page 3, will carry a picture from Charlevoix's past every week, Dick Edwards announced.

"Being native sons of Charlevoix the beautiful and being proud of its past we are devoting a portion of our ad every week to reminding people they have cause to be proud of their local history," Edwards said.

Salaries of county elected officials crowded all other issues into obscurity during the first days of this week's meeting of the County Board of Supervisors.

A tentative proposal that supervisors consider raising salaries $200 in the next four years came in for sharp criticism from Prosecutor Harvey Varnum and Sheriff Glenn Rose.

Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s uninhabited 800 acres on South Point into the city.

The budget cannot be firm until the salary issue is resolved.

RABACH is opposing the city's annexation request on the grounds the township will lose tax money.

City officials, however, contend taxes are not the issue. City Council voted unanimously to seek annexation of the property to protect the interests of future generations from air pollution that could be caused by Medusa's cement plant.

Medusa has declared it does not oppose annexation, or favor it, as long as it is allowed to purchase electricity from Consumers Power Co. The company will use three times as much electricity in a year as the entire city does.

The annexation question comes before the supervisors at 1:30 p. m. today, Thursday. The public is invited to participate.

DURING A HEATED exchange Tuesday between Varnum and the board, the prosecutor charged the supervisors have purchased a $13,000 addressograph machine they could do without and used the money to increase pay.

Candidates For Congress To Tour Area

Both Democratic and Republican Congressional candidates will be in Charlevoix next week.

Incumbent Congressman, Republican Victor A. Knox of Sault Ste. Marie, will spend an entire day campaigning in Charlevoix County Tuesday, Oct. 20.

His Democrat challenger, Ray Clevenger, also of the 500, will be in town Wednesday, Oct. 21. With him will be Michigan's leading Democratic women.

Knox, according to his county campaign chairman Gordon Freedman, will start campaigning early Tuesday morning in Charlevoix and keep going throughout the county until late evening.

Knox's schedule, Freedman said, will include visits at as many industrial plants as time allows. He will meet as many people as possible in public places.

Freedman said this may be Knox's only visit to the county during the campaign due to the new size of the district, which now takes in all of the U. P., including the Democratic counties in the western Upper.

ACCORDING TO Freedman, Knox has been handicapped in the campaign because he was in Washington tending to Congressional duties while his opponent was at home working for votes.

Rummage Sale This Week at Retarded Center

The annual rummage sale of the Charlevoix Retarded Childrens Center will be held Oct. 16-17 at the American Legion Home on Garfield.

This once-a-year effort to raise funds for the local center will be open both days from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

RUMMAGE FOR the sale is still needed. Call LI 7-6702, LI 7-9406, LI 7-2979 or LI 7-2605 to have contributions picked up.

Items already donated for the sale include sofas, coats, gloves, hats, shoes, blankets, boots, snow suits, dishes, underwear, sweaters and baby clothes.

THE GEESSE ARE FLYING—Mrs. Willard Drost doesn't seem nearly as enthused as her husband is as he shows off their bag of geese. Willard shot two of the geese south of town early in the morning before reporting to his salesman's desk at Erber Auto Co. The Courier has received numerous reports this past week from successful early-morning goose hunters. Most of the shooting seems to be in fields south of town. (COURIER PHOTO)

However, Medusa's plant, located in a valley, stands out for its lack of smoke, in contrast to hundreds of other stacks that choke the air with smoke varying in color from bright orange to dark black.

The Wampum plant was built in 1958. However, a former plant operated on the site for years.

THE COMPANY gets its coal, limestone and other raw products from the hills on the plant site.

Medusa Vice President James F. Weigel, who is in charge of manufacturing, told the Charlevoix visitors, "We're not the least concerned about dust problems anymore—dust prevention is down to a science."

Weigel spoke at a luncheon in the New Castle Country Club, at which Wampum plant manager Arden Krebs and Medusa vice President Worth Loomis were hosts.

Weigel said modern electronic precipitators can eliminate between 98 and 99% of the dust from a cement company smoke stack.

"THE EFFICIENCY can be just about anything you ask for," he said.

Installation of this dust-removal equipment at the Wampum plant on South Point here will cost $1 million, Weigel estimated.

He said that if this equipment is not maintained efficiency falls off. However, he emphasized that maintenance is a minor factor if it is kept up to date.

The dust prevention equipment, which not guaranteeing 100% pure smoke, will control it so that it is cleaner than that from many coal furnaces in town, Loomis said. Loomis is secretary to the corporation and in charge of administration and public relations.

FOLLOWING THE luncheon and tour of the area, the Charlevoix group was taken through the 21/2 million-barrel-a-year cement plant.

Loomis said the plant-the company plans to build here will produce 3 million barrels a year.

CLEVELAND, who started campaigning last summer, will arrive at Democratic Headquarters, in the old Puff's Appliance Center building on Bridge St., about 5 p. m. Wednesday.

He will be accompanying a group of prominent Washington D. C. and Michigan Democratic women.

A reception and refreshments for Cleveland and the women has been planned at the headquarters by Charlevoix chairman Mrs. George LaBlance.

MRS. LABLANCE said the group of Democratic women will include popular campaigners Nancy Williams, wife of the former governor, and Janie Hart, wife of U. S. Sen. Philip A. Hart. Others will be Burnette Stae-

Taylor said other counties pay less in wages, however, he later agreed with S. G. Arbuckle of Boyne City that Charlevoix's elected officials do an outstanding job and should not be compared to most others.

Varnum said his salary, in eight years as prosecutor has been raised $450, whereas the supervisors gave themselves a 50% raise four years ago (from $10 a day to $15).

"With crime on the increase this prosecuting job isn't getting easier, but more demanding of time," Varnum said.

BOYNE CITY Supervisor Forbes Tompkins asked, "How can anyone live?" on the salaries received by county employees.

Salary Committee chairman John Kujawski of Boyne City, said the $200 increase was only a proposal for discussion.

What the supervisors finally decide is probably a lot of talk and argument away from the tentative suggestion made Tuesday.

Present salaries are: Sheriff—$4,200; County Clerk—$4,600; Register of Deeds, $4,300; Treasurer, $4,400; Probate Judge, $5,500; Prosecutor, $4,300.

Museum Plan

Great Lakes shipping history and other nautical facts has been discussed as the possible theme for such a museum.

SUCH A MUSEUM, Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport has said, would help bring off-season tourists to the area.

At one time, when it was thought the abandoned Coast Guard Life Boat Station on the Pine River Channel might be declared surplus, there was discussion of turning the property into a museum, combining Great Lakes, Coast Guard and Charlevoix history.

This idea was abandoned when the Coast Guard decided to keep the property for an electronics repair shop. Since this decision was made, however, it has suggested that the city trade other property to the Coast Guard for its repair shop.

The enthusiastic response to the Courier's "Charlevoix of Yesteryear" old picture feature on the editorial page has been cited as evidence of the interest Charlevoixians have in their history.

THE COURIER has literally been swamped with authentic old pictures that Charlevoix people have saved.

Edward Heise's museum in his Rock and Relic Shop, has proven to be a major attraction for summer tourists.

City Council has been in a quandary over disposing of or keeping the Colonial Club property. In July it asked for bids on the property, but received none that met the $10,000 minimum requested.

Councilman William Fochtman said last week he has received a tentative offer of $8,500 for the property from someone he did not identify who desires to build a 12 apartment building on it. The highest offer up to then was $5,500.

more books a year than it formerly had. The books are loaned to the local library, in blocks of 1,300 every three months.

THE LIBRARY is allowed to select the books it will borrow. In addition the federation helps with library planning, does the card cataloging, and makes recommendations. It will also find any reference book, even if it has to go to an outside source.

Through the federation, Milligan said, the library can purchase new books at a one-third discount.

Membership in the federation, Milligan said, gives Charlevoix a complete source of books and research material. Only libraries in the biggest cities could afford to own such complete library collections, he said.

CHARLEVOIX WILL pay the federation $1,252.80 this year. This is figured at 30-cents per person in the school district. For this price, Milligan estimated, the library is getting the use of $20,000 worth of books a year.

Mrs. Hooper said the library is "very short of shelf room." To make room for the federation books, many old books were taken off the crowded shelves, she said. A committee has been selected to named to select old, seldom-used books, that should be discarded.

A LETTER WAS read from Walker Miles of the Christian Science Church objecting to the removal of several religious reference books from the shelves. Mrs. Hooper said librarian Florance Milner needs assistance at the library.

Boss suggested the board begin searching for someone to train as an assistant and substitute librarian. The board agreed.

The library has an annual budget of approximately $11,500. The library is open from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. six days a week, and from 7 to 9 on Monday and Wednesday.

SOURCE of POWER

It looks easy!

In no time at all this solid log is cut clean through. There's a reason. Because back of the saw is sufficient power to do the job... penetrating power. Oh, the power, that could be loosed from your life and mine if we were but willing... inexhaustible power... mountains of power that could penetrate a wicked world and turn it Godward. Jesus said, "All power is given unto me." Then why not make contact with God this very day - the source of real power. He said, "Lo, I am with you always." Attend church and give Him a chance to help rewind the mainspring of your life. Link it up with the billion-volt-dynamo in the Power Room of The Most High.

A BOOST FOR GOLDWATER-ROMNEY-Charlevoix Republicans opened their campaign headquarters in the Coshmere Shop two weeks ago. Bill Corey, on ladder, gets on assist from Larry Wolloce in putting up the sign they and Mrs. Glen Sheppard made. Looking on are Mrs. Jane Lieberman and Chuck Corey, county Goldwater campaign chairman. Republicans report they have never had a headquarters open so early, or seen so much enthusiasm for a candidate as they find for Sen. Barry Goldwater. Mrs. Lieberman, who is in charge of the headquarters reports people are welcome to stop in and get the facts on the issues, or just for a chat and free cup of coffee. The headquarters, she said, has material on all of the Republican candidates and the complicated Nov. 3 ballot is fully explained. (COURIER PHOTO)

Says Wilderness Value Being Ruined by City

Ted Miller, 700 Park Ave., has asked the city to preserve in its natural state the park overlooking Lake Michigan Beach.

The city has been putting fill dirt in sections of the park to level off the contours.

MILLER SAID THE city landscaping and filling threatens to destroy the park's "wilderness" aspect. He said it is one of the few small parks in the area that doesn't look as though it were manured by man.

Councilmen ordered that a more man-made appearance be given to the park so it will be more useable. They contend that because of its contours few people use the park.

Botulism Reported Back In Lake Michigan Gulls

The Conservation Dept. reports its tests have uncovered Type E botulism toxin in dead water birds found along the Lake Michigan shore.

So far, the department has not reported to have tested any dead birds found near Charlevoix. Area residents have not reported an unusually large die off.

THE DEPARTMENT'S latest toxicity tests were run on loons found dead in the Big Bay de Noc area of the Upper Peninsula's City Studies

Pension Plan

City Council has authorized a study to determine how much it will cost to put all employees on the state retirement program.

The decision was made on the request of Councilman Robert Gill. Cost to the city will be $200.

THE STUDY WILL tell the city how much it will cost annually to join the state pension plan. Both the city and its employees would pay a portion of the cost.

The proposition may be put on the April 1965 ballot.

Ralph Hamilton Addresses State Kiwanis Convention

Charlevoix Kiwanian Ralph Hamilton Monday addressed the Michigan State Kiwanis Club Convention in Lansing.

Hamilton, who is secretary to the Charlevoix County Road Commission, gave a speech to report on the State Committee for Support of Churches, of which he is chairman.

A slightly condensed text of Hamilton's speech follows.

As chairman of the Support of Churches Committee I would like to dwell a few minutes on our theme for 1964 . . . "Freedom . . . a call to personal service."

First face up to your responsibility. God government is your responsibility as much as anybody's . . . A few years ago in Newsweek magazine this fact was highlighted, it goes as follows: "A wise man once observed, liberty means responsibility. This is why most men dread it . . . But if you dread it and ignore it . . . how long can it last? Freedom, like a receding hairline . . . isn't lost all at once . . . it goes gradually . . . make it your business to remind others that what each citizen does . . . fails to do in carrying out his share of civic responsibility strengthens or weakens everybody's government."

Do your own thinking . . . think for yourself and vote as you see fit. It is between you and your conscience. Between you and God. No suggestions, no books, no rallies can ever substitute for evaluating and selecting of competent public officials is that each person can and should do for himself.

Recently I picked up a paper back at the news stand . . . it was called "None Dare Call It Treason". It's already in its fifteenth printing since February of this year. Many of you have probably read it. It is a wonderful story of hindsight and it seems non-political as far as I can tell. To my view the last chapter in the book is the best part for it tells you what you can do about it . . . J. Edgar Hoover gave the ultimate answer in accepting an award from the Freedom Foundation on February 22, 1962. He said, "The basic answer to Communism is moral. The fight is economic, social, psychological, diplomatic and strategic . . . but above all it is spiritual."

Another writer put it another way, "Pray to God with the knowledge that everything depends on Him, and work as if everything depends on you."

But we have to be careful about thinking straight . . . The depth and flexibility of the human mind is a tribute to divine wisdom and generosity, but most people go through an entire lifetime making scant use of the creative powers of mind, heart and soul entrusted to them by a loving Creator . . . As I mentioned before . . . do your own thinking . . . don't simply swallow what you see and hear without analyzing it and probing it. It is by these insidious means that Communism makes such inroads on a free people.

Dig for a deeper meaning. Get beneath the surface of what you read or hear. This applies to the profound truth of the gospels. Take for example the words of the Lord Himself, "He who is not with Me is against Me." Even a momentary reflection on An apple for the teacher is a time-honored custom among school children everywhere, and the teacher is glad to get a tasty treat. But what to do when almost everyone of the 119 Kindergarten children brings an apple? Even though there are two teachers, the supply was exceeding the demand by quite a margin.

That was the problem that faced Mrs. Dorothy McRae and Mrs. Kay Smith in the local Kindergarten classes last week.

The solution? Why, applesauce, of course. The children in Mrs. McRae's class cut up some of the apples, cooked them on the hot plate, put them through the food mill, and served both classes with proud delight.

the complete significance of these nine words might rouse a person to realize for the first time that by neglecting to promote what is good, he is, by default, supporting evil.

Put welfare of country before political party, financial advantage or personal interest.

Ask yourself, where are you doing now to improve local, state and federal government.

Pray that government officials may have the wisdom and courage to act on principle, not expediency.

And remember . . . where faith is found . . . freedom flourishes.

Fellow Kiwanians may we be reminded as good citizens to:

Encourage an intelligent discussion of issues. Honest disagreement is one way to better understanding.

CHS Rams Grayling, Boyne Next

By FRAN MARTIN

One of the oldest and bitterest of rivalries in the league will be renewed Friday when the Charlevoix Raiders invade Boyne City.

Boyne City has a slight advantage, record-wise, for they have won over Mancelona and Gaylord while the Raiders, defending champions with East Jordan, have won one, tied one and lost one.

Last Friday Charlevoix battered Grayling 20-0.

THE RAMBLERS have to their credit hard-hitting Dan Cikalo, top scorer in the league with Harbor's George Kilborn. If the Raiders can contain him and Scotty Hall the Charlevoix eleven could come out of the fray with a win.

Though they, like all area teams, played in near-freezing temperatures last week, the Raiders were sharp on defense and did a good job of moving the ball under difficult circumstances. Coach Don Carey, in commenting on the game, said the team was fortunate to have suffered no serious injuries as the result of the cold, wet weather and added that his squad could win over the Ramblers if they play good sharp ball.

"Charlevoix-Boyne City games are always something special. Regardless of their records when they meet, both teams are always up for this game, resulting in a hard-fought battle all the way. Chances are this week's game will follow the same pattern," coach Carey said.

Last week the Ramblers came from behind to defeat a stubborn Pellston outfit 14-7 after Chub Clear scored for the Hornets on a one yard plunge in the second quarter. Bob Shier booted the conversion to give the Hornets a 7-0 halftime advantage.

THE RAYDERS rolled up an impressive three-touchdown advantage in their game with Grayling and, as the weather got colder and colder, spent the second half defending their lead.

Charlevoix's Dave Smith took the kickoff on the 25 yard line and returned it to the 42 where the Raiders opened a ground drive that moved the ball to the 12 yard line as the squad picked up five first downs. Mark Bourgoin then went off tackle for the touchdown with six minutes remaining on the clock. Steve Smith's boot was wide and the score remained at 6-0.

The Raider defense dug in, forcing the Vikings to punt into the wind. Charlevoix took over on the Grayling 45, early in the second quarter, and moved the ball to the Grayling 20 on a pass from Del Terrill to Randy Carey. However, a major penalty on the Raiders set the ball back to the Grayling 44. An offside penalty on Grayling gave Charlevoix five yards to the 30 where Terrill pitched to Tom Maxwell who went the distance to make the score 12-0. This time Steve Smith's boot went through the uprights for the point.

CHARLEVOIX kicked off to Grayling. An exchange of punts followed, giving Grayling the ball on the Charlevoix 20. On the first play from scrimmage, Rich Grunch intercepted a Grayling pass on the 25 and romped for a touchdown. After receiving a bad pass from center on the conversion kick, Terrill skirted the left side of the line to score the conversion point. An offside against the Rayders forced them to try again. This time Steve Smith booted the point for a 20-0 lead, where it stood at game's end.

Starting for Charlevoix was the offensive squad composed of Terrill, Dave Smith, Grunch and Bourgoin in the backfield; Ends Maxwell and Carey, tackles Bob Holtzman and Doug Winnell, guards Mike Arbuckle and Larry Hutchinson and center Ed Holm.

From Mackinaw City

Return With Victory

BY SUZANE PETTER

ELLSWORTH--Despite miserable weather, the Lancers at Mackinaw last week showed they have the stuff to turn Friday's homecoming into an upset victory over Central Lake, starting at 8 p.m. on the Ellsworth field.

The Lancers started rolling early to run up their 19-12 victory over Mackinaw City.

The first touchdown was scored on a pass from Chet Boss to Walt Kooyer. The attempt for the extra point was no good and the score was Ellsworth 6, Mackinaw City 0.

WALT KOOYER kicked the two points. They got a five yard penalty and fumbled the ball, which was recovered by the Lancers.

After two plays which resulted in a first down, Burt Doctor moved the ball to about the one yard line. Two more plays resulted in the ball being moved only a few inches but on the next play, Burt plowed through the defensive line for the touchdown. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful.

The quarter ended with the score Ellsworth 12, Mackinaw City 0.

Early in the second quarter, the Comets ran from their 35 yard line for a touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good.

FRED GIBBS, took the kickoff and ran about 20 yards before being tackled. Next, Chet Boss passed to Walt Kooyer, who moved the ball up to the Mackinaw City ten yard line.

After two plays, Burt Doctor ran thru the middle to about the 2 yard line and, after 3 more plays he made a touchdown. The ball was passed to Walt Kooyer for the extra point. This made the score Ellsworth 19 Mackinaw City 6.

Walt kicked the ball to the Comets who quickly got two first downs. Then on a third down, Mackinaw ran for a touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good.

The Lancers gained only a few yards before the half-time whistle blew. Ellsworth 19, Mackinaw 12.

Both teams failed to score in the second half.

East Jordan Faces Rough Test Friday

While the Charlevoix Rayders are taking on Boyne City at Brotherston field Friday, Mancelona will invade East Jordan. Gaylord will play at Grayling and Harbor Springs will entertain Pellston.

This week the fired up Mancelona squad will travel north to take on the East Jordan Red Devils who were trimmed last week by Harbor Springs, 20-6.

DAVE DONALDSON put East Jordan ahead on an 89 yard break away to put the Red Devils ahead in the first period by Andy Skoczylas countered with a touchdown for Harbor on a one yard line buck to tie the score at half-time. In the fourth period Harbor scored twice more.

If Mancelona can keep their offensive attack in high gear, they might be able to retain the second place standing they now share with Boyne City and Gaylord. It will not be easy for the Red Devils to stop them.

EAST JORDAN had allowed only two touchdowns going into the Harbor game. Though they have been weak on offense, their defense has been their strong point and, unless the Ironmen can go around the line with long end sweeps or over it via the aerial route, they may find themselves on the debit end of the score. But they have tasted victory and will be hard to stop, even by the experienced Jordanites.

For the first time since the 1942 season, the Harbor Springs Rams have, within their sights, a league title. Even then, they had to share it with Grayling.

This year the Rams seem to be leading the victory march with wins over Charlevoix (19-13), Grayling (24-0) and East Jordan (20-6) while their opponent this week Pellston, is occupying the league cellar with an 0-3 record.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY

Candidate Sees Education Improved Under New Con.

Robert P. Briggs was in Charlevoix last week on a tour of northern Michigan in his campaign for the State Board of Education.

UNDER MICHIGAN'S new Constitution the State Board of Education, will, for the first time, have charge of coordinating responsibilities for all public education, from pre-kindergarten to post graduate university study.

A former vice president of the University of Michigan, Briggs sees this as a major breakthrough for Michigan education.

At present, he points out, Michigan's universities compete with each other, under completely uncoordinated boards of trustees or regents, for a bigger share of the tax dollar.

However, through the new State Board of Education this battle for tax dollars can be eliminated, reducing costly duplication and rivalry.

ANOTHER INNOVATION of the 1963 Constitution that appeals to Briggs is the appointment of the State Board of Education's top executive. In the past the State Supt. of Public Instruction has been an elected politician. Under the new law he must be appointed by the State Board of Education strictly on his qualifications as an educator, Briggs said.

Briggs is running for a six year term on the state board. Eight members will be elected. Two will be elected for eight year terms, two for six years, two for four years and two for two years.

He is one of ten of the 16 candidates endorsed by the Michigan Education Assn. This marks the first time in MEA's history that it has endorsed a candidate.

When Briggs gets around to discussing his personal qualifications for the job he covers a lot of territory with few words. Since 1951 he has been executive vice president of Consumers Power Co., in charge of corporate and financial affairs.

BEFORE ENTERING private business 13 years ago he was a University of Michigan vice president, a certified public accountant and university professor.

He has received numerous awards for his service to business and education. He was active in organizing the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce and served as its first president.

Clevenger Advocates Shore Road

Democratic candidate for Congress Ray Clevenger has called for construction of a shoreline drive into Charlevoix.

Clevenger, in a release last week, said if elected to Congress he will immediately press for positive action to get the shoreline road constructed.

SPECIFICALLY, Clevenger said he will advocate construction of 18 miles of shoreline road between Charlevoix and Esstport. He estimated the cost at $1.9 million.

"U. S. Dept. of Commerce studies have shown that the money spent by an average of only 24 tourists a day throughout the year in a community equals the economic impact of a manufacturing plant with a $100,000 annual payroll," Clevenger said. "We must never for a moment forget what this would mean to the north country."

This highway, he added, is needed to display to its best advantage the beauty spots and natural wonders of this scenic area.

He also proposed shoreline roads in other areas of the north, costing a total of $90 million.

Walker Proposes State Forest Taxes Be Hiked

Speaking in the Charlevoix City Hall to Charlevoix County Democrats, Earl Walker, candidate for Representative in the State Legislature from District 106, said the burden of the farmer can be lightened.

Rally for Barry Set In Traverse

Larry Wallace, vice-chairman of the Charlevoix Goldwater-Miller Committee was in Traverse City last week completing arrangements for the only major Republican presidential campaign rally planned for northern Lower Michigan.

Barry Goldwater Jr. and Phil Crosby, son of crooner Bing Crosby, will headline the rally in Traverse City Oct. 19, Wallace announced. He said the rally will be held in the St. Francis High School gym at 8 p.m. There will be free seats for about 2,000.

A $5 A PLATE dinner in the Traverse City Country Club will proceed the rally at 6 p.m.

In addition to Sen. Barry Goldwater Jr. and showman Crosby, the dinner and rally will feature several other national GOP figures and area state candidates. Sen. Thomas Schweigert of Petoskey will be on the program.

Wallace attended the district Goldwater-Miller committee meeting in Traverse City for Charlevoix County Chairman Chuck Carey.

"District campaign leaders at the meeting Carey and his assistants for the enthusiastic effort being made in Charlevoix for Goldwater," Wallace said.

HE SAID TRAVERSE City district headquarters is aware that Charlevoix had a Republican headquarters open and staffed the first of October, and that Mrs. Robert Lieberman's women's committee was fully two weeks ahead of Democrats in getting the campaign underway.

Earl Walker
Dem's Mon for House

"Sometimes the man who stands on his dignity is arrested for having no visible means of support."—George W. Shroyer, Shamokin (Pa.) Citizen.

Walker said a recent survey indicates the average annual income of the farmer is $2,688. This fact, he said, coupled with the knowledge that the farmer and his entire family are working 14 hours per day would show a yearly average of less than $600 per family member.

"YET THE state's school finances have been shifted to the farmer because more and more taxes are placed upon his property," he said.

In suggesting a way to lighten the tax burden for the farmer and in general all taxpayers, Walker pointed out that hundreds of thousands of acres in Michigan are held by the federal forest, and that this property is taxfree. The State Conservation Dept. also owns thousands of acres of land on which they have been paying only 15 cents per acre, he said.

"Like everyone else's property, the timber has grown and the value has increased, therefore that property should be assessed at 25 cents per acre. Also the federal forest property should be assessed, even though 25 cents of every dollar's worth of timber rent is now being returned to local government," Walker said.

ALL OF THESE taxes along with the tax that is already on cigarettes will finance the needs of the school without extra taxation, thus relieving not only the farmer but all the taxpayers, Walker said.

The State's Forest Reserve Act should provide for an increase of 15 cents per acre. As of now the forest reserve property owner pays 5 cents per acre while the State of Michigan through the Auditor General, who pays the other 10 cents per acre. This 10 cents comes from our own tax money, he said.

Schweigert Says Dems Trying to Split GOP

"We're all Republicans and need no other label," State Sen. Thomas Schweigert told Charlevoix County young Republicans last week, in a call for party unity.

Schweigert, of Petoskey, who is running for re-election, addressed the Charlevoix County Young Republicans Club at City Hall here.

HE TOLD THE young GOP faithfuls that opposition groups are attempting to cut the Republican party up into splinters of liberal, moderate, conservative and buttonshoe.

Schweigert told the group to ignore these efforts and get out and work for the entire Republican ticket, from Sen. Barry Goldwater to county and township officers.

Experience in the Senate, Schweigert said, has shown him that Democrat strategy often is to divide and conquer.

"The accomplishments of Gov. Romney's administration are cause for pride for all Republicans," he said.

SCHWEIGERT ASKED the young Republicans to urge voters to make a careful study of the 18 candidates for the State Board of Education and six candidates for the Appeals Court.

Sen. Thomas Schweigert
"We Need No Other Label"

He cited the Democratic re-appointment of the state as putting the north in danger of becoming an unheard orphan of big city interests. It is possible, and even likely, Schweigert said, that both the House and Senate will be controlled by metropolitan Democrats after the November election.

As for his own chances of re-election Schweigert said he is campaigning hard in the Upper Peninsula area that has been added to his district. He said the new district is still in the Republican column, but by a narrow margin of 53% Republican and 47% Democrat.

Republican State Representative Clayton Morrison, Schweigert said, should win with 60% of the vote.

DRIVING THE CAR was Steven E. Wilson, 19, 501 Dixon. Others who suffered minor injuries described by Smith as cuts and bruises, were Bob Bergman, 17, 301 Meech; Morea Wilson, 11, 501 E. Dixon and Jeffery Wilson, 15, 501 E. Dixon.

The accident happened at 9:50 p.m. Oct. 6.

Another Relic Slated for Charlevoix Museum

Ed Hietse prepares this pre-1900 horse-drawn carriage for its first repainting job. The carriage will go in Hietse's Rock and Relic Shop museum on Bridge St.

It originally belonged to the late Ed Waller, who owned the farm now occu-pled by Ed Shanahan north of town.

Hietse estimated the carriage is more than 75 years old and was "probably the Cadillac of its day."

It was given to the museum by the Chicago Club, where it has been in storage. Hietse said it is still in excellent condition and only needs a little retouching to put it in mint condition. He thinks it was made by Studebaker.

"It's a little bit of Charlevoix that should be preserved," Hietse said.

ALASKA FILMS FEATURED AT PTA

The Ebenezer Christian School P. T. A. met Monday evening, Oct. 12, at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church. Due to the absence of president Willard Vander Ark and vice president Peter Pott the Vice President Rubingh opened the meeting by the audience singing a couple of hymns and read scripture, Rev. Alvin VanderGriend opened with prayer.

A couple of short readings entitled "Benefit for Teachers" and another Yankee Dutch selection was given by George Jake Drenth. Rev. and Mrs. VanderGriend showed some beautiful slides of their trip to Alaska where they spent several weeks in 1960 on Summer Field work assignment from Calvin Seminary. Rev. Supervisors Hold Fate Of Unborn Generations

AT 2 P. M. the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors is scheduled to make one of the most important decisions in the City of Charlevoix's future. Will the Board of Supervisors approve the city's request to annex Medusa's unpopulated South Point property?

Many observers speculate that because 15 of the county's 25 supervisors, representing less than half the population, come from townships they will support Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach's request that the city's bid be rejected.

THE COURIER IS not prepared to accept this appraisal of what the supervisors will do. We do not believe the supervisors, whether from townships or cities, are that biased and unwilling to consider the issue on its true merits.

While we recognize that Michigan city and township government has been at odds for generations, the annexation question is not merely a matter of petty rivalry.

City Councilmen were noticeably reluctant to request the annexation. They finally united to make the move only after it became clear Charlevoix Township does not have its heart in drafting a stringent air pollution ordinance. Recent experience with Marlon Township's ordinance revealed that townships do not have great enough powers under state law to enforce zoning regulations, even against dumps, leave alone something as complicated as air pollution.

The city then learned that the ordinance Charlevoix Township boasted it already had in effect to control smoke does not even give token protection.

WHEN MEDUSA OFFICIALS said they have no argument with the city's desire to enact a stringent ordinance, annexation was the only course left for councilmen. They took it to keep faith not only with future Charlevoix City residents but also future generations of Charlevoix Township residents.

The city pointedly resisted making a land grab, which would have involuntarily moved some township residents into the city. This move was discussed and dismissed by councilmen as being unethical.

The city's motive is clear and pure: It wants to safeguard Charlevoix's renowned fresh air from any possible contamination a score of years from now, or three score years. There is no mercenary objective here. Not only city residents will benefit, but the township as well.

What about the township's motive in opposing the annexation? Township Supervisor Rabach has clearly stated he is against the move because it will take tax money from the township and reduce the size of his domain. Rabach's purpose, quite obviously, is selfish and short-sighted.

RABACH HAS SAID he has no qualms about the sincerity of Medusa officials in stating they will operate a dust-free cement plant. Nor do city officials, or the Courier, doubt but what Medusa's intentions are the best.

But city officials are not blind to the possibility that this will change in 20 years, or 40 years. Only by drafting the ordinance before the cement plant is erected can this be avoided.

Medusa Vice President Worth Loomis has agreed city officials would be negligent in their responsibility if they did not prepare for this future possibility. And, he has said, such an ordinance will not discourage Medusa from building its plant here.

As we have said before, we regret that the Courier has to so sharply disagree with Rabach. We believe he is an outstanding supervisor. But we will not sell future Charlevoixians down the river just because it would be easier to ignore the issue today.

WHEN COUNTY supervisors face the issue this afternoon we hope, and trust, they, too, will look beyond the surface and decide the question on its importance to yet unborn Charlevoixians, and not on the basis traditional controversies.

National Newspaper Week Puts Spotlight on Smalltown Press

BECAUSE THIS WEEK (Oct. 11-17) is National Newspaper Week, we hope you will bear with us for a few paragraphs while we discuss our favorite subject: Community journalism.

This trade of ours has many pitfalls. It can be the most heartbreaking vocation in a smalltown. And, then again, it certainly can be, and should be, one of the most rewarding.

THE SMALLTOWN weekly newspaper is the closest member of the family of any of the communications media. Whereas the daily press is the mirror of the state, nation and world, the weekly is your neighbor speaking, or the school chum who has grown up to be mayor, or maybe your son's school teacher whom you once courted.

Because our founding fathers recognized that the Republic they created can only be preserved if people stand up at home and demand the best from public officials, the smalltown newspaper carries one of the most awesome responsibilities in the country.

It is the Courier's job, and that of every other newspaper, to stir people up. To get them excited and concerned about local affairs. Unless this goal is achieved apathy sets in. Public officials see that the people are not interested and slowly lose interest themselves. This leads to capable men disregarding their responsibility to run for office and opens the door for the freeloader.

Newspapers gauge their success at arousing interest in public affairs by the number of letters to the editor they receive. The Courier is proud to report that in the last year (Oct. 1, 1963 to Oct. 1, 1964) it printed 142 letters from readers. This is a good deal more than were printed in all other county newspapers put together. In the previous year the Courier printed 28 letters.

WE FEEL OUR unprecedented number of letters prove we have done a better job than in the past. But we know the Courier can still do better.

Someone once said time is not a factor in a perfect work. However, nothing touched by mortal hands is perfect. Yet it is true that time is less a factor for the weekly newspaper than for the daily newspaper and tv or radio.

Consequently, a weekly newspaper editor has before him the opportunity to present a nearer-to-perfect record and commentary on public affairs than other communications media.

And yet at the same time, the weekly newspaper faces complications unknown to those who are in a hurry and do not have time to become personally acquainted with their readers.

A DAILY NEWSPAPER editor can report a sensitive public issue from behind his teletype machines. The tv and radio commentator is just a voice or picture. But the weekly editor walks the same streets, eats in the same cafes and fishes off the same pier as the people who would prefer that a certain issue was hushed up, or that only their side of it were told.

The weekly editor must live with his readers. To him they are not just names on subscription cards. His children go to the same school theirs do. He has to expect them to curse at him and threaten him while he is trying to lead the life of a private citizen.

Because of these discomforts many weekly newspapermen bow to the pressures that urge them to keep their nose out of public affairs and stick to reporting social notes, club activities, charity drives and uncontroversial events that government and school leaders consider "safe."

But these men are doing their community a disservice. For the weekly newspaper is rural America's last virile voice against the onrush of the big city and centralized government to completely control the nation.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

Franklin's Fears Are Coming True

TO THE EDITOR:

It is high time someone explains the difference between a "Democracy" and a "Representative Republic."

It is high time that farmers and other minority groups realize the dangers they face from those who would twist our nation into a new form of government where mass votes control.

WITHOUT THINKING, many of us have been to blame for this transgression. We have all been so proud of our "democratic way" -- we have stressed the importance of the individual -- and rightly so. But what happens to individual rights when mobs control?

The term "democracy" as it is being used in America today, refers to a form of government in which the power of the vote is vested directly in the people.

The word comes from two Greek words, "demos" meaning "the people," and "kratos" meaning "to rule." And the people ruled directly in the small city-state of Athens on a one-man, one-vote basis. It worked because at that time all of the citizens could gather in the marketplace and minority groups were unknown.

Our United States of America is not a "true" democracy and never was intended to be. Our Constitution calls for a representative form of republic, with built-in checks and balances against mob rule or abuse of power by persons or privileged masses.

WHEN THE FIRST Constitutional Convention adjourned in Philadelphia in 1789, a citizen asked Benjamin Franklin what sort of government had been established. Franklin replied, "We have given you a republic -- if you can keep it."

The Convention had spent much time over the issue of whether voting power should be in direct proportion to population. The Convention rejected this idea as dangerous.

James Madison, one of the men who helped draft our Constitution, pointed out why such a government was rejected. He warned that an area holding a decided voting power over the rest of the country could "ride rough shod" over the rights of people in areas of lesser population.

Yet, the United States Supreme Court has now ruled that voting power should be in direct proportion to population. So far, Congress has not seriously challenged the decision.

Said Franklin: "We have given you a republic -- if you can keep it."

TO THE EDITOR:

Reference is made to "Odds 'N Ends" in the Courier of October 1st in which you refer to some of the towing tugs formerly operating out of Charlevoix. As a native and former resident of Chx, may I offer a few comments.

My grandfather, the late Capt. Timothy D. Smith, owned and operated the tug, James H. Martin, for many years in Chx, and northern Lake Michigan waters. The name you have given "G. V. Martin" is incorrect.

CAPT. EPHRAIM Small brought the tug "Irma L. Wheeler" to Chx, and operated it in the towing business. I never knew that it was known as "Wheeler Cummings".

Capt. Dahlmer, a commercial fisherman, operated the tug "Ansbaugh".

I well remember the tugs J. H. Parmalee, Frank P. Gelken, J. V. Taylor, Newell Avery, J. L. Higgle, William H. Parks, and the Arbutus.

The Lou A. Cummings was a small steamer operating on Pine Lake between Chx, Boyne City, and East Jordan; along with the Gordon, Chrysler, Pilgrim, and Hum. Not all at the same time but from time to time over the years. In my memory, the Joseph Gordon was the old stand-by.

Kaloupa. The correct spelling is Chkaloupa.

Republicans Display New Campaign Vigor

DEAR EDITOR:

For a party that has recently been reported as dying in Charlevoix county the Republicans have certainly made a remarkable recovery!

Never has there been such enthusiasm among party workers and candidates.

OUR HEADQUARTERS has been open and fully staffed for two weeks. Our shelves are amply stocked with literature and campaign material. Several of our State candidates have spent time there visiting with prospective voters.

A large, bright sign has been constructed and installed by volunteers and the wood for our fire place was donated by another active worker.

Lets have no more crepe hanging for the poor, dying Republicans. We've never been better!!!

odds 'n ends

By FRAN MARTIN

Shiver, shiver, shiver... how about that below-freezing weather we had last week... I know we have to have 'squaw winter' before we have Indian summer but do we have to have so much at one time... If some of this rain and white stuff doesn't put some much-needed moisture back in the ground... well... then nothing's ever going to... Should be a good year for maple syrup, come spring... I'm told by my friend, Ed Shanahan, an authority on the subject, that there'll be lots of sap when there's lots of moisture... that we've had...

JUST WHEN I was looking out the window watching that white stuff come down and, under my breath, cussing it more than a little bit, the phone rang and one of my skiing friends called to tell me it was snowing... and wasn't it wonderful... That, not being my sentiment, brought forth a few comments not exactly printable... I have difficulty understanding these people... they would have just two seasons... summer when you can go to the beach or winter when you can ski... and never mind the in-between...

If the weather we've been having is any criterion of things to come then the skiers and the resort operators will be happy... After last winter I'll grant you they could all do with a good season... But does it have to start so early? After all, not even the operators are prepared to open before the holidays...

Since I'm on the subject of skiing, I'd like to mention a few things regarding it... I may kid about it but I'm very much aware what it means to this north country... It's brought a whole new life and economy to northern Michigan... During the recent summer I found myself telling people from away just what it means... When summer visitors come to the area, they have little occasion to visit the various ski resorts which are usually off the beaten paths... When you tell them how many people it brings to the area from all over the Midwest on most weekends when the skiing is good, they think you're kidding... I don't think that even the area people, unless they are skiers themselves or have occasion to visit the resorts, are aware of what this means... Right now I'd like to ask you to plan to make a 'grand tour' this winter... that is, take a Sunday afternoon or two and visit the big resorts... two in Emmet county, three in our own plus various others in the area, and these are just the big ones... You won't believe that there are that many people who will travel that far to ski... It's a sight you'll long remember... so mark it on your calendar... you'll love it...

AND IF YOU'VE taken a look at that calendar recently you'll know that it will soon be Halloween... time to stalk the wary buck... Thanksgiving... basketball... Christmas... wherever did 1964 go?

And then there was the World Series... I'm not a baseball fan though I follow the sport to a point where I usually know who's leading which league... but I never watch the game except for the World Series... What about that last minute race for the pennants... with the favorites falling by the wayside and New York, as usual, and St. Louis finishing in the money... It's going to be mighty interesting and by the time you read this, chances are the series will be over... Hope your team won... me? I'm a National League fan, myself...

I'm always glad when the baseball season is over... because then there's nothing to interfere with football... Don't forget that Nov. 3 is just around the corner... All you people who vote by absent voter's ballot... and many of our service people do... had better get out a card asking for an application... so you can vote... and don't say we didn't remind you... I was given the job recently of checking on people in my ward who were not on the poll list... I was shocked at the number who hadn't even bothered to register... How else do you expect to keep our form of government a reality if you don't exercise your right to vote?

AND HOW ABOUT those football games? You can't say the Raiders haven't been doling out their fair share of thrills... and some very good football in the bargain... The J-V's certainly had a game Tuesday night... played at East Jordan on a snow-covered field... and was it cold... I just don't get this below-zero weather in early October!... Kids always interest me as does anything pertaining to them... The following bit I found a long time ago and would like to pass it along to you... For my money there are a lot of good thoughts in it:

"If a child lives with criticism he learns to condemn; if a child lives with hostility he learns to fight; if a child lives with fear he learns to be apprehensive; if a child lives with pity he learns to feel sorry for himself; if a child lives with jealousy he learns to hate; if a child lives with encouragement he learns to be confident; if a child lives with praise he learns to love; if a child lives with approval he learns to like himself. "If a child lives with recognition he learns to have a goal; if a child lives with fairness he learns justice; if a child lives with honesty he learns what truth is; if a child lives with friendliness he learns that the world is a nice place in which to live."

WHAT KIND OF an environment is your child living in? You'd be amazed how easy it is to tell... And children are such wonderful people... It breaks one's heart to see a child being reared in an unhealthy atmosphere... 'cause they deserve every break...

And now I'll get off my soap-box... but I do have a feeling for kids and I rarely find one I wouldn't like to take home with me... so perhaps... explain why I wanted to use this bit... the author of which is unknown...

Homecoming Promises to Be Most Gala on Record

Homecoming! Homecoming! That is the word around Ellsworth these days. Thursday it was announced at school they could have a homecoming game on Friday, Oct. 16, against rivals Central Lake. Grades 7 through 12 are planning their floats to enter in the parade Friday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Monday the classes will select candidates for the Queen's Court. On Wednesday all students will vote for a Queen from the 12th grade candidates.

THE KINGSLEY High School Band is all set to perform for the occasion. The 65 member band has been practicing for over two weeks with our school song and other musical numbers. They plan to lead the parade starting at 3 p.m.

The Queen and her court will give beauty to the festivities and the floats always have thoughts for the game.

So the parade will have color, beauty and jubilant music. The game starts at 8 p.m. with the Kingsley band having a pre-game ceremony.

The half time show will feature the crowning of the Queen by the captain of the Lancers team. The football game is building up to very important contest so excitement is generating.

A HOMECOMING PARTY has been planned for the Queen, her court and the football team. Mr. Nixy will be Master of Ceremonies, he will also entertain with guitar. The Clark Sisters from Central Lake will sing and have the Hooters join in the singing. A Lin from Levering which has entertained throughout the north country at many high school activities, is going to play for the party.

All students grade 7 through 12 plus the alumni are invited.

The people who attended last week's game looked like Eskimos, only that, those people can stand that type of weather.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Chessman and son Jim from Ohio are spending ten days visiting her family. Mrs. Chessman is the former Mary McElroy.

Chet Dreath spent the weekend visiting his folks and doing some chatting with friends. Thelma Dreath was home the week before and her mother and brother went back with her to visit Wilma's mother, Mrs. James Heeres.

Ruth and Roy Staudenmeyer made a trip to Detroit and on the way home they spent a few hours with Mr. and Mrs. AITaylor and family in Saginaw.

We received a report from Mrs. Vanderark about her husband's condition. Willard was involved in an accident Monday night while working with the fire department cleaning out storm gutters. A car driven by Andy Macherman from East Jordan collided with the fire truck and hit Willard and pinned him between two vehicles. He was pinned there for 15 minutes before the men could free him. Willard was rushed to Charlevoix Hospital. The next morning he was moved to Little Traverse hospital. He had compound fracture of the right leg below the knee. Dr. Fulmer was the surgeon. He will be able to walk on crutches after a while because he is able to hold the cast off the floor. We will keep in touch with Mrs. Vanderark about his condition.

Classroom Report

SECOND GRADE

Grade two would like to welcome three new students this year: Roger Grose, who came to us from Rapid City; Glenn Padgett from Wallon Lake, and Edward Finlon from Central Lake. Also, we have been studying, in science, about the fall season, the leaves, the weather, and the animals.

THIRD GRADE

This year the third grade is enjoying two T. V. classes, One is Physical Ed, and other one is "Open Door To Michigan." We are searching for fossils.

SIXTH GRADE

These sixth graders are members of the Safety Patrol this year: Suelien Kayner, Sherie Denny, Ted McPherson, Danni Strange, Ricky Potter, Dennis Dreath, Billy James, Fritz Alward, Cecil Hawkins, Bruce Danks, Terry Elzinga, David Shooks, Ida Matthews, Judy Friske, Mark Essenberg, Nancy Fales, Cheryl Smith, Gloria Carpenter, and Patil Ruis. Some students are helping on the buses, some are watching in the halls, and some on the sidewalks. They are hoping to have a safe school year.

Our science TV lessons have been dealing with invertebrate animals. Keith Keeney and Vicky Danks each brought a nice exhibit of corals, sand dollars, and shells from many invertebrate sea animals.

Diane Best who went on a trip to Florida this summer brought us some cotton bolls that were unopened. They were kept in a warm place until they opened and we could see the cotton.

SOFTBALLS

Last Sunday we had a car wash at the bus garage from which we made about $35. We would like to thank everybody who had their cars washed and helped us make this money. On the next warm, sunny Saturday that comes along, we have a project of washing our sponsor's car and householder.

Right now, we are busy with our homecoming float plans. We will start on it Monday night and it must be done by Friday afternoon, so we will have a lot of work to do.

Last Wednesday we had a class meeting and selected Carolyn Denny as our representative for the Queen's court.

SENIORS

This week the officers of the Senior class met to plan our activities for the next three months. We have several car washes and bake sales on schedule as well as cake raffles at the home basketball games.

We did quite well with our magazine drive, and we sincerely hope all of you people who bought subscriptions will be happy with them. Since the girls sold more magazines, the guys owe us a party. We are looking forward to it.

Play in action will be beginning soon. We have decided to put on a hillbilly play, and have already sent for our books. We are sure that you will enjoy it.

Last Tuesday we went to Traverse City and had our senior pictures taken. There was plenty of time to look around Traverse City after we had them taken and we were all very tired when we got back home.

Lancers Show Power In Mackinaw Game

The Ellsworth Lancers showed their offense power to Mackinaw last Friday afternoon and came home victorious.

Bert Doctor busted the Mackinaw Comets wide open with 174 yards rushing and two touchdowns to account for his power.

Chet Boss was in the drivers seat again and moved the team with plays that kept the Comets off balance. Chet threw several passes to Walt Kooyser and Carl Goeman for large gains and an early touchdown pass to Walt. Some of these passes were thrown against a strong wind.

Early in the game Richardson was injured. Coach Bob Danforth went to the bench for help and put Darryl Kaley at halfback, this boy shows promise and could be the fellow to carry that spot.

Gibbs was the second player to be used at halfback but Fred could not see any daylight to show his speed.

The team knows now they can move the ball with the forward wall blocking and opening the highway to victory. Friday's 19-12 win over Mackinaw put the fans and players in high spirits.

Central Lake came out on top over Bellaire. This puts the Trojans on top of the heap. The Homecoming game Friday October 16 at 8 p.m. against the Trojans will stage a revenge for the Lancers.

Such players as Ron Dreath, Bert Doctor and Larry Tornga are hitting hard and coming up with a key tackle. Walt was deprived of an interception against the Comets so he is going to zero in on the Trojans. Fred Gibbs once again shifted into high gear to overtake an opponent, this may be his job Friday night, you can bet your bottom dollar he will do his best. Central Lake will be here Friday and they're bringing a team that has victory written all over it. It's all up to the Lancers to erase it.

Supervisors Hike Own Pay by 33%

County elected officials got the raise they requested last week, but didn't make out near as well as the supervisors who seemed so reluctant to dole out higher salaries.

After several days of committee meetings and at least one stormy session of the entire board, elected officials received a raise of approximately 10%.

IN THE SAME breath they gave salary hikes to elected officers, the supervisors gave themselves a 33-1/3% raise. Supervisors hiked their per diem from $15 a day to $20.

Elected officers received raises amounting to approximately $400. For most of the five persons involved this is slightly less than 10% higher than their present salary.

The new salary schedule cannot be changed again until 1969, when the four year terms on the Nov. 3 ballot expire.

The new salaries, and the amount of increases are:

SHERIFF--$4,700, plus an estimated $400 in fees. Up $500.
County Clerk--$5,000; up $400.
Register of Deeds--$4,700; up $400.
County Treasurer--$4,800; up $400.
Prosecuting Attorney--$4,700; up $400.

Salaries of almost all appointed officials were also increased. The salaries paid all county employees will be detailed in the official minutes of the Board of Supervisors to be printed in a later issue of the Courier.

THE APPROXIMATELY 10% increase for elected officials came after a verbal clash between Prosecutor Harvey Varnum and the board last Tuesday. Varnum with support from Sheriff Glenn Rose, argued that suggestion to raise salaries only 5% was not enough.

When the final recommendation of a 10% hike was released it received no open criticism from elected officers.

However, Boyne City Supervisor S. G. Arbuckle balked at raising per diem by one-third for board members. "Aren't we going to be criticised more than usual for raising our own per diem?" Arbuckle asked.

Salary Committee Chairman John Kujawski, also of Boyne City, defended the per diem increase. "It's in line with the way wages are going up," Kujawski said. He pointed out many cannot afford to take a day off work to attend supervisors' meetings for less than $20 a day.

COUNTY CLERK F. R. Bulow also supported the increase for supervisors. He said Charlevoix County supervisors probably spend less time in session of any county board of similar size in the state and do a better job. Bulow said the public should also realize supervisors are not paid for the time they spend day in and day out attending to routine county affairs.

Arbuckle was the only supervisor to vote against the per diem increase.

Sherry Holborn Will Reign at Homecoming

Homecoming plans for Oct. 29 and 30 (next Thursday and Friday) have been made by the Charlevoix High School Pep Club, president Gayle Riley reports.

Homecoming this year will include a snake dance pep rally, parade queen, football game and dance.

STUDENTS VOTED Sherry Holborn in as Homecoming Queen. Members of her court are Christine Anderson, Dianne Dyksterhouse, Janet Schofield and Patti Penn.

Miss Riley urged Charlevoix adults to participate in all phases of the homecoming, from the snake dance to the after-game dance.

The snake dance starts at the elementary school, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 29. Led by the cheerleaders, the snake dance will wind through the streets to Kipke Field.

At the football field a pep rally will be held around a large bonfire. Several football players will speak at the rally to whip up enthusiasm among other athletes and the fans.

HIGH POINT of the rally will be the crowning of the queen.

Friday afternoon at 3:30 Queen Holborn and her court will appear in the Homecoming Parade. The parade starts at the high school and proceeds down Bridge St. to Park Ave.

Class floats will be judged for prizes. Two groups--grades 7-8-9 and grades 10-11-12 will compete for the float honors. The floats, now under construction, traditionally have a gridiron victory theme.

The high school band will lead the parade.

THE HOMECOMING celebration gets down to serious business at 8 p.m. Friday when the Rayders meet Gaylord on Kipke Field.

After the game, the Varsity Club will sponsor a record dance for students and adults at the elementary school.

Harbor Was Busy

Charlevoix's City Docks hosted 489 pleasure boats during the summer. Police Chief Joseph Smith reports.

Chief Smith, who seconds as Harbor Master, reports pleasure boats spend 2,301 accumulated days at the city docks.

INCOME FROM pleasure boats totaled $6,605.40. This is an increase of $504 over 1963. And an increase of more than $3,000 from 1961's $3,319.

Forsee Shake-up of Board Chamber Members to Face Growing Needs

Study Higher Costs Seek Solution At Monday Meet

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce members will be asked to come to grips with the time-consuming problem of rising costs when they gather for their annual dinner meeting in the Argonne Monday, Oct. 26, 6:30 p.m.

Chamber Manager Dean Davenport reports the need for increasing the annual budget will be presented to the membership.

SOME BASIC changes are in order if the chamber is to continue to compete for tourist dollars, Davenport said.

Whereas Charlevoix has had an active summer tourist promotion program for years, other communities are just catching on. They are pouring huge sums of money into luring vacation dollars to their area, Davenport said.

If Charlevoix is going to sell itself it must meet this competition and stay ahead of it, the chamber manager contends.

This, he said, in lieu of rising costs, means more money must be spent. Because a dollar buys less now, Davenport said chamber members must be especially concerned.

THE PAST summer has been the best on record for the chamber, Davenport said. It welcomed and directed more visitors than ever before.

The chamber's membership is also at an all-time high of 184.

Davenport said this is a problem the membership must face and solve. He will recommend that a committee be formed to study the possibility of raising membership fees, or coming up with some other solution.

Specifically, Davenport feels the chamber needs more funds for:

--HIGHWAY promotion signs directing people to Charlevoix and extending our four-season attractions.

--Newspaper and magazine publicity and advertising. Many metropolitan newspapers publish

Sugar Babe's Caper

Even Real Sissies Have Hero's Blood

You don't have to be a big, rough, rompin' stompin' sorta guy to have hero's blood in your veins. Even the most pampered, female-dominated males have, on rare occasion, proven they have the stuff of which full-blooded men are made.

SUCH A ONE is Sugar Babe. If ever a male was the complete product of a woman's environment it is Sugar Babe.

And yet last Friday morning Sugar Babe showed the ladies of the house he's still got a spark of manhood they haven't been able to groom out of him. Sugar Babe is the three-year-old poodle of Lillian Hull and her daughter Mrs. Miller of Charlevoix.

Most male dogs would surely scoff at Sugar Babe (oh, what a name).

WITH HIS carefully trimmed, curled and scrubbed lavender-colored hair Sugar Babe would be laughed right out of a partridge hunt or bird dog trial. And the neighborhood mongrels must give him a lower rating than they do most cats.

But Sugar Babe might well sit back and laughily ask how many of these virile canine characters have ever been proclaimed heroes by their humans.

Early last Friday morning Mrs. Hull reports Sugar Babe earned his hero's medal.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller had been out late in the evening so Sugar Babe had crawled onto Mrs. Hull's bed. It seems he usually sleeps on Mrs. Miller's bed.

"ABOUT 4:30 p.m., he (Sugar Babe) woke me up. He was whimpering," Mrs. Hull said. (Whimpering? Doesn't this dog even growl or bark?)

"I couldn't understand what was wrong," Mrs. Hull continued. "He never has to go out that early."

But being an obedient human, Mrs. Hull slipped into her housecoat and slipped and went downstairs to let Sugar Babe out for his constitutional.

When she neared the utility room door, toward the rear of the house, she smelled what she thought was burning fags. "I thought Edna (Mrs. Miller) must have left the iron on, or something."

OPENING THE door she saw smoke. It was coming from the basement. A quick look revealed the electric motor on the furnace stoker was on fire.

"I pulled the switch and it just kept burning. It was an awful smudge,"

Fire Chief John Curtis came over and soon had the smoldering electrical fire under control.

If it hadn't been for Sugar Babe's keen scent and understanding that trouble was afoot, Mrs. Hull contends her mother, 100-year-old Mrs. Agnes Engstrom would have suffocated to death from the smoke before anyone else in the house realized it.

MRS. ENGSTROM sleeps on the main floor of the house. Everyone else sleeps upstairs. The furnace is in the basement directly below Mrs. Engstrom's bedroom.

SUGAR BABE a hero

Retarded Center Get Boost from County Board

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors figures it knows a good thing when it sees it. And to the board the Charlevoix Retarded Childrens Center looks darn good.

In fact, so good that last week the supervisors voluntarily increased their annual appropriation to the center by 50%.

THE RETARDED Childrens Center requested its usual $1,000 grant from the county. Boyne City Supervisor Art Speltz objected. A $1,000 wasn't enough.

Speltz, a retired Illinois school superintendent, praised the school and Mrs. Robert Bergmann, teacher, for its outstanding work. He moved the appropriation be increased to $1,500.

Harold Totten, Charlevoix second ward supervisor and former Courier manager, seconded the proposal. Supervisors voted unanimously in favor of the increase.

Sheriff to Increase Township Patrols

The way was at least partially paved last week to eliminate recent criticism that the Sheriff's Dept. does not do enough patrolling in teenage gathering places and rural township areas.

The County Board of Supervisors last week authorized purchase of a second car for the sheriff. Traditionally, the sheriff has had only one patrol car.

SHERIFF'S Committee Chairman Arthur Speltz, Boyne City, said the second car will make it possible for the department to expand its operations and prepare it for emergencies.

With only one car, Speltz said, the dog warden is often on one side of the county when an emergency call comes in from the other side, leaving the sheriff unable to respond.

The dog warden requires a car almost fulltime, Speltz said. This leaves the department without another car for patrolling and property checks.

S. G. Arbuckle, Boyne City Supervisor, said, "I don't know how a sheriff can operate with only one car."

SPELTZ SAID the sheriff will no longer be authorized to use his private car on official business.

County Building Fund is Closed

The Charlevoix County Building completed in 1958, last week paid a $4,219 dividend to the general operating fund.

County supervisors voted to close the County Building construction fund and transfer $4,219 that remained in it, but could not be spent, to the general fund.

THE COUNTY Building cost $269,000 to construct. It was paid for when it was completed.

Annexation Decision May Spark Issue

By rejecting a City of Charlevoix annexation request last week the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors may have set the stage for a test case that will be watched throughout the state, and possibly the nation.

Supervisors voted 20-4, on secret ballots, to turn down the city's petition to annex Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s vacant South Point property.

THERE WAS OPEN talk in the County Building afterwards that this opened the door for one-man-one-vote proponents to turn the spotlight on the decision as an example of a minority interest riding rough shod over the majority.

A movement is already underway in Kent County (Grand Rapids) to have County Boards of supervisors reapportioned according to the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling that legislative bodies should seat representatives according to population, not area.

The City of Charlevoix's request for the annexation was the action of the entire City Council, which represents 3,000 people.

The action was opposed, and thoroughly defeated, on the request of Charlevoix Township, representing 300 residents.

THIS, ACCORDING to speculation around the County Building, makes ripe pickings for one-man-one-vote advocates, who are reportedly looking for a rural county in which to launch a test case.

Though most of this conversation was in hushed tones among small coffee-break groups in the County Building, the fear that it would erupt the entire county in front of all of Michigan was evident.

CITY OFFICIALS made it clear they would not initiate such action. Though it was obvious they did not think the decision in favor of the minority faction was fair, city officials openly declared that if the board has laid itself open for such a test case it would not be due to anything done by the city.

Charlevoix City Attorney John Michael argued the city's case before the supervisors. He pointed out the city's only interest was enactment of a complex air pollution, noise control and water pollution ordinance.

MICHAEL QUESTIONED that the township is prepared to spend the estimated $10,000 required to employ impartial professional engineers and attorneys to draft such an ordinance. This is more than the township's total annual budget.

He said the city is ready to spend this money to protect its future.

Michael also pointed out enforcement of the ordinance would require fulltime, technical personnel to make regular checks of dust fallout measuring equipment. The city, he said, has this personnel, but the township does not and cannot afford to hire it.

Says Airport too "Fancy"

City Councilman Don Parsel Monday evening questioned the need to spend $30,000 for a Municipal Airport administration building.

City Council has authorized bids on the proposed building. Charlevoix will pay $15,000 of the cost and the state $15,000.

"AREN'T WE getting a bit fancy?" Parsel asked. "I question it a bit."

Parsel said he would like to know the difference in cost if the city used different materials and a simpler design.

The building, on which bids will be opened in November, was designed by Charlevoix architect Jack Begrow. It will feature a natural wood exterior. Begrow described the building as having the appearance of a "northwoods lodge."

"The airport isn't actually a very pretty place," Parsel said.

MAYOR PRO TEM William Fochtman said, "I don't think we would be building this elaborate a building if we weren't getting 50% (from the state)."

"The exterior, I thought, might be of stone," Fochtman said. He was acting as mayor in the absence of Mayor E. D. Hawley, who with Mrs. Hawley, is vacationing in Hawaii.

Councilman took no action on Parsel's questions. The bids will be opened, as scheduled, on the original plans. State officials have final control over the plans and contract.

During the council meeting, which lasted less than two hours, four bids were received for a new police car.

The bids, after trade-in, were: Oldsmobile F-85, $976; Chevrolet, $1,575; Ford, $1,040, and Chevrolet, $1,490.

THE CHAMBER OF Commerce's monthly report was distributed to councilmen. It revealed the chamber had a bank balance of $669 on Oct. 5.

From Sept. 9 to Oct. 5 the chamber took in $711 in membership subscriptions. Revenue from Venetian Festival advertisers totaled $560.

During September the chamber spent $1,543. Biggest expenses were $550 to Rathbun Printing, $418 for Dean Davenport's salary, $214 for Dorothy Kohler's salary and $98 to Edward's IGA.

government should provide everything for everyone who isn't willing to earn it themselves... at the expense of those who are... brought my friend to admit this is socialism. In fact it seems he would rather call it socialism than the Welfare State.

So with the cards finally turned up he was honest enough to demand socialism for what it was. It isn't efficient to have local government and common people making important decisions for themselves, he explained. The federal government has the best of experts, who can do a much better job of determining our destiny than we can as individuals.

EFFICIENCY and practicality? Ah, now we're getting to the meat of the thing. This, of course, is the argument for socialism and the root of Marxism.

But the American voter does not instinctively balk at these terms. He should not distrust them before he understands them.

Socialism and even Marxism are respectable theories, that have worked for some countries. So why must the Democratic party deny them in name and practice them in reality? To this, perhaps, a deliberate attempt to lead a glibly nation down the road to something it does not really want?

If so are to end up with a completely socialist state I would rather look it square in the eye and know what kind of government it is that has taken my liberties in exchange for efficiency.

FOR ONE, I CAN do without an awful lot of efficiency for a little bit of liberty. But maybe I'll be in a minority come Nov. 3. Will you? Like the tells says, "You can't eat liberty, but I'll be damned if I want to live without it."

MICHIGAN REPUBLICANS MAY BE BLACK SHEEP

A FAST TRIP to Western Wayne County last weekend proved a real eye opener, and brings forth a predication that Gov. George Romney may give Michigan Republicans an interiority complex for years to come.

Throughout the area where I recall working so hard two years ago for Romney, there was a noticeable lack of car stickers, posters, etc. for Sen. Goldwater.

Republican headquarters building boasted Romney banners, but nary a sign of Goldwater.

People I talked to said they couldn't find Goldwater materials. They hungrily grabbed up the stickers and buttons I had brought from northern Michigan.

All of which left one fearing that Goldwater, and maybe Romney, too, will go down to defeat in Michigan Nov. 3, all because Romney is afraid he won't make an attractive presidential candidate in 1968 if he ties himself to Goldwater today.

If this happens, and Goldwater wins the election, Michigan Republicans are going to be terribly unpopular. If Goldwater loses, Romney and Michigan Republicans in general, could receive the blame from the national party organization.

JUST ONE MORE SHORT NOTE ON POLITICS

THE COURIER's policy of equal treatment for Democrats and Republicans in our columns, was, as usual these days, earning this column a thorough thrashing from a Republican pal.

"You do too damn good a job of reporting the Democrats' stuff. Other papers in the county don't give them that much space," he charged.

"Yeah, but," another guy butted in, "did you notice in East Jordan, where the Democrats get the least in the paper, they add the biggest percentage of votes, (in the recent primary) and Charlevoix had a bigger percentage of Republican votes than any city in the county?"

Well, I'll be doggoned. All of which tend to indicate that when people are well informed on both sides of the issue they vote Republican.

RALPH HAMILTON QUITE A DREAMER

AS EDITOR of the Kiwanis Klub Courier, Ralph Hamilton probably puts out what, word for word, is the most provocative news sheet in northern Michigan. This week Ralph penned the following editorial note to his fellow Kiwanians. It's worth passing on to the entire community.

"The Colonial Club as a Museum, rooms for organization meetings, maybe a couple of deer in the yard... or yet maybe a model of Old Charlevoix in the 1880's built to scale with a model of Round Lake with its four masted schooner's and buildings that existed at that time built to scale.

"It could be done but it would take the interest of the whole community working together to make this the real attraction of the North.

"There are so many possibilities. The model of Traverse City in Clinch Park attracts thousands during the year. Personally I believe that this would bring me money into Charlevoix than the taxes collected on the property if sold.

"Kiwanis could participate if the Club agrees and a portion is set aside for the youth where the expenditure could be allocated to that part.

"Dream????? Maybe, but before long we MUST decide where we will invest the $14,000.00 on a Kiwanis Youth Project year by year. We are Kiwanians who pass into the Great Beyond who have been instrumental in building up this fund and will never see the culmination of their efforts. Its something to think about seriously."

FORREST FOWLER TURNS NOSE SOUTH

IT SEEMS IT'S been a long time since our last postcard from wandering Forrest F. Fowler. At that time, you may recall, he was smarting under the recognition his wife got for outshining him. Well, last week he wrote from northern California. Things seem to have improved.

"Having, a fine, trouble free trip. Weather now very similar to Charlevoix the Beautiful," he remarked.

He asked that we change his address to c/o E. Joslyn, 604 N. Osceola, Apt. 5, Clearwater, Fla. You can write him there.

I. slumber for ferry's-- insert BECAUSE IT puzzled me I asked Ironton Ferry operator Pete Bennett what he used the silver-colored anchor that hangs over the rail for.

"It's been sitting there 38 years, and never been used," he said.

The anchor, it turns out, weighs 150 pounds. If the ferry ever tears loose from its cables they'll throw the anchor in to hold it.

The ferry is a wonderful institution. Now that color tour time is here don't miss a chance to cross it on weekend afternoon drive.

Charles Bennett left Tuesday for Scottsdale, Ariz., where he will be associated with Horan's Men Shop.

Board

Michael dismissed charges that the annexation was a land grab. If this were true, he said, the city would have long ago annexed American Mold, Hoskins and other plants it has attracted to the area and settled on locations in Charlevoix and Marion Townships.

CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP Supervisor Clarence Rabach said the township will work on an ordinance. He did not answer Michael's questions as to whether the township had the required $10,000 to spend in drafting the ordinance, or if it is prepared to hire fulltime personnel on its limited annual budget of less than $8,000.

Rabach said the township will accept Medusa's offer to have its professional people prepare technical sections of the ordinance. The township supervisor also said the township will enforce the ordinance, but did not commit himself to hiring technical experts to do so.

City Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann charged the township does not enforce the ordinance it has. Openly indicting himself, Dr. Hoffmann told supervisors he has an illegal sign on his property along U. S. 31 in the township. The sign has been there since before Sept. 1 and the township has done nothing about it, Hoffmann said.

RABACH ADMITTED he did not realize the sign was in violation. But he promised to see that it was cited as a violation after Hoffmann's public admission.

The sign is a political plug for State Rep. Clayton Morrison. It is located on the west side of U. S. 31, south of the junction of the Boyne City Rd.

The approximately 800 acres of Medusa property the city petitioned to annex, is assessed at approximately $90,000 on the tax roll. This is less than 5% of the township's total valuation of $2,021,800.

Rabach earlier had told the

weekly travel and tourist sections that are read by hundreds of thousands of people. The editors of these sections welcome free, professionally written, stories, if the community also advertises. Davenport points out someone must be employed to write this publicity so the chamber can get maximum benefit from its advertising dollars.

--To attend travel and sports shows in metropolitan areas with Charlevoix booth.

There are other areas of promotion in which the chamber cannot now participate due to lack of funds, Davenport said. However, several other north country communities are spending the money for this promotion.

THIS YEAR'S chamber budget was $17,858. Of this $7,882 was spent on promotion and advertising.

Other highlights of the dinner meeting will include the Consumers Power Co.'s color film, "When Michigan Was Young," Denny Custer, of the Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant Information center will present the film, showing Michigan history from creation to 1812.

Tickets for the meeting can still be obtained from chamber directors. Davenport asked people should get them as soon as possible as only a limited number are available.

Courier the Medusa property represented approximately 20% of the township's total valuation.

Michael declared the city has no doubts about Medusa's good intentions today, but is responsible for safeguarding Charlevoix --and all of the western end of the county--against any future change in company policy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace have as guests her step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lindstrom of Lockport, Ill., and her grandmother, Mrs. Edith Ruark of Greenacres, Ind.

Why the Court of Appeals is Important

This new nine judge intermediate appellate court was created by the new State Constitution to provide faster, less costly settlement of appeals now clogging the docket of the State Supreme Court and lower courts. Most criminal, divorce case, and civil lawsuit appeals will be settled in this appeals court, leaving the Supreme Court free to deliberate constitutional questions.

Plans for a "Cooking with Gas" school have been announced by Mrs. Robert Neff, president of the Women's Guild of Charlevoix Hospital, which will sponsor the event Tuesday, Oct. 27.

Tickets are now on sale for the fund-raising project at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium at 2 p.m.

Do you have a third grader living at home? If you do, ask him (or her) to tell you about the first Americans, the Indians, who lived on our continent long before the white man came.

You'll be surprised at the information these young Charlevoix Elementary School students have gathered from their current social studies projects.

DID YOU KNOW that some canoes held as many as 50 men, others only one? That some Indian boats resembled upside-down umbrellas? That before the Spaniards brought horses to North America, the dog was the chief beast of burden?

We have all heard the many tales about the Indians and their famous food—corn, but we may never have had it brought to our attention that squash, beans, pumpkins, sunflowers, and tobacco were Indian crops first.

And in this modern day with our many "Instant" foods, it might surprise you to know that the idea is really not so new... just the methods and selections. Pemican was the Indian's "Instant" dish. Ask your third grader for the recipe.

Each third grade room has taken a different project in connection with its Indian study. Miss Brooks' class is making a "buffalo" tape, typical of the Indians of the Plains. In Mrs. Moeller's room, a tape of the Forest Indians is under construction. Mrs. Novotny's pupils are specializing in making rattles and drums as they study the music, dances and ceremonials of Indians.

IN ALL THE rooms, colorful art displays of the fascinating Indian designs show that much talent, time and effort have been put into these projects.

Ask your third grader about Indians. He knows.

Your hatred hurts you.

For every action there is a reaction. If we love we are loved. If we give we are given. When we learn this and believe it we have learned God's plan for us.

No man can live alone. He needs his neighbor. God told us this many times, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." God also told us who our neighbor was . . . everyone, even our enemy.

It is hard for us to accept this unless we realize that our hatred hurts us. Hatred drives out love. That is why God told us to love one another. The more we love the closer we come to God who is perfect love. Truly we are our brother's keeper.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU

Churches are the product of the church. It has been that way since old days were shared with Jesus Christ. We must remember that the church is not a building, nor a group of people, but a living organism. In the church we must keep the Holy Spirit alive. Without Him we cannot do the work of God. We must have leaders who are men of God. They must have the ability to lead the church in the path of truth. They must have the power to forgive sins. They must have the power to bind and loose. They must have the power to make disciples. They must have the power to baptize. They must have the power to administer the sacraments. They must have the power to govern the church. They must have the power to represent the church in the world. They must have the power to bring glory to God. They must have the power to bring life to others. They must have the power to bring hope to the despairing. They must have the power to bring peace to the warring. They must have the power to bring joy to the sorrowful. They must have the power to bring love to the hateful. They must have the power to bring unity to the divided. They must have the power to bring harmony to the discordant. They must have the power to bring beauty to the ugly. They must have the power to bring light to the darkness. They must have the power to bring life to the dead. They must have the power to bring resurrection to the fallen. They must have the power to bring victory to the defeated. They must have the power to bring triumph to the vanquished. They must have the power to bring glory to the humble. They must have the power to bring honor to the dishonored. They must have the power to bring praise to the silent. They must have the power to bring thanksgiving to the ungrateful. They must have the power to bring worship to the unworshipping. They must have the power to bring devotion to the undevoted. They must have the power to bring service to the unserving. They must have the power to bring sacrifice to the unsacrificing. They must have the power to bring obedience to the disobedient. They must have the power to bring submission to the unsubmissive. They must have the power to bring respect to the disrespectful. They must have the power to bring honor to the dishonoring. Anti-LBJ books being distributed in quantities in Charlevoix County are authored by known Birch Society members or ultra-conservatives, George A. LaBlance, Charlevoix County Democratic Committee chairman, charged this week.

LaBlance said the books are "A Texan Looks at Lyndon," by J. Everett Halsey; John A. Stormer's "None Dare Call It Treason," and Phyllis Schlafly's "A Choice Not an Echo."

ACCORDING TO LaBlance, Charlevoix's campaign for Sen. Barry Goldwater under chairman Chuck Carvy, is distributing the "right-wing hate books" smearing President Lyndon B. Johnson, which are printed by the Adelphi Distributing Corp. in Houston. The corporation, LaBlance said, is owned by Mrs. Eloise Lilles, a member of the Birch Society.

Charles Stokes Is Lay Minister

Charles R. Stokes of Ironton, was awarded a Certificate of Status as a Lay Minister in the United Church of Christ while attending the Cheboygan Association Fall meeting at the United Church of Christ in Brutus.

Stokes opened the Fall meeting with a hymn, leading the responsive reading, and opening Prayer.

been printed and distributed in volume in so short a time. Never before has such literature been used to such an extent in a Presidential campaign," said LaBlance.

"All three books are written by ultra conservatives, who don't represent the finest traditions of the United States."

"All three books, as well as the anti-tablets being distributed in quantity, use the same techniques perfected by World War II dictators in Europe and by Senator Joseph McCarthy during his infamous inquiries."

THEY RESORT to innuendos, distortions, quotations out of context, and repetition of the big lie," said LaBlance. "We hope that party differences will be resolved on the basis of real differences in viewpoints. We hope that the electorate will not be influenced by these deliberate distortions of the issues. It happened in Germany. Let's not let it happen here."

Measure Your Ear Corn Loss

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY--Field losses in corn harvests can be easily determined. Ear corn losses and shelled corn losses must be determined in a different way.

For ear corn losses, with 40 inch rows, one full-sized ear for every 133 feet of row is equivalent to a loss of one bushel an acre.

TO DETERMINE shelled corn losses, make a square frame 40 inches by 40 inches inside measurement. Lay it on the ground in a number of locations on the corn field, preferably centering over a row. Avoid an area where an ear has been run over and a great deal of corn has been shelled on the ground as a result. Every 20 kernels of corn within this 40 inch by 40 inch square area is equivalent to a loss of one bushel an acre.

In both instances take the measurements in a number of locations in the fields and then average the answers. If field losses are running high, be sure and use the harvesting manual and check all of the adjustments the agent advises.

Cub Pow Wow

A Cubbers Pow Wow will be held tonight (Thursday) at the Melrose Township School for all adult Cub Scout leaders and parents of Cubs.

Robert L. Hooper and Douglas Wilks of Charlevoix will participate in the adult training program, which starts at 7 p.m. All Cub Scout parents and leaders from the northern district of the Scenic Trails Council are asked to attend.

It's true what they say about rabbits! A recent study in Virginia pretty well disproves the idea that rabbit numbers can be permanently reduced through intensive hunting. The removal of up to 75 percent of the rabbit population on test plots located on the Virginia Game Commission's Hog Island Waterfowl Refuge had no effect on the number available the following fall.

For instance, there is the story of a violent storm that sent large vessels to the bottom of Lake Michigan. The owners and insurance brokers of one of these ships came to Capt. Ranger as a final authority because he himself had crossed the Lake that day in a small boat.

"We can't understand it," the owners said, "Our ship was built to cross the Atlantic." "Yup," the old lake captain agreed, and he added, meaning no offense, "but she wasn't built to cross the Great Lakes, certainly see."

The old lake captain had survived gales in which he could see the Muskegon clay banks or Sleeping Bear Dune through the centerboard slot when his Mackinaw boat heeled over in the wind. He had been out on the lakes when a hurricane turned mountainous seas into hills by blowing their

NOW HE REFLECTED ON THE owners' question. "Well, he said finally, 'I did a lot of bailing that day.'"

Not at all satisfied, the insurance officials insisted that there had to be a more scientific explanation of why an ocean-going vessel had been shipwrecked in a storm that a freshwater cackle-shell had survived.

Eager to oblige, the old Lake captain came up with his ultimate answer: "I had to favor her something awful to keep her on top," he said. "A boat's like a woman, you have to favor a boat sometimes, certainly see." He paused, and nodded for emphasis. "If I hadn't favored some of them, I wouldn't be here, certainly."

Roy Ranger typified a breed of Great Lakes skippers. They went out in weather that literally scared fish from one depth to another. They made gallant rescues under impossible conditions, and now and then a wild spark of humor would show in their ice-blue eyes. "Was they anxious to leave the wreck? Didn't say. One hit me with his suitcase and the other knocked me down jumping aboard."

Capt. Roy Ranger's Death Recalls Era on Big Lakes

Dr. Wm. Rotigan, a longtime friend and admirer of Capt. Roy Ranger, wrote this article on the cherished Charlevoixian who passed away Oct. 17.

By Dr. Wm. Rotigan

Capt. Roy Ranger, as he was known to thousands of yachtsmen, resorters, and residents of this area, has left an indelible mark on the memory of Northland.

To some he will be remembered as the master pilot and engineer who brought home, from her birthplace at Bath, Maine, alongside tycoon Morgan's "Corsair," the fabulous "Sylvia V," the largest yacht ever to grace Charlevoix's Harbor.

IT WAS CAPT. Ranger who corrected the Soviet's engines when the shipbuilders and the eastern engineers admitted a failure on the shakedown cruise that he had predicted.

There were four Sylvias and Capt. Ranger always will be identified with all of them, but especially with the last, which served on escort duty in the Panama Canal Zone during World War II and was reported torpedoed and went down with all hands in the Caribbean.

To some Capt. Ranger will be remembered as the greatest builder of the romantic Mackinaw boats that played such an important role in the history of the Upper Lakes, and particularly around the Straits of Mackinac.

thing he was best at, was making friends. In his 91 years on earth, Capt. Ranger made a multitude of friends who are going to miss him. There has been talk of a memorial, not simply as a tribute to him but as a reminder to visitors to our community, of the accomplishments of one who lived in our midst and made the place better by his being here—a memorial in the shape of a cabinet that could be placed in some public place (such as the Museum that was mentioned in the Courier last week), and displaying such things as half-models of Ranger-built boats, marine blueprints, and so forth.

Health care is now available for "over 65's" who cannot afford to pay

If you are over 65, facing medical expense and can't pay for it... it's yours for the asking, already provided for by law. The Kerr-Mills Act offers a Health Opportunity Program for the Elderly with the federal and state governments sharing the cost.

In most states this care is far, far greater than that offered by Medicare proposals... and no additional tax is necessary!

Pellston This Week's Target Rayders Squeak by Boyne

The Charlevoix Rayders, fresh from a 13-12 victory over arch rival, Boyne City, will travel north to Pellston this week for their only afternoon game of the season.

The Rayders, presently sharing third place in league standings with Mancelona (2-1-1), will be defending its position when they go against the Hornets who have missed victory by slim margins in three of their four games.

THE RAYDERS are listed by many as the most improved team in the loop. Coach Don Carey, however, said they have many weak spots despite the fact that they have come a long way since the season started.

He went on to say that it is likely that guard Mike Arbuckle will be lost for the season. "This means that every team member will have to give a little more of himself to make up for the loss," he added.

Jan Anderson, Ken Mousseau and Rover Grunch will be called on to fill the position, Coach Carey said.

Speaking of Friday's game, he said that Boyne City was scrappy and when Charlevoix tackled hard and played their positions they were able to halt their march. He went on to say that Pellston would not be an easy mark despite the fact that they hadn't won a game this season. "These are the ones you have to watch," he warned.

AT BOYNE CITY Friday, the Rayders had to come from behind after the Ramblers had scored the first time they gained possession of the ball after Charlevoix punted.

Charlevoix came back later in the period to knot the score which remained at 6-6 until 3:29 remained on the clock in the third period. A second try for a conversion point following this TD gave the Rayders the winning margin after Boyne scored again in the final minute of the game and failed to score the P. A. T.

Last week's Rayder-Rambler game followed the pattern of all such games between the two teams with both teams fighting all the way for possession of the pigskin.

Charlevoix received the opening kickoff and punted when their offense bogged down after four tries. Boyne City took the ball on their 38 yard line to open a drive which carried it to the one yard line where Scotty Hall carried it over for the scoring play. The boot was wide and the score stood at 8-0 with 3:57 on the clock in the first quarter.

THE RAYDERS took the kickoff and in a series of plays including a pass from Del Terrill to John Ferguson moved to the Boyne 28 as the first period ended. On a series of five plays with Terrill and Dave Smith carrying, the ball was moved to the 2-1/2 yard line where Terrill pitched out to Rich Grunch who went in to score with nine minutes on the clock. Steve Smith boot was low as the score stood at 6-6.

An exchange of punts opened the second half. On the next series of plays, Charlevoix recovered a Rambler fumble at midfield to open a drive that, with the aid of passes to Grunch and Randy Carey, moved the ball to the one where Terrill went over to score.

After Steve Smith boot was wide, Charlevoix got another chance as the result of an off-side penalty. This time the boot split the uprights to give Charlevoix a 13-6 advantage late in the third period.

The final period opened with a bang as Charlevoix punted to Boyne only to have them fumble and Charlevoix recover on the Boyne 43.

On the next play Boyne's Dave Roof intercepted a Rayder pass on the Ramblers 41 yard line. After picking up two first downs to the Rayder 34, Boyne was jarred loose from the ball but recovered the 37. Boyne City was pushed back to the 43 but with the aid of a major penalty and a couple of plays got to the 26 where Charlevoix took over on downs.

ON THE FIRST play from scrimmage, Charlevoix fumbled and Boyne recovered on the 25 yard line to set up the scoring play. A pass from Ron Hausler to Ron Shepard put the ball on the one where Jolly went in to score with 23 seconds on the clock. He then attempted to run the ball over for the conversion point but was caught short of the goal line.

Tough Week Ahead for Loop Teams

East Jordan travels to Gaylord and Boyne City hosts Harbor Springs Friday as the Northern Michigan Class C schedule goes into its fifth week. Grayling will play at Mancelona and Charlevoix will travel to Pellston for an afternoon game to round out the day's schedule.

East Jordan set a record of sorts when they played Mancelona to a 6-6 tie last week.

THE RED DEVILS' single tally came midway in the third period on a two yard plunge by Jim Sturgill.

Steve Bell blocked the Mancelona conversion kick to give the Red Devils a 6-6 tie, their third by the same score this season.

This week the Red Devils will travel to Gaylord to take on the Blue Devils who dumped Grayling 12-6.

This week the Jordanites are going to have to depend on more than luck to bring them a victory. For the Blue Devils are a scrappy outfit intent on keeping their second place position.

THE HARBOR SPRINGS Rams, concentrating on a league title, their first since 1942, rolled over Pellston 26-6 last week and this week have plans for taking care of the Boyne City Ramblers in much the same fashion.

But Boyne City has cast itself in the role of spoiler before and can do the same again, should the Rams become over confident. The odds are with Harbor Springs but an injury to a key player or a case of over-confidence could halt the Ram victory march.

Mancelona will host Grayling in a game that could see the Vikings winning for they are a tough, hard-playing team that could come up with a win if they should hit it lucky-for the Ironmen have little besides a fair backfield.

Ellsworth Rolls To 18-0 Victory

By KATHLEEN WIELAND

It was a perfect night for Ellsworth's homecoming game last Friday night, and the Lancers showed Central Lake that we have what it takes by trouncing the Trojans 18 to 0.

Although there was no scoring in the first quarter, in the last part of the first quarter the Lancers plowed their way down the field deep into Central Lake territory. The Lancers continued to press ahead, but the Trojans managed to control the few yards between the Lancers and the goal line, thus Central Lake eventually gained control of the ball but only had time for a couple of plays before the quarter ended.

IN THE SECOND quarter the Lancers quickly came around and made a first down. Chet Boss threw the ball to Carl Goeman who received it on Central Lake's three yard line. Larry Tornaga then made the first touchdown of the game. On the attempt for the extra point Central Lake got a penalty. Ellsworth tried again by throwing the ball to Walt Kooyer, but Walt missed it, and the score was Ellsworth 6, Central Lake 0.

Central Lake received the kick. On the 4th down Ellsworth received the Trojans punt and brought down the ball on Ellsworth's own 12 yard line.

AS THE GAME resumed in the second half it was evident that both teams and their fans wanted to win this game very much. There was constant struggle for possession all through the third quarter and several fouls were called against both teams. At the end of the third quarter the score was still 12 to 0.

In the beginning of the fourth quarter Central Lake was in possession of the ball. On their 4th down with three to go Central Lake fumbled the ball and Ellsworth took over on Central Lakes three yard line.

Bert Doctor charged through to add another six points to Ellsworth's score. Again the extra point attempt was no good, and the score was Ellsworth 18, Central Lake 0.

The ball was shuffled back and

These two prized fish—the northern pike (top) and muskellunge—are having population problems in Michigan as a result of increased angling pressure and shortcomings in their reproduction. That's why the Conservation Department is recommending a longer closed season on muskies and pike.

Two of Michigan's most highly-touted fish -- the northern pike and muskellunge -- are in trouble and they're not going to get out of it until sportsmen give them a better break, according to Conservation Dept. fish managers. In the case of both, heavy angling pressure and under-protective fishing regulations have combined with other factors to put a tight squeeze on their populations.

EXPLODING PANFISH numbers and shortages of natural spawning grounds are also stacked against pike, while muskies are being held in another way, by the very thing which has helped make them such a glamour fish in Michigan. Because muskies are limited to a very small number of waters, much remains a mystery about their populations.

Over the last few years, the Conservation Department has been experimenting with musky plantings to see if these fish can be successfully introduced to more waters of the state. In other ways, too, it has been searching for answers which will lead to better musky management.

For pike, the Department has been working to improve spawning conditions at a number of larger lakes, and to knock down panfish populations which have contributed to the decline of northerns.

Promising as these efforts have been, it's become crystal clear, to department biologists that many of the problems facing muskies and pike go back to regulations which are not giving these fish a fair share of protection.

KNOWING THIS, the Department is calling for several regulation changes which will give both species a better chance to help themselves.

Among them is a longer closed season which would span the entire spawning period for these fish by running from March 1 through May 14 in all waters, except Lake St. Clair. Muskies would be off limits to the state's Lake St. Clair fishermen from Feb. 1 to the first Saturday of June.

Department plans are also aimed at raising the minimum size limit on muskies to 34 inches, save again for Lake St. Clair where it would remain at 30 inches. In all waters, including this lake, a two-day catch quota is proposed for muskies.

For Lake St. Clair only, there is a recommendation to restrict powerboat trolling to one line per angler.

THESE PROPOSALS are scheduled for consideration by the Conservation Commission when it meets today and tomorrow (Oct. 15-16) in East Tawas.

Elsewhere in the state's waters where reproduction is far from Lake St. Clair standards, the present 30-inch minimum size limit is working a real hardship upon musky populations by putting female fish into the "keeper" class before they even have a chance to spawn once. The recommended 34-inch limit matches the size at which these fish reach spawning maturity.

Also accounted for in the Department's recommendations is the fact that pike, as well as muskies, are now only being protected during part of their all-important spring spawning season. This has allowed fishermen to cut deeply into the reproduction of both fish at either end of the season.

Because of their close concentrations when spawning, pike can virtually be taken like fish from a rain barrel.

AS BROUGHT UP earlier, these proposed restrictions would provide a much-needed link in the Department's chain of plans for improving pike and musky fishing.

Under its new look-ahead program, the Department will continue to chemically treat problem lakes to remove over-populations of panfish which exploit and crowd out young pike and muskies. It will also give stepped-up emphasis to the development of pike spawning marshes on larger lakes to boost natural reproduction.

Research will be pushed forward to find ways and waters in which muskies can make the grade on a bigger and broader scale. At the same time, the Department will go all out to establish musky populations in several lakes. These fishes will be tapped for brood stock in future years when research findings give the cue for launching larger musky plantings.

Bring Light to School Grounds

The outside area at Charlevoix High School and Elementary School will no longer be in the dark.

The Board of Education has decided to have four or five automatic "farm lights" installed at the high school and two at the elementary school. They will cost $3 a month each.

SUPT. REX MILLIGAN said this will be less than is now being paid for lights that do an inferior job.

County Supervisor's last week increased the annual tourist promotion (advertising) budget from last year's $2,500 to $3,000 in 1965.

The request for the additional appropriation was made by the board of supervisors. What objections are voiced is not clear, but it is not clear how much is spent.

Supervisor, said $535 of the $3,000 appropriation will go to the West Michigan Tourist Assn. for membership and a full page ad in "Car-Free Days." Another $500 will be spent to repair the county promotion sign at Mancelona, $375 for 7,500 color tour brochures and approximately $600 for regular county brochures. The remaining $1,500 will be kept to reserve for promotion activities.

Board Sees No Deficit In $342,000 Spending

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors last week adopted a $342,133 budget for 1965. Up $30,000 from this year.

Finance Committee Chairman Clarence Rabach, Charlevoix Township Supervisor, reports the record budget should not cause an operating deficit at the end of 1965.

THE BUDGET IS nearly $50,000 above the county's anticipated property tax revenue. However, Rabach said other sources of income and the fact that some departments will not spend all the money budgeted for them, will offset the possibility of a deficit.

The following tabulation compares the 1965 and 1964 budget, in parenthesis are figures showing the approximate amount of increase.

By Dr. Wm. Ratigan

Between the period from now until November 2, qualified seniors at Charlevoix High School will register for the State of Michigan Competitive Scholarships. This is a preliminary step toward taking a decisive state-wide examination on Saturday, November 21, at test centers still to be announced.

The scholarship program was enacted into law this spring under the direction of the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority which is entitled to award no less than three scholarships to Michigan high school graduates in each of 148 legislative districts, with the balance of available scholarships to be awarded at large.

DURING THE competition this past spring, two of Charlevoix's 1964 graduates were winners of the new scholarships and are now enjoying their freshman year at college with the State of Michigan awarding them with a sizeable dividend in return for excellent high school records. The amount of their own particular award check is a private matter but it may be revealed that awards are granted up to a maximum of $800 or the amount of tuition and fees for the academic year.

State of Michigan Scholarships may be renewed for three consecutive academic years after the first year award for a total maximum of $3,000. Provided the two Charlevoix winners continue to meet the requirements, they will continue to receive their academic dividends straight through their senior year in college.

The new scholarship program was started because a large number of Michigan's most promising students are not continuing their education beyond high school. Recent figures for the state underscore this situation: Out of 81,724 public and non-public high school graduates last year, 50,933 or 62% of the graduating class failed to attend college. Studies revealed that many of the 50,933 students wanted to go to college. They were capable students, but they were lacking in one vital department—adequate finances.

IN CONTRAST to the above figures, a majority of Charlevoix High School graduates go on to attend college. Credit for this must be given to the community as a whole, to the parents and teachers, the school administrators and student body, the merchants and industrialists. Not only have the people of Charlevoix helped create a climate of opinion that encourages continuing education but also certain local establishments have provided scholarships for deserving students.

Perhaps some other communities are not as alert or as responsible as Charlevoix to the fact that a college education in residency now costs between $1,000 and $3,000 per year. It will soon be more. Educators say there is no sign of the cost leveling off. This means that unless financial assistance is made available, many thousands of high school graduates in Michigan will not benefit from a college education, resulting in a loss to every segment of our Michigan society.

In a further attempt to meet the crisis in higher education, the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority is guaranteeing student loans made by local banks throughout the state. While the student may repay the loan before it is due, monthly repayment of principal and interest does not start until approximately six months after graduation and the student is allowed as much as five years to repay, at a rate not to exceed six per cent per annum.

MAXIMUM LOAN amounts are as follows: Freshman year, $500; Sophomore year, $650; Junior year, $800; and Senior year, $950. One year of graduate school, $1,100. Complete details on this and other loan or scholarship programs are available at the High School.

Doctor Praises Nurses

The Board of Supervisors received praise last week for the county's public health program, and in turn kicked another $1,400 a year into supporting it.

Dr. A. F. Litzenger, of Boyne City, district health director, told the supervisors Charlevoix County has more public and school nurses than Antrim, Emmet and Otsego counties combined.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY has three community nurses. They are: Jeanne Miles, Charlevoix; Thelma Bohling, Boyne City and Elizabeth Robertson, East Jordan.

Antrim and Otsego counties together have one public health nurse, Dr. Litzenger said. Emmet County has one part-time.

Dr. Litzenger said he was appearing before the board for the 24th year.

He asked the supervisors to increase the health department's appropriation by $1,400. The board complied, making its total contribution to the four-county district health unit $13,480.

THE DOCTOR SAID the recent series of oral polio clinics cost $8,000 in the four counties, but that donations more than covered the cost of the serum. Due to the clinics, Dr. Litzenger said he is positive there is no chance of a polio outbreak.

Catholics Set Drive For Clothes

The 16th annual Thanksgiving Clothing Collection, conducted by the Catholic Bishops of the United States in behalf of the destitute and driven of other lands, has been set for the week of November 15-22. All 130 parishes in the Grand Rapids diocese, including St. Mary's in Charlevoix will participate.

Rev. Fr. E. F. Denay, St. Mary's Pastor, said an all-time high was set last year when 88 tons of clothing were collected in the 29-county diocese.

National figures show, Rev. Denay, said, that approximately 17-3/4 million pounds of clothing, blankets, bedding and shoes were amassed in the Thanksgiving Clothing Collection in 1963. These materials are valued at over 2-million dollars.

The clothing collected by the individual parishes in the Grand Rapids diocese eventually will be shipped to Catholic Relief Services, National Catholic Welfare Conference, in New York City for distribution to millions of needy persons, regardless of race, creed, or color. Distribution centers are set up in over 70 countries of Europe, Africa, Asia and Latin America, staffed by Catholic Relief Services. Emergency relief is also given to victims of natural disasters throughout the world.

No Pat Solution for Conflict at Library

UNTIL LAST WEEK'S Board of Education meeting the conflict of interest between school and public library factions had been pretty much suppressed.

School and library advisory committee members are not anxious to have the issue brought into the open. For as we cannot blame them. And we hope they will not condemn us too soundly for exposing the facts to the public in last week's Courier.

THE COURIER sympathizes with those responsible for setting library policy and deciding what money will be spent for school library and what for the public. We recognize, though they fail to, that these two operations are not compatible.

If school officials are sincere in their education to our youngsters they will do anything honorable to obtain every possible penny they can for educating students. When they quit doing this we will consider them negligent in their duty.

It remains an undeniable fact, however, that the home environment is more important than the school. Consequently, those of us who are concerned with mankind's total development realize that a strong public library is necessary if children are to be inspired at home.

Yet it is unfair to have to weigh the importance of one against the other. Because school officials find themselves in this position they face an impossible task.

Federal and State Handouts Can Add to Project's Cost

SINCE WE'RE discussing the library and Board of Education in the above editorial, there is related matter that gnaws at our conscience more and more often lately.

The Board of Education has tentatively agreed to apply for federal aid to repair and improve the public library. And the City is now going ahead with plans to build a $30,000 airport administrative building with matching state funds.

IT WOULD BE unjust of us to harshly criticize the city or school for its moves. The lure to latch onto someone else's money is always strong. And it is almost overpowering when you know darn well it's really your money and this is the only way you can get even a portion of it back.

Henry Hogan Invests in Confidence that Charlevoix's Future Best in Northland

A LITTLE NOTICED statement in the Oct. 8 Courier could be one of the most important prophecies in Charlevoix's history.

Henry M. Hogan's predication that Charlevoix's future has even more promise than Petoskey's could well anticipate the turning point for extreme northwest lower Michigan. Why, indeed, as Hogan asked, should Petoskey be a more important tourist center than Charlevoix? Certainly it doesn't match Charlevoix's natural charm or man-made beauty.

HOGAN'S OPINION. It is worth noting, is not that of a fly-by-night. His qualifications are impressive. He is a successful Detroit and Birmingham attorney. He was considered one of Michigan's most able legislators until he chose not to seek re-election this fall. He is co-publisher of the Birmingham Eccentric, which for years has been the nation's number one prize winning weekly newspaper. And, not to be overlooked, he is familiar with Charlevoix and Petoskey as a summer resident of the Chicago Club.

Furthermore, it is important to remember that Hogan is putting his money behind his prediction. He is purchasing the three buildings on the southwest corner of Bridge and Clinton streets for quality summer shops.

And, Hogan does not stand alone. Jerry Cjeson recently made an even larger in-

IT SHOULD BE remembered by those fast to criticize that the school did not court this problem. We do not feel they can be blamed for it.

The logical solution is for the school system to operate its own library from unearmarked funds, and for the city to operate the public library.

It is somewhat puzzling to us to find that the record leaves no question but what the city has flatly refused to get into the library business. We hope that when the remaining three years of the one-half mill library operation tax levy are up, the city will reappraise its position.

If the city operated the public library it would eliminate the justifiable conflicts of interest. And, this would not be a difficult or complicated move for the city.

IF ADDITIONAL city revenue is needed to handle the library, City Council has the authority to increase the tax rate. This is a responsibility councilmen are elected to fulfill.

An agreement could be made with area townships to pay so much toward the library's support, depending on how much their residents use it.

Or, perhaps more practical, an area library authority could be established.

Councilmen may retort that they are not librarians. Fair enough. But Charlevoix has an almost unlimited number of qualified and interested persons who would serve on a city-controlled library board. No problem here.

But, isn't it true that for less than $15,000 (the city's share at the airport) a modest new administrative building could be built? Perhaps one of the pre-cut type log structures becoming so popular would fill the bill?

We have already learned that by taking outside assistance in spending our money at the airport and docks we don't get the best advice. The docks, due to state requirements that come with Waterways Commission money, are impractically located. Aviators will argue for years that the new runway at the airport is not in the most logical position. But that's what the outsiders demanded.

Wouldn't we be better off in most of these instances to hire professional advice, but maintain control over the final decision by using local money?

vestment in his faith in Charlevoix. Earl Young is constructing a quarter-million-dollar motel because he believes his beloved Charlevoix has a rich future. The Charlevoix County State Bank is about to launch a rebuilding program that may cost $100,000. Bill Kusina recently purchased Uhrick's automobile agency.

All of these people are staking their financial reputation and security on their belief that Charlevoix is the most important community in the north. Let's hope that other businessmen keep pace with this progress.

Goldwater Inspires New Faith in Party

DEAR EDITOR:

In the Courier's letter column last week Mrs. Jane Lieberman pointed out that the local Republican Party has never been as active as it is this October. I concur wholeheartedly and should like to go one step farther by stating that this new found vigor is due to two things:

1. An awakening of Republicanism and Republican purpose brought about by the Courier's public "spanking" for our complacency; and

2. The impact and inspiration of Senator Barry Goldwater as our presidential candidate.

Barry Goldwater is the first man either party has had the courage to nominate in decades, who stands up for integrity and Americanism. (There's been none like him since Theodore Roosevelt.) In Senator Goldwater, Americans across the nation have found a leader devoted to returning this great country to the ideals upon which it was founded... True Freedom, Dignity and Respect for ALL men who are willing to EARN it!

As a citizen who is proud of his voting privilege, casting my ballot on November 3rd for Barry Goldwater will be the most rewarding contribution I can make toward rebuilding a great America.

SINCERELY YOURS,
W. R. "BILL" CAREY

State Board Of Education Needs Votes

DEAR EDITOR:

One of the many very important choices (aren't they all?) on the long ballot to be voted on November 3 is the selection of members for the new State Board of Education.

It is our feeling that because of the number of selections to be made on the total ballot, many voters may choose to overlook many parts of the ballot, in the interest (or disinterest!) of "getting through this @#! ballot!"

Many thanks,

Objects To Helping Men Find Game

DEAR EDITOR:

I cannot agree with your way of thinking when you say we should share the know how of where the game is and where the shooting is best. I have been roaming the woods around Charlevoix for 40 years and I found out where the games by a lot of hard work and a lot of hours spent in the woods.

A lot of your city hunters come up here, buy a 100' x 100' lot and the first they do is to put up "No Trespassing" signs on it. They do not have enough land of their own to hunt on--so they hunt on someone's land that is not posted, "including mine."

IF YOU THINK for one second that I will let the so called hunter set their fat self's in an arm chair and have me tell them where to hunt--you better guess again. I learned by hard work and they can do the same as far as I am concerned.

If you were to take a poll on what I have just written, I will bet you will find that 99% of the local hunters feel the same as I on this subject.

SINCERELY,

Rabach's View Is Defended

Dear Editor:

I wish to take issue with your editorial of October 8 in which you assailed Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach for opposing annexation proceedings which have been instituted by the City of Charlevoix.

We citizens of Charlevoix Township have elected Mr. Rabach to represent us and our views and interests in matters political and governmental. In opposing annexation he is carrying out the requirements of his position... namely, presenting the definite opposition of the majority of the township residents to this, or any other, annexation maneuver.

Until the majority opinion changes concerning annexation, Mr. Rabach (and the rest of the Township Board also) will be expected by his constituents to fight vigorously against any encroachment on township territory.

Very truly yours,
Kathryn B. Smith

Ellsworth Enjoys Dance

DEAR EDITOR:

After the game on Friday night many of the students and alumni went over to the school for the victory celebration, but as they entered they noticed something a little strange for Ellsworth--a dance. The Hi-Fi's were playing for the students of Kingsley, Central Lake and Ellsworth and from all apparent indications the student body was having a real good time.

The Hi-Fi's played a few fast steps for the young and some slower ones for the young at heart. They played a polka that went over very well, and some of the old timers got out on the floor and really kicked up their heels. The dance was a success, and in a few words it could have been described as being good clean fun.

THE CLARD Sisters from Central Lake sang a few songs which were enjoyed by all.

To top off the evening Mr. Nidy conducted a hootenanny and nearly everyone did his part in the group sings.

As Nelson Spoelman closed the party around midnight the students started to leave and it was obvious that everyone had had a real good time.

If the student response was any indication of how well the dance, sing and hootenanny came off I believe we could say that Ellsworth could have more of this type of entertainment in the near future. As the students and alumni left it was easy to see that they had enjoyed Ellsworth's first public dance.

Farm Bureau Lauds Paper As Vital Community Role

DEAR EDITOR:

The best kind of endorsement is that given by someone else. Especially by someone critical in their judgement. Farmers, fortunately, seldom fall into this super-critical category when dealing with their home-town newspaper. The "man-on-the-land" however, has always been sensitive about his status and quick to resent any misinterpretation.

He has been known to phone the newspaper office and tell the editor so. That's why national newspaper week (October 11-17) provides such a pleasant contrast this year, with a Michigan farm leader going out of his way to give this paper a pat on the back.

Clarence E. Prentice, secretary-manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau, Lansing, reminds us that this newspaper is a private-enterprise business, dedicated to the public good. Further, that adequate newspaper advertising is "imperative to make a publication able to serve the whole public without fear or favor."

Those are strong words to be coming from an "outsider," but welcome words to most newspapermen who, as much as anyone else, have occasions to feel misunderstood.

"Farmers have first-hand knowledge of what government control can be like," Prentice said. "There are those who would license agriculture and treat it as a 'public utility.' This sounds familiar to newspapermen too, and I would remind them that government can interfere with a free press without the necessity of license."

Prentice went on to say that the newspaper business can be subjected to pressures not anticipated in the Constitution. He recalled that the free press, "along with a free agriculture," has been destroyed in nation after nation in modern times.

"A good local newspaper editor is the best watchdog any community can have," Prentice said.

He added that adequate support to your local paper means much more than subscribing--that "it means strong programs of local advertising on a year-in, year-out basis." He concluded by urging "agricultural leaders to work closely with their editors in appreciation of the value of newspapers to their communities."

Victory, Victory Is Our Cry

Seeing is believing! The Ellsworth Lancers dominated the entire game. The offensive team went to work and got two touchdowns and then the defensive team showed the crowd what they were made of.

It's easy to write victory but those Lancers proved they can fight for it too.

The Trojans ganged up on Bert Doctor (the Bull) and still he smashed into tacklers and they went flying.

Central Lake didn't know that Ellsworth had a surprise package like Larry Tonga. Coach Bob Danforth asked Gary and Larry Tonga (the twins) to play new positions and they came through with flying colors.

There is very little to say about Central Lake. Their biggest gains were by penalties. Ron Drenth and Carl Goeman had a field day boxing in the ends. Gibbs was not a bright star out there but the team knew they needed him. Several players were called from the bench and put into service and showed their abilities. When a team has played as hard as the Lancers did, there is only one thing to say, "great playing."

The fans had many things to cheer about and the scuffle but around was "the Ellsworth coach really has this team primed."

Vanderbilt will be here next October 23, 8 p.m. Every game Ellsworth has played they have had a different backfield combination so fans don't be surprised if the water bucket has a uniform on and is carrying the ball. Coach Danforth has scouted the Vanderbilt team and he said, "they have a rough bunch of boys, they have power on their end runs, and don't look at their record they can fool any team."

Our boys are in good shape no injuries against Central Lake. Larry only had muscle spasms. This team without any more injuries will be hard to beat, with Chet Boss taking command of the team, finding the weak spots and faking to Doctor and giving it to Larry, (this will be interesting to note, Larry gained more yardage than Bert.) Larry scored two touchdowns and Bert one. Carl, we are patiently waiting for you to score. Don't let the other fellows play the hero role.

Vanderbilt is coming here with their big guns, it's up to the boys to plug their barrels. See You Here -- Roy.

Lip Service

Last week people were down in the mouth about the weather, this week everyone has a smile on their face. Full Supernews predicted (or should I say, announced) warm and sunny weather for our area. He made Ellsworth fans very happy, with homecoming and the football game activities.

Mr. and Mrs. John Aardema made a visit to our area the week-end of Oct. 10.

Antrim County Farm Bureau held its annual meeting Oct. 14, at Elk Rapids. There were approximately 100 members in attendance, with several guests. The committee chairman gave their reports. Thirteen resolutions were voted on. Richard Wieland retired as president for the county. Lunch was served by the club.

Farmers Back County Zoning

At the annual meeting of the Antrim County Farm Bureau unanimously went on record as solidly in favor of the new Antrim County protective zoning ordinance.

The meeting was held at the Lakeland School, Elk Rapids.

THE RESOLUTION, as adopted, stated: "We favor the county zoning ordinance, and urge all Farm Bureau members to work for the Yes vote in the election in November." The resolution was drafted by the Farm Bureau's Resolutions Committee.

Speaking briefly to the group was John B. Hodge, District Extension Agent, who complimented the Farm Bureau for their interest in zoning, and for facing future problems in a forward-looking way. He stressed the fact that zoning is a tool with which to build, and that it assures a place for everything, and everything in its place. Walter Kirkpatrick, Antrim County Extension Agent, also attended the meeting.

Rural resident property owners in all 15 of Antrim County's townships will vote on the new protective zoning ordinance in the November election. Village residents will not vote on the proposition.

LIP SERVICE NO. 2

The Lions Club of Ellsworth held their regular meeting on Thursday night October 15th. Their honored guest for the evening was the District Governor of the Lions from Houghton Lake, Mr. Robert Dittmer. Mr. Dittmer spoke on Lionism. The business session of the evening was making plans for "Ladies Night." Attendance for the evening was the largest of the season.

Over this past weekend there were so many familiar faces in Ellsworth for the homecoming that I cannot begin to list the names-hope they all enjoyed the festivities.

Many favorable reports have been coming in concerning the homecoming party, students are asking "When will we have another party like this one?" Many parents have offered to chaperone more of these parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burtbank of Livonia came to take Mrs. Mable Liberty back to Livonia to spend the winter with them. On Thursday afternoon October 15, 11 ladies celebrated Mrs. Liberty's birthday at the home of Mrs. Kittle McPherson.

Miss Ann Kruls of Grand Rapids spent the weekend with Jake and Kathryn Timmer.

Mrs. Marion Smith of Kalamazoo is visiting with her cousin Mrs. Doris Carlisle and family.

Mrs. Maude Patterson left Saturday to spend the winter with her daughter Jean Stouts and family in Royal Oak.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman VanStedum were visited by their son Henry and family over the weekend, and on Saturday it looked like a Sunday School picnic in their yard, with Henry's 4 children, Fred's 5 children and Chris's 3 children, a good time was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ruls and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Rubingh made a trip to Grand Rapids from Wednesday to Saturday last week. Willard VanderArkhas returned from Little Traverse Hospital.

Throngs Crowd Town for Ellsworth Celebration

It was a beautiful day in Ellsworth Friday. A day long to be remembered, throngs of people joined in the Homecoming celebration.

At 2 p.m. the floats and cars gathered to set up parade formation.

The Kingsley band arrived after a hour and a half ride. They assembled on the football field to practice. This gave the elementary students a thrill.

THE PARADE started at 3:30 p.m. with Paul Doctor driving the lead car with her Majesty Queen Margaret Smith and her court Judy McConnell and Janice Evans. In the second car girls representing the 11th grade, Linda Vandenberg; 10th grade, Carolyn Denny and 9th grade, Annella Evans.

The third car held the cheer leaders, Joyce Campau, Judy Shooks and Shirley Pott.

Then came the color guard, followed by the Kingsley band, under the direction of Mr. Cauley. Mr. Cauley has been a band instructor at Kingsley for the past nine years, has a beginners band in the 4th grade of 25 students, a junior band of 50 and a senior band near 70 members. They have practice through-out the summer months.

All comments heard about the band were very favorable. They are to be congratulated on their excellent performance both in the parade and at the football game.

THE GRAND Marshall (Max Bolser) lead the floats, he rode an American bred saddle horse (the horse acted like he was a pro, prancing all the way.)

The first float was the 10th grade. Their theme was, "Gopher Victory", featuring a large gopher. Next came the 8th grade, with a butterfly, their theme was "Flying to Victory." A huge skunk was the 9th grade entry using the theme "Skunk Em" and it gave off a visual spray. The Senior's, always in the money with their ideas, came up with a float showing a tall stork carrying a baby to be dropped into a chimney, the theme being "Victory is our Baby." A monstrous Trojan Horse was the 11th grade's presentation which was powered by two Greek beauties and three slave men, the theme being "If the Greeks Can Do It, So Can We." "We'll Play Our Best" was the theme of the 7th grade, with an imitation up-right piano and a Lancer player seated at the piano, this ended the parade.

With only one week for the students to work on their floats they did a marvelous job.

When the parade approached the Center and Main St. for the second time the cheer leaders held a PEP meeting with the help of the band. The parade covered most of the town and ended back at the school.

THE AMERICAN Legion Auxiliary prepared supper for the band at 5 p.m., 22 more students came from Kingsley after playing baseball in Northport. This increased the band to near 70 members. Mr. Cauley had the band play for a pre-game ceremony and play

Planning

COUNCILMAN BILL FOCHTMAN pointed out a master plan would give continuity to city government as council members change. Michael told councilmen the firm's consultants will leave the actual development of the master plan up to the planning commission and city council.

Due to their years of professional training and experience, he said, the planners can show city officials the many possibilities that have worked elsewhere. These are things laymen cannot possibly be aware of, Michael said.

However, he pointed out, the decision as to which of these alternatives best fit Charlevoix will be made by councilmen.

VILCAN TOLD councilmen the master plan could be developed in less than two years, but he advised against haste.

The planning consultant outlined eight major areas the master plan study will cover:

- 1--Inventory of existing land use, housing conditions and a survey of what the people want.
- 2--Population and residential neighborhood study.
- 3--Parks and recreation needs.
- 4--Community facilities needs.

5--ECONOMIC BASE study of industrial land use and commercial land use.

6--Major street plan.

7--Future land use.

8--Effectuation of zoning ordinance and maps and subdivision regulations.

rather than attempts to smear personalities," LaBlance said. The county Democrat chief said he is expecting a local victory for Johnson and Staebler in spite of the fact he feels many party voters don't have a chance in the local elections.

THE, HE SAID, happened due to the new two year registration law. Many county Democrats, he said, only vote every four years because they realize they don't have a chance in the local elections.

"All indications are that Michigan will have all its people represented in Lansing for the first time after this election," LaBlance said. "People recognize the justice of the one-man-one-vote principle and realize the Democrats put it in effect."

"One of the major issues in this campaign is a liberal medical-care program for all of our people, and not just a few, as we have at the present time. A vote for the Democratic party will assure passage of the liberal medical-care program for all elderly people."

Asked for a prediction on the chances of Democrat candidates for county offices, LaBlance said he would "rather not go into that."

LOCAL CAMPAIGN activity, in both parties, he pointed out, has centered on the presidential and governorship races.

who continue to campaign on depression-era deeds. In 1964 we don't need depression programs. We need people in the White House who have confidence in the true American system. Not men, like LBJ, who advocate big government.

"WAR ALSO scares a lot of people I talk to," Speltz said. "They keep reading about more and more Americans killed in Asia, and then hear Democrats argue we must get along with the Communists. Every Democrat president in this century has got American boys killed on foreign soil."

"Somebody, a Democrat, at that, said he figures it's a cinch for Goldwater because there has been a change of leadership in Russia and Britain and those things always happen in three. How, I don't hold with that, but it's an interesting thought," Speltz said.

"The people are tired of being pushed around by big government and not being able to make a living because their paycheck is robbed by hidden taxes and income deductions that go to support big government."

"Voters know that this may be their last chance to vote for the American ideal of individual freedom. And I think they're going to see that they get this chance by voting for Goldwater," Speltz's news release concluded.

The 1965 Ford rides quieter than a Rolls-Royce!

Prior to the introduction of the 1965 Fords, the country's leading automotive writers drove the new models at Dearborn. Most of these experts remarked about the extraordinary quietness and smoothness of the Ford ride. An automotive writer, in Mechanix Illustrated, said, "If there is a quieter car made in this country, I haven't driven it."

Quiet Means Quality... Since quiet is a traditional measure of car quality, Ford engineers designed the '65 Ford for maximum quietness. To illustrate this quality achievement, Ford chose to make a documented test against the world's finest luxury car—Rolls-Royce.

Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc., world's leading acoustic consultants to government and industry, conducted the tests under supervision of the authoritative United States Auto Club. All cars were tuned to factory specifications.

The Result... The Fords proved to be slightly quieter at all speeds.

The official test report reads, in part: "At all moving speeds, on both courses, the Fords were quieter than the Rolls-Royces."

The Difference... The sound level difference, to be sure, is small—but it is there. At 60 miles an hour, Ford was actually 2.8 decibels* quieter than Rolls-Royce. At 40, Ford was 5.5 decibels* quieter. At 20, Ford was 4.9 decibels* quieter. However small these advantages over Rolls-Royce may be, they are significant evidence of quality—important to anyone buying a car in Ford's class.

Take A Test Drive... A key—and a warm welcome—await you at your Ford Dealer's. The key, incidentally, fits in the lock no matter which side is up—symbolic of the hundreds of advances you'll find in any Ford you road-test. Come in and see for yourself.

*Decibels are the universal recognized units for measuring the volume of sound.

SOUND LEVEL (All readings in decibels)

MPH	FORD	ROLLS-ROYCE	FORD QUIETER BY
20 mph	67.4	72.3	4.9
40 mph	75.9	81.4	5.5
60 mph	82.6	85.4	2.8

TEST CONDITIONS: Dry, level, moderately smooth concrete divided highway; light, quivering wind. All cars operated at steady 20, 40 and 60 mph with all windows and vents closed. TEST EQUIPMENT: Bruel & Kjaer precision octave band analyzer, recording through direct observation and through Nagra precision tape recorder. Data expressed in Perceived Noise decibels. TEST CONDUCTED ON September 24, 1964, by Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., the world's largest acoustic consulting firm. TEST CERTIFIED by the United States Auto Club. CARS TESTED: Two brand-new Rolls-Royce Silver Cloud III sedans, V-8 with automatic transmission, list price in New York $16,655 each. ...usher in the season of Thanksgiving. The time when white frosts and flaky snows cover the earth. Isaiah 35 speaks of this mirage, but we know the Lord reigneth, and the parched ground shall become a pool as He said. Then, since all must come to judgment and be rewarded according to his personal behavior; and since eternity is so very long ... it is urgent that we approach, with much concern, our rendezvous with death. There is no variableness in God's cause nor in His justice. Support His church regularly and worship God every day.

'65 Comet completes 16,200-mile durability run from Cape Horn to Fairbanks, Alaska, in 40 days Shades of Dayton! Comet is famous for durability. Last year, specially equipped Comets ran 100,000 miles at Dayton in 40 days.

Regular production-model Comets used, just like showrooms. Comets. Want to see the car that made it from Cape Horn to Fairbanks? Visit your Mercury dealer's. Check a 1965 Comet Caliente, with smooth Multi-Drive Merc-O-Matic. The only difference, the run cars had an extra gas tank, because service stations are frequently so far apart in South America.

Comets are ready for immediate delivery. No waiting, if you order yours now.

Livlier Comet proves once again why it's the World's Durability Champion. Uses show-room models in day-and-night grind from the bottom to the top of the world.

FAIRBANKS, Oct. 22 - Three Mercury Comets today finished a run no car has ever attempted in so short a time—the rugged 16,200-mile grind from Cape Horn to Fairbanks.

En route, day and night, the cars had no major repairs, just routine maintenance. That's ample proof that 1965 Comets are powerful and tough, not just lively and beautiful.

Bottom to top, 16,200 miles.

In South America, Spring was near. Thaws flooded the roads.

Ellsworth Romps Over Vanderbilt for 5 TD's

By SUZIE PETTER

Friday night, the Lancers met Vanderbilt on their own field. The Yellow Jackets, 32-7.

The first real action of the game came when Bert Doctor made a 25 yard run for a first down for Ellsworth. After a couple of plays, Chet Boss took over and ran 22 yards for Ellsworth's first touchdown. The extra point attempt was good, making the score 7-0.

ELLSWORTH SCORED twice in the second quarter. The first scoring came when Vanderbilt threw a pass which was intercepted by Walt Kooyer. Walt ran about 30 yards for a touchdown. Larry Torgna made the extra point to give the Lancers a 14-0 margin.

The stage for the next Ellsworth touchdown was set when Bert Doctor carried the ball to Vanderbilt's two yard line. After two plays, in which the Yellow Jackets prevented the Lancers from gaining yardage, Chet Boss charged through for the touchdown. This time the extra point attempt failed but the Lancers were far out in front, 20-0. The Lancers then kicked to Vanderbilt, but the Yellow Jackets, held back by some good Lancer defense, failed to make a first down. The Lancers took over possession of the ball but they were stopped by the half-time whistle.

THE LANCERS scored again early in the third quarter. Chet Boss threw a long pass to Walt Kooyer who caught it on Vanderbilt's 11 yard line. Ellsworth was thrown for a loss then Chet threw a pass to Walt again but this time it was incomplete. On fourth down, the Lancers passed again. This time it was from Chet to Carl Goeman, who ran for Ellsworth's fourth touchdown. The extra point attempt was blocked, 28-0.

In the fourth quarter Walt Kooyer intercepted a pass on Vanderbilt's 35 yard line and ran all the way down for a touchdown, making the score 32-0. Late in the fourth quarter, Dan O'Rourke ran through the Ellsworth defense for the Yellow Jacket's first and only touchdown. The ball was passed to Karl Spreeman for the extra point, 32-7.

Club Shooters Victors, Again

The Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club bounced back this week in their running competition with Coast Guard pistol shooters.

The club team edged the Coast Guard shooters by 53 points, 1,330 to 1,277. Last week the Coast Guard won 1,308 to 1,278.

TOP CLUB shooters were Paul Johnson, 278; Harold Lang, 272; Bernie Ward Jr., 270; Dr. Robert Martin, 258, and Ken Boss, 254.

The top five men for the Coast Guard were Dave Smith, 260; Ed Pyrzynski, 258; Ernesto Andale, 256; Terry Gray, 251, and Dick Gallant, 243.

Other club shooters were Babe Matthews, 241; Herb Boss, 238; Bernie Shaner, 232, and Roger Hull, 242.

Other Coast Guard shooters were Lefornbole, 181; Dillie, 201; Thurston, 218; Lang, 235; Baker, 159 and Spreen, 187.

Lions to Host District Chief

The Charlevoix Lions Club will welcome Robert D. Dillmer, district governor, at its Nov. 2 meeting in the Weather-Vane Inn. President Robert Liberman reports.

Dillmer, of Houghton Lake, is governor of the area district which includes 41 clubs. He is a radio station manager and active in many Houghton Lake community projects.

LIBERMAN SAID that while in Charlevoix, Dillmer will help advise local club officers on club administration and humanitarian projects.

Golf Course Has Boom Year

Charlevoix's Municipal Golf Course had the biggest year in its history this summer, manager Keith Carey reports.

A breakdown of golf course use shows 5,378 daily tickets were sold, 708 day tickets and 196 season tickets. This compares with 4,982 daily tickets in 1963 and 744 day tickets.

USE OF THE course is nearly doubled from 1963, Carey pointed out.

The city this year budgeted $9,405 for golf course expenses. Carey said the course took in $14,329 during the summer, or approximately $5,000 more than was required for operation and salaries.

Rayder Homecoming Outlook Bleak

The Charlevoix Rayders will host Gaylord here Friday in the last home game of the season which, also, will be the Homecoming game.

Fresh from a 19-18 upset by the cellar-dwelling Pellston Hornets, the Rayders will have their work cut out for them as they go against the Blue Devils who are presently tied with Harbor Springs for the league-lead with a 4-1 record.

THE LACK OF depth caught up with Charlevoix last week and, unless those players who have been lost through injuries return within the week, the Rayders will be "hurling" as they finish out the season, Coach Don Carey said Sunday.

Quarterback Del Terrill, injured in Friday's game at Pellston, and Mike Arbutick, who suffered much the same injury the week before, both remain question marks. Coach Carey said. Added to that Steve Smith, who had replaced Neil Cross in the line when he was injured, has a shoulder injury, he continued. Sooner or later a series of injuries to players you have been depending on catch up with you, he added.

Regarding the Rayders game this week, Coach Carey said Gaylord has looked good all season, has come along well and is a good club. I saw them play against East Jordan. They're going to be tough and Charlevoix will have to play heads-up ball to stop them. If we are at full strength we'll give them a good game.

At Pellston, the Rayders started the game without Mike Arbutick, senior guard, and then lost Del Terrill as the result of a lead injury as the game went into the second period.

STEVE SMITH took over in the signal-calling duties for Terrill but the backfield was weakened by the loss as the Rayders tried to pull the game out of the fire after losing an early lead. On the first play of the second quarter Mark Bourgois went over to put Charlevoix ahead 8-0 after Steve Smith conversion kick went awry.

Terrill was injured on this play and left the game. Pellston took the kickoff and, on a series of ground plays, moved the ball to the four yard line where Ron Zulsky went over to tie the score 6-6. The attempt to run the conversion point was stopped short of the goal line.

THE RAYDERS took the kickoff but failed to gain ground and gave

League in Turmoil This Week

The Gaylord Vikings, presently sharing the league lead with Harbor Springs, will invade Charlevoix this week to headline the action in the Northern Michigan Class C league.

Elsewhere, the Harbor Springs Rams, upset by Boyne City, 21-6, will host Mancelona; the Pellston Hornets, who dumped Charlevoix 19-18, will travel to Grayling and Boyne City will play at East Jordan in the renewal of an old rivalry.

GAYLORD, THOUGH they posted a 25-7 victory over East Jordan, was pushed into a first place tie with Harbor Springs after the Rams were dumped from the ranks of the undefeated by the Boyne City Ramblers who were in fourth place at the time.

Playing without the services of regular quarterback George Lauer, who was out of the lineup with a foot injury, the Harbor Springs eleven fell victim to the Ramblers who were up for the game.

Meanwhile, Harbor's opponent this week, the Mancelona Ironmen were rolling up a win over Grayling with Bill Bushard scoring on a 41 yard run and later on a 52 yard run following a pass interception.

Anything will go when Boyne City invades East Jordan in the renewal of a bitter rivalry that dates back many years. Riding high after upsetting Harbor Springs, the Ramblers will be hard to stop.

East Jordan, without an outright victory to date, will be trying to get into the win column but it is unlikely if they can make a comeback at this late date.

GOP Cites Rush to Get Books on Barry

Charlevoix Goldwater for President leaders this week admit they are indebted to arch-rival George LaBlance for focusing attention on what they claim is some of their most potent campaign material.

Larry Wallace, acting chairman of the Charlevoix Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, said sales of the books on Goldwater "have really soared," partially due to LaBlance's attack on the paperbacks.

IN LAST WEEK'S Courier LaBlance, County Democratic Chairman, charged local Republicans with extremism and labeled the books "A Texan Looks at Lyndon, A Choice Not an Echo and None Dare Call It Treason--hate literature."

Wallace said there was a rush to buy the books at local GOP headquarters, largely because independent and Democratic voters recognized LaBlance's attack as a "desperation measure."

"No where in the story," Wallace said, "did the county Democratic boss deny the truth of the books."

"That's because the books are true, and the Democrats know they are turning thousands of voters to Goldwater. Their only recourse is to try to discredit them."

THE BOOKS, Wallace said, have been in circulation as long as nine months. Not once during that period have the Democrats been able to disprove any of the facts in the books, because they are all documented by official government records and national publications.

"You can bet they would do anything possible to get these books out of circulation, either through libel proceedings or other legal action if there was any doubt about their authenticity," Wallace added.

"The smear charge is an attempt to discredit legitimate

Grandvue's Chaplain to Stay on Job

The report of the committee on the Grandvue Medical Facility Chaplaincy was received by ten members of the Charlevoix Ministerial Assn. at a special meeting at Grandvue.

The Rev. Daniel G. After the recommendations were adopted the association requested the Rev. Marcus Krake, East Jordan, to continue as Chaplain. Rev. Krake withdrew his resignation.

The Rev. Gordon Spalenka, Boyne City, was appointed chairman of a committee to prepare two orders of worship and a selection of worship materials to be used in the ministry at Boyne Mountain.

Other committee members are the Revs. George Majors and Everett Herberger, Charlevoix; Duane Ferris, Boyne City and Daniel Axt, East Jordan. Services will begin at Boyne Mountain December 13.

editor's notes....

Liberty or

CHARLEVOIX VOTERS will join those in the rest of the nation next Tuesday to decide between man's two fundamental philosophies of government:

1-ONE BEING THAT the people are not qualified to look after their own destiny. We must, this theory contends, turn their lives, problems and liberties over to an all-wise, elite central government which will mold us all into one likeness, taking from the industrious to provide for the irresponsible and lazy, and guaranteeing everyone an equal and sufficient amount of material comfort.

2-in late summer of 1867 a dedicated group of extremists, meeting in Philadelphia, issued, in writing, a bold and new philosophy of government. They called it the Constitution. It held that material wealth is not the paramount need of man. Give the individual freedom to determine his own destiny, to earn his own dignity and fulfill his responsibilities and he will forge far ahead of the society that is under the thumb of a powerful central government.

The first proposal, that government will take from the haves to provide for the have-nots, as advanced by the Democratic party, is mankind's oldest civilized philosophy. It has been promoted since order and compassion first came to the world. Whether you call it Socialism, Marxism, Communism, or what have you, it has miserably failed the test of time. No nation that has adopted such a system of suppressing the individual has been able to maintain its strength, morality and stability. Because the individual's potency is gradually eroded under such a system, bullies work their way into power. The nation's moral fiber is deliberately weakened and tyrants take over. So, men being animals with a heart and soul, decide liberty is more precious than security and they rebel.

This is not a new story to Charlevoix voters. It is history. History that has repeated itself everytime men grew too lazy to demand and maintain control over their own destiny.

TODAY, MORE THAN two decades after the necessary welfare programs during the depression crisis, we have more New Deal deals going, at greater cost to hard working, responsible Americans, than ever before.

Why? We don't need them. What do these welfare, or Socialism programs bode down to? Taking from the majority of Americans to buy votes from the small minority who are not willing to face the rigors of working every day.

For years our government has tailored its programs to satisfy either the irresponsible citizen or the ultra-rich. Today, the Democratic party has taken both of these groups into its fold. This is readily evident by reading the list of the party's staunchest supporters--big businessmen and those on welfare programs.

THE VAST MAJORITY of us are in neither of these economic classes. Most of us ask little of government except law and order. We do not ask government to "take care of us." We are willing, and proud, to put in a day's toll and take care of ourselves. It is an insult when the Democrats insist we, as freedom-loving individuals, are not able to carry our own weight in the great society envisioned by the Philadelphia Convention.

But many of us have been taken in by powerful hungry political tyrants who insist we cannot handle our own destiny and that the checks and balances written into our Constitution are outdated. Outdated by what, we should ask? By mankind's oldest, most corrupt abuse of government?

Sen. Barry Goldwater, then, is the first presidential candidate in decades to stand up for the common man; for those of us who are laboring one-third, or more, of the year to keep the unproductive and extremely wealthy content.

Sen. Goldwater has the political seers stumped. Why? Simply because he has not been willing to compromise his, and the Founding Fathers', faith in the common man. This is unbelievable to the controlling political powers, who have for years reaped the working man's vote by appealing to those too rich to work, or too lazy to work.

DEMOCRATS DO NOT know how to cope with this issue, so they pitch in a fog to make Goldwater's crusade for freedom and the individual appear trite.

But, remember on election day, it is YOU he is crusading for...and the principles that made this nation great. This may be your last chance to vote for these principles. In your heart you know they will work, and you are proud of them. SHEP

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Defends Books That Infuriate Area Democrats

DEAR EDITOR:

I am writing you concerning the article in which Mr. George LaBlance complained about books being circulated during this campaign.

He forgot to say anything about the books that the Democrats are circulating. They have suggested that I read them.

His facts about the books were inaccurate.

"A TEXAN LOOKS AT London," is published by the Palo Duro Press, Canyon, Texas.

The facts are documented and the source is given in the footnotes. If they had not been true the author J. Everett Haley would have been sued for libel long before now.

"A Choice Not An Echo" by Phyllis Schlafly, published by the Pere Marquette Press also had the material documented.

The ads, for Goldwater, Peterson and Knox, put in the Charlevoix County papers by the Charlevoix County Republican Party have been condensed from editorials from the Grand Rapids Press and the Chicago Tribune.

I WISH ONLY to state the above facts to set the record straight.

Non Partisan Judicial Ballot

AUSTIN J. DOYLE

Austin J. Doyle, 53, is a graduate of Loyola University College of Law. Following service as a Special Agent of the FBI, he has successfully represented litigants in state and federal courts and administrative agencies as a trial lawyer for 29 years. Presently a Commissioner of the State Bar, Doyle has long been a leader in civic, church, and Bar Assn. affairs. He is an active member of the Knights of Columbus, Optimists, and B.P.O. Elks.

ROBERT B. BURNS

A life-long resident of Michigan, attorney Robert B. Burns, of Grand Rapids, was born in Gobles, Mich. He attended Western Michigan University and Wayne State University Law School. He served with the Canadian and U.S. Air forces during World War II. Was judge of Grand Rapids Municipal Court from 1954 to 1959. Has served as head of G.R. Legal Aid Society and has been active in the American Legion, Elks, PTA, Cub Scouts, and the March of Dimes. Coached junior baseball.

Why the Court of Appeals is important

This new nine-judge intermediate appellate court was created by the new State Constitution to provide faster, less costly settlement of appeals now clogging the docket of the State Supreme Court and lower courts. Most criminal, divorce case, and civil lawsuit appeals will be settled in this appeals court, leaving the Supreme Court free to deliberate constitutional questions.

MR. PRESIDENT, JUST WHERE ARE WE HEADED?

Dear Mr. President:

I have a question, Mr. President, that takes more of a man than I to answer.

You see, Mr. President, I have a son, an avid reader of history and current events and in his pursuit to learn about this great country of ours he has become confused.

He has been brought up in the tradition of God first, country second and family third; he has been taught the stars and stripes is a symbol of freedom; that the Fourth of July is to be celebrated, not tolerated; that just because goose bumps jump out all over his body when the National Anthem is played is no indication he's a "square" or "some kind of a nut"; that we are a strong, free nation, a nation where the majority not a minority rules; that we are a republic of free enterprise where a man or woman, regardless of race, color or creed, can rise as high as the heavens if he has the ambition and if he is willing to make the necessary sacrifices; he has been taught that freedom and equality are earned, not legislated or handed out on a silver platter.

HE HAS BEEN TOLD of the hundreds of thousands of young Americans who have given their lives on bloody battlefields across the globe so that he might enjoy his freedom and that someday, when it is needed, he, too, must be ready to answer the call of his country.

The heritage of Americanism runs deep in this boy, Mr. President.

He takes pride in recalling the winter at Valley Forge; the courage of patriots at the Battle of New Orleans; the charge of Teddy Roosevelt up San Juan Hill; the storming of the trenches in France; the heroic defenders of Bastogne; the raising of the flag at Iwo Jima; and the gallant stand at Pusan in Korea.

By modern standards, I guess this son of mine and myself would be labeled extremists—he loves his country and his flag. And next to God, there's no man like Uncle Sam.

But now, Mr. President, the boy can no longer accept this fantasy called patriotism. The more he reads, researches and studies, the more confused he becomes.

THE QUESTION THAT HAS HIM STYMIED, Mr. President, is, "What does the United States of America stand for now and where is it headed?"

I cannot answer that question in all fairness to the boy, Mr. President.

Am I to tell him we have become a country, where minority groups make the decisions at the expense of the majority?

Am I to tell him we have become a nation forced to accept the dictates of mob violence?

Am I to tell him that chains have bound the free enterprise system and that a man can no longer operate his property, his business as he thinks best without government intervention?

Am I to tell him "protector of our enemies" is rapidly replacing "land of the free, home of the brave," as our national slogan?

RECALLING PAST ADMINISTRATIONS' deeds at the Republican National Convention sent the boy scurrying to his books

JACK HORD, Sun-Sentinel Managing Editor

(A young American boy watching a national political convention for the first time in his life asked his father questions concerning the operations and history of this country. The concern of this young boy for his country led his father, Jack Hord, managing editor of The Sun-Sentinel, to write this thought-provoking story in letter form to the President of the United States.)

to attempt to find for himself questions and charges made for and against the past 25 years of Republican and Democrat administrations.

History shows, Mr. President, that during the years of Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Dwight Eisenhower, this country won the wars but completely capitulated at the peace tables.

Then along came John F. Kennedy, a dynamic young man who was going to get this country moving again, make it strong, the last bastion of democracy. His words were strong, Mr. President, but he, like his predecessors, carried a weak stick.

Are you going to follow their examples, Mr. President? I can't speak for you and my son wants to know.

We are a strong and mighty nation, our representatives in Congress tell us. We are unmatched in weapons, our executive branch shouts. We are a God fearing nation, honored by laws and traditions of our ancestors, the historians write.

Then, if this is true Mr. President, explain to my son why we gave away eastern Europe to the Communists at the Yalta conference under Mr. Roosevelt; explain to him why we fought a half-way war in Korea under Mr. Truman; why we coddled the Red Chinese, allowing them to violate all agreements while we stood helplessly claiming "foul" and yet did nothing while young American men were slaughtered, dying not knowing what they were fighting for or why they were fighting.

Attempt to reason with this boy, Mr. President, how the State Department allowed Communists to gain high positions in the foreign diplomacy field. It's in the history books, Mr. President, but it doesn't explain why.

Tell this young American why, Mr. President, that after the Federal Bureau of Investigation had pinpointed men of high rank in our government who were Communists or had Communist affiliations, that nothing was done to remove these cancers imbedded in the working mechanism of a free country.

AND EXPLAIN TO THIS BOY that when these conspirators were arrested they were eventually freed by decisions handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

This is another confusing issue, Mr. President, the Supreme Court.

Since this country was founded, the historians relate, the high court has influenced the branches of the government with decisions that aided, not hindered independence and respect for human rights and liberties.

But the sands of time have shifted. And with the shift the Constitution of this country has become merely a scrap of paper, used to twist and squeeze from ink dried long ago, interpretations that are not to be found in those finely written words.

And since 1954 when Earl Warren was appointed chief justice of this hallowed court, the record indicates a trend towards anti-God, pro-Communist favoritism as a result of the courts' decisions.

Mr. Warren, particularly has supported the Communist cause in nearly all cases appealed to the majestic court. Yet, this country has no recourse to correct what seemingly appears to be a deficiency in our form of representative government.

BUT THINGS WERE GOING TO BE better when Mr. Kennedy became president, my son had read. But did they, Mr. President? We continued to help our sworn enemies who promised to bury us. We sold them wheat and strategic materials, built power plants behind the Iron Curtain, sold them jet fighters.

Why, Mr. President, in the past 20 years, you couldn't tell a Democratic president from a Republican president.

And Mr. Kennedy, as likeable as he was, made enemies by making possible more freedom for the minorities and less freedom for the majority. He alienated business, the backbone of this free enterprise form of government.

And please explain to this boy, Mr. President, that at a time when our country needed more courage and less profile, we allowed the Berlin Wall to be built; that we permitted 1,400 young Cuban patriots to go ashore at the Bay of Pigs, one eye on the enemy and one eye scanning the skies for promised air support that never came?

And tell this young patriot why our State Department financed the Castro revolution in Cuba when as early as 1948 U.S. officials knew he was a Communist when he led the Red-inspired revolt in Bogota, Colombia.

THESE ARE THINGS I CAN'T EXPLAIN to my son, Mr. President. I trust that you may have the answers.

History records the progress we have made in science, medicine, engineering and the professional arts, but it seems that in government we have switched from the basic concepts this country was founded upon.

And frankly, Mr. President, I think that at this moment, the majority of 190 million Americans would rather "fight than switch" to Communism.

My son wants to know what he can do for his country, Mr. President. There was a time when I could tell him but now I cannot.

THE ONLY ADVICE I CAN GIVE HIM is simple and to the point:

"Pray, my son. Pray that in some way, some manner, some miracle, our nation can be restored to what it once was—a nation of strong, free, independent, self sustaining people that cannot and will not perish from this earth."

Sincerely,
Jack Hord

LaBlance Outlines Staebler's Program

George LaBlance, County Democratic Chairman, this week attacked Gov. George Romney's Republican record and laid out Net Staebler's program for the state.

"The real issue underlying this campaign for governor," LaBlance said, "is which team can best build Michigan."

LaBlance cited areas in which he charged Romney's administration is vulnerable: Michigan's economic prosperity; the Massachusetts Bailout and re-apportionment; state aid to education; Romney's "pay as you grow" capital outlay plan, and state-federal cooperation.

LaBlance said Staebler's program includes:

Holding the line on property tax increases;

Acting now to help Michigan's senior citizens, particularly through a homestead tax exemption;

Increasing support for secondary, higher and community college education in Michigan;

Fighting against any interference with Michigan's Civil Rights Commission;

Starting statewide water and air pollution control programs; Providing increased care for Michigan's mentally ill;

LAUNCHING a crash program aimed at stopping high school dropouts and preventing juvenile delinquency;

Cooperating with federal programs for jobs and economic growth;

Launching Michigan's own war on poverty;

Reforming Michigan's labor compensation laws;

Conserving and developing Michigan's vacationland potential.

Staebler, Ann Arbor businessman and Democratic candidate for governor, said that Republicans claim credit for Michigan's current economic boom.

"But they forget that Michigan cannot be prosperous in isolation."

More than 16 million copies of the book have been printed, including 7.3 million each of the Romney and Romney books.

Never before, trade sources say, have paperback books of any category been printed and distributed in such volume in so short a time. Never before has such literature been used to such an extent in a Presidential campaign.

Johnson is Target

All three books are written by ultraconservatives. They purport to offer documentation to show that the Johnson Administration is "soft on Communism" and that the President is a man of little principle.

Avd Goldwater partisans express high hopes that the books, disavowed as "smut" and right-wing propaganda by some Republican leaders, will swing close states to the Republican banner.

Democrats concede that the books are being widely discussed, "but exposure to analysis will win by Election Day any voter who has strayed."

Among the first organizations to buy, distribute and promote the books was the John Birch Society.

They also have been purchased by the hundreds of thousands by individual Goldwater supporters and mailed free to friends and strangers alike.

Some Ends Up In Trash

Much of the circulation is duplicated and ineffective, however. Many voters have received a number of copies in the mail. Some Goldwater partisans pass them on. Others say they toss them into the waste basket.

Free mailings and cut-rate sales at campaign headquarters are continuing, but a more recent development that has heartened backers of the Republican candidate is the brisk sale of single copies at full retail prices throughout the country.

No longer are these paperbacks offered only at right-wing bookshops or in a flood of giveaway mailings. They are now stocked and prominently displayed at general bookstores from coast to coast.

Frequently they are best sellers in these shops and department stores, drug store chains, supermarkets and newsstands.

In some cases right-wing pressure was applied to get stores to stock the books.

Troy Harper, a downtown paperback outlet in San Francisco, ordered the Haley book only after repeated demands for it in which the callers asked why it was not offered and whether the store was "Communist."

Given to Drugstores

Goldwater partisans got some chain drugstores in the Los Angeles area started by giving them large lots of the books free.

In Cleveland, Klein News, distributor of the books for the area, is supplied by the local outlet of the Birch Society for 20 cents a copy with the unlimited right to return unsold copies. Retail prices are 75 cents and $1.00.

Despite a hands-off policy on the part of the Republican National Committee, Goldwater campaign headquarters in many parts of the country have jumped into the effort to put the books in the hands of as many voters as possible.

This is true, for example, in St. Louis, Denver, Salt Lake City, Nashville, Miami, Cincinnati and Houston.

Even regular Republican headquarters are selling the books in some counties, such as Dade in Florida.

"If we could get everyone to read it we would have it made," said Marcus Kyle, the Dade County Republican chairman, he was speaking of "None Dare Call It Treason."

Lloyd Waring, state chairman of the Massachusetts Goldwater Committee, says it is good politics to make use of the books. Others hedge.

Paperbacks Pushed by Goldwater Camp In Many Areas

By DONALD JANSON Special to the New York Times

HOUSTON, Oct. 23—Stacked high on tables and in showcases in southwest Houston's supermarket-sized Republican campaign headquarters are copies of J. Edgar Hoover's controversial paperbacks, "A Texan Looks at Lyndon."

On order, said Mrs. Donald Mayo, are John A. Stormer's "None Dare Call It Treason" and Phyllis Schlafly's "A Choice Not an Echo."

The three right-wing paperbacks also are being sold as campaign ammunition at other Goldwater-For-President headquarters in many sections of the country.

More than 16 million copies of the book have been printed, including 7.3 million each of the Romney and Romney books.

Lloyd Waring, state chairman of the Massachusetts Goldwater Committee, says it is good politics to make use of the books. Others hedge.

The regular Harris County Republican Headquarters here, unlike the party's campaign headquarters for the Southwest District of Houston, does not sell the books, but it refers inquiries to one of its volunteer workers in the building, who keeps a supply in her car outside.

The books were placed on sale in Republican headquarters in Salt Lake City three weeks ago after considerable soul-searching.

After receiving "a vast number of inquiries," State Chairman Ray Child sounded out Republican leaders and the books were stocked despite the strong opposition of Thomas Judd, a Republican candidate for Congress.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors Conference, has termed "A Texan Looks at Lyndon" and similar books "smut" and urged that they not be used in the campaign.

Colorado's Republican chairman, Paul W. Wolf, said his office would "try to produce votes by entirely different methods."

Charles Percy, Republican candidate for Governor of Illinois, said he could use "only a straight-forward issues approach, without any personal attacks."

Gov. John Anderson, Jr. of Kansas, immediate past-chairman of the National Conference of Governors, called use of the paperbacks "dirty politics."

But he added that "there are a lot of people circulating and reading them and they're going to show their mud." He went on:

"People are saying, it must be true or Johnson would sue."

Sources close to the President in Washington take the position that the attacks in the Haley book are incredible and will be accepted only by those who want to believe them anyway.

Lee Edwards, deputy director of information for the Republican National Committee, said "the official policy of the committee is not to recommend or endorse publications prepared outside the committee."

But Mr. Edwards added that "we have no way of controlling people out in the field."

Most Popular Items

At its headquarters two blocks away in Washington, the Citizens For Goldwater Committee refers the "hundreds" of inquiries it gets for the right-wing books to the Adelphi Distributing Corporation in Houston. The corporation is owned by Mrs. Eloise Liles, a member of the Birch Society.

Mrs. Liles also has two retail bookstores. Because of interest in the election, she said, the three controversial books are her best sellers. They are prominently displayed, along with Goldwater pop, soap, buttons and other campaign paraphernalia.

Like bookstores everywhere, she also offers several biographies, including competent critical biographies of the candidates; books of general interest, and sharply anti-Goldwater books such as "Barry Goldwater; Extremist on the Right," by Fred J. Cook.

The Democratic National Committee has sold more than 50,000 copies of the Cook paperback. It receives a commission from the publisher for each sale.

Sale and distribution of anti-Goldwater books has been small compared with that of the right-wing's big three.

A total of 7.3 million copies of "None Dare Call It Treason" have been produced since February by the W. F. Hall Printing Company of Chicago, largest paperback printer in the world, at a cost to Mr. Stormer, the author, of some $600,000.

The 7.3 million-mark was reached last month by "A Texan Looks at Lyndon," which came out last June.

In both cases the author published his own book, creating a "company" for the purpose. Mr. Stormer's is the Liberty Bell Press. It was housed first in his home in Florissant, a suburb of St. Louis. Now it shares a small building on the same street, with a beauty parlor.

Mr. Haley's "publishing house" is the Palo Duro Press. Palo duro, or hard wood, is the name of a nearby canyon. The office is in Mr. Haley's modest home in Canyon, Tex.

Both authors started with small press runs. The Birch Society placed large orders for its 200 American Opinion bookstores, and the authors increased orders for new printings to half a million copies at a time.

The loan became too much for the small Stephens Printing Corporation of Sandusky, Ohio, which got Mr. Haley's first order. It farmed out some of the job to the J. W. Clement Company of Cleveland, the country's second-largest printer of paperbacks.

The two Ohio companies have also shared the job of printing two million copies of "A Choice Not an Echo." Mrs. Schlafly set up the Pere Marquette Press in Alton, Ill. where she lives, as the publisher. Like the others, it is simply a small order-taking office.

To keep up with the demand for his book, Mr. Haley soon added two more printers, Hall and a company in the "mid-South," he said he preferred not to name.

The tall, blunt author-publisher-rancher, has had to turn his entire home into an office. Telephones and typewriters and two secretaries have been installed in the kitchen and a spare room to keep up with the orders.

Sales from Canyon and other distribution points, the 63-year-old Texan said are averaging 50,000 copies a day.

"The Canyon post office has had a Christmas rush since June," said B. E. McCormick, in charge of the distribution operation.

"A Texan Looks at Lyndon" sells for a dollar, or 30 cents a copy in lots of 1,000 or more. The other two books are priced at 75 cents each and 20 cents in bulk.

Trade sources estimated that printing, storage, sales and shipping costs of the Stormer book, handled in its present volume, would be about 10 cents a copy even at the bulk rate, or more than $700,000 so far.

At his middle-class ranch home in Florissant, he denied reports that the Birch Society had subsidized publication of "None Dare Call It Treason," his first book.

Mr. Stormer left his last job, as editor of an electrical trade magazine in 1962, to work on the book. He said he had saved enough money to support his family and stand the expense of publishing a book.

Born in Pennsylvania

The 36-year-old native of Pennsylvania said he was not a member of the Birch Society but that his wife was. He is chairman of his Congressional District's Goldwater Committee and until recently was chairman of the Missouri Federation of Young Republicans.

His book is described on the cover as "the carefully documented story of America's retreat from victory." Its theme is the familiar right-wing message that the nation is perilously close to total subjugation because of its leader's conspiratorial failure to deal effectively with Communism.

Many readers express awe at the book's elaborate "documentation," but few of them have apparently seen a recent study on "None Dare Call It Treason" by the National Committee for Civic Responsibility.

The committee was formed last year in Cleveland as a non-partisan citizens group "to encourage responsible debate and to expose the use of calumny and deception."

"Since this book contains 818 references supposedly substantiating the material contained therein," the committee reported, "it gives the appearance of being the well-documented study it claims to be. Nothing could be further from the truth."

The committee concludes that the Stormer book is "at best an incredibly poor job of research and documentation and at worst a deliberate hoax and a fraud."

After receiving the committee's report the American Legion in Cleveland canceled plans to distribute the book as part of a fund-raising activity.

"A Texan Looks at Lyndon" has been as sharply criticized as the Stormer book, largely because of the author's reliance on rumor.

The book, subtitled "A study in illegitimate power," is laced with such phrases as "Johnson is reported to have . . .," "It was rumored . . ." and "many persons believe . . ."

Attacks on President Assailed as "Smut" and Scurrilous

Mr. Haley, author of a dozen books and booklets on Texas pan-handle history, conceded in an interview in his book-lined study that he had made liberal use of rumor but contended that "rumor is a psychological phenomenon in the public mind, the existence of which is a historical fact."

He said he expected his book to stand as critical history.

Mr. Haley ran for Governor in 1962 on a platform of racial segregation and states' rights.

Mr. Haley, a blunt but courteous former cowboy, is chairman of Texans for America, an ultra-conservative group that scrutinizes textbooks to make sure they promote free enterprise sufficiently. He said he had compiled files on Mr. Johnson ever since he "stole" the 1948 election from the candidate favored by the rancher.

A C. Greene, editor of the editorial page of The Dallas Times-Herald, wrote recently that "Haley is a historian with some excellent writing to his credit, but he deserts historical principles and takes up personal hatred as his guide for 'A Texan Looks at Lyndon.'"

A Choice Not an Echo," Mrs. Schlafly's first book is a slim volume that was aimed at helping Senator Goldwater to the Republican Presidential nomination.

The theme is that a small group of "secret king makers" in the liberal Eastern wing of the party has selected the Republican nominee since 1936. Hundreds of thousands of copies were distributed in California before the crucial primary election and the national convention there.

The next book for the Pere Marquette Press of Alton is Mrs. Schlafly's second book.

It is called "The Gravediggers" and subtitled "Who is Really Risking Nuclear War?"

Robert A. W. Welch Jr., founder of the Birch Society, has written that Mrs. Schlafly is "a very loyal member" of the Birch Society.

Other right-wing paperbacks and tracts aimed at electing Senator Goldwater also are appearing at bookstores, on newsstands, and at Goldwater campaign headquarters throughout the country.

Most popular, next to the big three, is a 25-cent tabloid on newsprint called "L. B. J.: A Political Biography." The right-wing "Liberty Lobby" of Washington, D. C. has published a million copies.

Books Sold in New York

Books making extreme attacks on President Johnson, which are being pushed around the country by groups supporting Senator Barry Goldwater, are being sold in book outlets of the New York City area but not in such numbers as reported in regions of the West.

Executives in the book trade agree that commercial distribution of the books is limited somewhat by "amateurish sales methods" of the publishers of the political tracts. Free distribution of the books by political action groups also limits sales.

Doubleday & Company reports that in its 32 bookstores, 11 of which are in the New York area, the most popular of these books is "A Texan Looks at Lyndon." Total sales have been somewhere between 3,000 and 5,000. It is estimated.

"None Dare Call It Treason," and "A Choice Not an Echo" have had less but somewhat comparable sales.

The head of the book branch of a New York department store said none of these titles were on sale simply because of the insistence of the publishers that cash be paid in advance for their books. Such payment is against the store's policy.

Arnold Swenson, manager of the Columbia University Book Store, said none of the three titles were on his list for the reason that no salesman had ever approached him with an offer to deliver the books.

Charles Anderson who operates the Anderson Book Store in Larchmont, N. Y., reported he had all three books on sale and prominently displayed "even though I consider them contemptible."

BELL TELEPHONE'S TELSTAR serves as theme for the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau "Roll Call" campaign, headed by Mrs. Wm. Parsons of Charlevoix. The campaign goal for Charlevoix County is 381 Farm Bureau family memberships enrolled for the 1964-65 year.

Farm Bureau Aims For 381 Members

Modern communications have been selected as theme for this year's Charlevoix County Farm Bureau "Roll-Call" membership campaign, according to Mrs. William Parsons, manager of the current membership drive.

A model of Bell Telephone's three million dollar private-enterprise communication satellite, "Telstar" now orbiting the earth, was a central attraction at a recent two-day state wide Roll-Call Manager's School, held at Camp Kett, near Cadillac and attended by Mrs. Parsons.

"IT TOOK THE cooperation of thousands of people to put man-made stars into orbit," Mrs. Parsons said, "and there were many who said it would never be done."

She compared the effort with that of farmers "who have also found that near impossible chores can be done when they work together."

Cited as a prime example was the 381 Farm Bureau family membership goal for Charlevoix county in the 1964-65 year. "A few years ago people said that farmers would never stick together in any organization, but now 90% of all the commercial farmers in Michigan are members, as are a majority of all such farmers in the United States," she said.

It was reported at the meeting that the 1,651,173 family-member American Farm Bureau Federation was 29,000 families ahead of last year at this time, and that the organization would finish the year with another all-time high membership.

Say Economic Boom Here Inspired by Romney's Actions

Today people in Charlevoix are proud of their state, and people outside respect it, and both have confidence in the future, Mrs. William Fochtman, local Romney for Governor chairman claims.

"This renewed confidence in Michigan has been reflected in Charlevoix's booming economic growth," Mrs. Fochtman said. "What's a couple of years ago people were begging for jobs, today the Chamber of Commerce cannot even find enough unemployed workers to fill the needs of industrialists."

Two years ago, Michigan's unemployment was 4.8% and 140,000 were unemployed. September 15, we had unemployment of only 2.9 percent. This is far below the national average of 5.2 percent. More importantly, we have 188,000 more people in jobs than when I took office on January 1, 1963.

Two years ago, we had an $85.6 million operating deficit and $20 million in unpaid liquor bills. Today, we have increased general fund appropriations and expenditures for service to people more than ever before in a two year period.

YET ON THE basis of the final report for the fiscal year that ended June 30th, we have an actual surplus of $57.1 million. (This is $8 million higher than the tentative $48.8 million surplus previously announced. This increase is because more than $4

This record Mrs. Fochtman said, is the more remarkable when you consider that in 8 of the 12 years just before Romney took office, the state increased taxes and in 8 out of the 12 years, it spent more than it took in. In the past two years, there have been no new or increased state taxes and we have spent less than we took in. So our objective of paying our bills and living within our income has been achieved. And compared to what Michigan had for 14 long years, that's real Michigan progress!

Between 1950 and 1961 Michigan's personal income growth rate was 47th in the country...

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

DEAR EDITOR:
The bulwark of American independence is built around one document, it protects your Bible, Tarah, creed or what ever gives you peace of religion, it protects your right to face the world with your two hands and the brain that God gave you, unencumbered by political or religious pressures. This marvelous document produced by a small group of freedom loving men is called the constitution. This is your constitution as well as mine. It is your duty to protect it as well as mine. Our constitution has been tampered with. It is our duty to gather to reverse this folly, for our sakes, our children's sake and their children's sake. The threads that have been made into your personal freedoms are too numerous to mention here, but you are aware of them as well as I am. If this trend is allowed to continue, it will lead to complete Socialism and ultimate slavery by a centralized bureaucracy that staggers the imagination. The Supreme Court is no longer a bipartisan protector of your rights and our constitution, but a political body determined to destroy what our forefathers fought and died to protect. That this could happen in an age of unbelievable progress is beyond my understanding, but it is happening. . . .

OUR CAPITALISTIC constitutional government is not perfect by any means, but its cumbersome checks and balances through a representative form of government was designed to protect your liberties and freedom. This current biased rights and freedom. This current biased form of government with all its faults, has produced the greatest, strongest and most practical society this world has ever known.
There are those who would take it away from you. Your birthright can be stolen more easily than Jacob stole Esau's.

It can be stolen by promising a false prosperity, giving you something you haven't earned, or by harboring and protecting an idealism dedicated to your destruction. If our forefathers, the authors of our constitution, could see us now, they would be as afraid as I am. All this can be stopped or curtailed through a birthright they haven't the nerve to steal. YOUR VOTE! Barry Goldwater will start us on our road back to free representative government. All free, right thinking Americans should vote for Barry Goldwater on November 3.
LARRY WALLACE

Will Nov. 3 Be End of Barry?

DEAR EDITOR:
In regards to the letter by W. R. "Bill" Carey and published on last week's Editorial Page, Quote Mr. Carey, "Barry Goldwater is the first man either party has had the courage to nominate in decades who stands up for integrity and Americanism." I realize that as election time draws near feelings and passions are running high, but to insinuate that the late John F. Kennedy or Mr. Eisenhower did not stand up for integrity and Americanism in my opinion is going a little far.

I will agree with Mr. Carey when he said that there has been none like Mr. Goldwater since Theodore Roosevelt. I'd even go Mr. Carey one better and say Goldwater is the first man either party like him and after Nov. 3 probably never will be again.
Hats off to Mr. LaBlanc for exposing the right wing hate books and their distributors. I feel that there is no need or room for this sort of campaigning, as good American citizens let us use the American way.
SINCERELY
EDWARD REISE

Warns Weak Policy Will Breed Aggression

Dear Editor:
Many Democrats have been led to believe that their policy of appeasement, compromise and retreat will secure world peace. They are acting along the weak-willed philosophy that strength and courage breeds war - actual events show this to be untrue.
War came to weak Korea, and was stopped when the strength of the United States faced up to the attacking Reds. In two world-wide configurations the weak were attacked and peace was re-established only after the strength of the United States was put to the task. The hope of all mankind depend on the good being stronger than the bad, when the good give ground the bad take over. The bad have taken ground in Africa, Southeast Asia and Cuba - yes Cuba just ninety miles from our shores. Our every instinct prompts us to combat gangsterism and lawlessness. It prompts us to stand firm on our convictions, we do this on a local basis.
Senator Goldwater's problem is that, people fail to realize that the world's tyrants are no different than crooks and hoodlums we continually combat at home. In this jet age the world has become our home we are committed by world wide agreements to defend freedom around the globe. We cannot have peace by backing up; for when the communists step from Cuba to Florida to where are we going to retreat.

Even more alarming, there are Americans who think the Communists have changed, that they have become humanitarians. They have forgotten that in the last decade Communists have virtually exterminated a whole race in Tibet. Communists have purged every segment of their own society since their rise to power in Russia. Make no mistake about it, they will purge every segment of our society in America if given the opportunity to do so.
Every Country in the World today, that has the backing of the full strength of the United States is at peace. Cuba and Vietnam do not have the backing of our full strength. Military weakness has involved 37 years - each time under a Democratic administration that was unwilling to assist our national strength. We must be very careful not to allow fear of a nuclear war lure us to vote for an administration whose very weakness is inviting that war.
We must all stand up to our duty to support "peace through strength" by supporting Senator Barry Goldwater for president and supporting him after he is elected president.

Fun and Profit At Harvest Sale

Those who could not attend the Ellsworth Community School P. T. A. Harvest Sale, missed a fun filled evening.

With Dave Mitchell doing the calling everyone had to be on their toes trying not to scratch their nose or pinch their ear when not interested in the bid.

SEVERAL PEOPLE got caught in the act, such as, Agnes Klooster, after looking at the next item up for bid, a 54 pound squash (grown by John Wetland), Agnes said "what would anyone do with that" that clinched it, she had the high bid, 50 cents.

Mike Tillotson walked into the gym, waved to a friend and he found that he had just taken the bid for a pair of baby booties. We hope Mike does not need these means to get a wife.

John Burns lost his belt and then found it was being auctioned. Members and friends donated many items to be auctioned, and Dave was calling and taking bids for two hours.

A PERSON CAN'T imagine how many sweet tooth people were bidding on fudge. Baked goods had the other items outnumbered. St. Doctor and Marvin Wynsma lead the group in buying (with some help from those sitting near by) and to look at these two fellows, they can consume what they bought.

It seemed the Dr. and Mrs. Vandelland had had their bidding finger in the air at the same time. This type of bidding from several folks created many a laugh.

Bud Chellis got the bid on the surprise package, an item which has everyone curious as what it contains.

When I had only one dollar left for lunch and telling my wife so, Dave stuck me with a 35 cent can of baby powder, then my appetite had to suffer.

The treasurer Sybil Wynsma reports 26 new PTA members, money collected from the lunch and harvest sale amounted to $201, leaving a balance of $359.13.

St. Doctor gave the opening prayer and President Wm. Armstrong held a short business meeting, then turned the auction sale over to Dave, who can be thanked for his services. The ways and Means Committee appreciates his help for such a prosperous evening. Approximately 80 people attended.

The people are wondering what the radio and television stations will do with all the time there is available after the political broadcasting.

The seniors have more irons in the fire, and they can take of these irons with a president like Johnny Hastings.

At this time our thanks go to Sam Carlisle for his time and effort in taking pictures of the community and school activities. Everyone that has seen these photos commends Sam on the fine quality. The pictures tell the story.

How come Central Lake had so little to say about Ellsworth.

On Saturday Oct. 24th four teachers from the Ellsworth Community School chartered an airplane piloted by (Captain Rick- enbacher Jaroma) to Pidgeon, Mich. for Pheasant hunting. Mr. Albright, Mr. Spoelman and Mr. Kaufman left Charlevoix airport at 7:20 a.m. returning at 6 p.m. with two birds to their credit. (Not much luck, good shooting but needed a dog to find their downed birds).

Mrs. Hazel Edson arrived home on Sat. Oct. 24, with her daughter and son-in-law and family Ida Mae and John Wynsma with whom she had spent two weeks in Grand Rapids, the Wynsma's spent several hours with relatives in this area. On Saturday afternoon John and his brother or marv went to the Deer Camp to cut some wood.

Three family's traveled down south this past weekend to see Homecoming Football Games. Mr. and Mrs. Thale Yettaw visited their daughter Gail at the University of Detroit on Friday, on Saturday they motored to East Lansing to meet their son Gordon at M. S. U. Another family enjoying a visit with their son Steve at M. S. U. were the Marvin Elzinga's and Terry. Mr. and Mrs. Nidy traveled to Kalamazoo to attend their Alma-mater's Homecoming at Western Michigan College.

Miss Vickie Rood, Wayne Goe- man, his sister Marilyn Court- right and family visited with their families over the weekend, their residence is in Mount Plea- sant.

I understand it will cost John Burns 90 cents to get his belt back from the one who had the highest bid on it.

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Vander- ark of Fremont came to see his brother Willard last Thursday, they were overnight guests of Mrs. John Timmer.

Mrs. Effie Powell of Grand Rapids and Roy Powell of Lake- view were Thursday and Friday guests of Mrs. Powell's daugh- ter Mrs. William Armstrong and family.

THERE WAS ONE loose nut out on the field that Vanderbilt could not bolt down, he had the crowd electrified all night. Two interceptions, which he ran for touchdowns, one was for 35 and the other for 40 yards, five com- pleted passes one point after touchdown pass, and when Van- derbilt punted and Walt Kooyer received it his running was cun- ning. On one play Bert went around the end, Ron was leading the way and threw the key block, this probably sprang "Doc" loose and yet be- carried or pulled three men for several yards. UN Trick or Treaters Want Coins, Not Goodies

This year Halloween will be- come a "Hallowed Evening" for the youth groups of the Char- levoix Methodist and Episcopal churches, when they will ring doorbells to ask for "treats" of pennies to save the lives of less fortunate boys and girls in other parts of the world, through UNICEF, the United Na- tions Children's Fund.

Through UNICEF, a single pen- ny means five large cups of milk, or the vaccine to protect a child from tuberculosis, Rev. R. J. McBratney said. Every stack of 50 pennies will mean that our fellow citizens have contributed the DDT to protect seven chil- dren from malaria for a whole year, the Methodist pastor added. Every dime will mean the pen- icillin to cure four children of jaws, a crippling tropical dis- ease. Three nickels will repre- sent a month's supply of vitamin capsules for a new mother or a child. A quarter will mean the antibiotics to save two children from the blindness of trachoma. "Please give when a UNICEF Trick of Treater calls at your house."

UNICEF "Trick or Treaters" will be identified by the orange and black emblem of UNICEF - a mother and child - pinned on their coats. Only such official goodwill ambassadors will be authorized to accept coins for UNICEF.

After the collection, the bene- ficent "treats" will be counted at Halloween parties held by the youth groups. These parties will be among the many around the nation. It is expected that over three million American children and young people will help UNICEF on Oct. 31.

Barry Wins Slim Victory in City

Charlevoix Republicans Wednesday morning were in the dumps over Sen. Barry Goldwater's sweeping national defeat. But they could hold their heads high as Charlevoix appeared to be the only major northern Michigan town to vote for Goldwater. As the returns dribbled in from the northland, it became apparent the Lyndon B. Johnson landslide had upset all former Charlevoix voting trends.

HOWEVER, WHILE Johnson was piling up as much as a 2-1 margin in other traditionally Republican northern Michigan towns, Goldwater coked out a slim victory in Charlevoix, 768-758.

In Charlevoix County unofficial and incomplete returns gave Johnson a 3,406-2,409 victory. Boyne City gave Johnson 675 votes to 404 for Goldwater, East Jordan gave Johnson a 537-298 victory.

Johnson's loss by only ten votes in Charlevoix, and victory in most other county precincts, far exceeded Democratic Chairman George LaBlance's prediction that his party would top the 50% mark.

Yet, considering the state-wide boom for Johnson his strength here could not be considered a local victory.

THROUGHOUT THE county voters followed the state trend as they split their ballots to vote for Johnson and Romney. Late Wednesday morning, with UPI wire service reports still somewhat unclear, Petoskey News-Review wire editor Roger Hull said all northern towns with substantial populations--except Charlevoix--had gone over into the Democrat column. Many of them for the first time in history.

Charlevoix Republicans started their campaign in earnest the first week in October. They violated several state Republican headquarters mandates by giving Goldwater and Romney at least equal attention.

Incumbent Charlevoix County Republican officers were returned to office, but by narrower margins than in the past.

Charlevoix's chances of getting a new industry, that will hire 100 or more persons, continues to hinge on finding workers.

A group of local men, who refused to be publicly identified, this week said the new plant is a "sure thing," if only workers can be found.

FOR SEVERAL WEEKS the Chamber of Commerce has been seeking job applicants. It has only come up with 24 persons seeking work.

This, the person heading the firm said, is not enough. At least 75 to 100 applications must be received before the company can go ahead with its plans.

To eliminate fears that job applicants will have their names revealed to others, the spokesman said a new policy has been adopted.

Henceforth, anyone interested in work should send their application to P.O. Box 313. Only one person, who is in no way allied to any existing business or industry here, will see the applications, the spokesman promised.

HE SAID THE NEW firm is not associated in any way with any company now operating in northern Michigan.

"No one's present job security can in any way be threatened by applying to us," he said.

The Chamber of Commerce, which is familiar with the new firm's plans and executives, has given it its endorsement.

The company spokesman said

Would Hire 100 Firm Tells Plans

they have contracts ready to sign to supply electrical switches and sockets for Detroit automobile and appliance manufacturers. However, the contracts cannot be formally settled until an adequate work force is located.

HE SAID PAY AND working conditions will be competitive with those at other area plants.

The company expects to do a half-million dollar business its first year. In the second year the company spokesman said 100, or more, persons will be on the payroll. The plant will originally use the old Stream-Eze building, west of the Charlevoix Co-op.

The company is especially interested in hiring women for electrical assembly work.

65 Years in Farming

Fred Willis Retires

After 65 years in Charlevoix area farming, Fred Willis is stepping out.

Fred, who has seen farming progress from the crude days of the early 1900's, through the trials of the depression to the highly mechanized and scientific methods of today, retired Monday as manager of the Charlevoix Co-Op.

FRED AND MRS. WILLIS (Alice) will continue to live in their Dixon Ave. home. "I think she (Mrs. Willis) thinks, 'Well, what's he going to do now?'" Fred said, "But it hasn't bothered me yet," he added.

Farming hasn't taken up all of Fred's time in Charlevoix. "It's been a good place to live and raise our children," he remarks.

He served on the school board 12 years; on the Hospital Board of Directors since 1950 and as chairman since 1952; was an officer in the former Charlevoix Courier, Inc.; was on the Hayes Township Board for 16 years; is a past president of Kiwanis; a member of the county Republican party; a former officer in the Grange and Farm Bureau and is a member of the Congregational Church.

FRED WAS BORN ON a farm in 1899 in Hayes Township that his father, Fred Willis Sr., started in 1869. He graduated from Boyne City High School in 1917. In 1921 he and Alice Burns of Charlevoix were married.

He worked on the former Waller farm (now the Birchwood Ranch owned by Ed Shanahan) until 1930. That year he leased the farm. In 1938 he started managing the Co-Op. In 1943 the family moved from the farm into town.

Fred's first year at the Co-Op, 1938, business totaled $37,000. The Co-Op, Fred said, hit its peak in 1955 when it did $250,000 in business. This year he expects about $240,000.

Charlevoix County farming actually hit its heyday in the 1920's, Fred said. In those years farming was the most important segment of the county's economy.

New Home Building Zooms With 8 Starts in Month

Construction of new houses in the city hit what may be an all-time peak in October.

The city superintendent's office reports building permits were issued during the month for eight new homes. Total estimated cost is $132,700.

THIS IS WELL over a third of the total estimated value of all new homes started since January.

City Supt. James Taylor's secretary Mrs. Shelby Goss reports new-house building permits issued through October total an estimated cost of $295,000. This includes the $132,700 for October.

Two of the new homes for which permits were granted this month are being built on speculation. The Contractor is Budd and Sons of Gaylord. They are being built at 209 and 211 W. Hurbit. Both are 42 by 24 foot plus garages and of frame construction.

Lake Construction Co. is building a 40 by 28 foot frame house plus 26 by 22 foot garage at Central and Cherry streets for Mr. and Mrs. James Lawyer of Petoskey Ave.

Mrs. Riley reports tickets have been mailed to all parents to sell. Tickets must be sold and money returned promptly. In addition each band family is being asked to donate $1 to buy food.

THE NOV. 12 dinner, at the high school cafeteria, will feature ham, potatoes, salad, rolls and dessert. The entire community is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCallmon of 305 Upright are having a 28 by 28 foot frame house built at 403 Garfield. The contractor is Homestead Corp. of Warren, Mich.

Chest Drive Ends Late but Happily

In spite of several agonizing moments, the Charlevoix Community Chest has completed its 1964 campaign with gifts totaling more than the $12,000 goal, Don Neggison, drive chairman, reports.

According to a final report, issued late last week, the campaign ended three weeks late, but with $12,393.50 in donations.

IN ANNOUNCING THE 1964 campaign has been successfully completed, the Community Chest Board of Directors issued the following statement. "The Charlevoix Community Chest has once more completed a successful campaign." Although contributions have been slow coming in, perhaps due in part to the early starting date of the Charlevoix drive, the community has once more demonstrated that it is solidly behind the united giving idea. 1964 Campaign Chairman, Don Neggison, expressed his personal thanks to all the workers, especially the Division Chairmen who stayed on the job until every call was made. With the campaign lagging three weeks behind the expected final date, the follow-up work done by these conscientious chairmen made the difference between failure and success.

"Gifts received, in excess of this year's goal, will be used to help meet the budget for the 1965 campaign."

A BREAKDOWN OF contributions follows:

Special Gifts Division--$3,707; $507 over the division's goal. Commercial Division--$2,524; $124 over goal. Industrial Division--$2,346; $66 over goal. More money is reported coming in from local industrial firms. Contributions from specific plants were, American Mold (incomplete) $421; Freedman, $389; Consumers Power, $584.60; Hoskins Mfg., $742.50; Penn Dike, $90, and $118.50 from others. Professional Division--$1,359; $39 over goal. Residential Division--$1,769; over goal. Outlying Areas Division--$1,108; $28 over goal.

Museum Site?

Charles Millards, Charlevoix Coast Guard Station group commander, recently informed the Courier that the Coast Guard property on the Pine River channel will be sold. Millards said the property and buildings on Palmer St. will be sold by the government. The Coast Guard Station is in Lansing.

PREVIOUSLY THE Coast Guard planned to keep the property, but sell the buildings. The site has been proposed for a city museum, park or other public use.

Who Votes Next?

What Do We Do Now?

City Council got itself into such a perplexing pickle Monday night that it wasn't until Tuesday forenoon that City Attorney John Michael determined how it could get out of it.

It all started when Councilman Robert Neff made a motion that the city accept Erber Auto Co.'s bid of $1,040 difference on a new Ford police car. Dr. Walter Hoffmann seconded the motion.

COUNCILMEN DON Parsel, who had a bid in for $66 less on an Oldsmobile, requested permission to abstain from voting. Mayor E. D. Hawley polled councilmen, who agreed to let Parsel abstain.

The vote turned up three yes and two no. Voting no were Robert Gill and William Fochtman. Mayor Hawley and Michael were not sure whether, due to Parsel's abstaining, this required the mayor's vote to make a decision.

While everyone was scratching their head, Gill asked for permission to change his vote. Councilmen refused his request.

So the problem was turned over to Michael. Tuesday morning Michael reported the 3-2-1 vote was binding. Erber will sell the police car. IF HAWLEY HAD been required to cast the deciding vote it would be the first time he has voted in well over a year.

"If it had been $50,000 there wouldn't have been any question about it," Fochtman said. In less confusing matters Monday, council approved Robert Weststaff for a package liquor license in Oleson's Shopping Center. The license must be authorized by the state. Neff Brothers Grocery store has also received council's endorsement for the license.

Objections to the state's taking control of the planned airport administration building away from the city were aired by several councilmen.

JERRY WHITLEY said he did not feel the council had a chance to approve the plans. "This went by me awful fast once," he said.

Whitley said the plans have been changed by the state without conferring with the city. Hawley said the city cannot change the plans as bids will be taken by the state this week.

The city is paying $15,000 for the building and the state the other $15,000.

"I THOUGHT WE had to approve these plans, but bids were advertised for before we had a chance," Fochtman said. "I still think the cost is too high and we should just have built a simple building."

Whitley said, "there is going to be a lot of maintenance on the $1,000 (redwood) fence."

POTATOES AND FRUITS were the big thing. Spuds were shipped out of the county by the thousands of bushels. Fred estimates 400, or more, families made their living on farms in the Charlevoix area.

Today Fred figures the Co-Op works with about 200 farmers. But he considers about half of these marginal. The successful ones are in livestock and poultry. Those that are diligent in staying up with modern trends and work hard will continue to prosper, he predicts.

Farmers, Fred contends, would be far better off if they didn't rely so much on the government and didn't give the government so much authority over their business.

HOWEVER, FRED DOES feel the government's agricultural education program is good.

"As farming became more complex and technical farmers turned to the Co-Op for more efficient and a wider range of services," Fred said. Changing times have also just about finished the coal business, Fred said. Though the Co-Op has brought out several other once prospering local coal yards, Fred said the coal business is "very minor."

Fred figures Charlevoix must have both industry and tourism if it is going to have a sound future. He said a balance between tourism and industry must be maintained. "I can't see why we can't have both," he said. "And we must make tourists feel wanted."

SAVES TIME

...For truck owners. Now you can have your trucks back on the road fast, when tire trouble arise. As the result of a Bishman Tire changer which has just been installed at the Carey Oil Company, truck tire changing is easy. This electric and air operated device, the only one of its type north of Grand Rapids, will break-down a large truck tire and reassemble it in as little as 5 minutes. No more beating tires and rims with heavy hammers or bars, which weaken and shorten the lifetime of your truck tire castings. Clair Martin demonstrates the ease of handling big truck tires in the picture at the left. Clair says he can handle any size tires from 14 to 24 inches on the Bishman truck tire machine. Why lay your truck up for a number of hours when in a few minutes you could be back on the road if you bring your tire troubles to the tire experts at Carey Oil Co.

SIXTH GRADE
Mr. Schultz, our TV science teacher, suggested that each student choose a different insect, draw its picture, and write a story about it including its life cycle. The pupils have chosen a wide variety from the beautiful butterfly to the homely house and flea. We have borrowed insect books from the high school library, besides several from the grade rooms to help us with our study.

The 5th and 6th grades were taken on a conservation field trip.

Farmers' Week Theme Needed

by ED HEBMAN
Extension Director
BOYNE CITY--The 50th Anniversary Farmers' Week will be held at Michigan State University February 1 - 5, 1965.

The theme--well that's to be decided and you can help. Officials of the College of Agriculture at Michigan State University are looking for suggestions for a theme. In fact, they offer an all expense paid stay at MSU's Kellogg Center for the suggestion selected.

IN THE EARLY days farmers and homemakers throughout Michigan came to Michigan Agricultural College by horse and buggy rather than by the thousands of automobiles that come in annually in recent years. But many would stay for most of the week of the "Mid-winter educational event." Now with high speed autos and freeways, many do the morning chores, go to East Lansing for a day and evening of meetings, and return home for a brief sleep before morning "chore-time" rolls around again.

Hyron Good, chairman of the Farmers' Week committee, says efforts are being made to arrange a special program to commemorate the half-century milestone of perhaps the outstanding Farmers' Week program still operating at any of the nation's land-grant colleges.

'RAT' TRAPPING

Muskrat, mink and racoon trapping seasons open Nov. 10 in Charlevoix County. The season on muskrat and mink closes Jan. 15 and on racoon it closes Dec. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allard of Grand Rapids spent the weekend with his brothers and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allard and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Allard.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vleau of Cheboygan visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gibson.

School Report Card

By Laura Courtade
School Librarian

Recently much attention has been directed towards the needs of the Charlevoix High School library. It is the desire of the school to keep the public informed about all aspects concerning our educational facilities. Here is a brief summary of facts.

ON APRIL 24, 1964, he wrote a letter of commendations and recommendations to the school. In his letter he stated that the spirit and tone of the high school is very good. The new high school building provides a good environment for learning. Student behavior is very good and students, teachers and administrators appear to work together harmoniously.

THE CONDITION of our high school library at the time of his visit can be summed up best by a quote from this letter.

"I was particularly disappointed in the lack of progress in library development. With facilities no longer hindering the program I felt the library would serve as the instructional center of the school."

"Effective classroom instruction calls for an extensive book collection. Many basic reference materials are not available, and the size of the collection falls far short of the 3500 books required by the North Central Association as a minimum."

A GREAT DEAL of work is necessary to bring the library up to the standard found in other high schools. As you work to develop the program, I suggest you invite Dr. Kenneth Vance to view the situation. I am enclosing a list of books recommended for first purchases."

Immediate steps are being taken to bring the library closer to the recommendations specified by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, whose standards must be met in order to keep on the accreditation list.

Dr. Kenneth Vance has not visited the school, but in September Mrs. Marion Ingram, Library Consultant, worked with both libraries. At that time 114 books, which were considered suitable for high school use, were taken from the public library and added to the school library. This gave the school a total of only 1,445 library books, excluding dictionaries and encyclopedias.

Basic books such as the STANDARD CATALOG FOR HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARIES and READERS' GUIDE TO PERIODICAL LITERATURE have been purchased. Part of the books recommended for first purchase have been ordered. Others will be ordered soon.

OVER 400 books from the Grand Traverse Area Library Federation have been placed on the shelves. (The high school may borrow from our public library not more than a third of the 1,300 quarterly block of books allowed to Charlevoix.)

A loan of books has been requested from the Michigan State Library until more books can be purchased.

Eighteen magazines have been ordered. (The North Central Association recommends that 15% of the total library budget be used for periodicals.)

Efforts are being made to organize the library as a resource center of instructional material for the whole educational plan.

All audio-visual materials and other learning aids will be housed in a separate room in the library for loan for classroom use. Teachers are also making use of the Grand Traverse Area Library Federation film service.

Request New Trial On Bar

Sylvester and Hilda Wetslik have asked Circuit Court for a new trial on their charges they were mis-informed when they purchased the Town House bar. Lawrence A. Menard's attorney, Wayne R. Smith of Petoskey, argued that Mr. and Mrs. Wetslik have already had a fair trial.

CIRCUIT JUDGE Charles L. Brown earlier set aside the Wetslik's complaint in a drawn-out trial. Judge Brown agreed to study the request for a new trial. The Wetsliks, through their attorneys, Martin Breighner and Benjamin Halstead of Petoskey, contend they were misled in purchasing the bar to believe it made more money than it actually did.

Menard denied these charges. DON HAWKINS was awarded a $1,095 settlement from Milo Leist in a Circuit Court automobile negligence case.

Mancelona Next

By FRANK MARTIN
The Charlevoix Rayders, playing probably their best game of the current season, held the favored Gaylord Blue Devils to a 7-7 tie at the homecoming game staged at Kipkefield Friday night.

This week the Rayders travel to Mancelona to take on the Ironmen, who are going into the final game with a 3-1-1 record. Charlevoix has a 2-2-2 record.

MANCELONA HAS depended on a passing attack to keep them in the running. They have some outstanding receivers in Barry Moeke, Dave Prudden, and Jerry Lockman, with Ron Grody doing the throwing. They also have some speedy runners in Bill Bushard, and Grody who have been their chief ground gainers.

Charlevoix has not had a particularly effective pass defense and will have to come up with one, unless the game is played in a snow storm, which might happen at Mancelona in November.

Coach Don Carey, speaking of the Gaylord game, said it was a good contest and that the team did a real good job. The Rayders were out-weighted in the line but did an excellent job, especially on defense. It wasn't until late in the game that they started moving the ball well. Then it was too late. However, he added, he was very pleased with their performance.

Speaking of this week's game with Mancelona, he said that the Ironmen have a tough team with an experienced backfield and good ends in Prudden and Lockman. It's hard to say what kind of a game it will be. It could be anybody's, he concluded.

IN LAST WEEK'S game, the Rayders blocked a Gaylord punt early in the second period to set up their only touchdown.

Playing a sharp defensive game they forced the Blue Devils to punt with Bob Holman breaking through the Gaylord defense to block the kick. Mark Bourgois fell on the ball on the Gaylord 19 to begin a drive that resulted in the Rayders' touchdown.

Dave Smith carried the seven for a first down, but was pushed back to the 13 on the next play by a stubborn Devil defense.

A lateral pass from Del Terrilli to Rich Grunch moved the ball into scoring position on the two yard line.

Charlevoix used up a third down to move the ball to the one foot line where Terrilli bucked over the fourth down.

Steve Smith's punt was letter-perfect to give Charlevoix a 7-0 advantage at the 7:48 mark of the second quarter.

AFTER TWO incomplete passes, Gaylord punted early in the final period. Charlevoix took over on the 20 yard line after the kick had gone into the end zone. A pass from Terrilli to Bourgois gave the Rayders a first down on their 41 yard. After one loss the Rayders got to the Gaylord 45 only to be sent back to their own 30 on a major penalty.

Dave Smith punted on the next play with Gaylord taking the ball on the Rayder 49 to open an offensive attack that moved the ball to the Charlevoix 10 following a pass from Gene Sanders to Mike Warner.

Lancers Lose Close One

BY KATH WIELAND
and
SUZI PETTER

ELLSWORTH -- The Lancers almost, but not quite, upset the championship Bellaire Eagles on the Bellaire field Friday.

Though the hard-fighting Ellsworth squad lost 20-18, it was the most exciting game of the season.

THE ACTION started immediately with Bellaire kicking to Ellsworth. In a series of completed passes, Ellsworth moved downfield. However, the Lancers missed the first down and Bellaire took over.

Ellsworth kept knocking down Bellaire pass attempts until again gaining possession. Big Bert finally stormed through for the touchdown. The first quarter ended with Ellsworth out front, 8-0.

In the second quarter both teams scored. Walt Kooyer caught a pass and ran for Ellsworth's second touchdown. But the extra point missed.

Rod Alsbaugh scored for Bellaire and the Eagles made the extra point as the halftime whistle blew, with the score at 12-7.

IN THE SECOND half Chet Smith ran for a Bellaire touchdown. The extra point was good, and the Eagles were out front 14-12.

Ellsworth made its final touchdown when Carl Goeman caught a pass from Chet Boss near the end zone. Again the extra point failed and the score was 18-14, Ellsworth.

The fourth quarter was the most exciting and heart-breaking of the season. It was a do-or-die battle for both teams. The suspense was enough to make you cry.

On the next play he passed again to Warner but this time the receiver bobbled the ball which fell into the arms of John Berquist who fell into the end zone for the TD. Jim Johnson's kick was good as he tied the score, 7-7, with 8:06 remaining on the clock and to end scoring for the evening.

Getting possession of the ball Bellaire hung on with dogged determination, moving for three first downs. Bryan Smith finally broke through for Bellaire's final six points. The extra point missed.

BUT IT WAS good enough to give Bellaire a 20-18 victory. In the final seconds Chet Boss threw a long pass to Walt Kooyer on the five yard line, where he was pulled down. The Eagle's defense clammed up and the Lancers couldn't crack those long five yards.

Seniors Will be Missed

By ROY STAUDENMEYER
ELLSWORTH -- There are many sad hearts in Ellsworth this week. The Ellsworth Lancers fought to the end and should be proud for the way they played. One thing for sure Bellaire had to fight a hard battle for its 20-18 victory.

PENALTIES HELD both teams from a moving drive. Bellaire had to show its power to get back into the game, they were behind at the half 12 to 7. The final score proved that the two extra points that the Eagles made won the game.

THIS WAS THE last game for six seniors on the Lancers team. We have seen Carl playing for four years and he has given a very good account of himself even if he scored his two touchdowns in the last two games.

The Twins made their name known this season, some people forgot now they played three seasons ago. If someone would ask them how they felt about not playing last year the answer could well be "terrible." These boys came to the rescue to take over Ken's duties after his injury. They had regular positions, but tried out for the new job and we, the fans, know the outcome.

Marv Vandenberg I believe is the most advanced player on this squad. Three seasons ago Marv didn't make the second team, he missed last year but came out this fall with one purpose, to make the varsity team. The first two games he had to "find himself" but from then on he toughened to the task.

There was a person out on the field that everyone had their eyes on and that was Chet Boss. This lad had to beat out a hard competitor for the quarterback spot and he held the team together for a winning season. His keen thinking and his fine passing kept the Lancers on top. Chet's another fellow who decided not to play last year (sat in the crowd and ate his heart out during that football season).

I WONDER IF I have to mention this player's name, we coaches call him hatchet man, other teams have another name for him but in print it doesn't make sense. He has created in the past two years the excitement for each game. He has football running through his veins and when it gets to his feet away he goes. Wait we hope you leave some of your experience with some other Lancer player, (such as a Will).

These seniors have given the Ellsworth fans and the other players a thrilling football season and played it in a sportmanlike manner. The seniors will be missed but not forgotten. We will be looking forward to next season and the return of some great Lancers players from this year's squad.

Little did anyone know that on the first play of the game Fred Gibbs had injured his thumb and played the entire game with it either broken or fractured. Basketball season is just around the corner, Nov. 24. See you then!

Dear Dick Affair

RICHARD DONALDSON

Dear Dick: John and I live near his parents and almost every Sunday for the last seven years we have gone to their house to eat. His mother treats him like a child, and makes all kinds of remarks about how he looks thin and pale, needs plenty of good home cooking, etc. My stove is old and I can't cook or bake good on it. My husband is no weasling. How can I stop his "mama's yacking"? -HURT.

Dear HURT: Get Skinny out of the house (without Mama) and go shopping. PUFF'S APPLIANCE CENTER has the answer to your problem, a new (RCA or GE) electric or gas range. Then you'll turn out meals that will keep John at home. PUFF'S APPLIANCE CENTER has a complete line of (RCA or GE) work saving appliances. -DICK.

Comment Fact Opinion

Let's Examine City's Gifts to Townships

EVERYONE -- PUBLIC OFFICIALS and private citizens -- will do well to reexamine a few of the facts which were so deliberately ignored while abuse was being heaped on the city during the annexation debate.

When county supervisors rejected the city's proposal 20-4 they had to be aware of the many services -- both tangible and intangible -- that Charlevoix provided to area townships. Let's take a look at a partial list of these things the township is indebted to the city for.

1--RECREATION: Many township people enjoy the city's "free" beaches, softball program, skating rink, swimming lessons, golf lessons, etc. This program is recognized as one of the finest anywhere for a small community. Township residents are virtual free-riders.

2--Airport: Industry, business and resorters who pay township taxes use the city's fine airport. Beaver Island reifies on it as a lifeline, yet neither one of the island's two supervisors were willing to stand up and be counted on the city's side. The County was asked to cooperate on the airport, but turned thumbs down.

3--Dock: The city has provided modern docking facilities for Beaver Island's boat at virtually no cost. At times the city's charge for dockage has been less than that charged the boat company by Beaver Island citizens.

4--Industry: The city spent a great deal of time and money developing industrial property from that given it by the Chicago Club for a golf course. This brought Will Flow and Paul Reed to the community. The city also, by the American Mold president's own admission, was the decisive factor in convincing him to locate here. It was also the city that laid the ground work for Hoskins. The city did all of this without thought of putting these plants on the city tax roll. The city's only interest was added jobs for area citizens. . . which certainly includes those in the townships.

5-- FIRE PROTECTION: Area townships get efficient fire protection from the city for only .6 of a mill. None of these townships could afford to maintain their own fire department at anywhere near this cost. Not only does this offer security for township residents, it lowers their insurance rates.

6--Cemetery: City taxpayers pay for the upkeep and perpetual care at Brookside Cemetery, of which all area residents are proud.

7--Water and electricity: Township residents, who can, take advantage of these utilities (including the Charlevoix Township supervisor). The result is a great savings on both, as the cost of a well, or other source of electricity is higher than water or power from the city.

Anger at County's Decision Must be Expected from City

CITY OFFICIALS last week were describing their lopsided defeat on annexation as "the blood letting," and "taking it on the chin." One City Councilman admitted he "got . . . mad" about the way the city was treated by the County Board of Supervisors.

Had more city residents been at the county board hearing there would be plenty of sputtering by people in town. For the city was made to look like a pack of bandits with a reputation for bleeding and robbing the rest of the county.

SEVERAL TIMES the meeting was allowed by Chairman Lee Sneathen to get completely out of control while spectators shouted wild charges and claims against the city.

City Attorney John Michael made a commendable presentation of the city's case for annexing Medusa's South Point property. An unbiased observer would have easily weighed the evidence in the city's side.

In a nutshell, Michael pointed out Charlevoix Township has obviously been unaware, or uninterested, in the possible threat of future air pollution. So the city moved to annex the property as the only possible way it can adopt a stringent ordinance to protect future citizens.

It was even pointed out, quite dramatically, by Councilman Dr. Walter Hoffmann, that the township does not enforce the ordinances it now has.

TOWNSHIP REPRESENTATIVES declared they have the power to adopt an air pollution ordinance. Then they admitted they will let Medusa officials tell them what the ordinance should say. Further, the township failed to even try to prove that it can enforce such an ordinance once it is adopted. It ignored evidence that Marion Township, and other townships downstate have found courts do not uphold their power to enforce ordinances.

The township's claim that Medusa's property represents a major portion of its tax base -- allegedly 20% -- was thoroughly disproven by figures from the County Treasurer's office.

Michael forcefully pointed out the city was not eyeing a "land grab" or it would have years ago gone after American Mold, Hoskins, etc. Township officials did not even try to answer this.

And yet Michael's might as well have saved his breath. The board's decision was made before he ever spoke. The strictly material interests of a small minority were more important to supervisors than the aesthetic interests of the majority.

ADD TO THIS the brutal treatment the city was given by several spectators, and it is easy to understand why councilmen had their dander up last week.

The Courier hopes the strife between city and township, that has been agitated by the township and Board of Supervisors, will smooth itself out. However, this can only come when the township faces up to the fact it has abused the city and makes amends.

It is also our hope that Medusa officials will remain as sincere in their interest to safeguard Charlevoix's natural beauty as they are today. For, if they do not, and our air ever becomes polluted with cement plant dust, the blame will fall directly on Charlevoix Township officials and the County Board of Supervisors who blocked the Oct. 1964 annexation petition.

The Courier -- and we're sure city officials join us -- is glad the blame for this will never be on our conscience.

Caution on Reapportionment

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY Supervisors made reapportionment of the County Board inevitable when they pointedly ignored the best wishes of a 10 to 1 majority on annexation. Since the lopsided decision was made the Courier has been contacted numerous times by groups preparing to call for reapportionment after the current election fever cools off.

The Courier's fear is that this will lead to another injustice as great as the present one where the minority has complete control of the board. We have spoken out many times against the one-man one-vote principle.

IF REAPPORTIONMENT of the county board comes -- and we think it should -- let us hope land area will have some consideration. If it does not Beaver Island, and other sparsely populated areas, could end up with virtually no voice in county government. Just because the City of Charlevoix now finds itself in this position today does not justify going to the other extreme.

Township government, as intended by law, is the weakest of local government. The Courier advocates strengthening all local government to the ultimate possible to maintain individual sovereignty and responsibility.

Charlevoix of Yesteryear

THIS OLD DRAWING of Charlevoix in the 1860's is suspected of being portly imagination. However, the old lumber yard, opera house and Fountain City House are accurately located. The house in the extreme back ground on the left side of Round Lake may have been the old Dixon home. The shores of Pine Lake (Lake Charlevoix) appear to be virtually unmolesed by man. The picture was supplied by Art Osborn.

DEAR EDITOR: For some time I have been trying to figure just what it is you stand for -- just what are your views on people, government, politics. I think I've finally got it. Let's examine a few excerpts from your own paper and see how they total up. From page 2, "Rambling" you oppose the view of a local man. "So, with the card finally turned up, he was honest enough to defend socialism for what it is. It isn't efficient to have local government and common people making decisions for themselves, he explained. The Federal government has the best experts, who can . . . etc. etc. etc."

THE TONE OF this article and other articles in this paper have harped on the thesis "you can't eat liberty, but I'll be damned if I want to live without it."

OK-fine. We're all for Liberty, Motherhood and against Sin. You stand against the "One man, one vote" policy. This permits Charlevoix to make its own decisions without being ground under the heel of Detroit votes."

This looks pretty good and if a man in the North county stood for these ideas and defended them he'd be pretty popular with a lot of good folk, but you have taken the principles you claim to stand for and reversed them when they apply to the people of Charlevoix Township.

YOU ARE AGAINST socialism and take over of government and yet you advocate that the city with its experts take over part of the township.

You cry for the rights of the individual and then state that the people of one independent government (the township) be forced to bow to the will of another government (the city).

You plead for integrity in government and then doubt the ability of Mr. Rabach and the people of the township to govern themselves.

Mr. Editor you talk a good set of principles. They sound fine when you refer in a general way to the "mess" in Washington and Lansing, but when we get close to home they seem to be pushed aside.

WHY NOT TAKE these principles -- integrity in government, honesty in the individual, respect for the rights of the individual, liberty and apply them to your own front yard -- Charlevoix County -- and see how they fit.

You must be tired hopping from one side of that fence to the other.

Explains Benefits From Lenore Goldman Meyer Fund

DEAR EDITOR: I would like to tell your readers what I, as a teacher, know about the Lenore Goldman Meyer Memorial Fund.

I came to Charlevoix to teach in 1943 and was immediately told about the Fund and that it was available. It was used to make sure that all children in Kindergarten could have milk whether or not they were able to pay for it. It is still providing this service. I also learned that the Fund could be used to get needed warm clothing for any student whose parents could not provide it. The only stipulation has been that the parents give their consent to the purchase.

Guest Editorial

(Lapeer County Press)
Who's a farmer? You are, says the Bureau of Census, if you live in a rural area on 10 acres or more and sell at least 50 worth of farm products a year. The 1960 census shows our county with 2,496 of them. That's 300 more than the estimated number of Lapeer County men and women working for General Motors plants in Genesee County.

Local Agriculture Department men estimate there are now about 1,000 full-time farmers left in the county. We suppose some statistician could project the trend and establish the date we will get down to our last farmer. By that time he might be worth more in a zoo than on a farm.

Sees Threat To Children

DEAR EDITOR: In this letter I would like to express the necessity of posted speed signs and slow children playing signs along both sides of Mercer Blvd. on North Point. It is the feeling of myself and those of my neighbors who have kids, and want to keep them, that these signs are necessary.

THERE ARE NO sidewalks out here and the road being narrow and not in the best of condition makes it easy to forget or overlook the speed limit in a residential area.

I understand there have been complaints made before and no action taken. What do we in the township have to do to ensure the safety of our children?

Says Resorters Will Desert Us If Plant Comes

DEAR EDITOR: Some weeks ago I noted an expression in your editorial column extolling the virtues of a cement plant within hailing distance of your fair city. On the same page you were sympathizing with the poor city dwellers who must return to the soot and smoke of industrial communities instead of experiencing the fruits and joys of fresh air and healthy living that Charlevoix offers.

It would appear that your position is somewhat inconsistent and as a vacationer, property owner and taxpayer in Charlevoix, I would like to remind you that neither my family nor myself have availed ourselves of the pleasures of your community because of its industrial potential. We have a nice big cement plant close to our home which may not look as beautiful silhouetted against the horizon as you predict yours is going to be, but it injects just as much dust into the atmosphere as cement plants usually do.

IF FURTHER industrial expansion is desirable in Charlevoix, then at least be sufficiently realistic to admit that conversely its appeal as a vacation center will ultimately wither and deteriorate. If the one hundred jobs offered by a smoke and dust producing manufacturing facility is the basis for your enthusiasm, you might analyze how many jobs are sustained by summer and winter visitors. Don't lose them!

Cadet Club Purchases Timmer's Feed Store

A group of boys are very active in a club called "The Cadets."

Paul A. Krause formed the club this January. At the time they had 20 signed members. Mr. Krause is principal and teacher at the Ebenezer Christian School.

THE CLUB'S membership grew to 49 by May, 1964. Their interest was inspired by this man's companionship with boys and his outdoor camping enthusiasm. The Cadets and their counselors have gone camping three times, including one full week camp-out.

One of their projects was to build two paddle boats, which they have completed.

The next project is to remodel their newly purchased Club house, John Timmer's Feed Store, which was bought from funds raised by the members.

They have had many funds raising ideas, such as; four soup suppers, picked potatoes four days, painted the parsonage of the Christian Reformed Church, painted a silo, sold cider, and have shown two films at the Community Hall.

Holding these soup suppers the boys do all the preparing themselves, except baking the pies. The funds raised have netted them a tidy sum of $1,160.

PARENTS WONDER sometimes how this man can get the boys in the kitchen. This fellow has the ability to manage boys. It is visible when they all take an active part in the club. The community has wholeheartedly accepted this organization.

This fall's enrollment is 35 members and 7 counselors. The age group is 10 through 16 and they accept members from any denomination, including non-church boys.

The members purchased the building from Mrs. John Timmer Wednesday evening October 28, 1964. The history of this property is as follows: In 1931, Isaac Torrence and son-in-law John Timmer purchased a lot on the corner of Main and Maple Street from Mrs. Alfred Moblo of Traverse City.

A Feed Mill, 42 x 70 was erected, and on October 1, 1931 was opened for business. Feeds, seeds, flour, fertilizer and their by-products were sold, and a gas station was also added.

DUE TO FAILING health, Mr. Torrence retired from the business.

Plan on "Headin' for the Hills" Friday evening, Nov. 13, but don't expect the usual cup of good coffee.

There's much more in store. A complete menu of entertainment as only those Ellsworth Seniors can dish it up. You'll relish the situation in which Cornelia Wellington Heister (Cheryl Taylor) and her sister Dorthea (Nancy Peebles) find themselves, when their father's will decrees that they spend their summers in Lone Mule, Tenn. with their only living relatives, Uncle Cyrus

In 1937, John Timmer took over the entire business until his death in April 1959. Mrs. Timmer closed the doors on December 19, 1959. The boys' undertaking is quite a challenge and we wish them success.

Goolus (John Hastings), a real miser always on the lookout for a fast and easy buck; his three daughters; teenagers Betty Belle (Darlene Klooster) a typical hillbilly and Happy (Patsy Sizemore) as her name implies, plus 12 year old bratty Skeets (Carla Esenberg) and one son Hank (Glenn Peebles) with visions of bettering life in the hill country.

HUSBAND HUNTERS Widow Squiggins (Margaret Smith), Aunt Sukey (Beth Burns) and Miss Oggle (Louise Kirby), like sour milk in coffee might curdle Uncle Cyrus's disposition, but not dull his appetite for plotting the scheme to secure off his wealthy nieces, who forfeit their fortune to him, if they fail to carry out provisions of their father's will. Adding sugar and spice to the whole plot, are love sick Slim Hawkenshaw (Gary Tornga); Miss

Winslow (Janice Evans) secretary from the city; Horseface Dilly (Carl Goeman) a big hilly bully; Jake Slasser (Marvin Vandenberg) a hillbilly Rip Van Winkle; Emmy Jean (Judy Shooks) man hunting teenager; Zeke (Larry Essenberg) and his Maw (Archie Bolhuis) somewhat less refined hillbillies; the Squiggins children (Diane VanderArk, Cella Bolhuis, Walt Kooyer and Jack Tornga) the brattiest of hillbilly brats; Larry Tornga, Carlene Hoffman and David Rits-ema) hillbilly children whose view of the "City Slickers" is not worth the price.

The musicians (Sharon Drenth, Chester Boss and Joyce Campbell) add a discordant note that adds rather than detracts from the humor of the whole situation.

SO WHET YOUR appetites for Students Visit Orchard

Bus driver Levi Donaldson drove 17 Kindergarten pupils and their teacher Mrs. Potter and 24 first grade pupils and their teacher Mrs. Stool to the home of Kindergarten Pupils Richard Friske.

Richard's home is at the former Fairman Orchards, now known as Friske Orchards. They were shown many of the operations of the orchard, Apple harvest, grading and storage. The 40 children saw the cider making press and controlled cold storage room which stores many bushels of apples. Mr. and Mrs. Friske then treated all the children and adults to fresh cider.

Deer Prospects Best in History For Area Hunters

Expect Record Number of Hunters to Try Luck Here

Charlevoix area deer hunters will be more numerous and more successful than ever before when the season opens Sunday, Nov. 15, Conservation Dept. officials predict.

HARLEY BURRIS, conservation officer, said the number of deer in areas directly north and south of the City of Charlevoix are at an all-time high.

This was indicated last year when the deer kill in the immediate area was proclaimed as the best ever.

Rambling

THE RAMBLINGEST comrade this column ever had turned up missing the other morning. It was only a small (about 3 inch) pocket knife. But we had been together through more true wilderness country than probably any man reading this column has ever tramped.

We had spent months together in Alaska's remotest regions. Three times we went to Mt. McKinley together. And many other times we were together on more isolated, but less romantic of the subarctic and arctic's big mountains.

ONLY A FEW months ago I realized that whenever I tried to tell someone about the magic of the endless skies and majestic cliffs of ice and snow I would find myself taking out the little pocket knife. The listener couldn't understand the religion of the mountains, but the knife did...it, too, had been there.

After a fast check at the office and home, there was no doubt but what the ounce or so of metal and bone was lost forever. Ever since I've felt almost desperate to leave and once again prove the loneliness of the mountains and valleys of the far north. It is as though loss of the knife robbed me of these memories.

Suddenly the evenings when it scraped the worst of the charred spots off bear and moose meat, burned over a subarctic or arctic campfire, became terribly precious.

I recalled a night around Christmas in the true arctic when my pocket thermometer said -72. The stars and northern lights were so brilliant one would swear you could read by them. And certainly you could worship by them.

NOT EVEN Robert Service could do justice in writing about the northern lights of the far north. So I could turn to my little knife to help remember them, even if they couldn't be described.

It isn't the knife that meant so much. It is the months of solitude, quiet, spectacular natural drama and adventure that it helped me relive during those moments when deadlines and criticism seemed unbearable.

School Asks Federal Aid For Library

Cost of Repair
Set at $24,000

The Board of Education has applied for a federal grant to help pay for approximately $24,000 in repairs to the public library.

If approved, $8,000 in federal tax money will be used plus $6,000 in local tax money.

CHARLEVOIX architect Jack Begrow explained to the board what repairs are needed and estimated their cost at $24,000. He was asked to make the study and estimates.

Begrow told the board approximately $14,000 must be spent to "make the building structurally useable."

This would include repairs to the roof, bricks and wiring.

"Patch work ends up costing more than going in and tearing out and starting over from scratch," Begrow said in recommending that a complete new roof be put on.

BEGROW CONDEMNED portions of the library's wiring system as unsafe. "All someone has to do is touch it and they can be electrocuted," he said.

"IF THIS WERE the city of Detroit they would give you a warrant," he said. The system doesn't meet state required minimum safety standards.

If the federal government approves the grant, Begrow is expected to be retained to plan and supervise the repairs. His fee will be $10 an hour, not to exceed 10% of the total project.

SUPPORT THE BAND TONIGHT--The Charlevoix High School band is one of the community's most cherished institutions. Tonight the band is asking for your support. Attend the Band Parents' dinner at the high school from 5 to 7 p.m. In this picture the band makes one of its frequent marching appearances at the recent homecoming. The band will also put on several free concerts during the year. And many of its members will participate in next summer's weekly City Band concerts in Eos Park.

(COURIER PHOTO)

Expect Thousand At Band Dinner

As many as a thousand persons may eat at the Band Parents' dinner between 5-7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria tonight (Thursday).

Mrs. Edith Stenman, ticket chairman, reports 2,250 tickets have been distributed to 1,500 band parents. If the parents of band members sell only half of their tickets, Mrs. Stenman said, more than a thousand people will attend the dinner.

IN YEARS PAST, between 400 and 600 persons have attended the dinner.

The dinner is the band parents' major fund raising effort of the year. This year the group has set a budget of between $1,200 and $1,500 to purchase uniforms, scholarships, awards, instruments and pay transportation costs.

Mayor E. D. Hawley issued a statement urging residents to attend the dinner. The mayor said:

"Tonight you have a rare opportunity to support one of Charlevoix's most worthwhile organizations--the high school band."

"The band parents' dinner, at the high school cafeteria between 5 and 7 p.m. this evening deserves the support of everyone in Charlevoix."

"REGARDLESS of how trite it sounds, Charlevoix would not be Charlevoix without the band. "The band is not just something that happens. It takes hours of grueling practice and preparation. Students who will put this kind of time and effort into something must be sincerely dedicated, and lead by capable, selfless adults."

"LET'S HOPE ALL of us who have enjoyed the band so long will be equally generous in our support. All we have to do is attend this evening's dinner. It

Top Salesman

It takes a good salesman to know one.

Charlevoix automobile salesman Willard Drast proved this last week.

Willard advertised a deer rifle for sale in the Charlevoix Courier. Before Noon Thursday the rifle had been sold...at Willard's price.

He wanted to sell the used rifle so he could buy a new one for Mrs. Drast. The rifle he bought needed a rifle in time for the deer season. Now they're both happy.

If you could use a little extra change and have something around the house you're no longer using try a Courier People-Response-Write-Card. Write at LL 7-6558 for help in wording your ad.

Airport Bids Far Too High

Bids to construct a new airport administration building for Charlevoix have been rejected as too high.

The bids were opened in City Hall last week by representatives of the Michigan Dept. of Aeronautics, City Councilmen and Mayor E. D. Hawley, who were present, asked that the bids be rejected. Councilmen have lost control of the project to the state.

THE LOW BID was $38,795 from the Charlevoix Lumber Co. Other bids were R. C. Shaw Co., Ludington, $45,775; John W. Strahan Construct Co., Riverdale, $46,576.

Architect Jack Begrow had estimated cost of the project at $30,000. The city and state were to each pay half.

New bids will be advertised for and opened Nov. 23, 3 p.m., in City Hall. A pre-bid opening hearing will be held in City Hall Nov. 17.

City Supt. James Taylor said councilmen have requested that revisions be made in the plans.

60 Want Jobs

Sixty applications for jobs at a new electronics assembly plant hoping to locate in Charlevoix have been received, according to Chamber of Commerce manager Dean Davenport.

Applications should be sent to P. O. Box 313. They will be treated as confidential and only one person will know who they are from, a company spokesman has said.

GOP KEEPS SPLITZ

Arthur Speltz, Boyne City, was re-elected chairman of the Charlevoix County Republican Committee at a meeting in the County Building Tuesday evening. Other officers elected by the executive committee are Mrs. George Lusk, Charlevoix, Vice-chairman; Mrs. Grover General, Charlevoix, secretary; and Edward Hansen, Charlevoix Treasurer.

LEAVING OFFICE with LaBlance, are his wife, Edna, who was secretary, and treasurer Harold Price. They remain in office until Jan. 1. Other new officers are Mrs. Clyde Warner, Norwood, secretary and Art Osborn, Charlevoix, treasurer.

Though Democrat leaders were unwilling to go on record as saying so, they were openly discussing reasons for replacing LaBlance. The most often mentioned were personality clashes and rivalry between Boyne City and East Jordan against Charlevoix for party control.

LaBlance's critics charge he has received too much personal attention for his aggressive campaigning. His supporters countered by saying those who oppose LaBlance are merely jealous.

None of LaBlance's foes have been heard by the Courier to deny that under his leadership the party has reached historic new heights in the county. However, the amount of credit they are willing to give LaBlance for this, is an issue.

NOW THAT THE PARTY has gained local strength, LaBlance's friends, contend, others want to take it over. These same people, they say, would have little, if anything, to do with the party before it was built up.

Though obviously smarting from the blow, LaBlance would not enter the controversy. He Must Compete for Ski $$$

Given cooperation from the weather, Chamber of Commerce Manager Dean Davenport predicts Charlevoix will have its biggest ski season in history.

The peak months of the winter sports season have brought more money to Charlevoix in the last two years than August used to bring less than a decade ago, Davenport points out.

THIS WINTER the Michigan Tourist Council and West Michigan Tourist Assn. are forecasting the biggest skiing boom in history.

The Tourist Council has predicted skiers will spend close to $25 million.

Charlevoix offers skiers unique natural beauty and luxury facilities that few, if any, communities can equal, Davenport points out.

Within easy driving distance of the city are 13 of the north's finest, best known, ski areas. A skier, or ski family, can leave Charlevoix in the morning to ski at Harbor Springs, and in the afternoon drive to Boyne Falls. Or any number of other combinations.

THEN, IN THE evening, return to Charlevoix to soak in the splendor of our three lakes and comfort and atmosphere of our fine facilities, Davenport said.

Though Charlevoix's popularity with skiers has soared in the last five years, Davenport says the potential is unlimited, but the cost of competing for the ski business is way beyond the chamber's present financial means," Davenport said.

"If we don't get the ski business, somebody else is."

OTHER COMMUNITIES which have grabbed off the lion's share of the ski business, are spending big money for advertising and promotion, Davenport said.

As examples of this he cited advertising programs--coupled with publicity--in big daily newspapers and plus ski magazines. This is keyed to deliver the community's message to skiers in cities like Detroit, Cincinnati and Chicago.

Traverse City's catchy four-seasons billboards, he said are another example of big spending.

Davenport reports there is also a general trend to week-long and season-long reservations. The Charlevoix Motel is being winterized. At least a major portion of the now-under-construction Weatherlane Terrace motel will be opened for the peak of the season.

CONSTRUCTION ON SCHEDULE--The Weatherlane Terrace, across from the Weatherlane Inn, is almost enclosed as contractors work to meet a late December opening deadline. Expectations are that at least the lobby and one wing of the $400,000 motel will be open for the ski season.

Deer

are better. The western side of the county, Burris said, has more hardwoods than the east side of the county.

Burris pointed out the Conservation Dept.'s deer management program has been aimed at achieving this, which means the most deer are where the most food is.

Following the shift of deer concentrations, Burris said has been an increase in hunters. Last year, he estimated, there were several hundred more hunters in the county than in previous years. There will be even more hunters in the county than in previous years. There will be even more hunters in the county than in previous years.

Because evergreen trees are maturing in central and eastern counties of the northern Lower Peninsula, forcing out deer browse, hunters are looking for new areas, Burris explained.

MILD WEATHER last winter resulted in a high percentage of survival of yearlings and a good fawn crop this year, Burris said. Opening day hunters should find deer in the hardwoods, where there are acorns or beechnuts, rather than in farm fields.

Last season 13% to 19% of Charlevoix County hunters killed a buck. Between one and two bucks were killed per square mile in the county.

On Beaver Island 345 hunters killed 64 bucks and 87 does.

ATTENTION WILL again this season be focused on Beaver Island, Burris said. Hunting on the island, he predicted, will be as good as anywhere in the state.

Burris again urged hunters to practice safe gun handling procedure and to ask landowners for permission to hunt on their property.

Only one other comrade of those days remains. An over-spoken pipe with a small, comfortably curved bowl. The pipe now slumbers in the bottom of my smoking stand at home. Once in a while it comes out and endures one more bowl of tobacco. But it is so burned out the smoke is bitter.

It's impossible not to wonder if it wouldn't smoke sweet again if it were back in the land of the noon moon. Doctors say the frozen hands that type this and the feet beneath the typewriter must never again travel that far north to find out.

CLARE STALEY sold me a knife to take the place of the lost friend. It's probably made of better metal. The missing knife cost a lot less at the Army's Cold Weather and Mountain School PX store.

Which gets us off this sentimental kick. I have you know how so many men, including this one, are prone to pull out their pocket knife when they see someone else with one and say, "betcha mine's sharper than yours."

This must mean there's still a lotta boy left alive in the men involved.

Emerson once said something to the effect that when a man grows all of the boy out of him he's no longer worth knowing.

So, please excuse me if a lost pocket knife sends me into such lengths. But, if you see it laying around, remember it is more than just an over-sharpened metal blade. It's part of a world that can never be re-visited.

SKI SEASON BEST FOR GIRL WATCHING

A HAPPILY married fellow, who doesn't ski, was extolling the wonders of the ski season. The wonders, as he explained it, are the stretch pants, sweaters and parkas the girls wear.

Seems that as far as he's concerned watching the girls in their ski outfits make the twice daily walk from the Lodge to the Weather-vane Inn is the most refined sport in Charlevoix.

Last winter the Courier staff was too busy to take in such activities. But this year we promise not to neglect such an important element of Charlevoix living.

INCIDENTALLY, my friend considers girl watching at the beach unsophisticated and bordering on poor taste. "Any dope can do that," he remarked.

Maybe we should advertise Charlevoix as the year-round girl watching capital of the north.

ONLY ROY COULD HAVE SUCH FUN PROBLEMS

IT IS, OF course, easy for all of us to imagine the problems a blind person must encounter. But a morning in Ellsworth last week with Courier reporter Roy Staudenmeyer revealed some problems that must be peculiar only to Roy. No one else could possibly make blindness so much fun for himself and his friends.

In our morning travels, CLARE STALEY sold me a knife to take the place of the lost friend. It's probably made of better metal. The missing knife cost a lot less at the Army's Cold Weather and Mountain School PX store.

New Car License Plates Feature Several Changes

New, lower numbers... tougher but lighter and more weather-resistant materials... a new slogan... new colors... these are but some of the new features in store for Charlevoix's vehicle owners when they begin buying their new 1965 license plates, which are now on sale.

Because so many persons are anxious to get new plates, Secretary of State James Hare said that he had been assured by the Department of Administration, an arm of Governor Romney's office which draws specifications for the plates, and Prison Industries, which manufactures them, that the 1965 plates will last for three years if the need arises. "But I'm hopeful that the lawmakers will adopt my plan to issue plates every year since we now seem to be over our period of severe austerity where it seemed important to save every dollar possible."

ONE NEW PROVISION is going to make it a good deal easier for motorists to obtain new plates this year, Mrs. LaBlance said. "Previously they had to bring their titles before plates or tabs could be issued. For the first time this year, they may bring either their titles as before or may bring their prior year's registration, whatever is more convenient."

Also for the first time, plate numbers will start with "0001" instead of "1000" with the first numbers getting the more coveted lower numbers. The new numbering system will gain Michigan more than 560,000 additional numbers.

New colors this year are yellow on dark blue, honoring the University of Michigan. And for the first time since Michigan began using a license slogan back in 1954, there will be an addition to it. Instead of the traditional "Water Wonderland" the new plate slogan will read, "Water-Winter Wonderland." The addition was a recommendation of Governor George Romney.

According to Mrs. LaBlance, one important and basic question relative to the 1965 plates is whether they will be one-year or three-year plates as originally planned. If the Secretary of State had his way, they will definitely be one-year plates, and this will be the start again of annual plates.

Secretary of State James Hare said that he had been assured by the Department of Administration, an arm of Governor Romney's office which draws specifications for the plates, and Prison Industries, which manufactures them, that the 1965 plates will last for three years if the need arises. "But I'm hopeful that the lawmakers will adopt my plan to issue plates every year since we now seem to be over our period of severe austerity where it seemed important to save every dollar possible."

Mrs. LaBlance said 1965 plates are a little lighter in weight, although the ordinary motorist would hardly notice the difference. "Our office is certainly happy about this situation since the boxes of plates now weigh 41 pounds as against 36 pounds in the past."

THE NEW PLATES will be galvanized and this is the reason they can be made of lighter gauge steel.

Manufacturing price of a set of plates is 22¢ a pair. Total cost for manufacturing, packaging, handling, postage, and sales in branch offices amounts to less than $1 per set of plates.

Many persons are unaware that all but about this $1 they pay for their licenses each year goes into the Highway Building Fund and is used to build many of Michigan's highways, Mrs. LaBlance said.

Here classified license plates as "one of the biggest bargains in government." "We've been able to hold the line on plates to 35¢ a hundredweight, a ratio which has remained unchanged for 30 years since 1935." "And at that time, the price per hundredweight was dropped, at that." Many states charge more than Michigan does for licensing. In Oklahoma, for instance, a motorist may pay over $70 for his plates. Vermont charges a flat $32 for each plate. Other states use varying formulas ... some even involving property taxes.

said he withdrew from the race for chairman because "it was apparent he couldn't win, and rather than get into a hopeless fight he stepped aside to avoid unrepairable wounds."

LaBlance insisted the party has not been split. He said he will continue to do everything he can for the Democratic party.

However, by late Tuesday afternoon several Charlevoix Democrats were frankly admitting they will try to organize a splinter party organization centered in the City of Charlevoix.

THE FIRST OPEN signs of inter-party friction came to a head this summer over appointment of a postmaster to replace retiring Pete Timmer.

Mrs. Martha Tunison, whom the party committee recommended for the position, has withdrawn her name. Next in line is Frank Oleksy.

Most likely to get the post, however, is assistant postmaster Dan Genelt, whom LaBlance is openly supporting.

LaBlance said Mrs. Genelt has been one of the party's sharpest, most able, campaign workers in the last few months.

Genelt, he points out, would not have to take an open competitive examination for the job since he is now on the post office payroll. Appointment of Oleksy, on the other hand, would force the postmaster's job into an open examination. This, LaBlance said, could result in a Republican getting the job. LaBlance said this is no reflection on Oleksy's qualifications, but he cannot get around the veterans preference rule.

Members of the executive committee are Mr. and Mrs. LaBlance; Harold Price; Merle Karlskin; and Pete Johnson of Boyne City. A. M. Schneider of Indian River; Earl Walker of Strongsville; Frances Martin of Charlevoix; Mrs. Warner of Norwood; Art Osborn of Charlevoix; Carl Skornia of Boyne City and Murphy.

pairs may seem high, but the community could not construct much of a new building for this amount.

"Not many towns this size in Michigan have anything as nice as this," he said.

THE BOARD, in other action, approved borrowing $25,000 to meet obligations in December. If the state aid payment is received in time the money will not be borrowed.

Supt. Rex Milligan said some current bills will not be paid until property taxes are received.

Milligan said that in October the cafeteria served 11,963 meals. This compares to 11,163 meals in October 1963.

How to Keep That Paunch From Bulging

With winter just around the corner, picture yourself in front of a glowing fireplace sipping hot chocolate, munching fresh buttered popcorn.

Then, picture yourself come spring trying to squeeze into last year's clothes. Did the cleaner really shrink your best spring dress?

Go! The Picture!

IT'S EASY TO "over-indulge" during the winter months. Extra calories and unwanted pounds pile up quickly, particularly if you're less active than you were during the summer.

A University of Michigan dietitian has a few hints for those who will want to maintain their present weight this winter. According to Mrs. Betsy Holly, assistant director of dietetics at University Hospital:

--Eat three, well-balanced meals each day.

--Avoid between-meal snacks.

--Choose fruit desserts rather than pie or cake. Apples, bananas, grapefruit and oranges will be "in season" all winter, and canned fruit contains fewer calories than pastry.

--SELECT FRESH vegetable salads.

--Avoid gravies and sauces, butter and sour cream.

--Luncheon tips try soup and a sandwich. Clear broths, rather than cream soups.

--Before launching into a weight program, see your physician.

Girl Scout Report

Sixty mothers along with more than 75 girls who are interested in joining the Girl Scout movement met in the City Hall for an organizational meeting on Nov. 5.

Mrs. Robert F. Thompson, Field Adviser from the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council office in Traverse City, presented a general picture of the Scouting movement.

MRS. LLOYD A. Arnold, Charlevoix's troop organizer, made known the need for leaders and other adult help for each of the troops. Some adult help was secured, but, alas, they need more.

Adults are needed to bring the Girl Scout program into the experience of the girls of Charlevoix, said Mrs. Arnold. Helps and aids for the adults working with troops are available in the form of books, guides, workshops, training courses, consultants, and professional help from the office in Traverse City.

Charlevoix has approximately 150 girls from 7 through 17 who are anxious to have this worthwhile Scouting experience. Will you help them?

Girl Scout Neighborhood VI Association meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m. at the Top-O-Michigan Rural Electric Co. auditorium in Boyne City. All adults working in any capacity with the Girl Scout program are urged to attend. There will be a brief business meeting. Two volunteer leaders from Traverse City will present an Arts and Crafts Workshop.

School Report Card

A library should be the center of every elementary school. The true definition of the word "library" in the present trend of education means a wide and varied selection of books, and a resource center consisting of visual aids, pictures, records, maps, teaching machines, and every device possible to aid in our modern education.

An elementary library would provide an equal opportunity to all children. Here the slow reader can find a book to enjoy without worrying about grade levels. The gifted or exceptional child will find books that challenge him to "dig deeper" as well as to satisfy his thirst for learning.

HAVING A LIBRARY in the school inspires the children to form the library habit at an early age, and strengthens the habit by the continued use of all its facilities throughout all the grades. Most classrooms do not have enough books for free reading. The elementary library would provide new books and magazines for the free reading table so that each child would have an ample supply of excellent reading matter to satisfy his interest, and which he can read with relative ease. Free reading selections need not be limited to only those which fit well with the subject matter taught in other school work.

The library in a school should be a learning center. That is, a place where children can learn to think, not what to think, but how to think. The town library and the school library should be separate libraries. Having the library in the school would change the child's attitude toward a library. It would become an everyday experience instead of a weekly trip to the library to get a book or two.

THE TEACHERS would find books and materials for in-service training to aid them in keeping up with the new trends in education.

By the checking-out cards used in the library, the teacher would be able to locate materials that were being used, and to plan ahead for sharing the projector, the tape recorder or other materials.

Materials for a science experiment, a health lesson, or maps for social studies would be available at very short notice. The library would also provide a safe place where all these books, materials, and equipment could be kept.

A librarian is a necessary instructor in the elementary school. Such a person has many duties besides cataloging and checking out books.

THE LIBRARIAN observes the children as they read in the library, studies their choices of books, takes a special interest in each child that comes into the library, and may help with story telling or literature classes.

Such a person instructs the teachers in the use of new materials, helps the teacher in planning for teaching a project by ordering, obtaining, and suggesting new books or pamphlets that deal with the topic. The teachers are kept informed of new equipment as soon as it becomes available.

The librarian should take an active part in attending the teacher's meetings, library conventions, and the library board meetings. It has been proved that schools with libraries are superior to schools without them.

These HANDS of MINE

Whether building a life or a skyscraper is involved, a clear understanding of the project is necessary... a plan must be in mind. The man who starts to raise a family without first considering his earning power, cost involved and the necessity for God's help — faces serious difficulty. To correctly raise a building an architect, blueprint and a builder are essential. To properly build a man — prayer, Bible reading, Sunday school and church attendance are good tools to work with. To calculate the pitch a roof must be is easy but without God's help, to determine the worth of a young life is impossible. Architects design houses. Builders put them together. But only God can build a man out of a boy. The church, through these firm hands of mine, pictures to humanity the world's greatest designer... Jesus the Christ. World builders could not get along very well without Him. He has never poured a bad foundation, nor laid a sill out of level, nor raised a wall off plum. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who build it," Psalms 127:1.

Rayders Finish in Third

The Charlevoix Rayders wrapped up their 1964 season Friday defeating Mancelona 15-6.

The victory put the Rayders in third place in the final standings.

Upset Puts Gaylord On Top of League

The Gaylord Blue Devils upset the favored Harbor Springs Rams 14-13 Friday night to win their first Northern Michigan Class C championship in 25 years.

In other games that marked the conclusion of the league season, Charlevoix defeated Mancelona 15-6; Boyne City shutout Grayling 25-0 and Pellston handed the same treatment to East Jordan by a score of 27-0.

THE RAMS WERE trying for their first title since 1942 when they shared the championship with Grayling.

At Boyne City, the Ramblers rolled over the visiting Grayling Vikings as Ron Hausler went 25 yards to put Boyne ahead 6-0 at halftime.

As the second half got underway, Scotty Hall scored from 10 yards out with Dana Shaler kicking the conversion point. Later in the period, Hall intercepted a Viking pass and ambled 85 yards to score.

Dan Cikal, the team's top scorer, added to his scoring total by going over from the 20 to bring his total for the season to 56 points.

was sidelined with a shoulder injury and did not see action Friday. Added to this group is Ron Puffaff, a transfer who has been a regular utility man in his halfback position.

Coach Don Carey, in commenting on the past season, said that "with a few breaks we could have been champions. Three games were lost or tied as the result of passes that should have been knocked down but, instead, bounced into the hands of a player other than the one for whom it was meant. You can't beat flukes like that."

He went on to say that "they were a good bunch of kids. They worked hard, responded well and were real good to work with."

In Friday's game, the Rayders rolled up their total points in the first half and spent the remaining 24 minutes defending their lead as every player saw action.

The meeting between the Rayders and the Ironmen got off to a slow start with a total of four exchanges of punts before Charlevoix gained possession on their own 45 on a pass interception by John Ferguson who ran the ball back to the Mancelona 33.

On the next play Del Terrill passed to Mark Bourgoin who went in to score late in the quarter. Steve Smith's kick was blocked.

Charlevoix kicked off to Mancelona who had possession on their own 33.

AFTER PICKING up a first down on the 42 on the opening play of the second quarter, the Ironmen were forced to punt when their offense bogged down.

The Rayders returned the ball to their own 41 and on the next play were set back to the 33 yard line. Here Dave Smith took over and rolled 68 yards to score.

RICHARD DONALDSON

DEAR DICK: I am a widower, age 79, and am serious about a lovely lady, a year younger. Ellen's interests are the same as mine, but recently when I spoke of replacing the old appliances after we're married, she became angry saying that "no one will ever do this to George. Can I take George's place?"--PUZZLED.

DEAR PUZZLED: Don't try. Let the "appliance" matter set and head for the altar. She'll realize the need for the new appliances after you're married. Then, you can see PUFF's APPLIANCE CENTER. Their large selection will tempt her into getting rid of all of George's old junk.--DICK.

To the 5 out of 10 people who didn't believe this ad... a sporting proposition

Take a no-obligation test drive in a 1965 Ford. Maybe you just couldn't believe the ad (reprinted above) which appeared in this paper a few weeks ago. After all, many consider Rolls-Royce to be one of the world's finest cars. But Ford does ride quieter. The world's leading acoustical experts (Bolt, Beranek and Newman, Inc.) made the tests. The U.S. Auto Club certified the results.

This year's Ford has the strongest body ever... a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" vibrations... new ultrasoft coil-spring suspensions--all contributing to the new hushed ride. But the ride is only part of what's new.

■ New swept-back instrument panel adds five inches extra knee room. ■ Transmission tunnel is lower than in competing cars for extra foot room. ■ Trunk has more usable space than ever--holds four 2-suiters standing upright.

■ New ultra-luxurious LTD series - unmatched by any other car in Ford's class. ■ Silent-Flo ventilation (standard on 4-door hardtops) removes stale air, provides fresh air even with all windows closed. ■ Exclusive new twin-edge key--works with either side up.

■ Hot, but hushed, 289-cu. in. V-8 is standard equipment in XL and LTD models.

■ Smooth, thrifty all-new Big Six in other models--the most powerful standard Six offered by any car in Ford's class. ■ V-8 options to 425 hp.

■ All Ford automatic transmissions have 3 speeds, not 2 as in many competing cars. ■ Fully synchronized manual transmissions--you can even shift down to first without clashing gears.

If all this sounds like a lot for one car to offer... take a test drive. See why more people are buying Fords than ever before in post-war history.

CHARLEVOIX'S SERIOUS Republicans (evidently numbering 768) appeared more determined than ever late last week that their passion for individual responsibility and dignity are the city, county, state and nation's true destiny.

One stalwart disciple of the "cause" remarked Thursday afternoon, "Wednesday I felt like I didn't ever want to talk or think about politics again. I was sick. But not today."

ANOTHER REPUBLICAN, who picked up the Goldwater banner late in the campaign, but then devoted his every effort to it, expressed an opinion echoed by several others.

"My conscience is clear. Give Johnson four years and a lot more people are going to agree with us."

In spite of Goldwater's trouncing throughout the state and northland, Charlevoix Republicans were taking some pride in the fact the city gave him a slight (oh, so slight) edge over Johnson. After all the votes were tallied, it still appeared Charlevoix was the only large city in the north to go for Goldwater.

Nor were they overlooking the obvious fact that the City of Charlevoix is the seat of Republicanism in Charlevoix County. Vote returns showed that East Jordan is the Democratic capital of the county, with Boyne City a close second. Both give big margins to Johnson.

MORE AND MORE Republicans, as they brushed aside the bitterness of defeat late in the week, were talking about "learning something from George LaBlance."

LaBlance, even his most fervent foes seemed to agree, has led his party to new strength in Charlevoix County by giving the Democratic party a year-round image of being progressive, active and concerned about local affairs.

IRONICALLY, though Republicans were unaware of it, as they were recognizing LaBlance's good qualities as County Democratic chairman, his own party was forging a plot to oust him. LaBlance went into Saturday evening's Democratic organizational meeting as a definite underdog. Newcomers to positions of influence were determined to oust him now that the party's

In Michigan... after bowling, beer is a natural

After you've bowled a game or two, or when you're winding up the evening at the neighborhood bowling center, it's good to relax with friends and compare scores. What better way to add to the sport and the sociableness than with a refreshing glass of beer? However you take your fun—skiing, skating, or at your ease in the game room—beer always makes a welcome addition to the party.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Michigan...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

Immediate, Sweeping Overhauls in Chamber

TO BORROW FROM some recent election oratory, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce has a rendezvous with destiny that it had better keep in the next few weeks or count itself out of the running.

The Courier has recently made an extensive study of the chamber's fee structure and purposes for which these fees are used. Our conclusion is that immediate, and drastic, overhauls are mandatory if the chamber is to remain a potent force in Charlevoix's growing prosperity.

WE FIND THAT unbelievable inequities exist. For instance, the vast majority of motels pay $25 a year membership. The burden for supporting the chamber falls on retail businessmen, professional people, industry and city taxpayers at large.

And yet the chamber, undeniably gears its efforts toward promoting tourism. This is not to lay any blame on the chamber. Our tourist trade needs promoting -- considerably more than it now is.

However, more and more, we are all becoming aware that Charlevoix is a community of many facets. Our retail businesses must be supported--and urged to offer more competitive bargains--if we are to remain a center for not only outlying residents, but those of the city itself.

Industry has given us new life. This must be maintained and further developed.

ALL OF WHICH leads us to the fact that the chamber is not, and cannot, do a thorough job on its present budget. Perhaps the present budget could purchase slightly more than it does. But the gain would be little compared to the job that should, and could, be done with more money.

The question now up for consideration is how is the chamber going to raise more money and see to it that it is well and equitably spent.

The answer quite obviously isn't to hit everybody up for more money and expand the present program. Many businesses that have long been loyal and dedicated to the chamber are already paying a just share of the costs. But others are paying far less than their share.

How can this be worked out so each segment of our business, professional and industrial community pays its share and gets an adequate return? The Courier has some suggestions, that have worked elsewhere.

FIRST, WE RECOMMEND that cham-

Election Post-Mortem Finds Most of Us Glad It's Over

ELECTION DAY last week seemed to lift a great weight from the shoulders of many Charlevoix people who fulfilled their responsibility as citizens in a Republic by actively campaigning for the candidates of their choice.

It was an evident relief to realize that you no longer had a duty to explain your candidate's position and philosophy. You had done your best (you hoped). Now it was beyond any man's control. The ballot box would tell.

IN FACT, EVEN if you worried about the outcome, it was inspiring to hang around City Hall on a beautiful afternoon and watch people trooping in to command their right to vote.

In the midst of all this we, at the Courier, got to wondering which party would be the first after election to accuse us of being unfair. Responsible newspapers always expect such post-election charges.

So, with little to do but wait for the tv tube to tell us the results early the next morning, we decided to measure how much coverage both parties have received. After thumbing through copies of the paper since the campaign began last spring, we found we ran 499 inches from Democratic candidates and spokesmen and 444 from Republicans.

This, undoubtedly, surprised us more than it will you. You see, we made absolutely no effort to print an "equal" number of inches. Our effort was to see that each legitimate candidate and party ber members from the different related types of business be grouped and asked to nominate a representative from their ranks to serve on a general committee. The number from each kind of business would depend on how many members are now in the chamber.

This group should work up an ambitious program. These would include such things as several summer, fall, winter and spring tourist promotions; a half-dozen retail business promotions a year and a campaign to actively obtain new industry.

When these plans have been outlined, tentative costs should be determined. The promotions to aid tourism should be the direct responsibility of businesses that depend on vacationers. Those for retail business people should be supported by membership fees from store owners. And etc.

Of course, in such a plan there would be overlapping. Downtown stores benefit somewhat from tourist promotions. So does the town at large. These factors would have to be considered in earmarking portions of the budget.

BUT THEN MOTEL owners and others in the tourist business could set membership fees for their fellow merchants. The same would hold for retail and others.

This way a chamber member would know exactly what he is buying and have confidence that his money will be used for his benefit.

A business would not be asked to donate an unspecified amount, as they now are. If they want to reap chamber benefits they would have to pay their share. Plain and simple.

To be sure that the program was carried out as planned, each segment of chamber membership would continue to have its share of the budget administered by a committee made up of its own representatives.

THIS WAY THERE would be no irresponsible blaming of others for not doing your own share.

The Courier is as aware as anyone, and more than most that what we are proposing is revolutionary and many people will balk simply because it is change.

Our faith in Charlevoix and the Chamber of Commerce is so rock-solid that we are willing to stick our neck out and we are confident this must be done for Charlevoix.

The past year, under Dean Davenport's management, has been a tumultuous one for the chamber. Ending the year in the red has made it more so. Yet all of this has served to point up the need. And the blame is not Davenport's. It is the lack of a program of wide-ranging promotions and specific fees.

spokesman got every chance he wanted to use the Courier to reach the public. If one party was more, or less, aggressive in this it showed up in our final tally.

BUT TO COME out with only 55 inches difference, after months of campaigning, was the last thing we expected. Actually, we didn't know what to expect when we started measuring inches.

It does appear, however, that considering the Democrats are a minority party, they did an outstanding job of using the Courier to tell their story.

We're a bit proud to realize that even minorities get fair treatment from the Courier.

While we're on the subject the following editorial comment from the newspaper trade's number one house organ, Editor and Publisher:

"Since the days of FDR, newspaper editors have been lashed with the ruler--line for line and inch for inch reporting of the rival candidates' speeches, etc. Many content studies have been made on this basis after each Presidential election. So-called 'Battle Pages' have been instituted as campaign features, to impress readers and politicians with the fairness of equal space.

"It's just plain nonsense. Yardstick reporting and editing are a silly exercise in journalism. A well-written, objective report on a Johnson rally could do more to help Goldwater than a straight story about the Senator's own rally might do for him. And vice versa."

PIONEER AIRBORNE DOCTOR--Dr. Robert B. Armstrong prepares to board a U.S. Army airplane in Charlevoix for a flight to Beaver Island, which in 1923 had no doctor. A woodsman on the island had injured his head and the doctor was called. Being winter, the plane landed on the ice. Note the little black dog Dr. Armstrong carries. The picture was supplied by John Sharrow of Warren, Mich. The story below gives details of the journey, which at that time was high adventure.

Aeroplane As First Aid Flying-Ship Carries Doctor to Beavers

Reprinted from
Feb. 7, 1923
Charlevoix Courier

An unfortunate accident which occurred Saturday on Beaver Island has been attended with circumstances so remarkable as to have aroused the interest of the entire region hereabouts.

Jesse Cole, youngest son of Garrett Cole of St. James, was struck on the head by a "jammer" that tipped over while he was loading logs causing, as is believed from what information can be gathered at the present writing, a severe fracture of the skull. A telephone message, received from the island at a little after noon today, states that the young man is still living but has a high fever.

News of the accident was immediately telegraphed to a sister of the lad, who lives in Chicago, with the information that no doctor was available and that help could not reach the injured boy from outside on account of the broken and treacherous ice surrounding the island.

The sister got in communication with Dr. Armstrong here on Monday, asking him if he would make the trip in an aeroplane, providing that no other means of communication was open. The doctor assented and the Chicago relatives of the boy got into immediate communication with Commandant Spatz of the Selfridge field, government flying station lying just outside of Mt. Clemens, who sent a plane yesterday. This machine got as far as Gaylord yesterday morning, where it developed engine trouble and was forced to land in deep snow, from which it was found impracticable to free it in time to proceed to Charlevoix. Word of this reached the Commercial Association here, who again got into communication with the Selfridge field and a second plane left there this morning, between seven and eight o'clock, arriving in Charlevoix at 10 a.m. Having completed the run of 241 miles in just two hours and forty minutes, or at the rate of about one and a third miles per minute.

Their landing place on the ice of Pine Lake, near the Belvedere--hotel and Summer Home Association grounds, was marked, by request of the flying corps commandant, with a huge cross of black building paper secured to the ice at a favorable spot. The plane, whose official number is DH4B, of light bombing or observation type, is commanded by Lieut. L. Meredith, who has with him as mechanic, R. Schaefer. Both men are attached to the First Pursuit Group, now stationed at Selfridge field. An attempt was made last night to prepare the hospital flying boat, which is designed for air ambulance service and has compartments for two patients besides the driver and mechanic. Such, as it happened, was the condition of this machine that after working all night on its repair, the attempt to use it on the long trip to Charlevoix was abandoned and the DH4B substituted. This plane is a two seater, but certain changes were made enabling a third passenger to be comfortably carried.

When the DH4B arrived here this morning, the Lieutenant in charge found that Dr. Armstrong was in Central Lake, having been summoned there at an early hour on an emergency case. It was therefore necessary to await his return on the morning train. He reached here shortly before noon and on the stroke of twelve, before the last note on the fire siren had died away, the big bird could be heard humming high above the town on the start of its fifteen minute run to the Beavers, a distance of twenty-two miles.

A telephone message received here shortly before one o'clock stated that the doctor had been safely landed on the ice opposite the injured boy's home, about three miles south of St. James. Dr. Brown, a Levering physician, is also attempting to make the trip from Cross Village by dog sledge, to offer his assistance to Dr. Armstrong. There is some doubt, however, owing to the condition of the ice at this point, as to his getting through.

It is expected that the plane will return some time this afternoon, bringing the injured lad to the hospital here.

Latest advices are that the plane returned from Beaver Island at 2:15 this afternoon. The patient was found to have a fracture at the base of the skull and had been unconscious for two or three days. Dr. Armstrong decided that he would have a better chance if left at his home, with full directions for his care, than if he were crowded into the plane and brought here on what at best would be a mighty cold ride.

The party landed, contrary to the original plan, on the ice of Lake Genesee, a small inland body of water about a mile from the home of young Cole. The doctor and Lieutenant were alone in the plane, as the mechanic had remained here in Charlevoix in order to make room for the patient. They made their way to the house by a logging road, a team having been placed at their disposal.

The trip from here to the island, a distance of about twenty-two miles, was made in 15 to 20 minutes. The return here was made in good time and with no mishaps. Lieut. Meredith expects to take his machine back to Selfridge field late this afternoon.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

Censures Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

If ever there was an example of a spoiled little boy, you sure take the cake. I have read your editorials on the Charlevoix Township--City of Charlevoix proceedings on the annexation issue, and feel it's about time to bring this childishness to a head.

You have lambasted, very unfairly, our very efficient Supervisor, Mr. Rabech, and also made charges against the integrity of the Charlevoix County Supervisor, and lamented the unfair treatment of several councilmen at the annexation meeting, etc., and it seems to me that such poor sport tactics are uncalled for.

WE HAVE TALKED many times of the power of the press, but I do not think under any circumstances, this should be used by a smart alec editor, to express his views on issues, and completely run reputable men into the ground. For one thing, why do you entitle your column "Who's in Jail?" If your interest is in just printing the news and not making things sensational?

Now, as far as the way the meeting on the annexation issue was conducted, you have been entirely unfair to the Supervisors. I feel that Mr. Sneathen did a fine job in controlling the meeting, for I was also there, and saw and heard the proceedings. Also, should a man be condemned for wanting to vote by ballot, as you implied? I think not. And, Mr. Editor, you have no idea how the two Beaver Island Supervisors voted, as you charged, for it was a written ballot. You have completely stepped out of bounds to suggest they did not vote in the interest of the city of Charlevoix. How do you know but what perhaps even a city supervisor was one of those who voted no.

I know the people of the city must be ashamed of the way you treated the Beaver Island residents in your editorial. (Friends in Beaver Island, remember, just because Mr. Sheppard states something, certainly does not mean that we feel the same. As a matter of fact, talk to the businessmen or citizens in Charlevoix, and you will find that we appreciate all the business you have given our town, and our relationship with you through the years, and also, that we do not question the integrity of the fine men you have elected as supervisors. Just because some cocky young editor comes here and disrupts the town with his opinions of our news, does not mean we agree with him in the least.)

I also know that the Supervisors listened well to both presentations at the meeting, and fairly judged from the information presented. You know as well as I that this was a land grab, whether you will admit it or not, and so do most of the citizenry, when they really analyze your motives. Just because you present your side of these controversies in the paper, does not mean we can't see the other side, and see what is really being done. Several of the Supervisors at the meeting, asked questions pertinent to the issue, so that they could fully make up their minds in a fair way, and yet you accuse them of having their minds made up before hand. Also, you went so far as to say there may be a shakeup of Supervisors at the next election. Just

By FRAN MARTIN

Received a couple letters recently that I'd like to share with you...A copy of the Northliner, publication of North Central Airlines, arrived recently from Bob Heise, a former local resident, who is employed by the post-office department in Detroit...Couldn't imagine why he'd sent it until I turned it over and there, just as big as you please, was a picture of one of our more prominent part-time residents, Nathan Cummings, pictured with a lovely looking gal, Marge Ford of the airlines, as he told her about the paintings he had purchased in Paris...at the time the picture was taken, he was enroute to Charlevoix...Many of you know Mr. Cummings...I just know that he's very generous with paintings, such as those he purchased recently in Paris, for he loans at least one each summer for display at our Waterfront Fair...I'm sure that he finds that sharing them is a good part of the joy of owning them...

They're getting anxious, those round-ball fans...but they won't have long to wait...The Rayders finished up this season Friday night...as this is being written they have yet to play at Mancelona...but wasn't that performance against Gaylord something to see...I was so very proud of every last one of 'em...I think everyone was...And it's games like that that make me a bit miffed at them...They'll play like sense--of--guns when the chips are down...and then along comes a team that looks like a pushover...and what do they do...? play like a bunch of pikers who don't know a thing about football...But I guess we love them despite their shortcomings...I'm sure everyone will agree that they've given us some happy times this fall...Again, may I say thank you from all your fans...

And speaking of football, a group of us had the good fortune the other night to be invited to the annual meeting of the Scenic Trails Boy Scout Council dinner in Traverse City...The speaker was one of the famous Four Horsemen, Harry Stuhldreher...of Notre Dame football fame...back in the days Knute Rockne...And, as usual, he had such wonderful things to say that you wanted to bring him right home to talk to all our kids...I'm one of those people who believes that athletics of all kinds are a "must" in every kid's life...I mean any kind of competitive sport...In his talk this great player and coach spoke of three things he feels that every youngster receives in the way of returns for having played football, baseball, what ever the sport might be...a sense of accomplishment through hard work, the ability to fight himself out of trouble, the satisfaction found in the game itself, development of himself, of a team and the idea of team play; loyalty, first to the team and, in later life, to family ideals, the group idea of working together...he ended up by saying that athletes, real athletes, become just that because they are "big" people...people who think not of themselves but of others...and that these same people, as they grow up and become part of a community become the soul and heartbeat of that community...because they continue to give of themselves and their talents...

Well, the big day is finally over...and lot of people are looking more than a little amazed as they walk around with that "What happened?" look on their faces...Everyone's trying to dope it out...So don't feel that you're alone...But from where I'm sitting it's not hard to see...

I swear there wasn't a youngster in school this year who wasn't pretty much aware of the election...Mrs. McRae, our kindergarten teacher, mentioned it to her young fry and asked them what was going on...One wee one answered that "We're pickin' a president"...She assured him he was right when another little guy added his bit by saying "Wer're pickin' corn"...After those last few days before the election, he might have been right....

who, Mr. Editor, do you think elects these men, anyway? Do you say, then that we, the people don't have the judgement to vote for these fine men? You certainly aren't going to get them out of office with your accusations, which are false, for it is still up to the people to vote for the man they feel will serve them best, and these men are just that.

NOW, YOU LIST the benefits the city gives the township. We aren't receiving all these wonderful things, free, and we do appreciate them, whether you think so or not. If you want to get technical, the city folks are also benefiting from the townships offer, for instance, hunting, fishing, hiking, etc., and we are glad it's this way. This is a two way street, Shep.

As for the use of the cemetery and water from the city, for your information, we in the township pay double the price of a cemetery lot, and double the cost of the water from the city, which some may use.

In your last editorial on the annexation issue, you state "The Courier hopes the strife between city and township, that has been agitated by the township and Board of Supervisors, will smooth itself out. However, this can only come when the township faces up to the fact it has abused the city and makes amends." Let's look closer at your statement. The issue has been decided. The city did the agitating, not the township, who were seeking to keep the land which is in their boundaries, and the role of the Board of Supervisors, was not agitation, but fairly dealing out their unbiased decision, based on the facts presented to them. And the greatest agitation, who is still acting like the little boy whose mama didn't give him the candy he coaxed and threatened for, and is still jumping up and down and hollering "foul!", is Glen Sheppard.

The power of the press is great, but let's use it fairly, what do you say? SINCERELY,

Farm Bureau Launches Drive

Farm Bureau roll call chairman Roy Staudenmeyer called the captains and workers of the community groups for a meeting to start their annual membership drive.

The meeting was held at the American Legion Hall in Ellsworth on Wednesday evening. Only three Community Group Captains were absent, the other groups were well represented and those attending were given material and information from roll call chairman.

THE CHAIRMAN offered a prize to the group that has all their members paid plus one new member. If there should be a tie, the group with the largest number of new members would win.

December 15 will be the date to complete the membership drive. The chairman reported six new members have been signed at this time.

FROM ROY

Surgery was performed on Ken Richardson's knee Thursday, October 29. A cartilage was removed, this injury occurred during a football game against Mackinaw. Ken plans on leaving Charlevoix Hospital Friday the sixth but will remain on crutches for three weeks. It is possible for him to play basketball sometime in December. I understand they are throwing him out because he is giving the nurses a rough time, (or is it the other way around). The kids are anxious for you to return to school.

Now that the election is over, the radio has so much time they are playing songs over twice and television is once again showing repeats. It was impossible for the paper to print all the material we sent, now we could have a chance. Kathy and Suzzie all your work didn't go in the wastebasket.

At this time I would like to thank Suzzie Petter and Kathy Wieland for their excellent writing on the football games. Sometimes they got the penalties mixed but the touchdowns correct and that is all that counts. Girls we promise to use your basketball sporting news.

We are told Social Security is 689 billion dollars in the red and there could be a tax hike to help the situation. Then there will be Medi-Care.

The Ellsworth Calvinettes had their second meeting of the season. At this time officers for the coming year were elected. President, Marydell VanderArk, Secretary, Janice Rubingh, Treasurer, Artis Drenth, Scribe, Marsha Drenth.

After the meeting a picnic was enjoyed at the Ellsworth Park.

Leaders for the group are, Mrs. Vernon Guerkink, Mrs. Marvin Wynsma and helper Mrs. Harvey Drenth.

They meet the second and fourth Tuesday of the month at 4 p.m. and are studying Genneses for their Bible lesson. All girls ages 12 to 15 years are welcome to join.

The Jansen-Richardson Post 488 held its Veterans Day dinner Saturday Nov. 6. A large group in attendance enjoyed a roast beef dinner served by the auxiliary. Vice commander Emory Wilson has the post members all signed and had reached their membership goal. The Unit also announced they have reached their goal. The program for the evening was presented by Andy Lenington Jr., who showed slides and narrated about his trip to Chile.

Ellsworth Tops on All-League Squad

Ellsworth dominated the 1964 Northern 6 All-Conference Football team with three players on the first team.

Lancers making the All-Conference squad are Walt Kooyer, a senior who played end; Ron Drenth, a junior guard, and Paul Doctor, a junior back.

ELLSWORTH PLACED more players on the team than any other school. Mackinaw City had two men on the All-Conference squad, and Central Lake, Inland Lakes and Bellalre each one. Ellsworth was also selected to receive the League Sportsmanship Trophy. In picking Ellsworth the League coaches voted for Ellsworth to get the trophy.

This traveling trophy is awarded to the football players of Ellsworth High School. This means that the Lancers played clean football and exhibited outstanding qualities of sportsmanship regardless of the outcome, the coaches stated.

Ellsworth, though dominating the first team, didn't place a single man on the second team or honorable mention list.

Members of the first team selected by coaches from other schools were, Ron Gwillt, Mackinaw City; Bill Scott, Central Lake; Joe Finch, Inland Lakes; Jerry Ash, Bellalre and Jim Marshall, Mackinaw City.

Reduce Season On Northerns

Tighter fishing regulations are on tap for 1965 to check the steady decline of northern pike populations throughout many parts of Michigan.

In coming to the rescue of this troubled species last week, the Conservation Commission extended the closed season on pike and muskies from Mar. 1 through May 14 in all inland waters.

THE NEW OFF-limits period, 34 days longer than before, will protect these fish during their entire spawning season when they are easy marks for being cropped in wholesale numbers.

Other action taken last week to safeguard muskies against being overfished will raise the minimum size limit from 30 to 34 inches and add a catch quota of two per day in inland waters.

Classroom Report

SIXTH GRADE
On Saturday Oct. 31, eleven Safety Patrol members went to Mt. Pleasant for rally day. The rally was held at Central Michigan University, and the members were accompanied by Mrs. Ruls and Mr. Donaldson.

After enrolling and getting our lunch tickets we went to the gymnastics gym. Here we enjoyed a performance by the Central Michigan University gymnastics team. After a box lunch we attended the football game between C. M. U. and Youngstown University, which C. M. U. won 20 to 15. We then returned to Ellsworth having had a very enjoyable day.

HIGH SCHOOL
Last Monday a mock election was held among the students in the 9th through 12th grades. The results were as follows: President Johnson-56, Senator Goldwater-54, Gov. Romney-99, Stacker-10, Sen. Hart-61, Mrs. Peterson-49.

Ellsworth High School is proud to have three members of its fine football team on the All-Conference 1st team. They are Walt Kooyer, Bert Doctor, and Ron Drenth. We also have won the Good Sportsmanship Trophy which will soon be on display in our trophy case.

This last week was declared T. W. I. R. P. Week and the results have been very interesting.

PHONETIC KEYS TO READING, a system of teaching reading, emphasizing the sounds of the letters as they occur in the spoken word, is being used in grades one through three.

The vowels are presented first, then the consonants. It is hoped that children will become better readers as the result of this training in phonics.

The first grade received the P.T.A. room money for September. Some of the money was used to buy tulip bulbs.

Fifth and sixth grade . . . Mr. Lenington came on Friday and showed us slides on good conservation practices in our area. We will use some of this information in our scrapbooks or essays.

Seniors . . .
The Senior play, "Headin' for the Hills" will be presented on Friday, Nov. 13, 8 p.m., in the evening in the gym.

Nobody's opinions are worthless. Even a stopped clock is right twice a day.

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow (Friday) for the annual Fall Band Concert, presented by the Charlevoix High School Reserve and Senior Bands at the high school 8 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 24.

A total of 178 musicians will be presented in the two bands -- 88 in the eighth and ninth grade Reserve Band and 90 in the Charlevoix High School Senior Band.

THE RESERVE band will open the program playing five numbers -- the march "Imperial" by K. L. King, the overture "Beau Sabreur" by Olvadotti, "Gold and Silver" Waltz by Waltemore, "The Prayer of Thanksgiving" a traditional Dutch Thanksgiving Hymn, and an Al Hayes arrangement of "Onward Christian Soldiers."

The 90 piece Senior Band will follow, and will present a group of numbers. Featured will be the "Symphonic Overture" by Carter and "Two Chorale Preludes" by Latham, both taken from the Class B list of Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association Festival music.

Also to be presented by the band will be the concert march "Burst of Flame" by Bowles, and the popular "Climb Every Mountain" from the "Sound of Music."

A concert of 75 minutes duration has been planned.

LAST WEEK'S Band Parents Dinner reportedly attracted more than 800 diners. Association members report they expect the gross income to be approximately $1,000, making it by far the most successful ever.

All band parents were asked to donate $1 to cover costs of putting on the dinner. Association President Clifford Riley reports they have not all paid.

District To Annex Schools

Central Lake
Makes Request

Central Lake School District is expected to become an official member of the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District in December.

Central Lake is the second Antrim County school district to seek affiliation with the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate District. Ellsworth joined the district last year.

AT LEAST ONE, and possibly three, other Antrim County local school districts are reported to favor joining the Charlevoix-Emmet district.

Intermediate district Supt. Charles Robinson said the names and details on these other districts cannot be publicly released at this time without jeopardizing negotiations.

Central Lake Supt. Gene Plummer frankly admits his school district is seeking annexation to Charlevoix's district to escape annexation to the Grand Traverse Intermediate district.

Plummer said the Central Lake Board of Education has "respect and admiration for the Charlevoix-Emmet district's program and for Robinson."

Plummer said the Central Lake area has closer geographic and cultural ties with Charlevoix than Traverse City.

Before Central Lake can officially join, the Charlevoix-Emmet district voters must approve the half-million special education levy. A special election has been called for Dec. 9 to let Central Lake voters decide the question.

Plummer said he is confident it will pass.

Central Lake is located approximately ten miles south of Ellsworth and 20 miles south of Charlevoix on M-88. The village has a population of 692 (1960 census).

IT HAS TWO growing industries, Texas Instrument Co. and Dover Corp. Each employs between 50 and 60 people.

The Central Lake School District has 430 students, 120 of them in the high school. The district has an equalized taxable valuation of $4,724,000, and levies 13.2 mills for schools. A $250,000 school building program is now in process.

Hearing Set on Channel Twists

The federal government will listen to local requests to straighten the Pine River

Channel, as an aid to large cargo boats, at a public hearing here Dec. 9.

The Army Corps of Engineers has called the hearing for 1 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 9, in the County Building.

THE HEARING is reported to be part of a $150,000 study of the channel. The study was authorized by Congress.

City of Charlevoix officials initially reported the study.

Mayor E. D. Hawley said Monday the city would like to see the channel straightened and the north pier extended. Portions of both piers need improving, the city has pointed out.

Due to currents in the channel, freighters coming into Round Lake from Lake Michigan often experience difficulty in making the turn in the channel.

IN ADDITION TO the Episcopal and Assembly of God churches others participating are the First Baptist, First Methodist, First Congregational and Church of God.

Ministers taking part in the service are Rev. Alexander Wood, Invocation and benediction; The Rev. William Harmon, responsive reading; The Rev. George Majors, scripture reading and pastoral prayer; The Rev. Raymond McBratnie, explanation and receiving of offering.

The special offering will be sent to CROP for world needs. The choir and organist of the Episcopal church will provide the music, with a special anthem.

RAYMOND W. MILLS and Assoc., planning consultants of Midland, will have their bid in later this week or early next week. Mills appeared at Monday's council meeting.

Councilmen, if they decide to hire one of the firms, will appoint a nine-member planning commission to work with the consultant in developing a master plan for the city. The commission will be established by ordinance.

Commission members will receive no pay.

The planning consultant's fee can be covered by a federal 701 grant of tax money, if the city elects to use the federal tax money Washington will pay two-thirds.

$1 Million Gift for Schools

The Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District has been offered up to $1 million to speed up construction of facilities for handicapped, underprivileged, wayward and exceptional children.

One area school superintendent enthusiastically described the gift as "putting special education ahead 100 years."

THE DONATION has been pledged to the district by an anonymous person, Charles Robinson, intermediate district superintendent, reports.

Robinson said the donor requested that he not be identified. However, Robinson said, "We can say he has special loyalties to Central Lake dating back to boyhood days."

The contribution, which has been formally accepted by the intermediate district board of education, will total between $700,000 and $1 million, Robinson said.

Area representatives met with the unnamed donor in southern Michigan last week. At the meeting, Robinson said, details of the gift and the donor's stipulations were ironed out.

ATTENDING THE meeting were Robinson, Gene Plummer, Central Lake School District Supt. Gene Plummer, and Harlan Rubach, Clayton Healey, William Parsons and Carl Bush of the intermediate district board of education.

The only strings attached to the gift, Robinson said, are that half of the money must be spent as near as Central Lake as possible, and it must be used to build facilities for handicapped, retarded, exceptional, wayward and homeless children.

Robinson said a tentative agreement has been reached to construct facilities in the Central Lake area to serve the southern portion of the intermediate district, and then duplicate them in the northern section of the district.

REBMAN REPORTS a committee will be formed by early December to scout out places to spend the Economic Opportunity Act money.

According to Reberman the long-discussed area vocational school in East Jordan may qualify for some of the federal tax money as part of a training program.

Reberman said he is not fully familiar with the bill and does not know exactly what it covers. A meeting will be called in December where state authorities will brief the local committee on the bill's details, Reberman said.

THE CHARLEVOIX County Planning Commission, Reberman said, will serve as the nucleus of the poverty-hill committee. Other members will probably come from welfare, education, farm, and local government agencies.

To gain the most benefit from the bill, Reberman said, the county will have to join with others.

Rev. McBratnie Assn. President

Rev. R. J. McBratnie of the First Methodist Church is new president of the Charlevoix Ministerial Assn. He replaces Rev. Alexander Wood of the Christ Episcopal Church.

Other officers are Jack Harris of the First Baptist Church, vice president; Rev. Everett Herberger of the Assembly of God Church, secretary, and Rev. Wood, treasurer.

Rambling

WALKING the beach out North Point way the other afternoon, Earl Young pointed out an old post that proved to have an interesting history.

Coast Guardsmen, 30 or so years ago, used to walk the beach twice nightly from the channel to the post, a distance of about four miles.

CUT INTO THE post near the top was a small, square hole. In which Earl explained, there used to be a time clock the sentry punched to prove he had made his rounds.

The battered sentry post on North Point with Earl Young's cap crowning it. How many Coast Guardsmen must have cursed the weather and this post as they stumbled, head down, through the frigid wind of a Lake Michigan gale?

This was in the days before radio could be depended on to relay distress signals. The walking Coast Guardsmen could see light signals all the way up to Cross Village.

Today the white paint that covered the post is pretty much peeled off. Initials have been carved into just about every square inch of the post.

Perhaps it is a fitting tribute that the post should now maintain its lonely vigil along that barren beach that must have

Cut Size of Air Building

City Councilmen were in a quandary again Monday evening about plans for an airport administration building.

Initial bids on the building were between $8,000 and $17,000 higher than estimated. They were rejected. New bids will be opened Dec. 8.

FOUR COUNCILMEN said Monday the proposed $30,000 building is too expensive. City Supt. James Taylor said architect Jack Begrow is redesigning the building to reduce its size from 1,200 square feet to 900 square feet.

"That's awful expensive per square foot," Councilman Jerry Whitely said.

Control of the plans and contracts for the building is in the hands of the State Dept. of Aeronautics. The state will pay $15,000 (one-half) of the cost.

COUNCILMAN DON PARSEL said airport manager Joe McPhillips told him plans for the building are too elaborate and that it will be difficult to maintain.

Parsel said he would like a comparison of buildings costs per square foot for different types of construction.

"I was so disgusted last week I was ready to wash my hands of the whole thing and build it ourselves," Fochtman said.

Mayor E. D. Hawley said the only thing the city can do now is wait for the new bids to come in.

Taylor said the city already has a bid for $1,300 from Begrow.

"I THOUGHT WE had to approve these plans, but bids were advertised for before we had a chance," Fochtman has said.

Hawley also said earlier that the city had no chance to change the specifications after they were prepared by the architect.

Councilmen, in other matters, approved spending $4,100 for a new transformer and other work to improve electric service to American Mold. American Mold will spend approximately $5,000.

Hoskins Manuf. Co. had a power problem in late October, it was revealed at the meeting.

May be Able to Tame Lake Levels

The following article, written by Ronald Kewlow, is reprinted from the Chicago Tribune.

Can the Great Lakes be tamed to check the calamitous ups and downs in their levels which cause hundreds of millions of dollars in damage?

Can new sources of fresh water be converted into the lakes, already North America's most valuable natural resource, to make do double duty as the population and industrial expansion demand more and more of their precious liquid?

These are fast becoming the two biggest engineering and international questions facing the United States and Canada.

They have given birth to bold and imaginative plans whose costs are estimated in the billions of dollars. They have also given rise to doubts about whether the lakes can be tamed, and to the belief in some quarters that for some time to come we will be subjected to the temperamental fluctuations of these great bodies of water.

The United States army corps of engineers estimates that the present record low levels in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron will cause more than 60 million dollars in damage this year to United States property and shipping interests.

This crisis has moved the two countries to undertake an important joint study to find out what can be done to control the lakes.

Because any generous supply of new water into the Great Lakes will have to come from the vast Canadian watersheds, the proposals to turn rivers around to run into the lakes is being studied solely by Canada. But proposals to use Canadian water to replenish the lakes have aroused nationalistic fears that Canada may get short-changed in such diversions.

A discouraging note on the taming of the Great Lakes has been sounded by the corps of engineers. It has been studying the feasibility of controlling Lakes Michigan, Huron and Erie, since 1952. The 12-year study, which cost $900,000, was ordered by Congress when high levels on the lakes in 1952 caused an estimated 100 million dollars damage.

The study, which will be turned over to the chief of the corps in Washington early next year, indicates that it is technically possible to build works to control the three lakes but that the cost of doing so for Lake Michigan and Huron is great.

Engineering works on the scale of the Panama canal, would be needed to regulate Lakes Michigan and Huron according to the corps study.

To allow large amounts of water to pass out of these lakes during periods of high levels, 70 miles of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers would have to be widened and deepened, in addition a new channel would have to be plowed thru Harsens island at the outlet of the St. Clair river.

To choke off the outflow and back it up in the lakes during times of low water, dams with gates which could be opened and shut would have to be constructed at four points across the two rivers.

These dams would be needed at the mouths of both rivers and at strategic points in their channels. In addition, locks would have to be built to permit shipping.

Lake Erie would also require a gated dam at its outlet.

As more and more permanent improvements are made along the borders of the lakes and in channels, fluctuations in the levels will cause increasing amounts of damage.

Damage Danger Is Great

For example, if the all-time high reached in 1886, when the levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron were 582 feet above sea level, had occurred in this decade it would have caused hundreds of millions of dollars in property damage.

The level of the water in the two lakes has been at the record low for every month this year. In November the level was more than two feet below average.

Lack of rainfall is the primary reason the levels have slumped to their all-time lows. An average 5.5-inch decrease in the amount of rainfall for the last five years has shrunk tributary rivers feeding the lakes. Dry air from lack of rain also boosts the amount of evaporation.

Other manmade and natural changes have also contributed to the low levels. According to the corps, channel dredging in the St. Clair and Detroit rivers to increase the draft for ships has allowed more water to flow out of the lakes.

Dredging Drop Cited

The lakes dropped three inches because of dredging, corps estimates show, which is about the same amount of the Chicago river and the use of water for drinking and industry in Chicago.

Ivan W. Brunk, chief of the weather bureau figures that dredgings and natural deepening of the two rivers have caused Lakes Michigan and Huron to drop nearly two feet in the last 100 years.

The steady decline in the level of the two lakes is shown in charts kept by the corps of engineers since 1860. The peak high levels for Lakes Superior, Erie, and Ontario remain fairly steady, but the peaks for Lakes Michigan and Huron decline steadily.

Chicago Off Hook

As a result of the new assessment of the causes of the low levels in the lakes, the Canadian government, the corps of engineers, and the other Great Lakes states no longer regard Chicago's diversion as a significant factor.

New water must be brought into the lakes to meet the increased demand for domestic and industrial uses of water, which will double by 1980, according to Albert J. Meierow, chairman of the Great Lakes commission.

The most talked about plan, and one that is being evaluated by the Canadian government, calls for the reversal of the Harricanaw river so that it flows into Lake Huron. The river now flows north into Hudson Bay, and fresh water from Hudson Bay flows uselessly into the Atlantic ocean.

The project, called the Grand canal, was devised by T. W. Kiernans of Sudbury, Ontario, a civil engineer, who estimated it would cost about 1.2 billion dollars.

A staircase of dams and pumping stations would reroute as much as 100,000 cubic feet per second of new water into the Great Lakes basin, enough to insure abundant supplies for all users.

This amount far exceeds the 3,200 c.f.s. now drawn out by Chicago for all its uses.

Thanks!

The magnificent 1965 Cadillac is once again in production. Our thanks to those unprecedented numbers of people who have already placed their orders. Their patience will soon be rewarded.

All eleven models of the great 1965 Cadillac are once again coming off the production line—and into showrooms. We regret that production had to be delayed more than a month following the announcement of this great new car. For we know the inconvenience that it caused the thousands of devoted Cadillac admirers who have placed their orders. But patience is seldom as richly rewarded as it will be for those who take title to this magnificent automobile—easily the most exciting Cadillac in history. Its new beauty and luxurious interiors surpass even traditional Cadillac standards. Its many personal options have made it the most desired automobile of all time. And its new handling ease must be experienced to be believed. See and drive this great car soon.

So new! So right! So obviously system, a representative form of troop government.

Cadette Girl Scouts are twelve, thirteen and fourteen years old, or girls in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Cadettes also work on Proficiency Badges, but ones which demand greater skills and knowledge than those in the Junior level. These badge activities help the girls to prepare for the "Challenges", which are a test of the girls' abilities in many ways through selected real-life situations. The Challenges, in turn, help to prepare the girl for the highest award in Cadette Girl Scouting, that of First Class.

Cadette troops are governed by the patrol system. Girls of this age are able to assume more responsibility for the planning, carrying out and evaluating of their activities, all of which are done through the patrol system.

SENIOR Girl Scouts are girls fifteen, sixteen and seventeen years of age, or those in the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades in high school. Membership in a Senior Girl Scout troop can help girls prepare for their futures by giving them experience in making decisions, exercising initiative and acquiring values. They are ready to take on adult-sized projects. They explore vocations. They participate in inter-council, national and international events. Here again the method of troop government is the patrol system.

THE YOUNGEST members of the Girl Scout family are the Brownies. They are seven and eight year olds, or in the second and third grades. Brownie Girl Scouts join together to follow the "Brownie B's"—Be Discoverers, Be Ready Helpers, and Be Friend-Makers.

The next oldest members of this world wide family are the Junior Girl Scouts. They are nine, ten and eleven years old, and in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. Juniors carry out badge activities in the arts, the home and the out-of-doors and wear the various Proficiency Badges as an indication of achievement in a particular subject. The Sign of the Arrow and the Sign of the Star indicate achievement in Junior Girl Scouting. Juniors begin to govern themselves in their own troop meetings by the use of the patrol

IGA

Thanksgiving is a happy time when families gather to relax and enjoy festive meals. But more important than this it is a time when we should "give thanks." Thanks for the freedom that we enjoy every day of our lives. Freedom founded by the Pilgrims and preserved by the courageous dedication of our forefathers. It is this freedom which has brought our nation strength and offers to all of those who strive for it, the good things of life in overwhelming abundance. Yes... let us take time to "give thanks" on this Thanksgiving Day.

The Creative Photographer

Due to the talent of men like Ellsworth's Sam Carlisle, photography has slowly been earning recognition as one of the creative arts. In the last few years photographic exhibits have appeared in art museums and other places formerly reserved for such traditional creative arts as painting and sculpture.

The pictures below are so expressive they need no descriptive cutlines. Each of them will spark the individual's imagination in his own personal way. Certainly they must be considered creative.

Carlisle managed to take them not because he is a technical expert with a camera, but because he has an artist's eye for recognizing beauty and the truly realistic in human nature.

School Report Card

Written by Charlevoix Public School Educators

By MILDRED LAWRENCE
Vocal Music Teacher

There is a new addition to the 1964-65 curriculum, a small class of 15 girls who make up the Girls' Glee Club.

This group meets twice a week for a full class period, reserving the third day for special rehearsals and practices.

SINCE HIGH school vocal music was offered this fall, but was not listed in the spring pre-scheduling, many students interested in such a program were not able to fit it in their schedules. It is hoped that this Glee Club will be a nucleus of an expanding vocal music in the high school. The Glee Club has made one appearance before the students and has plans for other performances in the future.

The elementary music schedule is well on its way, planning for a Thanksgiving assembly and a Christmas program. The main function of music on the elementary level is to serve the needs of all children, not only of the gifted and talented, but also of the vast majority who lack specific musical ability.

Music fills a need for each child, whether in the form of an emotional release, through rhythmic activity, through socializing as a part of a group, or as an outlet for creativity.

IDEALLY, EACH music class should include singing, a rhythmic activity, and a listening lesson. This plan has been conscientiously followed through past years.

Moreover, we must not lose sight of the fact that learning music involves a skill. Although it is not very likely that all children can learn to read music yet they can develop an understanding of the musical language, its symbols, form and vocabulary. With such a background they will become better informed concert goers, listeners, and will be better prepared to enjoy singing at home and in the community.

The music department is hoping to acquire some additional teaching aids in the form of rhythm instruments and resonator bells, in addition to enriching musical activity, the use of these instruments assist in the teaching of note reading and ear training.

WE SINCERELY hope that the elementary music program will produce informed students, some of whom will perhaps gain satisfaction from singing a difficult passage in a Handel oratorio; some who will enjoy tapping their feet and singing "Home on the Range" or "My Wild Irish Rose" in blissful ignorance of all technical clutter, and also those who can appreciate what they hear, and have learned to listen.

This is a big order, but a goal that is well worth striving for.

Study Reveals

Fishing Poor

Experimental fishing operations in the Charlevoix area by the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries are described in the bureau's magazine, Commercial Fisheries Review.

The article reports on work done by the bureau's research vessel "Kaho."

"FAIR TO GOOD fishing was experienced in all areas visited except the Beaver Island-Charlevoix area where rough bottom conditions hampered fishing operations," the article stated. "...Trawlable grounds located north and east of Beaver Island and near Charlevoix in Little Traverse Bay yielded negligible catches of small chubs and alewife. Other commercial species which appeared in trawl catches in less than significant amounts included whitefish (10 pounds total from 2 drags) and smelt (220 pounds total from 11 drags)."

Port Directory Plugs Harbor

The "1964 Interstate Port Handbook" devotes 12 inches of story and picture to Charlevoix's harbor.

The story and picture, prepared by Chief of Police Joseph Smith, is on page 48 of the 136 page directory of St. Lawrence Seaway and Great Lakes ports.

THE DIRECTORY includes a description of most major Great Lakes harbor facilities and advertising from marine suppliers. It is published by Rochwell F. Clancy Co., 75 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. Cost is $5 a copy. The story on Charlevoix outlines the harbor's natural assets and public and private facilities, as well as plans for future expansion. The 3 inch by 7 inch picture shows the harbor during the height of the boating season.

Creative People

Often Odd-Balls

The creative genius in art or science is the idea-man—the non-conformist whose seemingly odd-ball way of thinking leads to novel, and sometimes startling, discoveries.

So says a University of Michigan psychiatrist who is studying the life of Rudyard Kipling to explore some fundamental aspects of human creativity.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Thomas N. Cross of the U-M Medical Center, the British author represents the artistic creator, who, like his scientific colleagues, possessed a unique combination of sensitivity and logic.

In a manuscript for a book on Kipling, the U-M doctor examines the author's life and literature and speculates on what makes a man creative.

Many creative individuals say they had unhappy childhoods, Dr. Cross points out. In the book he will analyze Kipling's early years to determine how they influenced the content and quality of his works.

"From a psychiatric point of view it would be worthwhile to know how much creativity is an inborn gift, like Stan Musial's ability to hit a baseball, and how much it is a product of childhood experiences and outside influences," he explains.

FURTHER INSIGHT into the nature of creativity will be useful in dealing with the creative person, who often "doesn't fit" into the more regimented aspects of society, he says.

Farm Census On

Questionnaires for the 1964 agricultural census have been mailed to Charlevoix County rural residents, Robert Ricksgren, county census leader, reports.

An enumerator will call on every farmer in the area to collect the questionnaires, he said. The agricultural census is taken every five years in the years ending in "4" and "9" to gather information on the nation's farm resources and production.

"Home is the place where Dad is free to say anything he pleases, because no one will pay the slightest attention to him anyway," Robert E. Lee, Woodward (Okla.) County Journal.

This Chain

... surely it is capable of drawing a heavy load. Another chain might hold a tiny cross or a precious gem in place. Still another might bind my arms in helplessness. But the old adage is true. "No chain is stronger than its weakest link." One link, the weakest link, governs the strength. For one weak link the heavy load breaks loose, or something precious is lost, or the manacled arms are free again. There, too, are chains of character, good habits, religious morals that make us strong and dependable in difficult hours. These attributes are as links of the chain. For life is of a piece and every day is part of the chain that counts toward everlasting. Then anchor the picture of the chain in the gallery of your meditation. Then form good habits that hold us firmly in constructive toil. Attend church regularly and support God's cause with your means. Put goodness, integrity and truthfulness into your personal character chain. Let God's church and His faithful help you forge a chain of strength and usefulness.

Carey Looks Ahead To Grid Season

By FRANK MARTIN
Though football equipment has been stored for another year, Coach Carey, along with grid fans, are counting noses . . . of players who will be returning to next year's team and those who will be lost by graduation.

On the credit side, i.e., players who are expected to be back another season, will be Steve Smith, sophomore quarterback, who is likely to serve the same position another year though he did see some action in the guard position; Ted Weidman who, though light, saw action as a full-back; Mark Bourgoin, who started the year as a tackle and ended up in the backfield where he did an excellent job; Ken Mousse, also a back, who gave depth to this year's line and who should contribute much to the position another year.

JOHN FERGUSON, Packy Warner and Jack Bergman will give experience to the end positions. The first two saw limited action as did Bergman, a sophomore.

Jerry Meggison, Gary Kanoff, Ron Crandall and Bob Holtzman who also alternated in the

Johnson Paces Pistol Team To Slim Lead

The Rod and Gun Club pistol team beat the combined Coast Guard squad 1,342 to 1,305 in last Thursday's regular weekly shoot.

The club team was Paul Johnson with 285 points; Frank Zednick, 276; Roger Hull, 272; Ken Boss, 261; Harold Lang, 247.

COAST GUARD shooters were Charles Mullrad, 273; Terry Gray, 268; David Smith, 264; Dick Gallant, 253 and Robert Wojtuszek, 247.

Other Coast Guard shooters firing on the Rod and Gun Club indoor range that evening were Ed Pyzyński, 243; Dave Radatz, 184; Ed Tempelski, 178; Jim Dille, 207 and Roger Renski, 151. Rod and Gun club shooters not qualifying for the top five were Lester Brown, 224; Dick Smith, 163; Herb Boss, 237; Babe Matthews, 229 and Bill Blissett, 246.

end position, all filled tackle positions and in another season should be bigger and stronger, thus giving these positions plenty of punch and depth.

Larry Hutchinson, Jan Anderson, Ron Potter and Jim Luther, guards who gave a great deal of themselves this season, will be in a position to give even more next fall if they continue to have the desire. Luther who played some in the center position may get the nod next season. Right now he is the only returnee with this experience.

Neil Cross, who was lost early in the season due to a knee injury, is giving himself a rest and not playing basketball in order to be ready for next season when he is expected to hold down a regular assignment in the line.

OTHER CANDIDATES will come from the J-V squad whose sophomores looked pretty good this season though the number is limited, according to Coach Don Carey.

Though this year's squad was light . . . averaging a minimum of 10 pounds less than their opponents, they did an excellent job. The team also lacked an offensive punch but managed to hold their opponents to 69 points while scoring 92.

No Incidents Yet for Hunters

No gunshot accidents or major incidents were reported by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Dept. during the opening days of deer season.

The department reported no one has been jailed since the season opened for shooting a deer illegally.

FOUR CHARLEVOIX youths were arrested the day before the season opened, Nov. 14, by Conservation Officer Harley Burris for having uncased guns in a car in Hayes Township. They each paid $22.30 fine and costs in Justice John Connolly's court. They are John W. Curtis, 24, 240 E. Carpenter; Forrest G. Burke, 23, R-3, Charlevoix; Rex B. Davis, 22, 1220 State St., and Sam E. Kane, 25, 512 W. Huribut.

Five members of the 1964 Charlevoix high school Rayder football squad received recognition as members of the Northern Michigan Class C All-Conference third team announced this week by league coaches. In announcing the results of the choices made by the coaches, Jim Mongeau, president of the league, said the voting was close all the way and those players named to the second and third squads had only a few votes less than those named to the top team. He added that there has seldom been such a close race.

COACH DON CAREY who had five players named to the All-Conference third team said Tuesday that he felt these five players who are outstanding in their respective positions as any players named to either the first or second squads.

Rayders who won recognition were Rich Grunch, scrappy full-back who was the team's top scorer with 30 points; Dave Smith, "bread and butter" ball carrier who accounted for two Rayder TD's; Del Terrill, whose signal calling guided the team throughout the entire season, all outstanding backs in their own right in a season that had a host of good backs.

Linemen to win berths on the third team were Doug Winnell, who did an outstanding job in the tackle position, playing every minute of every game all season and Mike Arbuckle, who, after an absence of one year as the result of an injury, returned to the squad to play a major role as a guard.

Players from Gaylord's championship team from Harbor Springs' second place team that was in the running until the final game and players from the third place Boyne City Rambler squad dominated the coaches' choices.

COACHES MAKING the choices were Dave Coatta of Gaylord, Barry Aspenleiter of Harbor Springs, Paul Pfahler of Boyne City, Tom St. Germain of Pellston, Fraser Dean of Grayling, Gerry Delling of Mancelona, Wes Fleet of Boyne City and Coach Carey of Charlevoix.

HIS FIRST DEER -- Sixteen-year-old John Gibson, left, with the seven point buck he shot early Sunday morning behind the Girl Scout camp south of town on the Morion Center Rd. It was John's first deer. Hunting with him is Bill Forcos Jr. John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gibson, 308 Moy St. (COURIER PHOTO)

Rayder Cagers Already Preparing for Opener

By FRANK MARTIN
The Charlevoix Rayders took to the hardwoods Monday in preparation for the 1964-65 basketball season, which formally opens here Dec. 4 when they host Mancelona.

What are the Rayders' chances this season? Coach Don Carey reports that the team boasts quite a bit of experience and lots of confidence, but does every other team in the league.

"THIS IS GOING to be a tough season," Carey said, "it seems as though everyone has plenty of players returning. Take East Jordan. . . I feel that they're loaded; Harbor Springs has almost the same team that took the district title last season; Gaylord has plenty of experience and lots of height. I understand (Tom) Lick has grown a couple more inches; Mancelona has (Dave) Prudden, two Moekes (Barry and A. J.), (Ron) Grody and several others that looked real good on the JV's last season; Grayling has the two Smiths (Dick and Terry) and the big center who played with the JV's last year; Boyne City is always a threat though they may lack height and Pellston has several boys returning," Coach Carey said in a quick rundown on the prospects.

"In fact," Carey added, "I think the potential is greater throughout the entire league this season than it's been in years so you can see that we're going to have to be real good if we hope to stay in the running."

A rundown of Charlevoix returnees here shows 10, all of whom are experienced.

There's Dave Norton who is now 6'5" and who should do well at the center position; Doug Winnell, Tom Maxwell, Randy Carey and Dave Smith, all forwards and Jim Uhrick who plays both forward and guard, all of whom will be strong contenders for starting positions.

DEL TERRILL, a regular guard from last season, Warren Belding, who, though not a regular because of his lack of stamina, should also add much to the team. Jack Uhrick and John Bleha, show potential as guards.

Coach Carey went on to say that this year's junior class has few athletes. Neil Cross, who was lost early in the football season because of a knee injury, will not be out for the cage team. This leaves John Ferguson and Ted Weidman and possibly a few others up from the JV's.

Coach Carey hesitated to comment on other players who might be candidates for the squad because he has not worked with the group though they have been practicing shooting and getting the feel of the ball and the floor by themselves this week.

He concluded by saying, "The boys like to play basketball, they work hard at it, they are confident and have a great deal of desire. How they will shape up and how they will do against other equally tough squads remains to be seen."

THE RAYDERS will have five games before the first of the year. Besides Mancelona here in the opening game Dec. 4, they will travel to Gaylord Dec. 11; host Pellston here on Dec. 15 and Boyne City on Dec. 18 before going to Petoskey for the annual holiday game with The Northmen on Dec. 26.

Simple System To Keep Cattle Health Records

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY--Charlevoix County dairymen can now have the answers to many of their breeding and herd health problems.

Many dairy herd owners have expressed the need for a record system that will keep them up-to-date on the breeding and health problems of each cow in their herd. A system of individual herd health records is now available to provide this information with the least possible effort to the dairyman.

INDIVIDUAL RECORDS are used for recording the identification, calving, breeding, mastitis, udder health, reproductive and other health information for each animal. Colored tabs, designation specific health conditions, can be attached to the folders enabling dairymen to quickly determine the health status of any animal.

A dairyman milking 50 cows can purchase a complete health record system for less than 10 cents per animal, a small investment for good herd health.

The health records, developed by Michigan State University extension specialists, are generally stored in a file box or notebook and kept at the barn for easy reference by the dairyman.

Barry county dairymen who used the herd health record system nearly one year are highly enthused about its advantages and

Chamber Chat

By DEAN DAVENPORT
Chamber of Commerce Manager

Sometimes it is difficult to get one's mind untraveled in order to set down in writing some of the things you folks should know about the workings of your Chamber of Commerce. Since the Courier so generously invited me to take this means of reporting to you it seems there are so many things to say it is difficult to know where to start and where to stop.

I could start by repeating the time-worn question: "What is the Chamber of Commerce and what does it do for me?"

NOW THE CHAMBER OF Commerce means different things to different people. Some feel the Chamber office is only an answering agency...some expect a great deal of direct personal benefits...still others feel we cater only to an exclusive clientele. None of these are accurate. First let me say that the Chamber of Commerce is really a people...it is all of you! It certainly is not the office, the building, or a sign, or, one person...all 185 members go to make up the Chamber of Commerce. We are committed to promote Charlevoix in all its phases and to provide services. Our objective is not to serve any one individual or group but the Community as a whole.

If the Community grows economically, morally, educationally and physically then, you grow along with it. So, when people ask "What does the Chamber do for me?" it all comes back to the individual as to how much investment he is putting back into the Community. Investment in your Community means growth in many ways.

Our town's growth the past year has been steady and solid. More new homes, improvements and commercial buildings have been built than ever before. This has meant an increase of $728,110 in assessed valuation to the city. More sales taxes were collected, more telephones were installed, more than 13,000 visitors during the summer months, more boats, more power sold and more permanent residents.

WHAT DOES YOUR CHAMBER DO FOR YOU?...It answers your mail...it's your spokesman...it's your business agent...it's your sales manager...it's your information bureau...it's your good will ambassador...it's the voice of the Chamber. It makes no difference whether you are a professional person...in business...an industrialist...dealing in services...or, working on a salary, our activities are bound to assist you either directly or indirectly.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors a long look was given to the basic formula being used for individual membership. A careful step by step procedure was followed to make necessary adjustments in the basic membership contributions. The Board now feels we have established a fair and more equitable adjustment which in about 90% of the cases will upgrade your membership for the present fiscal year of 1964-65. This will create an additional $1,000 for our budget and will enable us to do a more efficient job.

The Board also decided that since we are already in our new fiscal year (as of Nov. 1, 1964), the annual membership drive will be held the early part of December. This will be a concentrated drive lasting two or three days conducted along similar lines of last year. We hope to inject some new ideas for the people who so graciously accept the job of calling on you for your membership investment. They are actually doing a service for you. We urge you to give careful consideration to your Chamber subscription during this drive. Advance notice will be given you just when this drive is to be held.

From time to time we hope to continue this Chamber Chat through the courtesy of the Courier...thank you.

Don't Neglect Baby's Teeth

Unless he gets proper care for his baby teeth, a child can become a "dental cripple" for life, warns a University of Michigan specialist.

Dr. William E. Brown, Jr., says it is completely erroneous to believe primary teeth can be safely neglected.

"If a PRIMARY tooth is lost prematurely, the space will tend to close in so that the permanent tooth cannot erupt into its proper position. This may result in the need of comprehensive orthodontic correction or a crippled dentition throughout life."

Dr. Brown, a professor in the U-M School of Dentistry, offered guidelines to help parents plan their child's first visit to a dentist.

--Select the dentist early, before serious problems develop. --Plan the first visit by age three, or soon after all 20 primary teeth have appeared.

--Treat the appointment as a normal event so the child does not feel alarmed.

"If we could only keep our earnings above our yearnings we'd have fewer headaches." --Harold S. May, Florence Ala., Herald.

Creative Touch Adds Regal Air To Pork Entree

The magic wand of creative cookery has touched a few ingredients with imagination, seasoned them with spice and come up with Pork Tenderloin Royale.

Just think of the interesting flavor and aroma that a combination of soy sauce, ginger and cashew nuts can give to rice. Top this with pork tenderloin patties and you begin to get the idea of the recipe.

Like all meats, pork tenderloin is a source of high quality protein, maintains meat cookery expert, Rebe Staggs. It's an especially good source of the B vitamin, thiamine, so important for good nutrition.

- Pork Tenderloin, Royale
- 1 1/2 pounds pork tenderloin, cut into 6 patties
 - 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
 - 2 cups cooked rice
 - 1 cup chopped cashew nuts
 - 1 cup finely chopped onion
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 3 tablespoons soy sauce
 - 1/4 teaspoon ginger

Brown tenderloin patties in lard or drippings. Season with salt, pepper and garlic salt. Combine rice, cashew nuts, onions, celery, soy sauce and ginger. Pour into a greased 12x8-inch baking dish. Arrange tenderloin patties on top. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 45 minutes or until meat is done. 4 to 6 servings.

Boys Injured In Auto Crash

Three young Charlevoix boys were reported injured in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon.

According to State Police the three boys were riding in a car driven by Isaac T. Greensky, 23, of Petoskey, when it collided with a power-line pole near the Penn-Dixie cement plant on U.S. 31. The boys were reported to be returning from a visit to Harbor Springs and had been given a ride by Greensky when he saw them hitch-hiking.

THE BOYS WERE Glenn McSawby, 10, 306 W. Lincoln; Robert Washgesse, 12, 406 W. Lincoln and Gary McSawby, 11, 306 W. Lincoln. They were taken to Little Traverse Hospital. Greensky was also injured.

We figure that if we're going into the automobile business, we'd better bet on a couple of Wide-Track winners, Pontiac and Tempest.

And we figure that if you're going to buy a medium-priced car or low-priced car, you'd better bet on a Wide-Track, too—a Pontiac or Tempest from us.

We've got the sales organization, the service and parts

If you won't tell anybody (except maybe a few friends who're planning to buy cars themselves), here's a little trade secret: We're a brand-new Pontiac dealer, so we've got to do better than the competition to get customers. Come on down and see if we don't.

The gale-force blow of last Thursday night was what kept the Sheppard clan at home. Listening to the wind play its lonely melody on the barren limbs of the big tree at Idle Acres is just too much for a dreamer to miss.

Can one help but wonder if the wind he hears at night isn't the same that kept him company in other places thousands of miles away and years ago? And what has the wind seen tonight and where is it going? Ah yes, pity the man who is too wise to dream.

School

THE CHARLEVOIX - Emmet Intermediate District includes Charlevoix and Emmet counties and part of Antrim County.

Facilities constructed with the gift would not affect the special education program launched by the district this year, Robinson said.

The special education program now underway is a program to supplement regular schooling by giving extra attention to children with speech, reading and other problems. It is conducted in the student's regular school.

The donation will be used to build facilities for children who need an entirely specialized school curriculum, Robinson said. This would, most likely, include those new in the Charlevoix Retarded Children's Center, and others with such defects as crippled limbs, deafness, blindness, etc.

THE DONOR, Robinson said, is also interested in establishing a school for outstanding (exceptional) students, where they would be segregated from average and slow pupils. Such a program, the intermediate superintendent pointed out, is not an accepted by current educational philosophy.

The money will also be used to build a half-way home for children in trouble or without a home for whom the Probate Court now has no solution but to return to the streets.

"We must appraise our needs to be sure what we do best fills our needs within acceptable education philosophy," Robinson said.

Before the intermediate district commits itself to specifics on how the gift will be used, Robinson said it must determine what type of program it can afford to operate. The donation would not pay for operation of the facilities.

supporting data on the economic justification of the undertaking." Detailed information is requested on:

- 1--THE NATURE of improvements desired, including charts and maps.
- 2--The economic benefits of the improvement.
- 3--How much local cooperation can be expected from county and city government, including the necessary lands and rights-of-way.

"A favorable recommendation by the District Engineer will be possible only if benefits to be derived through the plan of improvement exceed the costs to be incurred," Col. Bruce's statement said.

There has been no public estimate of the cost of the proposed channel widening and pier improvements.

"THE DISTRICT Engineer, after carefully analyzing the data obtained from local interests and developed through field and office studies, will devise a plan of improvement best suited for problems under consideration," Col. Bruce stated.

Persons favoring or opposing the project will be given a chance to speak at the hearing. However, Col. Bruce asked that all important facts be submitted in writing, in quadruplicate.

Here's a Break For Servicemen

All unmarried Charlevoix servicemen can set aside their annual Christmas gift wrapping frustrations.

The newly formed Charlevoix Military Wives Club has taken it upon themselves to handle this chore for the bachelors who with their husbands serve in the Air Force and Coast Guard.

THE MILITARY wives will wrap gifts free from Noon to 3 p.m. on Nov. 21-23 and 28 at Gills Appliance Store for single servicemen.

Ingenuity Fashions Ground Beef Into Rolls with Biscuit Wrap

Sage advice given homemakers to keep them from getting cooking doldrums often includes this idea: try at least one new recipe a month.

If the recipe is both thrifty and ingenious, the homemaker will feel she has something. Cooked ground beef, explains recognized meat authority, Reba Staggs, is mixed with novel seasonings like sage, mustard and chili sauce. This mixture is then placed on a rectangle of biscuit dough and rolled jelly roll fashion. Slice and bake according to recipe directions.

Ground Beef Rolls—Vegetable Gravy

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
1 cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon sage
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup chili sauce
Biscuit Dough
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed mushroom soup

1 can (16 ounces) peas, drained

Cook ground beef, mushrooms and onion in lard or drippings until lightly browned. Pour off drippings. Combine ground beef mixture, salt, pepper, sage, dry mustard and chili sauce. Prepare Biscuit Dough. Roll dough into a 12 x 16-inch rectangle, about 1/4 inch thick. Spread meat mixture on dough. Roll as a jelly roll. Cut into 1-inch slices and place on a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 30 minutes. Combine mushroom soup and peas in a saucepan and heat. Serve with beef rolls. Serves 4 to 6.

Biscuit Dough

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
1 to 1 1/2 cup milk

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine even crumb. Add enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto a lightly floured surface and knead gently for 1/2 minute.

DODGE SALESMAN Bob Humphrey has an uneasy knack for being where Charlevoix's prettiest girls are.

As our town's favorite MC, Bob constantly finds himself called on to handle events that will lure our Queens and their cohorts.

His late escapade was to MC the Homecoming pep rally and crowning of the Queen. There was Bob, as usual, in front of several hundred people, but not a one of them paying any attention to him. Which is no wonder with the five girls sitting right beside him.

However, it is something of a wonder this doesn't give Bob an inferiority complex. But it doesn't, as noted in the picture below. When the photographer showed up to take the Queen's picture, Bob was his usual cheery self and we couldn't resist taking this picture as he hammed it up a bit.

CITY ATTORNEY John Michael was still complaining here a few weeks ago about this picture we ran of him enjoying a Kiwanis sponsored hotdog at last year's PTA Fair.

VETERANS DAY last Wednesday (Nov. 11) was conspicuously uncelebrated in Charlevoix. Our Flag in front of the Courrier seemed to be one of the few displayed in the business district.

Perhaps next year one, or both, of the veterans organizations in town will plan a brief ceremony the Courrier can report to focus local attention on this special day we set aside to honor those millions of Americans, who, no matter how much they despised military life, answered the call and gave their all when their country called.

IF CHARLEVOIX High School bandmen and director C. A. Odmark, get to wondering if the hours of tedious labor that goes into putting together such an excellent musical group is appreciated, let's hope they think back to last Thursday's Band Parents Dinner.

More than 800 people (a record) are reported to have eaten at the dinner. Many more, the Sheppards included, bought tickets but chose to eat at home. It's doubtful any group in a town the size of Charlevoix ever got such a great vote of appreciation

Goldman Meyer Fund Spent $423 In Year

The Lenore Goldman Meyer Fund Committee spent $423.57 during the fiscal year which ended Aug. 1 for emergency aid to area residents. Mrs. Arthur Ranger, chairman, announced at the annual meeting.

Because of mild winter, the high rate of employment in the community and the lack of serious emergencies that demanded aid, expenditures were at a minimum last year, Mrs. Ranger said.

APPROXIMATELY HALF of the funds spent went for milk for children at the Charlevoix Public Schools and St. Mary's parochial school. Mrs. Ranger explained that through the cooperation of classroom teachers, children who cannot afford milk are given milk along with their more fortunate classmates.

Other funds were spent for clothing, food and fuel. Most of the clothing was for children, a pair of shoes or warm boots, winter jackets, underclothing, jeans and a shirt. Items important for the warmth as well as the well being of a child, she added.

"At the time the fund was established," Mrs. Ranger said, "In the early 1940's, there was a great need for an emergency fund that could offer assistance to a family until something more lasting could be arranged. It has always been used strictly as an emergency measure and is not prepared to cope with long range situations. However, in recent years there has been more and more year-around employment and fewer emergencies such as a serious fire or family tragedy that have required assistance and, as a result, less money has been spent."

"In the past, when there was a serious fire, for example, the fund was prepared to purchase clothing, food and other supplies to 'tide' a family over until other arrangements would be made, until insurance could be collected or until the head of the family could get back on his feet. In recent years there has been less of this type of emergency.

"The fact that $22,238.35 has been spent since the fund was established bears out the statement that the 1963-64 year was a light one, money-wise, for the fund.

"Those of us who have worked with the fund since it was set up in 1941 have come to realize that the majority of people will ask for assistance only when they have to. When the breadwinner is employed regularly, people tend to manage and will seek emergency aid only when a legitimate need arises. However, the fund is always there to give assistance and there are people in the community who will call us if they become aware of a situation that needs attention. It is more often one of these calls from an outsider than a request from the people involved that bring various cases to our attention," Mrs. Ranger explained.

"There are many people in the community who help us carry out the work for which the fund was established. Teachers who are made aware of a need through children in their classrooms, church-affiliated persons, former members of the committee, the school nurse, Mrs. (Keith) Miles, who is always most helpful, and people interested in the community for various reasons. In fact, it is these people who have made this venture the success that it is," she continued. "It is handled by a committee that quickly investigates each case and just as quietly, gives assistance."

The fund was established in 1941 as a memorial to Lenore Goldman Meyer who died in August of that year at the age of 29 years. It was set up for the benefit of Charlevoix area residents because, as a girl and young matron, her interests had always been in Charlevoix where her family had a summer home for many years, Mrs. Ranger said.

The uses to which the fund was to be utilized were spelled out as one of an emergency measure. It cannot, for instance, be used for the purchase of medicines, to pay hospital bills or doctor's fees or to underwrite assistance on a long-term basis, Mrs. Ranger said.

"We have made it a point to follow these directives to the letter through the years. We have never denied assistance to anyone who comes up to these stipulations. We have had to tell people who needed aid over a long period of time that they would have to seek help elsewhere. However, we have given them aid on a 'stop-gap' basis until other arrangements could be made," Mrs. Ranger said in conclusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranger, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Meyer are members of the permanent committee and have served without compensation since 1941. Present members of the committee, who serve for periods of two years are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McRae, Miss Frances Milner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Noff and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bassett. The Bassetts joined the committee last week.

Nearly 99 per cent of Alaskan land is federally owned.

Since most of the deer hunters are too busy looking for a target to read this, it is a safe week to write a column on deer hunting.

The Conservation Dept. last week (too late for the paper) sent out a report on "Deer in 1964." The 15 page pamphlet is packed full of easily read information on the deer herd. It can be obtained by writing the department in Lansing for Game Section Information Circular Number 138.

HOWEVER, SINCE most hunters are most inclined to sit at home and proclaim their superior knowledge about deer than they are to study the findings of skilled biologists, this column will scan the pamphlet for you.

The most puzzling piece of information noted is that the department classifies nearly all of Charlevoix County as a "critical crop damage area."

It would be interesting to know just what this is based on. How many dollars worth of crops were damaged by deer this year? How many farmers -- and just who were they -- complained?

Though we regularly see deer browsing in farm fields -- especially south of town -- we seldom hear anyone squawking about it.

THIS YEAR'S antlerless hunting quotas in the Charlevoix area are justified due to the crop damage problem, the department's report explains. This makes our area somewhat distinct as most of the doe shooting is justified by the lack of food for deer.

But don't misunderstand. This is not an attack on antlerless shooting. Michigan's deer herd -- and specifically that part of it in western Charlevoix County -- appears to be in its best condition in history. The department's courageous management policies must get credit for this.

Perhaps, however, it is time we quit trying to make excuses, such as "food shortage" or "crop damage" -- for shooting does. The policy is justified on the grounds that it offers more and better sport for Michigan hunters.

I don't hear anyone running off at the mouth when someone shoots a female grouse, rabbit or squirrel, or catches a lady perch that is full of spawn. So why the clamor over killing does ... as long as it doesn't damage the deer population?

HERE'S SOME evidence from the department's report that leaves no doubt but what the deer herd is prospering -- and with it Michigan hunters.

"1963 was a banner year for deer hunters in Michigan. License sales went over a half a million (115,720) for the first time, and the kill in the regular and special season combined (124,070) was topped only by the record season of 1952. About 502,270 people actually hunted deer, and just about 1 in every 4 of them took a deer home."

Hunters and game biologists checking deer were sure that deer taken in 1963 were averaging heavier, with bigger antlers."

"The prospects for the 1964 hunting season are good. Of an expected fall herd of 800,000 deer, a good 200,000 won't be here next spring if the coming winter is normal -- or worse. Hunters can and should take close to three-fourths of that 200,000 surplus."

IN 1963, THE circular points out, hunters killed about 75,000 bucks. The department figures this is 60% of the total buck population. Another nearly 50,000 hunters

CANDID CAMERA?--This picture doesn't prove anything...and isn't intended to. It's all for fun. When the Courier Photographer visits the Elementary School, he is always confronted by at least one group of students who insist "take our picture." Well, he has fun taking it. The kids, evidently, have fun having their picture taken. So we thought maybe you would enjoy seeing just how much fun it all is. (COURIER PHOTO)

Flies-Only Preserved On Famed Trout Stream

Acting for the first time under authority of a new law, the Conservation Commission last week set special trout fishing regulations on about 31 miles of the AuSable river in Crawford and Oscoda counties.

Through this act passed in 1964, which permits the establishment of these controls on up to 100 miles of streams in Michigan, flies-only fishing was designated with a minimum size limit of 10 inches and a daily creel limit of five trout for a 16.4 mile section of the river's South Branch in Crawford county.

ACTUALLY, THERE will be no change in regulations on this part of the stream because these same controls have been in effect there for several years.

Killed does and fawns. This, in contrast, would be less than 10% of the total doe and fawn population.

Obviously, then, if antlerless shooting were not allowed, 50,000 fewer hunters would have got their deer. Since the doe shooting is helping, not hurting, the herd, isn't it justified on the basis of sport alone?

THE FISH CHIEF reasoned that the potential value of these regulations lies in making greater numbers of trophy fish available throughout the fishing season. In so doing, semi-wild trout populations might be re-established which would let anglers catch more and larger trout per hour than from heavily-fished waters. Putting these "quality" controls into proper dimension, Dr.

editor's notes

If the Nov. 3 election gave political parties any idea of what their strategy should be it is the need to court independent voters, outgoing County Democratic Chairman George LaBlance notes.

George is firmly convinced the key to political victory is the independent voter.

HE DEMISES claims that state and national Democratic candidates were swept into office by President Johnson's popularity. If this were true, LaBlance reasons, Neil Staeber would have defeated Gov. Romney and county Democrats would have trounced Republican incumbents.

Voters who refuse to label themselves as Democrats or Republicans determined the election's outcome, he contends. They obviously split their ballot, depending on which candidate had the greatest personal appeal to them.

The Nov. 3 election returns, LaBlance says, indicate there are about 2,650 dedicated Republicans in the county and 2,200 loyal Democrats. There are another nearly 1,000 voters who tend to vote Republican and approximately 500 who are inclined to vote Democratic.

This, according to LaBlance's somewhat impromptu estimate, means approximately 1,500 voters split their ballot. These up to 1,500 votes are enough to turn the tide for either party.

IT HAS BECOME something of a status symbol to call yourself an "independent." Where a person would once—and not too long ago—have been looked upon as weak-minded if he didn't know if he were a Democrat or Republican, today people declare their non-partisanship with pride.

All of which adds up to an evident weakening of the two party system which has maintained our stability through times of strife and comfort.

Only the political parties themselves can be blamed for this. People are veering away from swearing allegiance to either party because they no longer find the parties clearly defining their philosophy and offering a noticeable difference.

Rather than come to grips with tangible issues the two parties have resorted to running personality contests.

ROMNEY SERVED AS the best example of this. Michigan's dynamic governor won re-election not because he sold voters on Republican principles. He did not. He campaigned on his personal honesty, intelligence, robust energy and physical appeal.

Actually, Romney's campaign would have been just as comfortable—and successful—under a Republican or Democrat label.

Though it would be unfair to name them in print, this editor has confronted a growing number of local Republicans who were ardent Romney backers before the election, but are now blaming his non-partisan strategy for defeating just about every other GOP candidate in the state.

Those who disagree point out Romney won, whereas Goldwater—who did campaign strictly on clear-cut issues—lost.

DEMOCRATS HAVE been gaining ground in recent years because they have been busy 12 months a year championing the crusade for a "refrigerator in every kitchen."

Republicans have lost the massive majority they once took for granted because they did just that. For a few weeks before election Republicans get busy. But even then they do little more than sound like a somewhat restrained echo of what the Democrats have been saying all year.

This forced the Democrats to make even bigger promises of government help until they were virtually forced to such extremes they couldn't come up with anything the Republicans weren't willing to second them on. So both parties were left with no alternative but to look for the nicest guy they could find to run.

Voters, not being the numskulls politicians so often think they are, rapidly caught on and decided it didn't matter which party label the guy was running on because they mean the same thing.

IF CHARLEVOIX Republicans have any hope of reversing this trend, and recapturing their once powerful position, they will have to decide they do stand for something and tell the public, year, round, just what it is.

Local Democrats, likewise, had better stick to their guns—and their hard work—if they want to keep nudging ahead.

If the parties take this hint from the growing number of independents in the county, the non-partisan voters will have served a worthwhile purpose by preserving our absolutely necessary two-party system. —Shep

Fundamental Rights at Stake in K-12 Ruling

IN THE NEXT few months a committee of 18 persons from Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties will draft plans to eliminate all non-high school districts in the Intermediate School District. The committee may also elect to eliminate some small high school districts by consolidating them with bigger districts.

For many who have long been concerned with the determination of small school districts to maintain their individualism, the reorganization committee's goal appears sinister.

HOWEVER, THE committee is held by the state's new K-12 law to come up with a proposal to wipe out all inefficient school districts. When the committee's plan is completed voters will have a chance to pass judgment.

Voters throughout the entire Intermediate District, which includes all of Emmet and Charlevoix counties and a small part of Antrim, may vote on the final recommendation as a whole; or individual districts that will be merged with one another may vote separately on only the part of the plan that affects them.

The latter voting method will allow taxpayers to appraise the plan purely on its merits as it involves them. On the other hand, if the committee puts its plan to the district as a whole, it may stand a better chance of getting approval.

Though the public appears to be little interested in the reorganization during its initial stages, area educators realize the issues involved are hyper-sensitive. They refuse to publicly speculate on what the outcome will be. Yet they are doing plenty of prophesying in private.

THE MOST AUTHORITATIVE guesses we have heard include:

1--That Murray and Eveline (Hayes and Ironton) K-6 districts will be consolidated with Charlevoix.

2--That Ellsworth may be consolidated with Charlevoix or East Jordan. Ellsworth residents--if this is to happen--would prefer joining Charlevoix. But, due to the makeup of the committee's membership, may be drawn into East Jordan. Should Ellsworth be linked with either East Jordan or Charlevoix, a grade school will be maintained in Ellsworth, and only high school students will go out of town to school.

3--If Central Lake School District joins the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate District (which appears to be a sure thing), Ellsworth and Central Lake may be consolidated into one district.

4--Though this one's a little far out, both Melrose (Walloon Lake) and Boyne Falls could end up as part of the Boyne City school district.

OF COURSE, THE committee will make many more recommendations that do not affect Charlevoix taxpayers. And, keep in mind, that the four possibilities mentioned above are no more than "educated speculation" at this time.

No matter what proposals the committee comes up with, they cannot avoid violation of some of the most basic principles of rugged north country individualism.

Small school districts have slowly been disappearing from the county as their impracticality became evident to rural parents. The complexities of a modern age and its demands on our youth, has slowly convinced country people their children will get a better education in city school systems. Also, rural school district leaders realized it is more efficient to operate a large school district than to pour money into a one-room school house.

But, regardless of all this evidence that the day of the little red school is past, there are those who staunchly insist that as free, hard working, taxpaying U.S. citizens they have the right to maintain, and educate their children in, an inefficient school.

THOUGH THE COURIER believes the K-12 law is the practical solution to education, we wince at any move that encourages the majority to ride roughshod over the minority. Practically, we contend, will never preserve individual liberty.

State political and education leaders have sought the answer to this conflict for years. Let us hope the K-12 reorganization committee will be discreet and considerate of the wishes of minority groups in drafting its plan.

City Council Shows Foresight

THOUGH IT WASN'T officially resolved, Charlevoix Councilmen made it quite obvious two weeks ago that they have decided to begin preparation of a master plan. Before a formal decision is made, and a planning consultant hired, councilmen will study the matter to be sure there are no hidden pitfalls and to determine the costs.

Development of a master plan will be misunderstood by some to be aimed strictly at eliminating Charlevoix's southwest section slums. This, emphatically, is not the case.

COUNCILMEN WERE evidently impressed with the planning firms they have interviewed.

Planner George Vilcan discussed the slum problem, but gave just as much attention to a master plan's advantages in preserving Charlevoix's old, but still substantial residential neighborhoods, to improving the central business district, creating a climate for industry and new business, and regulating future growth.

A master plan, he told councilmen, will give Charlevoix something to work from in controlling growth of the city so that all development will be orderly and complementary to the past and future.

Vilcan is no upstart. His firm has one of the best reputations in Michigan. It has done work for more than 125 cities, ranging in size from Detroit to some considerably smaller than Charlevoix.

THAT CHARLEVOIX is on the verge of considerable expansion is doubted by virtually no one. The need to prepare for this growth, so that it becomes a part of Charlevoix's finest traditions, rather than blotting out and overcoming what we now hold so dear, is vitally necessary. It is also true that we have current problems that must be solved before we can clear our conscience.

City Councilmen are to be soundly commended, and thanked by future generations, for having the foresight to see the need for master planning.

The Courier, once again, is proud of our city fathers, and hopes that fellow citizens join us in this salute.

How About Our Winter Festival?

AS THIS EDITORIAL is written a persistent November wind hums around the windows of the home offices. The sky this morning silhouetted the leafless trees against that steel-gray dawn that can only spell winter.

There are many other signs that winter is upon us. We cannot deny them, though at times we may try to forget them. When they become too obvious we hope you will think not of the torture of getting a cold car underway in the morning, but of the beauty of shadows on snow drifts and the drama of the big lake's shoreline littered with ice.

WHICH BRINGS US to ask why isn't Charlevoix having the spectacular Winter Sports carnival that was promised us?

What happened to the exciting plans we heard about?

The answer is obvious. The committee's initial enthusiasm was allowed to ebb due to lack of aggressive leadership. Several committee members have frankly admitted they were disappointed when no meetings were called.

But, let us not condemn. Instead let us learn from this failure. The Chamber of Commerce should immediately appoint a new committee, under experienced leadership, to come up with a winter festival for 1966.

It is entirely likely the chamber could make some much needed money off the project. And, certainly, we would all enjoy the excitement of a mid-winter festival.

TIME BRINGS CHANGES--Since C. S. Webster Sr. took these pictures of the Round Lake waterfront Sept. 2, 1929, all of the buildings except the first two in the foreground have been removed. The picture was supplied to the Courier by Capt. C. S. Webster (Jr.) of Miami, Fla. The two remaining buildings are the Parkside restaurant, closest to camera, and Neff Bros.

Dear Editor:

Charlevoix Fortunate To Have Goldman Fund

DEAR EDITOR:

As the school and community nurse in Charlevoix for the past several years, I feel I have seen the need for many types of services that do not fall under any specific agency. For instance a family, for various reasons, is under a severe financial emergency. Most legitimate agencies need, for very necessary and important reasons, the time for the proper investigations required, no matter how sympathetic towards a situation, the worker may be. But we in Charlevoix are very fortunate to have a fund such as the Lenore Goldman Meyer fund, to fall in at a time such as this. We have had children in school that for some reason, the family was unable to provide the necessary clothing; the Goldman Fund is again called upon, and produces.

Or perhaps there has been much illness in the family, and some cold night it is discovered the fuel oil has just run out and when the Goldman Fund hears about this--fills in its way. Groceries have been purchased, rent paid, items of clothing that are most costly, have been purchased and used in our Community Christmas package.

THIS FUND, is in itself, a very unique one, in that I know of no other area having

Says Merchants Should Pay for Tourist Promo

DEAR EDITOR:

Now that the excitement of our election is over and most of our summer people have left maybe we can go back to normal living and try to do more about having sewers extended to the city limits in all parts of our city and have better street lighting to our city limits.

Have you noticed how many new vapor lights have been installed in just one block from Clinton Street to Park Avenue and most older type lights are being used on the south side.

When it comes to our townships and surrounding communities using our beaches, ball fields and play grounds no doubt they spend more money in this city than do the tourists, that our Chamber of Commerce urge to come here just for a couple months of the year and $5,000 a year of our tax money is paying for their advertising. That amount of money would pay for a lot of sewers and lights every year and the merchants could pay for their own advertising. They are the only ones that get the benefit of the tourists.

Arrangements should be made for free parking space for our city and county employees during the summer months so they won't be inconvenienced by our tourists. The curbs on Clinton street should be painted for those who have to make frequent visits to the doctors and signs put up in front of all doctors offices (for patients only).

We hope our City Fathers don't mind a few suggestions.

By FRAN MARTIN

One of our talented gals has burst into print again, this time with a syndicated series entitled "Family Life...Style of the '60's"...You've probably guessed it's another series by Edith Gilbert, whose has done a number of series, all about the home...This time it's on family life (or lack of it) as we know it today...I think it's the best series she's done to date...It's a shame we don't have it in our Michigan papers for you'd enjoy it I know...Among the sub-titles are such things as "What's ahead for today's family on the run?...Has family love gone out of style?...This big, new, wonderful world is tugging at old values that bind the homelogs...to name a few...If you happen to see it some place, be sure to read it...it's most worthwhile...

A little late perhaps...but I would like to comment on the performances of the Americans in the recent Olympics in Japan...After Rome in 1960 I think everyone was concerned about this country's future in such games...But those kids, and the majority of them were very young, came through in great style, both in their respective sports and as examples of American youth, to do us all proud....

SOONER OR later I know this would happen...that someone we all knew would pass over in one of those big planes that have become so much apart of our skies...Not long ago, Mrs. Floyd Brown received a letter from her son, Capt. William Petersen, pilot of a huge refueling plane or tanker or what ever they're called...He said he'd be going over at a given time about 12:30 one morning not too long ago...At the time she assumed they'd be passing over the RBS site while on a bomb scoring mission...She said they went outside shortly before the time he said he'd be going over...

At the appointed time, out of the east came many planes, their light barely visible as they came out of an enormous cloud bank...He had said he would come in over Big Rock...and he did but with him were these many other planes, flying very high...Only if you were aware of it, as the Browns were, did you realize there was all this activity in the night sky...Heaven only knows from where they had come...Bill had come from Texas and was scheduled to go to California before returning to home base...

If you're one of those efficient people who get your Christmas chores out of the way early, you'd better get with it...Before you know it, it's going to be Thanksgiving...and then time sort of runs out because it's Christmas before you know it...And speaking of Thanksgiving, don't eat too much of the traditional bird...but do enjoy the family gathering...And won't you share your news with me...like family or friends who are your guests...or your youngsters home from campuses around the state...or your aunt to spend the holiday weekend with loved ones...The telephone number's still Lt 7-6633...

HAD A CHAT with Phil Lawrence recently and he was telling me about a close call he'd had while driving on the highway...He said that luckily he wasn't driving too fast or he might not be around to tell it...Seems he was driving on US 31 north of Eastport when he noticed a truck loaded with baled hay coming toward him...As he was about to meet the truck, two bales of hay fell into his path...He said the quick application of the brakes and headed for the shoulder of the road...Though shaken by the experience he and the car came out without a scratch...but he said it's been driving at 65 miles an hour, as he could have been, he has to think what might have happened...As he continued on his way north, he noticed several other bales that had apparently fallen from the load...He concluded that this was a mighty careless way to transport hay down the highway...

You should have seen them...they were playing in the middle of the street just like kids so often do...only you just don't expect so-called "wild animals" to be doing this...especially in the middle of the afternoon...Mrs. Edith Stannan told me recently...I could hardly believe her story but she had as her witness her daughter, Debby, so I had to...Seems the two of them turned off Bridge St. onto Park Ave. late one Sunday afternoon and found this foursome of masked animals having a ball...tumbling, rolling, nipping, snapping...the sound of the car didn't seem to bother them one bit...After watching them a while, she beeped the horn and these clowns of the wild scampered to the curb and then turned around to see what it was all about...As they drove away the quartet of young things were chasing each other down the alley toward the channel...

I was telling our night policeman, Ken Sweet, about them because he had mentioned this particular raccoon family earlier...He said he hadn't seen them recently but that the little black animals with the white stripe down their backs had certainly been out on force recently...For some reason there haven't been too many on the north side (or rather I haven't smelled any) but he said there were many elsewhere around town...

KEN WAS ALSO telling me that the cottontails are taking over the town...Maybe we'll have to find a modern Pter Piper to lead them out of town to an area where our hunters can take over...before these little monsters rathe havoc with the shrubs and young trees...How come this rabbit population explosion?...Because the sheriff's department is doing such a good job with the dogs that used to keep them at a minimum...You just can't win...

Hillbilly Riot Brings Strange People to Town

Those who came to the hills to see the Senior Play had a most enjoyable evening.

After the curtain was opened the odor was quite evident by the sight of the characters. It is unusual for city girls to become hicks, such as, Corneille and Dorthis did. These two gals, (played by Cheri Taylor and Nancy Peebles) took on the smell of the hills and liked their country cousins ways.

THE ENTIRE cast looked like they lived with the pigs and enjoyed it, except Miss Winslow (Janice Evans), who looked as if she walked out of a fashion magazine.

Old man Cyrus Goolus (John Hastings) appeared to be a ruff person until the widow Squiggens (Margaret Smith) got her claws on him.

There was one of them that yougens, who was in Imp, a candy thief, a briber, and a filthy kid who didn't use Crest. After that build up she would rather have her name omitted but we have to go along with the play and be stinkers, this brat, Skeets, was played by Carla Essenberg. When a killer like horse Face Dilly (Carl Goeman) could be tricked by these city gals you know they had everything under control. Even Slim (Gary Torga) being shy, got up enough confidence to tell Corne she was PURTY.

I WAS WONDERING if they had fumigated the place after the second act or were we getting accustomed to the atmosphere? I realize the trouble that I am bringing upon myself by not mentioning all of the names of the others. If you will think about the play, all the names mentioned had a connection with money and like Skeets, money talks. So now you know how they got the publicity. All kidding aside.

The entire cast can be proud of the performance they gave. I said it would be hilarious and truer words were never spoken. Congratulations to the Ellsworth Seniors. Mr. Jeremia their sponsor and Mrs. Grant Hastings, the make-up artist, who had the characters looking like they had been pulled through a pigs pen by a wildcat.

The audience hoped the cast would be clean by Sunday, in time for church. -- Roy.

New Industry in East Jordan

THIS BUILDING ON M-66 north of East Jordan houses the East Jordan Plastics Co., opened this summer by Ken Diller. The firm, Diller reports, will produce approximately 8 million containers a year for greenhouses. In connection with Diller's sawmill operation, 15 persons are employed. The building has 6,000 square feet. (COURIER PHOTO)

WALTER THORSEN reports he will move his East Jordan Tool and Die, Inc., operation from 825 Water St., East Jordan, to this new plant when it is completed. The 9,000 square foot plant is located directly across from the East Jordan Airport on M-32. Thorsen said it will be the only production tooling and engineering company of its kind north of Grand Rapids. It will employ a maximum of 27 persons. (COURIER PHOTO)

Farm Bureau Leads at Confab

Antrim County Farm Bureau delegates attended the 46th annual convention of the Michigan Farm Bureau. The convention was held Nov. 10, 11, and 12 in Lansing. Delegates representing Antrim County were, Carl Robotham, Roy Staudenmeyer, and Rub Staudenmeyer. Ruth was alternate and replaced delegate Frank Hooper of Rapid City. Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vance and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wieland. Wieland was nominated for director of District 10. After all ballots were tabulated the delegation was notified that Dick lost by only three votes.

ANTRIM COUNTY Farm Bureau had two resolutions adopted at the convention and passed unanimously by the delegation. One of the resolutions read:

"We recommend that the Michigan Farm Bureau support efforts in the Michigan Legislature to pass enabling legislation for Michigan agriculture which would permit the establishment of various marketing and promotional programs through the issuance of marketing orders. Permissive legislation should be broad enough to include the producers of all agricultural commodities and enable producers to vote in or vote out marketing programs on their commodity without special action by the Legislature. We believe that each commodity group should determine for itself whether an escape clause shall be included in the marketing order for that commodity."

THIS RESOLUTION was adopted ported by Antrim County for several years and the Cherry Growers are in favor of this legislation.

The Antrim County Farm Bureau Women's Committee supported four resolutions on vehicle safety:

1. Driver Licensing Requirements.
2. Intoxicated Drivers.
3. Our Rural Traffic Accident Problem.
4. Motor Vehicle Inspection.

The first three passed and the fourth one was tabled for further study.

THE DELEGATION numbered 682. There were 2,000 Farm Bureau members in attendance during the convention.

The Women's Committee held an Anniversary Tea and Reception tion celebrating 20th Anniversary of Michigan Farm Bureau Women, honoring Past State Chairman and Mrs. Marjorie Karker, past Women's Coordinator. Attending this Tea and Luncheon were Mrs. Vernon Vance, Mrs. Richard Wieland and Mrs. Roy Staudenmeyer.

The guest speaker at the Michigan Farm Bureau Banquet at Kellogg Center (Big Ten Room), was Dr. Homer Stryker, President Stryker Corporation, Kalamazoo, Michigan. His topic was "Business--Government and You".

There were 121 resolutions dealing with State, National and International Affairs, presented to the delegation for adoption. Delegates from Antrim County attended all sessions of the Convention.

ELEMENTARY NEWS
On Veterans Day the Elementary grades had a short program at 11 a.m. honoring veterans. It was held outside beside the school flag. The fifth and sixth grades were in charge of the program. It was a choral reading with Sherle Denny as leader. She asked questions such as "Who are veterans?" and why do we honor them?" At the end of the reading, the group in union gave the pledge to the flag and sang the first verse of America. An impressive ending was given to the program by Chet Boss, a senior, who played Taps on his trumpet.

All day Tuesday and Wednesday evening Parent and Teacher conferences were held in grades Kindergarten through sixth. Parent attendance was as follows: Kindergarten, 35%; first grade 64%; second grade 61%; third grade 75%; fourth and fifth grade 72%; fifth and sixth grade 65%.

THE BOYS and girls who attend the Science TV classes were thrilled on Thursday when Mr.

Schultz, who teaches the class, personally visited the room.

EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth grade held a class party on Wednesday Nov. 11. They went to the Lodge in Charlevoix for a swimming party. Everybody had a splashing good time.

The Ebenezer P. T. A. held its Harvest Sale at the Ellsworth Community Hall. Meeting was opened by prayer by William Boss. President Willard Vanderark held a short business meeting after which the Annual Harvest Sale took place. The Auctioneers were Paul Doctor, John Ritzema, Myron Postma and John Burns. Jon Ritzema was auctioning toilet tissue to the Deer Hunters for 45¢ a roll, one lucky person purchased 50 lbs of Idaho potatoes for $5. These Deer Hunters pay DEERly for their staples.

The sale was a huge success with a tidy sum of $385 gross. Lunch was served by the Ways and Means Committee. A jolly time was had by all who attended.

People of Ellsworth have been asking what has happened to all the pictures that Sam Carlisle has been taking, they have been caught doing various things and would like to know what they looked like.

Former teacher Terry Meeder, his wife Phyllis and family attended the Senior play and were greeted by many friends.

Willard and Bud both managed to hobble to the play and were assisted by their crutches.

We are in the middle of the deer season and I wonder how many hunters have seen all the deer they did before the season opened. Tuesday morning on our way to Lansing we almost had a deer in our trunk. Carl Robotham said, "Lock the doors before they jump in." These are the names of the hunters who have killed a deer.

Hunter's Luck?

Antrim County Sheriff's Dept. is still looking for information in the accidental shooting Sunday morning of Mrs. Alfred Brooks of Ellsworth, who suffered minor injuries.

Mrs. Brooks was struck above the right eye by a bullet that came through the storm door on her home. She was released a short while after treatment at Little Traverse Hospital.

The Sheriff's Dept. suspects the bullet was fired by a deer hunter.

All We Have Flows Freely From the Lord

By Rev. R. L. SEIZINGER
Bethany Lutheran Church

This week we celebrate one of the few "uniting factors" of the American people -- a legal holiday. No matter how at odds we might be at any other time of the year, with racial conflicts, gang wars, mud-slinging political campaigns, or just plain personal disagreements, it seems that on such a legal holiday as Thanksgiving passions subside, or are at least rechanneled, and the hectic pace epitomized in the night before Thanksgiving ebbs for a period of brief respite. Former enemies retreat from combat and unite in that good old American tradition -- Thanksgiving. But, where did it all start? Who started it? Why? Why should we celebrate? How best to celebrate? These are questions that few seem to take the time to ask themselves.

Since the glorious age that was Greece, and even before, men have sung their songs of triumph, songs of victory to the god responsible for leading them to that victory. The Greeks had their word for it, Paean, and the conquering heroes would return with their paens of praise audible at a distance of many miles. But the glory of the Hellenistic world has faded & decayed! What good to celebrate an empty, meaningless custom? What good -- indeed!

HERE WE ARE, a nation that has been blessed like no other on earth. The ancient European powers laughed at us when we tried to flex our muscles, tried to show the world that America, though young, was not a power to be scorned. But ridicule was abruptly replaced with respect of the facts as they were tallied. The great wars did not physically damage or destroy our homeland. Our armies have emerged victorious from combat. We, as a nation, have emerged from war as a powerful, prosperous, materially minded people with comforts and enjoyments parallel to no other place on earth. We have more than enough to clothe, house and feed us; more than enough to clothe, house and feed those in our nation who are in need; more than enough to fill our graneries and storehouses; so much, in fact, that enough laborers cannot be hired to harvest our crops and orchards. We have literally become the embodiment of the "horn o' plenty", brimming over with abundance in every respect.

Mere intellectual acceptance of these facts and figures relating to our abun-

Hike Fees To Chamber Members

Launch Annual Drive on Dec. 8

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual membership drive Dec. 8-10. Chamber Manager Dean Davenport announced the drive will start at a kick-off luncheon Tuesday, Dec. 8, at the Grey Gables.

A NEW MEMBERSHIP fee schedule will be explained at the luncheon. The new schedule was approved by the board of directors to make membership fees more equitable so the same type of businesses are all paying the same, Davenport said.

The chamber manager said 90% of the members will find their fees increased for 1965, by approximately 10%. Some members will find their fee reduced to put it in line with others that are paying less.

The new minimum membership fee is $30. It was $25. Davenport estimates the increased fees will raise an additional $1,000 for the chamber. This is the first raise since 1957.

IN THE FUTURE, he said, the chamber will attempt to adjust its fees annually to keep them in line with increases or decreases in the cost of living.

The chamber ended its fiscal year in October with a $500 deficit. However, Davenport said the 1965 budget will include paying off the 1964 deficit.

The three day membership drive is expected to net 200 members, 15 more than this year, Davenport said. A slogan, "Look alive in '65--Operation cleanup," has been adopted for the drive. Don Anders is membership drive chairman.

Fifty, or more, volunteer membership salesmen will attend the Dec. 8 luncheon. They will be briefed on the membership drive and given sales kits.

THE LUNCHEON will be paid for by Charlevoix marinas, with Tom Loeb as luncheon chairman.

TIMMER CONGRATULATES GENEIT--Retiring postmaster Peter Timmer, left, congratulates Don Geneit on getting the County Democratic Committee's endorsement to succeed him. Courier headlines chronicling the long, and stormy, controversy over Timmer's succession, are on the table beside them.

Party Reverses Former Decision

Tunison, Oleksy Withdraw to Let Committee Select Geneit

After five months of controversy that rocked the Democratic party's highest county councils, Dan Geneit is assured of being Charlevoix's next postmaster.

The county Democratic committee Saturday voted to endorse Geneit for the post, County Chairman George LaBlance reports.

GENEIT IS NOW assistant postmaster. He will succeed Peter Timmer, who announced his desire to retire as postmaster last July.

Endorsement of Geneit by the county committee for all practical purposes closes the issue, LaBlance said.

According to information LaBlance has received from Sen. Patrick McNamara, Geneit will be promoted without a competitive examination. No one else will be considered by the post office dept. for the appointment, LaBlance said.

Timmer's announcement last summer that he was resigning, touched off a bitter fight in the Democratic party.

Oral Polio Clinic Set Again Friday

If ever a government agency was determined to do a thorough job it is the health dept.

The health dept. will hold another oral polio vaccine clinic Friday, Nov. 27 and Monday, Nov. 30, for everyone who failed to get their vaccine at the previous three clinics.

TYPES 1-2 AND 3 oral polio vaccine will be given at the makeup clinics. The clinics will be between 3 and 4 p.m. on each day.

Mrs. Jeanne Miles, community nurse, asked that anyone who did not get all three vaccinations at the regular clinics stop at the health dept. offices in the County Building for the makeup clinic.

The oral vaccine is given on a spoon or sugar cube. Noneedle is used.

CHARLEVOIX doctors have urged residents to take the oral vaccine even if they have been inoculated with Salk vaccine. The health dept. launched its

Heavy Snow Fall Blankets County

Winter left its white mantle on Charlevoix late last week, but appeared to be retreating as the Courier went to press.

Snow, driven by high winds, fell intermittently Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Between four and six inches was estimated to have accumulated in the Charlevoix area by Monday morning.

THE ROAD COMMISSION reported between 13 and 18 inches had fallen on the east side of the county.

Though many people were setting the figure much lower, the Coast Guard Station said the lowest temperature it registered was 19 degrees on Saturday.

One serious personal injury accident was reported by the Sheriff's Dept. Mrs. Earl Peltier, 36, Rte. 1, Charlevoix, suffered cuts of her lip and Carl W. Martin, 54, Rte. 4, Traverse City, was in Charlevoix Hospital with chest injuries. According to deputy Byron Stockwell, the injuries were not serious.

Mrs. Peltier's car and Martin's reportedly collided head-on about 8 miles south of Charlevoix on U. S. 31 at 7 p.m. Friday. The highway was reported slippery and visibility poor due to heavy snow fall.

No Holiday in Store for Them

It's the wrong time of year for turkey's, and they seem to know it.

Sanford (Sandy) Matchett's 900 turkeys were raising such a fuss last week chattering to each other they literally rent the air with a constant shriek.

BEFORE THE holiday season is over Sandy expects to sell 500 turkeys to local families. So it's no wonder the birds sound as though they are complaining.

The Matchett Turkey Farm, on Matchett Rd. eight miles south of town, is the only one in the county, Sandy reports.

In addition to selling turkeys for Thanksgiving and Christmas tables, Matchett sells 26,000 eggs a year to the Pine Creek Turkey Roost in Holland, Mich. They are used for hatching more turkeys.

Matchett buys new-born turkeys in May or June when they are a day old. Those that aren't sold for eating start laying in January. In the six months laying period--from January to June--each hen turkey will lay between 70 and 80 eggs.

THE TURKEYS people are buying from Matchett now are less than six months old and weigh between 14 and 23 pounds.

Helping Sandy tend to the turkeys and 80 yew sheep raised on the 360 acre farm are Mrs. Matchett and children Melvin, 17, Joyce, 15, and Timothy, 6.

They also raise most of their own oats and wheat for feed. The farm includes Cunningham Lake on Beck Rd., across from Matchett Lake.

It is commonly believed that turkeys "gobble," Sandy points out. The truth is only the toms gobble. The hens make a sort of high-pitched chatter, (reminding a male observer of a "hen party").

WHEN SANDY walks into one of the yards in which the turkeys stay until they are cooped for the winter, the big birds follow him around. They actually surround him in a mass of feathers and noise.

The family dog, a collie, is a constant target for turkey fun. While he walks along on the outside fringe of the turkey flock, one or two of the birds will suddenly dart out to nip at him.

Sandy says the tom turkeys are more alert than the hens. The men of the flock instantly realize it when a stranger is around. The hens, however, pay little attention.

To make sure the turkeys are healthy, Sandy said, blood tests are taken. Each bird is marked with a small metal clip to show that it has been tested.

And, if you didn't know, a baby turkey is called a poult.

SANDY MATCHETT picks a plump Thanksgiving turkey from his noisy flock of 900.

State to Reveal Value of Docks

How much money do boatmen using Charlevoix's public docks spend in town?

Michigan Waterways Commission director Keith Wilson reports he may soon have an answer. The commission, Wilson told the Courier, has made a survey to determine how much boatmen spend, and what they buy.

WHEN THE SURVEY'S findings are compiled they will give Charlevoix taxpayers their first factual information on the return they are getting for their tax investment in the municipal harbor.

"On the basis of 1963 statistics, which indicated that Charlevoix accommodated 494 transient craft," Wilson said, "I would say the City was somewhat higher than other Lake Michigan ports but only equal to or less than many Lake Huron ports. Some of the other harbors with their 1963 traffic shown in parentheses are as follows: Alpena (203), East Tawas (390), Frankfort (471), Harbor Beach (547), Harrisville (630), Mackinac Island (1,106), Muskegon (259), Pentwater (462), Port Austin (511), Port Sanilac (833), St. Joseph (296), and Traverse City (129).

This summer 489 pleasure boats were reported to have used the public docks here.

In an effort to explain how much taxes boatmen utilizing Charlevoix facilities pay to the Waterways Commission Wilson said: "...We receive marine fuel taxes on a percentage basis which has no relationship whatsoever to actual consumption of fuel

Barney, as you know, is kept mighty busy these days as a Kiwanis District Lt. Governor-elect. His duties take him to clubs throughout northern Michigan.

Well, here the other day, when it was blowing so hard, he got the call to check on some Kiwanis Club affairs in St. Ignace. Dutifully the Baron of Camp Charlevoix headed his car toward Big Mac.

The wind was so bad through the Straits of Mackinac, Barney related, that hunters hauling house trailers didn't dare cross the mighty bridge for fear of being blown off. After a little thought, it's just possible to believe this might be true. But then comes the Barney special.

dance, however, could not possibly be enough to call this a day of Thanksgiving or even think of it in the terms of being thankful. If anything, such acceptance would only tend to make us a cocky, self-reliant, self-assured people who, "have no-one to thank except themselves!"

An ancient tune of the 17th century, commonly used by almost every denomination in Christendom today, declares: "Praise God, from whom all blessings flow." But again, the mere intellectual realization and acknowledgment of the meaning of these words, can never be enough to make us thankful. Only in allowing the Gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ to invade our hearts as well as our heads can we come to realize that without His gracious provision all that we call blessing would not be; and can we begin to learn of Thanksgiving, Thanksgiving? Yes! Thanksgiving is what the man said, "I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me." But alone, I can only confess, "The good that I would I do not; but that which I would not, that I do." The man who has everything and feels that he has it through his own efforts is a man who comes hard by thankfulness. It would be easier to imagine a "camel passing through the eye of a needle." But the man who realizes that All that he has and is flows freely out of God's grace and mercy, cannot find enough days in the year to set aside as Thanksgiving; and so his thanksgiving becomes thanksgiving.

HEARTFELT understanding of the Lord's benevolence reactivates and recharges these spirits of ours which are so often-weighted with the cares and burdens of everyday existence. Those who feel they have been put on the bench, on the sidelines of life, will feel as though they have been put back into the game, flushed with the excitement, proudly wearing our team's colors for, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation."

Above all else it is the possession of salvation by grace through faith in Jesus Christ that adds that last pound of pressure to the Christian's heart, causing it to burst forth in paeans of praise to "The Father of All Mercies." For salvation itself is freedom from Sin, Death and the Devil -- victory. As used in I Corinthians 15:57 the word victory is referred to as an ever present certainty. Victory over Sin, Death and the Devil necessarily carries with it eternal life. Therefore, because Christ has won the

Getting serious for a second, it is well to note that Barney is bringing considerable attention to the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club and community as a whole through his role as a district officer. His travels keep him in contact with hundreds of Kiwanians, who can generally be assumed to be leaders in their community. Barney has victory for us, while we are yet in the battle of life on this earth we are assured of the final conquest and even now possess eternal life through faith in Christ.

How, then, can we most beneficially unite on this Thanksgiving Day; by taking a legal holiday from work and school, by gorging ourselves with turkey and all the trimmings, by spending the day enrapt in television's sports spectacles? It cannot be denied that these all have their part to play in making Thanksgiving "traditional" in uniting us in a common feast of Americans. But, may we unite in more than outward observance. May our hearts and voices unite with those Americans who have gone before us and those before them who knew what real Thanksgiving was all about, uniting their hearts and voices with the entire heavenly host in joyous proclamation of "Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." For me, this is the real meaning of Thanksgiving and -- Thanksgiving.

They were opposed by active Democrat leaders who insisted the appointment should go to a dedicated party worker. The postmaster's job, they contended, should be considered a political reward.

In August, the county committee picked Mrs. Theodore (Martha) Tunison as its choice. Frank Oleksy was the second choice. Geniet ran a poor third at the fiery meeting in Boyne Falls.

Both Tunison and Oleksy have been active in party affairs. Geniet is restrained, by civil service rules, from taking part in politics.

TEMPERS FLARED at the August meeting, until LaBlance summarily adjourned it.

For a while there were rumors LaBlance himself was the postmaster's job. And though these proved baseless, the party wounds went so deep LaBlance was not re-elected to the committee's helm earlier this month.

At last Saturday's meeting it was LaBlance who carried the ball for Geniet's endorsement. Mrs. Tunison had withdrawn her bid for the post, Oleksy, however, was still in the running.

LaBlance presented statements from Gen. McNamara at Saturday's meeting which recommended that someone from within the post office be endorsed.

Otherwise, McNamara pointed out, an open competitive examination would be held, with disabled veterans getting automatic preference over all other applicants (and ten points on the test).

This would result in at least eight local Republicans edging out Oleksy, LaBlance said.

After LaBlance asked the committee to consider this evidence, Oleksy made a statement withdrawing himself from consideration "for the good of the party."

JOSEPH HOWE of Ironton then made a motion that Geniet be given the committee's endorsement. Lawrence Korth of Charlevoix seconded the motion. It passed with no opposition. Geniet, 50, has been with the post office since 1937, when he started as a substitute clerk. He became assistant postmaster in 1951.

Geniet and his wife, Beth, have one daughter, Mrs. Carl (Dee Ann) Rothenberger of Petoskey.

by Watercraft. Therefore, we would have to determine how much fuel these boats utilized in getting to Charlevoix and in ed. Minert Veenstra was driving the Charlevoix area and then figure some relation-ship between this consumption and the percentage allocation to appropriately adjust the taxes paid on this fuel.

"IT IS ASSUMED that all boats utilizing the City facilities had purchased a Watercraft License plate, but since a complete breakdown on the sizes of the boats and whether or not they are owned by Michigan residents was not provided, the revenue from this source cannot be accurately estimated. It could run as high as $20,000 but undoubtedly would be less than this if accurately determined.

"It should also be remembered that this revenue is not solely attributable to any one port but would have to be pro-rated between all ports visited by the boat as well as the home port of the craft. On that basis it is doubtful that the figure would exceed $1,000."

The Waterways Commission's 1964 directory of "Michigan Marine Harbor Facilities" lists all ports in which the state cooperated with local government and their facilities.

The publication includes a picture of Charlevoix's harbor and three others in the state. Others are Traverse City, Menominee and Mackinac Island.

at the intersection of Bridge and Green streets. No one was injured in getting to Charlevoix and in ed. Minert Veenstra was driving the truck. Damage to the car was estimated at $150. The truck was not damaged.

The storm started city street dept. crews on a job that will cost an estimated $14,000, by spring according to City Supt. James Taylor.

Taylor said the city has 25 1/2 miles to keep snow-free.

EIGHTY TONS of snow will be used by the city and 300 yards of gravel, before winter is over, Taylor said. Eight men will work on snow removal and clearing.

The city snow removal work is done by three road plows and one sidewalk plow.

City crews go to work as soon as snow begins accumulating, with highways and major streets getting first consideration.

No cars are allowed to park on city streets between 2 a.m. and 7 a.m. until spring.

IF TIME allows snow drifts are removed by city crews. The snow is dumped into the Pine River Channel near the Charlevoix Lumber Co.

The early snow brought a scattering of skiers to the north

Toddlers Get Three Types of Tooth Ailments

Toddlers' tooth troubles usually take one of three forms, says a University of Michigan professor of dentistry. Dr. William E. Brown, Jr., a specialist in dentistry for children, lists malocclusion, diseases of the gums, and "cavities" as the three most troublesome disorders. Each can be controlled or corrected by early treatments, he adds.

IN A TALK under auspices of the State Dental Association, Dr. Brown said "Tooth decay is the most widespread disease of all mankind." However, by using fluorides and controlling the intake of carbohydrates (especially sugar), "caries" can be reduced markedly in almost all children.

Destruction of gums and the bone supporting the teeth is a major cause of tooth loss later in life, he said. "Good habits of oral hygiene is proper brushing immediately after eating."

Malocclusion—teeth that don't meet properly—afflicts about 50 percent of all children to the degree that correction is needed, said the U-M dentist. Most serious problems are hereditary. But, "premature loss of primary teeth, and such habits as thumb or finger sucking and tongue thrusting cause many malocclusions."

If they are caught early enough, some malocclusions can be treated with relative simplicity, he said. But if they are undetected or untreated, "they may develop into complex problems that require complicated and much more expensive treatment later."

Oh LORD, OUR GOD,

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN

Police Chief Urges Caution On Exhaust Gas

Because of the number of deaths that have occurred elsewhere, Police Chief Joseph Smith is urging Charlevoix car drivers and passengers to keep in mind that fresh air from open windows is a must while driving or parked as protection against the killing carbon monoxide gas in car exhaust fumes.

Winter, Smith points out is the most dangerous time for this type of accident.

ALREADY THIS year 35 Michigan persons have died while sitting in parked cars with the windows closed and engine running.

Smith said the gas can do its lethal damage unsuspectingly because it is odorless and colorless. Drowsiness is one of its first symptoms which may be, but is not always, followed by nausea and vomiting.

Smith recommended that drivers have their car's exhaust system inspected; check the firewall, passenger compartment and trunk for rust holes or other leaks through which fumes can seep, and keep the passenger compartment well ventilated with fresh air.

The dictionary is the only place where success comes before work.

Beaver Tales Airplane Broke Jackie's Heart

The following tale of a pioneer airplane flight to Beaver Island and the untimely death of a horse that couldn't stand competition of the air age was reported by the island's newspaper, Beaver Beacon.

BEAVER ISLAND--When fall passes and the winds are to the north, residents of Beaver Island begin the task of stocking up for the winter to come. Topics of conversation change from "How's the fishing?" to "How much wood are you going to cut?"

Isolation is a word that doesn't come up anymore, as Beaver Island now is different than it was prior to 1926, the year that first mail-carrying airplane landed on the island.

April, 1926 - For two months the telephone cable connecting the island with the mainland had been broken and shifting ice flows had severed the last link, preventing mail carriers from making the trip across the ice to Cross Village.

George W. Weaver, the postmaster at Charlevoix, was faced with an ever growing pile of mail for the island. Mr. Weaver decided to make every effort he could to get the mail across.

Contacting Sen. Woodbridge N. Ferris and Rep. F. H. Scott, he asked them to use their influence with Post Office authorities, to get permission to fly the mail across.

Officials of Booth Fisheries, who had interests on the island, explained the situation to Secretary Herbert Hoover.

The machinery was in motion now and the wires between Washington and Charlevoix were humming. At last the Post Office Dept. authorized a plane to be sent from Chicago.

An ex R. A. F. pilot, Joe Donnellan, was the pilot chosen. Joe called an old pal, Alvin Yelder of Kalamazoo, a former sergeant in the R. A. F., to act as mechanic.

Any trip in a plane in those days was an adventure and certainly crossing Lake Michigan was a feat only for the strong of heart.

The orders from Washington called for their departure from Chicago at 2 a.m. on Thursday, April 1. A real grim joke, especially since Chicago was in the grip of a blizzard.

With the driven snow stinging their faces, Joe and Alvin took off in the two seated by-plane and headed out over the lake. Equipped with compass, altimeter and other instruments, they had a general idea which way they were going but didn't know if they could keep from freezing before they got there. The engine wasn't running at its best for the snow melting on its surface kept it too cool and snow blowing in the intake made it cough in rebellion.

The two men were so busy determining where they were that the engine seemed secondary, besides, they couldn't do anything about it anyway. Finally deciding they must be over land, they decided to set down. They found themselves just outside Lawton, in a snow bank.

It took three days to finally free the plane and on Sunday, the two took to the air again. After two stops at Grand Haven and Cadillac, they arrived at Charlevoix before dark.

The first trip to the island was made the following afternoon. Capt. John McCann, a resident of the island, went as guide and 400 pounds of mail as cargo. The trip took 45 minutes compared to the 8 hours to several days that it took two men and a team of horses to do.

The residents of the island had heard on their radios that the mail was coming and all were eagerly waiting. Evergreens were cut and placed on the ice of the harbor to mark the spot to land.

"Jackie" a 22 year old horse, who had carried the mail in previous winters, was hitched to a cutter and driven by Joe MacFroe out on the ice to meet the plane.

Soon the plane came into view and the gathering crowd cheered. Jackie had never seen anything like this before and the big winged beast with its thundering voice was more than his old heart could bear.

Jackie slumped to the ice and died, thus ending one era and beginning another.

Air transportation to the island is common place now. Perhaps the only drawback is the cost which is a little more than twice the fare on the boat, but in 1926 the fare was $30 one way and $50 for a round trip.

Fine Hunters For Trespassing

Two hunters were sentenced by Justice John Connolly last week for violation of trespass laws, in both cases the landowners signed complaints.

Donald J. Snyder, 20, Rte 2, East Jordan, pleaded guilty to trespassing on Harold Thomas's property farmed in Eveline Township. He paid $15 fine and costs.

KENNETH W. McPherson, 23, Rte. 2, East Jordan, pleaded guilty to trespassing on the property of Charles Moses in Marlon Township, one-half mile east of Nowland Lake. He paid $54.90 fine and costs.

KOKANEE SALMON PLANNED FOR LAKE CHARLEVOIX New Fish Due Here in 1969

Introduction of kokanee salmon into Lake Charlevoix is planned for 1969, or possibly later, the Michigan Conservation Dept. reports.

The kokanes, as seen above, looks much like a rainbow trout. However, they don't get nearly as large. The Colorado imports will live four years and reach a maximum average length of 14 inches (about one pound). Which is about the size of a big perch.

THE DEPARTMENT will collect 2 1/2 million kokanes from Colorado, rear them, and next spring plant fry in Higgins and Torch lakes. This program will be repeated annually.

By 1969 the department hopes to have enough kokanee eggs from its own stock in Higgins and Torch lakes to begin large-scale plantings in Lake Charlevoix, Lake Michigan, Crystal, Walloon and Leelanau lakes.

Outdoor writers bill the kokanee as a scrappy battler for his size. Kokanes are caught trolling and still fishing.

CLOTHING DRIVE

Charlevoix residents have until Monday, Nov. 30, to contribute to the Catholic Bishops Clothing Drive, Rev. Fr. E. F. Denay reports.

Fr. Denay said clothing for the annual drive should be left at St. Mary's School. It will be distributed to needy families.

"Some people find fault as if it were a buried treasure."

Talk of the Town

Mrs. Rudy (Julia) Korth is hospitalized at University Hospital in Ann Arbor where her address is Sixth Floor East. She was transferred there from the Charlevoix Hospital.

Mrs. Gertrude Sadler, former manager of the Fay Shop here, is a patient at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey.

Pvt. Gerald L. Johnson has been transferred to Fort Sill, Okla., where he has the following address: US580 1135 F-4 USATC-FA Fort Sill, Okla. He is the son of the Senior Johnsons of Hayes township.

Michigan State students who will return home for the Thanksgiving weekend will be Sarlton Smith, Susan DeCastro, Joseph Smith, Charles Coleman, Linda Naff, Franklin Curtis, Diane Urtick, John Flynn, Barbara Messmore, Janet Schroeder, Susan Pearl and Peter Anne.

Have you priced a tiger lately?

Take the GTO, for instance. Comes with 335 hp. Or 360 at extra cost. Plus bucket seats. Carpeting. Walnut dash. And like that. Yet it sells for less than a lot of pussycats with imitation stripes. Then there's the Le Mans. Same kind of pizzazz. Same kind of crackle. Same kind of low price. Slightly smaller teeth. So price a tiger.

GET IT OFF THE BOARDS. Charlevoix High School coach Don Carey is a hard taskmaster. These Varsity cage hopefuls are being pushed for all they're worth as Carey tries to whip a 1964-65 team into shape for the Dec. 4 opener against Mancelona here. If they can't take it now—before the pressure of competition starts—they won't stand a chance through the long season. The boys have been working out every afternoon for 2½ weeks.

Practice for Dec. 4 Opener

MAYBE NEXT SEASON—The boys in these pictures (above and below) are freshmen and sophomores. Though they don't have much chance of making the varsity this season, they're working hard now in hopes of making the grade when coach Carey calls for basketball players in the late fall of 1965. They know the coaching staff will be assessing their potential this season as they look forward to next year.

Dear Dick

Affair

RICHARD DONALDSON

DEAR DICK: My daughter is serious about a bartender twice her age. I fear she would be unhappy with a man so much older and with such different interests. My daughter feels I object to the marriage because of her leaving home and my being LONESOME.

DEAR LONESOME: The guy may look effervescent to your daughter now, but after a year he may turn out to be stale beer. You're not so much older, though, and YOUR interests are not so different from his. Make a pass! You may come up with a mugful of happiness. And if you hook him, remember PUFF'S APPLIANCE CENTER for your home appliances.—DICK.

League Cagers Prepare for Opening Gun on Hardwoods

By FRANK MARTIN
Charlevoix and other Northern Michigan Class C athletes have turned from the turf to the hardwoods in preparation for the opening of the 1964-65 basketball season.

Several teams will take to the floor for pre-season games while others await the formal opening of the league schedule on Dec. 4. MANCELONA AND Grayling officially opened their seasons Tuesday night when the Ironmen traveled to Kalkaska and Grayling entertained Roscommon.

Two other league teams will play during the Thanksgiving weekend. These games will feature Petoskey at Boyne City and Harbor Springs at Petoskey St. Francis Friday night.

The only other team with a pre-season game will be Gaylord who will host Cheboygan Tuesday, Dec. 1.

The regular schedule will open Friday, Dec. 4, with Charlevoix hosting Mancelona, Boyne City traveling to Grayling, Harbor Springs entertaining Gaylord and Pellston invading East Jordan.

EARLY THIS week Coach Don Carey said he was not prepared to give even a tentative line-up for the opening game with Mancelona. He said the players had concentrated on conditioning to the hardwoods and the feel of the ball with a few drills. This week he plans to concentrate on plays and to give all candidates a chance at the various positions before deciding on a starting line-up for the opener.

Candidates for the forward slots are Doug Winnell, Randy Carey, Dave Smith and Jim Uhrick who may also fill a guard position. Dave Norton will be the center while Del Terrill, Tom Maxwell, Jack Uhrick, Warren Belding, John Bleha, all seniors, and John Ferguson and Ted Weidman vie guard positions in the back court.

When Boyne City opens its season Friday, Coach Paul Pfahler will floor only one letterman, Scotty Hall, a senior guard who saw only limited action last season. Ron Hausler, a senior forward, will be lost to the team until after the holidays as the result of a football injury which has him encased in a cast and on crutches as his knee heals.

Two seniors, Dave Roof, a guard, and Dave Hunt, a 6' forward, will be candidates for the squad as will seven players up from the J-V's including Jerry Cosier, Roger Erber, juniors, and Marvin Johnson, a sophomore, potential forwards, and Dennis Gunderson, sophomore, and John Paul, Junior, possible guards, Ron Shepard and Ken Kirby, juniors, candidates for center, none of whom are more than 5'11".

East Jordan, which is expected to be one of the strongest teams this season, has four returning regulars in 6-2 center, Chad McDonald, and Dan Peters, Mick Bell and Fred Malpass, guards, all seniors. Tom Drenth, 6-1, a forward, and Bill Chase, a guard, as juniors will be likely candidates for starting assignments. Coach Bill Gregory said that depth will come from members of his championship J-V squad

First Snow Results In Wrinkled Fenders

Winter's upending assault last week took a heavy toll in automobile fenders, according to police. Chief Joseph Smith and Sheriff's Deputy Byron Stockwell.

They reported three property damage accidents caused by Thursday's first snow of the season and two more Friday morning.

A 20 minute traffic jam developed on the south side of the hill early Thursday afternoon when a large oil tanker truck got stuck halfway up the hill. Don Meggison pushed the truck the rest of the way up the hill with his wrecker.

THE ONLY INJURIES reported were minor scratches, which did not require hospital treatment, suffered by Thomas Collins, 20, of Pine Point and Charles Carey, 19, 406 Michigan Ave. The car driven by Collins turned completely over on N. Point Rd. near the Waller Rd. intersection, at 2:03 p. m. Thursday, Smith said. Carey was a passenger in the car. The car, a Falcon, was "nearly totaled," the police chief said.

Wanda L. Zoulek, 25, 411 N. Michigan Ave., lost control and skidded into the guard rail on U. S. 31 seven miles south of town at 11:50 a. m. Thursday, Smith said. Three guard rails were damaged. Only minor damage was reported on the car.

A car driven by Larry G. Drew, 16, Rte. 2, Charlevoix, skidded out of control and hit a tree on Stover St. between the city cemetery and Catholic cemetery at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, Smith said. Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Friday morning, at 8:20, a car driven by Ronald B. Potter, 16, Rte. 1, collided with another driven by Ernest Williams, 36, 414 Antrim, at the intersection of Dixon Ave. and Bridge St., Smith said. He said Williams was stopped on Dixon waiting to turn off Bridge onto Dixon and his car skidded into the stopped car.

FRIDAY AT 11 a. m. Andrew D. Sutton, 22, 314 W. Garfield, lost control of his car as he drove south on State St. and spun into a telephone pole at 907 State, Smith said. The pole snapped off, but the wires did not come down.

Parents Asked To Meet Teacher

Parent-teacher cooperation in understanding and helping individual students will be in focus at the Wednesday, Dec. 2, PTA meeting, 7-9 p.m. in the high school.

Parents will be encouraged to make appointments with their children's teachers. All teachers are expected to attend the PTA meeting.

THESE APPOINTMENTS, it is hoped, will result in parent-teacher conferences to discuss each student's strong and weak points and areas in which they can be aided at home.

Parents Meet With Teachers

Parents of students at St. Mary's Catholic School are reported, by the faculty, to have cooperated 100% at last week's parent-teacher conferences.

4-H Clubs to Study Plants

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director
BOYNE CITY--Young folk entering into the Michigan 4-H Club program this fall have a chance to become amateur plant scientists.

A new horticulture bulletin, Basic Plant Science, designed for 10-12 year olds, offers an opportunity to grow seeds and plants and experiment with them during the winter months. It teaches beginners to grow plants from seeds, says Dr. J. Lee Taylor, horticulture extension specialist at Michigan State University and author of the bulletin.

HE SAYS THAT a plant seed is really a young plant which has not yet begun to grow actively. Starting with this seed, Taylor describes the life history of a garden bean and a yellow rocket plant through pictures and diagrams to teach 4-Hers the different parts of the plant.

The new bulletin then tells why seeds and plants are beneficial to man and how man uses seeds as a source of food. The rest of the bulletin contains eleven exercises, five to be completed during the first year and six the second year. Each exercise is flavored with scientific terms and contains a specific experiment to be performed.

If interested in participating in this new project, or for a copy of the Basic Plant Science bulletin, contact your local county 4-H extension office at Boyne City.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mol plan to spend Thanksgiving in Muskegon with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mol.

School Report Card

Written by Charlevoix Public School Educators

The group testing program in the Charlevoix Public Schools is at an average. In previous years, a group of sophomores have received certificates of Merit indicating that they have placed in the upper quarter of those taking the NEDT. The Director of Pupil Personnel Services coordinates the administration of these standardized tests under the authority of the Principal in each building and is ultimately responsible to the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education.

IN CHARLEVOIX, each teacher takes on a vital role in the administration and interpretation of group tests. For instance, this year Mrs. Omark already has administered and interpreted the PSAT in one of the necessary steps toward obtaining an NHS Kuder Preference Record to our 9th grade girls.

Mr. Cook, the Industrial Arts Dept., led the way in administering this same Interest Questionnaire to the 9th grade boys. Their patterns of interests take on new importance to boys and girls when they repeat the questionnaire in the 11th grade under the guidance of Mr. Carey in his U. S. History classes. As part of the interpretation process, Mr. Carey hands out the interest profiles these same students drew of themselves back in the 9th grade, thus giving them a chance to see the changing pattern of interests typical of the adolescent.

A select number of senior boys, one senior girl, and few junior boys chose to enter the Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition which Mr. Kipke interprets when the results are returned from Oakland University. This very challenging examination was held in the language laboratory, with Mrs. Irwin, Supervisor of this learning laboratory, in charge along with Mr. Harris of the Mathematics Dept.

ANOTHER COMPLETE grade was tested this fall when the sophomore class took the National Educational Development Test. This program checks scholastic achievement in English, Mathematics, Natural Science, and Social Studies. The program was administered by regular classroom teachers including Mr. Staley of the English Dept. and the coaching staff and by Mr. Luther, Chairman of the Science Department.

When the machine-scored results are returned, group interpretations will be held in Mr. Staley's English II classes with each student receiving a private booklet containing his own stand-

A few Reflections on Thanksgiving for Us

THANKSGIVING...1964! Can we pass just a few brief moments to reflect on the past, meditate on the present, and prepare for the future?

Those of us from large country families have many happy memories of Thanksgivings past. We wonder if today's young people still look forward to gathering at Granddad's. All of our cousins--whom we hadn't seen since the annual family picnic on the Fourth of July--would be there.

WOULD THIS, we always wondered, be this year we out-ate Cousin Bob? And, could we out-wrestle cousin Dick this year? After dinner, of course, the grown-ups would rustle us off. Then we could boast about how full we were. When the lump in our mid-section softened a bit we would tend to cousin Dick. (Not until much later did we learn the secret of whipping cousin Dick, was to convince him you could do it.)

Before this evening snack was served and balking automobiles were turned homeward, somebody would break something (maybe an arm or a nose). But, doesn't it seem funny, we forgot about those unpleasanties until now.

What the young ladies of this family did Thanksgiving afternoon is a mystery. But there's no doubt about what the grown-ups were doing. Mother, aunts and Grandma sat around in the kitchen talking about things that seemed awful silly to a young fella. Dad and Grandpa would gang up on all of our uncles and prove that anything they said was wrong. Now we feel like absolute fools to recall that in those days we actually longed for the time when we would be grown up enough to join the after-Thanksgiving - dinner debates.

But don't you wonder just a little bit if kids are still having as much fun on Thanksgiving. It's a dreadful fact of growing up that you no longer can understand just what the youngsters are doing and thinking.

WHAT ABOUT THE somewhat more serious business of today? Thanksgiving...1964. Isn't this a fine time, while we're in such a pleasant mood, to forget our anger and frustrations for just a moment as we can examine the many things those of us in Charlevoix have to be thankful for?

First, and perhaps foremost, we think of the many wonderful natural blessings that are Charlevoix. Our fresh air. Clean water. Forests and their quiet spots. Our unique setting, which no human architect could possibly conceive. If you have not thought of these for a while recall the last time you visited another town and told yourself how lucky you are to live in Charlevoix.

Though it may seem a bit materialistic, we would be negligent if we didn't give some thanks for our general prosperity and health. How many families do you know where the man of the house isn't working--if he wants to? Few, if any. For this we can thank the ingenuity and determination of Americans and the free enterprise system. More to the point in Charlevoix, we owe some thanks to our community leaders and industrialists who have made these jobs possible. So, don't forget American Mold, Hoskins, Consumers, Freedman and the others that provide the payroll which makes our town prosperous.

OUR CITY COUNCIL (both present and past) also rates a word of thanks. Because of its foresight and integrity Charlevoix is widely known as one of the soundest, most progressive and attractive communities in Michigan. Though you may have sharp differences of opinion with councilmen and their policy, do not be so blind today that you cannot admit to the superior job they have done in making Charlevoix a community you are thankful to live in. Think for a moment about our fine streets, parks, harbor, recreation program, City Hall, police department and other things. How many towns our size have them...at only eight-mills property tax?

And while we're on the subject of outstanding tax investments, let's not forget our schools. The Charlevoix Public School system levies a considerable lower tax rate than many schools of lesser quality. Certainly, there can be no doubt our educators are dedicated to the future success and happiness of our children.

Of course, there are many things for which all Americans should be thankful today. But you can read about them in this big city papers. The Courier's concern, and we trust yours, is primarily with Charlevoix. On that count we have no end of reasons to give thanks.

WHAT ABOUT THE future? It's there. That fact we cannot escape. Let us hope we are honest enough to face it. There are some important matters to be settled if we are to be as thankful in the future as we are today.

It weighs heavily on our conscience that some children in Charlevoix are living in absolute squalor. While it may be true we cannot cure the World's ills, certainly we can cure Charlevoix's. We hope this reminder of our slum problem does not sour your Thanksgiving meal. If it does, make a sincere promise right now to press for action in eliminating this thorn and your conscience should be clear enough to proceed with the turkey.

A happy Thanksgiving to you!

$1 Million Gift to Schools Makes Impossible Possible

ANNOUCEMENT THAT a mysterious benefactor has offered to contribute of up to $1 million to provide facilities for educating handicapped and unfortunate children is almost certainly without parallel in area school history. It is hard to comprehend just what such a gift can mean to the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. In brief it means the door has been opened to provide the best educational facilities possible for children who otherwise would, necessarily, receive second-rate treatment from the public school system.

IT ALSO MEANS children who have gone astray, because they come from a shoddy home environment or for other reasons, and those who simply have no home, will no longer have to be returned to sub-standard homes or turned loose to fare for themselves. A juvenile home will be provided with a professional staff to see that they get as near an equal start in life as possible.

A gift such as the unnamed southern Michigan donor has offered can often turn into a white elephant. However, the Courier feels confident area taxpayers can depend on Intermediate District Supt. Charles Robinson and his board of education, to act wisely.

Before Robinson and his board do anything they must find the means to pay for operating the facilities that have been offered them. They must also make sure the gift is put to the best possible use.

This district also owes a large measure of thanks to Robinson for obtaining the gift. Though he did not solicit the contribution (in fact the first word that it was in the offering came as a complete surprise to Robinson), without him it is doubtful Charlevoix - Emmet district would have been selected to receive the pending donation.

Under Robinson's direction, the Intermediate District has become widely recognized as having a sound, progressive and sincere educational philosophy and program. Giving credit where it is due, it was Robinson who spearheaded the district's pioneering special education program that voters approved last spring. This, it can be revealed, is what brought the donor's attention to this district.

If anyone has any doubts about the wide spread admiration other educators hold for Robinson, they should talk with school people in Antrim County who are anxious to join the Charlevoix-Emmet district before they are swallowed up by the Grand Traverse District.

Charlevoix of Yesteryear

THIS PICTURE OF pleasure boats at the Charlevoix city docks on Sept. 2, 1929 shows the water level almost to the top of the pier. Army Corps of Engineers records show Lake Michigan was approximately 2 feet higher in 1929 than it is this year. Water levels are now at a historic low of 57 1/2 feet above sea level. The picture is from the collection of Capt. C. S. Webster, 1230 N.W. 12th St., Miami, Fla.

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

Gov't Should Stay Out of Prayer Row

DEAR EDITOR:

One hundred and forty-seven different proposals have been made by Congressmen to amend the Constitution in order to reverse the Supreme Court decision of June, 1962, which ordered New York State Regents to abandon the administration of an officially composed prayer in the public schools.

I can only conclude that this decision is not understood by these Congressmen.

Who Knows, We May Make It

DEAR EDITOR:

As an admirer of your type of editing, I thought you might appreciate this poem which I found recently.

THE EDITOR

An Editor knocked at the Pearly Gates.

His face was scared and cold.

He stood before the man of fate

For admission to the fold.

What have you done St. Peter asked

To gain admission here?

I've been an editor, Sir, he said,

For many and many a year.

The Pearly Gates swung open wide.

St. Peter touched the bell.

Come in, he said and choose your hell.

You've had your share of hell.

EASTER IN NOVEMBER—Mrs. Lou Comfort, 200 Nettleton, enjoys the beauty and fragrance of her Thanksgiving-Easter lily. The lily's three blossoms come out in time for Thanksgiving last week. "The odor was just like Easter," she said. The plant was given to her in 1962 by Rev. Harold Kohn. She planted it in her yard and it has blossomed every spring since. However, this spring it failed to bear flowers so in September she moved it inside.

Petitions Ready In City Election

MRS. LOU COMFORT, 200 Nettleton, was telling one of those stories is stranger than fiction stories. Mrs. Comfort had been kind enough to realize the Courier and its readers would be interested in her Thanksgiving-Easter lily (picture) above this column.

Not being a horticulturalist, I didn't know how unusual it is to have an Easter lily bloom in late November. But the temptation to soak up some of its fragrance was too strong to resist. So to 200 Nettleton St. went the Courier camera.

After photographing the plant, we got down to the things that people who have known Charlevoix a long time like to talk about and people who haven't known Charlevoix long like to listen to.

In the course of re-reading history, Mrs. Comfort picked up a sturdily built wooden doll rocking chair. The glossy red paint made the little chair look like it might have been built last week.

Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell is a tuberculosis patient at Sunshine Hospital Grand Rapids. Doctors at Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey, discovered tuberculosis. It is thought the ailment was revealed in its early stages.

DR. JOHN H. LIGNELL said estimates are Campbell will be in the Grand Rapids hospital for approximately two months.

City councilmen Monday voted to keep Campbell's job open for him. Mrs. Fay Davis was appointed acting deputy city clerk while he is gone.

7 Teens Injured Cite Curve's Danger

A near-serious accident on the curve at Petoskey Ave. and Michigan Ave. this week re-opened official interest in making the intersection safer.

Seven teenagers suffered injuries ranging from minor bruises to a broken leg when their car slid into one of the well-seared trees on the curve at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

POLICE CHIEF Joseph Smith said the accident happened as the teenagers were coming through town, enroute home to East Jordan, after spending the evening at the Pony Tail in Harbor Springs. It was snowing at the time.

Rebecca Ann Rebee, 17, East Jordan, driver of the station wagon containing nine young people, suffered cuts and bruises. Donna Chanda, 16, Owosso, was reported to have a broken leg.

Others receiving minor injuries, according to Smith, were Shirley Chanda, 15, East Jordan; Lorraine Ager, 17, R-1, Charlevoix; Rudolph Rebee, 15, East Jordan; Regina Saganrk, 15, East Jordan, and Gail Ager, 15, R-1, Charlevoix.

The two other passengers, Beverly Chanda, 13, East Jordan and Robert Rebee, 15, East Jordan, were not injured, according to police.

MAYOR E. D. Hawley Tuesday said he feels the state should make a further study of the curve and intersection to see what can be done to make it safer. Petoskey Ave. (US-31) is under the State Highway Dept.'s jurisdiction.

"It's definitely the most dangerous spot in town," Hawley said.

Sheriff Glenn Rose said the curve is "as bad as any place in the county" for number of serious accidents.

If the state would widen the curve by four to six feet it would make it a lot

Home Yule Contest, Sliding Hill Ready

Christmas spirit and winter both established beachheads in Charlevoix early this week.

Tuesday morning temperatures held steady at the ten degree mark. There was four to six inches of snow on the ground.

MUCH-TOUTED city Christmas lighting decorations throughout the Bridge St. business district cast a Yuletide reflection onto Round Lake's frosty surface.

City Council Monday announced the annual—home—Christmas lighting contest will be held again this year. City Fire Chief John Curtis said volunteer firemen will have Santa Claus in town to greet children Dec. 19.

Details of the city's winter recreation program were also discussed at Monday's council meeting.

Sponsored by the electric utility, the contest will include prizes for the three best decorated homes in each ward and one outside the city limits. Prizes will be $15 for first place, $10 for second and $5 for third in each ward, and $10 outside the city.

THE HOMES will be judged Monday evening, Dec. 21 (the first day of winter). Judges will look for homes that make the best use of outside electric Christmas decorations.

Curtis said Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive in town about 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 19, by airplane. He will be picked up at the airport by a fire truck and brought to the foot of Clinton St.

Santa will then hand out boxes of candy and peanuts (bought by the city) to all children.

Completion of downtown Yule decorations was expected this weekend when area Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts put garlands on light poles. The Chamber of Commerce pays for the carolands.

A SURVEY of 20 Michigan cities, taken by the City of Escanaba, reveals the City of Charlevoix spends more per capita on Christmas decoration and promotion than any other. Last year

E-J Out As Voc. School?

Petoskey Bid Gets Support

East Jordan's hopes of becoming a vocational school center for a wide region of the north appear to be fading.

The Charlevoix Board of Education has joined all others in the area in supporting a plan to build regional vocational education facilities in Petoskey.

CHARLEVOIX board members, however, were careful to endorse Petoskey as "a" center, not "the" center.

The plan getting wide spread approval from educators in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim counties is a joint product of the Petoskey public school system and North Central Michigan College.

It calls for building facilities for vocational training of students throughout the area. Classes would be geared to preparing young men and women for jobs available here.

The cost of operating the vocational program would be borne by all school districts sending students. A school district's portion of the cost would probably be determined according to how many students it sent to the vocational center.

PETOSKEY schoolmen requested statements of support for their plan in hopes of nabbing a chunk of the $4.3 million in federal aid to be distributed for vocational centers early next year.

THE GUILTY PARTY—Mrs. Joan Blanchard and Russell Curtis check the tax roll and statements prepared by the electronic billing machine in front of them.

Machine Guilty Of Tax Headache

If you don't already have your 1964 county and school tax bill you soon will.

But this year when your blood begins to boil at the poor timing of sending out tax statements at Christmas time, blame it on a machine. Yep. One of those new electronic computer type gadgets is responsible for the annual headache.

ALL COUNTY and school bills are being figured and printed by a new $10,000 machine purchased by the County Board of Supervisors.

The electronic brain will prepare 16,000 tax bills for county property owners. County Equalization Dept. director Russell (Pat) Curtis says the job started Nov. 2 and will be completed this week.

Mrs. Rex Blanchard, Charlevoix Township Clerk, is running the computer. When she puts the final statement through this week, the machine will have leveled more than $1.5 million in taxes for county and school operations. Charlevoix City taxes ($8 per $1,000 of valuation) are levied in the summer and are not included in the statements being prepared by Curtis and Mrs. Blanchard.

THE TAX BILLING machine is doing a job previously done by officials in 15 townships and three cities.

Curtis says it does the job

Will Extend Dock Space For Island

BEAVER ISLAND—Construction of eight public finger piers for pleasure boats in St. James harbor is expected to be completed by summer.

Lloyd McDonough, St. James Township supervisor, said the project will be paid for by state and federal funds. The township's financial contribution is purchase of the land, he said.

THE PROJECT includes a 90 foot extension to the northeast end of the present 160 foot long township-owned pier; and eight new finger piers.

The township docks will now handle approximately 20 boats, McDonough said.

The entire harbor will also be dredged to five feet below International Great Lakes Datum. McDonough said federal and state monies will pay for the construction work because St. James has been designated a harbor of refuge.

THE MICHIGAN Waterways Commission's latest biennial report reveals $134,438 has been spent on the St. James public docks. Of this the township paid $45,000, federal government $41,671 and state $47,767.

McDonough said he will not know how much the new project will cost until bids are opened.

Recall Nitro Explosion Kiwanians Mark 30th Birthday

There was the time a bottle of nitro glycerine exploded at a Charlevoix Kiwanis Club meeting.

It wasn't really nitro. But Kiwanians who fell backwards off their chairs, and those who dove out the door, thought it was.

WHEN THE CLUB'S 40 members gather next Monday evening in the Weather-vane Inn to celebrate their 30th birthday, the phony explosion will undoubtedly be recalled with a few chuckles.

What really happened seems to be that the club's first president, Oscar North, was giving a talk on the dangers of nitro. To illustrate his talk he was passing a bottle of the stuff around the room. Everyone had been cautioned to be careful.

Suddenly the bottle (which in truth held only water) fell. A conspirator fired a pistol.

The results are still remembered as hilarious. One member (whom it wouldn't be kosher to identify) plunged out the door and didn't return to a club meeting for three weeks.

BUT THERE will be many other gay, serious and proud moments to re-live for Kiwanians at their 7:30 p.m. birthday party Monday. Toastmaster for the evening will be Rev. Fred McNeill of Traverse City, former Methodist pastor here.

Charles Saur of Grand Rapids, a former governor of Michigan Kiwanis clubs, will be the speaker.

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club was organized Dec. 4, 1934, making it the 55th in the state. It was sponsored by the Petoskey club.

Oscar North, a former school superintendent, was the club's first president. Meyer Levinson was the first secretary. There were 26 charter members, three of whom—Harry Bingham, Clarence Meggison and Fenton R. Bulow—remain with the club today.

Six of the club's past-presidents have served as Michigan district governors. They are North, Rev. William Wood, Fred Bancroft, Roy Bennett, Ralph Hamilton and Elmer (Barney) Engelhart who now holds the post.

HAROLD TOTTON is the club's president for 1965. Other newly elected officers are John Schmidt, president-elect; William Peck and Gerald Selph, vice-presidents.

The club's past presidents are: 1935—Oscar North, 1936—safer, Rose said. He contends there is room for the widening.

HAWLEY SAID he doesn't know what the solution is, but thinks widening may be the right step.

The intersection, Hawley said, is dangerous not only because of sliding on the curve, but also because it is difficult for persons traveling north on Petoskey Ave. to see oncoming traffic if they want to enter Michigan Ave.

Smith said drivers "pay little or no attention" to the 15 miles-per-hour speed limit sign installed on the curve this year.

The state has been asked to do something about the curve in the past, Rose said. Rose has been in local police work 32 years. He is the fifth oldest law enforcement officer in years of service with the Michigan Sheriff's Assn.

"You can issue summons after summons for going to fast on the curve and it still happens," Rose said.

Taxes

faster, neater and more accurately.

The machine computes the complex tax formula, which in most townships includes eight individual levies that must be added together and determined by the specific property's valuation.

It prints three copies of each statement: One for the tax roll, one for the taxpayer and one for the County Treasurer.

AFTER THE BILLS are printed they are sent to the township or city treasurer, who adds 1% collection fee, and mails them to taxpayers.

Taxpayers have until Feb. 15 to pay their bills without a penalty fee. After the 3% is added, March 1 the unpaid tax bills are turned over to the County Treasurer for collection.

Until March 1 taxes are collected by township and city treasurers.

Curtis said cities may use the machine next summer to print their tax bills. It is also being used to prepare county payroll checks and records.

MRS. BLANCHARD was trained, by Curtis, to operate the computer. Her previous experience with this kind of work was some accounting.

Pamela Elph, Bert Paolone, Benjie and Carroll Gill, Jerry Henstley, and Susie Staley. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James Rykema and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harris.

CHARLEVOIX TOPS IN MUSIC CULTURE

FOR QUITE SOME TIME now its puzzled how a store devoted strictly to music could keep its head above water in a town the size of Charlevoix. So last week I stopped at Getchell Campfield's music shop in the Oleson Shopping Center.

Charlevoix, Campfield explained, has "more music culture" than any town its size he knows of. Charlevoix people appreciate music so much they are willing to pay good money to buy the best instruments and equipments, he pointed out.

While we were talking Dean Davenport came in and proceeded to prove Campfield's point. Dean sat down and started doing an admirable job of playing the finest organ in stock. It turned out, to my surprise, our Chamber of Commerce manager has such an organ at home and plays it all the time.

However, Campfield admitted he couldn't keep the store open if he depended only on Charlevoix for business. He works with school band directors and other musical groups throughout the area to sell instruments, organs and pianos.

Campfield himself has an impressive musical background. He played in bands in Detroit, Flint and other big cities for 22 years. At one time he was concertmaster of the Detroit All-City Orchestra and first trumpet in the Detroit All-City Band.

One of the club's proudest moments was in September of 1939, when it hosted the annual state convention. Sixty-five of the state's 66 clubs were represented. Convention headquarters was at the Beach Hotel. Charlevoix was the smallest club to ever hold a state convention.

During the war years club members carried dinner pails to their weekly meeting in the school. Though they ate food packed in the pails, they paid for a dinner ticket. The money was given to the Red Cross.

THE CLUB'S major concern is youth work. In this field it has a separate organization, called the Charlevoix Kiwanis Youth Foundation, which is under the regular club officers, but is legally chartered to raise non-taxable funds for the many Kiwanis youth projects.

To keep club members informed and to stimulate their interest, the club's perennial editor, Ralph Hamilton, publishes a weekly, 8 1/2 by 11 inch mimeographed newspaper, the Kiwanis Klub Kourier.

Hamilton is a witty, outspoken editor. The Kourier, in addition to pertinent club information, contains such humor as, "Men do make passes at girls who wear glasses. It just depends on their frames," from a recent edition. And such candid observations on life and the times as, "To avoid the risk of losing their religion, a lot of people don't like it to work with them," from the Sept. 3, 1962 edition.

Charlevoix spent $1,052 on downtown decorations.

In many of the other cities included in the survey, the Chamber of Commerce and merchants help bear a larger portion of the Christmas promotion and decoration in the business district.

Again this year the city will operate a supervised sliding hill on Grant St., between Antrim and Huribut. Parents are requested to let children use the hill only when a supervisor is on duty.

Hours of supervision on the sliding hill are 3-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. daily; Saturdays from 10-Noon, 1-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m., Sundays from 1-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m.

THE ICE SKATING rink at the Elementary School will be open all hours when good ice is formed. Plans were being made to open Mt. McSaub's ski facilities for the winter, but no definite date is set.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Courtade spent Thanksgiving at Kingslev.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stroud left early last week for Tampa, Fla., where they plan to spend the winter months.

Jordan civic and education leaders have been trying to promote a regional vocational training center there.

Their plan has received widespread endorsement from regional school boards, including Charlevoix.

However, no real progress has been reported because the East Jordan group, lead by Walter Thorsen, has been unable to raise the initial $250,000 needed for buildings and equipment.

THORSEN'S GROUP has worked out a tentative curriculum and other details in an effort to raise money through a foundation, such as the Ford Foundation. However, in more than a year of trying, no success has been reported.

2 Arrested on Statutory Charge

Two men were arrested last week on charges of statutory rape.

Awaiting Circuit Court action are Sylvester J. Kuzmik, 20 of Boyne Falls, and Michael E. McCleese, 19, Boyne City.

Sheriff's Deputy Byron Stockwell reports they waived examination on the statutory rape charge in Boyne City Justice Lyle Green's court. Bond was set at $1,000.

The men were arrested on a warrant authorized by Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Varnum. A complaint, Stockwell said, was signed by the 13-year old girl's father.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bacot of Owosso spent the holiday weekend at their Ironton cottage and visited his mother, Mrs. Daniel Bacot.

Peter H. Timmer is a patient at Munson Hospital in Traverse City. He expects to return home this weekend.

Oh LORD, OUR GOD,

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN

You In The Church
The Church is You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker and united service regularly.

Find Children

A detailed survey of nearly 750 youngsters who received professional attention at The University of Michigan pediatric outpatient clinic during two separate weeks this year shows that about 24 percent suffered from four major disorders.

Heart defects, congenital anomalies, convulsive disorders, and mental retardation are the most common conditions which require medical attention among patients seen in the U-M clinic.

Of the children surveyed 171 were in one of these four diagnostic groups.

HOWEVER, MORE than 200 children, including those seen for routine medical check-ups, were in good health, with no significant physical or emotional problems, the survey results indicate.

The pediatric patients came from more than 50 Michigan counties, as well as out of state.

Dr. Patricia Ann O'Connor said the results found at University Hospital do not pretend to show the percentage of these disorders in the total population. She explained that the hospital serves as a referral center, and, therefore, the distribution of diseases and disorders seen in the pediatric clinic would be expected to differ from the distribution found in the office practice of private pediatricians and family physicians.

OUTDOOR RAMBLING

Indications this week, as the 1964 deer season closed, were that though hunters have put away their high-powered rifles until next November, they have more to talk about than ever before.

Unofficially, Conservation Dept. sources and local veterans of many deer seasons, were making it clear the hunting was better than ever. This in spite of generally discouraging weather.

CONSERVATION Officer Harley Burris of Boyne City said it will be quite sometime before official figures are in, but it definitely looks like more deer were killed in Charlevoix county.

Harley said his travels lead him to believe a few more bucks were killed, and considerably more does.

Area nimrods are accepting the shooting of does and openly admitting it if they killed an antlerless deer, Burris said. In the past, he pointed out, hunters have been reluctant to own up to shooting a doe.

The kill would have been decidedly heavier throughout the county if it hadn't been for snow and cold weather on the only two full weekends of with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Howard Somerville in East Jordan.

School Report Card

Written by Charlevoix Public School Educators

By Lucile Martin
Charlevoix High School has long been a respected name in interscholastic athletic and musical endeavors, and last year, for the first time in several decades, it appeared in the academic field of discussion and debate. Registering too late to be entered into the already set-up program of official competition, Charlevoix students nevertheless performed creditably in the discussion meets, two unofficial debates, and the regional tournament, where their record would have qualified them for entrance in the state tournament had they been entered officially in the preliminary competition.

This year Charlevoix is enrolled in the state league of the Michigan High School Forensics Association, which arranges four preliminary debates before the February tournament and provides a packet of materials to help with research. The students also were entitled to enter the two regional discussion meets held at North Central Michigan College.

Discussion and debate are two of the three types of interscholastic high school speech competition called "forensics". The third is a "Potpourri" of individual speaking experiences such as declamation, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, interpretive reading, and humorous reading. These contests are held in the spring and will be discussed in a later article.

The discussion phase of the fall and winter program is always concerned with the national debate topic for the year, but no pro or con position is taken by the participants, nor is there any formal procedure. The purpose of the program is to give the students an opportunity to learn through experience how to think analytically and effectively and then to communicate these thoughts clearly. Effective leadership of discussion is also taught. Participants are rated by evaluators on the following five criteria: communicative speaking, knowledge of subject, analysis of the subject, reflective thinking, and cooperative behavior. The discussion question this year was "What policy for the control of nuclear weapons would best insure the prospects for world peace?"

During the discussion phase, debaters are hard at work doing research for their first debate, which follows the second discussion meet. Debating is formal argument, for which there are rules as clear cut and almost as binding as those in a court of law. Each school enters two two-man teams, one affirmative and one negative, in each contest. The personnel may vary with each debate, depending on the number of students involved in the program. A qualified judge makes a decision each time as to which team he feels has been the more effective in presenting its case. He bases his decision on the teams total impression in the five following categories: (1) clarity of case construction, (2) sufficiency and value of evidence, (3) validity of argument, (4) strength of refutation, and (5) effectiveness of delivery. This year's proposition is "Resolved: That nuclear weapons should be controlled by an international organization."

THE BASIC purposes of academic debating are (1.) to train students in the techniques of research, analysis, reasoning, evaluation of evidence, case construction, and public address; and (2.) to motivate them to inquire into controversial and significant public issues.

Many schools belong to a local league as well as the required state league, thereby giving their students the advantage of eight preliminary debates before the tournaments. Charlevoix has met Elk Rapids in a practice contest and Onaway in an official debate. The schedule includes Alpena, Cheboygan, and Harbor Springs. The students also attended a debate clinic at Central Michigan University and a practice tournament at Ferris State College, where we debated large schools such as Muskegon

Don Gordon to Stay in Northland's Politics

Former Charlevoix County State Representative Don Gordon (R-Leland) has accepted a position as administrative assistant to Lt. Gov. William Milliken (R-Traverse City).

Gordon served one term as the Charlevoix District's representative in the Legislature. His term officially expires in January, 1965.

REAPPORTIONMENT of the state made it impossible for him to run for re-election from his district. He ran for the Senate seat vacated by Milliken and was defeated.

Clayton Morrison (R-Pickford) is Charlevoix's new representative.

Gordon told the Courier he has no definite plans beyond serving as Milliken's assistant. However, he said he has not ruled out the chance of running for office again. He will maintain his home in Leland.

AS MILLIKEN'S right arm, Gordon said he will still, "in a sense be working for Charlevoix County...and I'm glad of it."

Due to reapportionment, majority control of Michigan's Legislature is now in the hands of big city Democrats.

Gordon sees this as a challenge to northern Michigan legislators and voters to keep on their toes if they want their needs to receive fair treatment in Lansing.

As to the Republican party's future, Gordon is an optimist.

Coast Guard Auxiliary Group to Organize Here

Lt. Commander Charles Millard, commander of the Charlevoix Coast Guard Group, is organizing a Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla for Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan.

Cdr. Millard said that all activities would include "vessel examination, safety and navigation education, operations and fellowship."

Eligibility qualifications for a flotilla member are: A minimum of 17 years old; U.S. citizenship; own not less than 25% interest in a motorboat, yacht, aircraft or amateur radio station, or if not an owner, have a basis knowledge of boating.

There are Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotillas in Traverse City, Cheboygan and Alpena.

"In view of the amount of summer boating activity in this area, which is considerably greater than these nearby cities, organizing a flotilla here would be very desirable in the interest of safe boating," he said.

The auxiliary flotilla would be a non-military organization, its primary purpose, Millard said,

Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Brooks of Norfolk, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Litogot of Allen Park were here for the funeral of Fred Southwood.

Judge and Mrs. John Makel have returned home from Marquette where they spent the weekend with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. (Bill) Cross of Alpena and daughters Catherine, Gina and Gayle Ann spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farmer.

Tom Carey is a patient at Munson Hospital in Traverse City, y. Cards may be sent to him in care of the hospital.

A Busy Winter

More than 50 winter events are listed in the December-March calendar of events, published by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Most of the winter sports activities center on skiing and ice fishing. Charlevoix is not listed in the calendar of winter events. Petoskey is listed five times.

THE CALENDAR of events can be obtained from the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Bldg., Lansing, Mich.

Louis Edwards returned Monday from a Thanksgiving weekend trip to Pittsburgh, Pa.

James Dennis has returned to his studies at Northern Michigan University after spending the weekend here.

Recreation Program Hit New Peak in '64

In a report released to the Courier and city officials summer recreation director Deano Davenport summarized the success of the city-sponsored program.

The active participation record indicated 7,070 people actively involved themselves in the softball, swimming instruction, shuffleboard, tennis and golf programs and the special events--swim races and track and field meets.

A TOTAL OF 44,795 people benefited from the program. This includes attendance at the three beaches and softball and special event spectators.

Beach attendance and shuffleboard play was slightly down compared to last year's figure, due to poor weather during August.

A chart depicting program growth for 1964 follows.

	1962	1963	1964	Increase
Softball	409	417	429	3%
Swimming Instruct.	164	208	285	32%
Swim races	90	107	115	7%
Shuffleboard	5758	6261	5981	-4%
Track and field day	159	165	170	3%
Tennis	28	32	25	-21%
Golf			65
Total	6608	7190	7070

In summarizing, Davenport added, "there are several reasons why the program was a success. First, the free hand given the department, by the sponsoring agency, the city, has allowed for creativity and a wide variety of activities to be offered.

"Also the community's acceptance that the program fills a basic need, which is planned leisure time activities."

"The efficiency of the nearly 50 volunteer workers, who have devoted countless hours managing teams, acting as officials or timers, or aiding in the many more miscellaneous jobs connected with a recreation program, has been a big contributing factor to our success."

"THE COOPERATION of the Courier with fine publicity given to all the activities plus accurate accounts of their results was an unmeasurable contribution to the program."

"The solid work of assistant Des Milligan, swim program instructors Gary Smith and Joel Arvilla, and lifeguards Al Arvilla and Terry Stewart cannot go unnoticed."

State wide attention was brought to the city's program when it was selected by Central Michigan University's Recreation Dept. as one to be studied and surveyed by their student recreation majors."

Davenport, in closing, stated that, "The program continually needs to be evaluated and expanded. An important area that is practically untouched in Charlevoix and in surrounding communities, is that of planned recreation activities for our senior citizens. There is a need for such activities in every community and, we need to include some programming in this direction for the senior citizens of Charlevoix."

"Recreation is a major industry in our city. Charlevoix has a natural potential to become a real leader in the recreation field," he concluded.

Rayders Set to Go!

The teams of the Northern Michigan Class C league will launch their 1964-65 basketball season Friday with all three defending co-champions, Charlevoix, Pellston and Gaylord, determined to turn in another championship performance.

Early this week Coach Don Carey would not name his starting five, but said Dave Norton, 6-5, would likely start at center, with Tom Maxwell backing him up in the position when the Rayders go against Mancelona in the local gym Friday night.

All seniors, will be in the forefront when the game starts: Doug Winnell, Jim Uhrick, Dave Smith and Randy Carey. Two from the following four, Del Terrill, State Smith, Warren Belding and Jack Uhrick, will be in the backcourt. John Bleha and Ted Weidman, the only juniors, reporting for practice to date, will give depth to the squad.

Again, Coach Carey would make no long range forecast of the 16 game season.

However, he did say this year's champion would lose at least one game and probably more before the season ended late in February. "There are several teams that should be very good. Take East Jordan, for example. They had a fine team last year and everyone of those boys has gotten bigger. They have experience... some of them have been playing varsity ball since they were freshmen. I expect them to be real tough. Then there's Harbor Springs, Gaylord, Grayling... In fact, nearly every team could come through with a good season. For that reason, every game is going to be important," he said.

WHILE Charlevoix is hosting Mancelona Friday, Gaylord and Harbor Springs will clash on the Rams floor, Pellston will invade East Jordan and Boyne City will travel to Grayling for games that promise to be "cliff-hangers" all the way.

Harbor Springs and Boyne City opened their seasons last Friday when they lost to Petoskey St. Francis and the Petoskey Northmen on non-loop games. The Rams were edged by the Crusaders 47-44 after leading until the last three minutes of play. The Ramblers were downed by Petoskey 47-32.

Woods hoodlums! Ever hear of them? Could you, just maybe, be one of them?

A woods hoodlum is the kind of pig who litters the forests, streams and lakes. He's the sort of scum who will cut his initials into a picnic table, take his axe to a log building in a state park, break the handle off the pump in a state forest, leave broken bottle glass on a woods trail and do any one of many other things that no decent person would do.

ACTUALLY "WOODS hoodlums" have only recently been given a name. Until the last few years there was no need to label them. There weren't enough of them to make it worthwhile to name them.

So what's changed this? Why are there now so many more people in our outdoors who have so little respect for it?

This column might make a few people angry by saying so (that never bothered it much), but I figure the reason is that there are more and more people in the woods who aren't fishermen or hunters. The majority of men who fish and hunt have a strong feeling for the outdoors, but how did we ever get on this subject? It was brought up by Owen Bennett, 42, the Conservation Dept.'s youngest regional law enforcement division supervisor.

OWEN, who has recently been assigned as the top game law man in the northern Lower Peninsula, stopped at the Courier last week with our old and trusted friend Charlie Welch, regional information officer. Owen was transferred to the regional chief's desk from a district chief's desk in Newberry. He replaces Harold Treat who retired last year.

Michigan is split into three Conservation Dept. regions. One in the UP, one in the northern lower and one in the southern lower. As the number one conservation officer in the most active of these regions, Owen has a big job.

Until taking his new job he has been assigned to the UP since he joined the department 18 years ago. He is a native of Marquette.

HIS ONLY previous experience in Charlevoix was a stop over here several years ago while he was serving aboard the department's Patrol Boat No. 1, under Capt. Charles Allers. His most enduring memory of that trip is of a crewman stepping onto the dock at Beaver Island and plunging clean through into the water when a rotten board gave way.

Owen and his wife Betty make their new home in Roscommon, where the department's regional headquarters is located. Their daughter Kathy, 21, is a student at Northern Michigan University.

But let's get back to those vile woods hoodlums we started out to bount.

Owen got us on the subject when he stopped into meet the Courier's editor. During the course of our idle chatter he mentioned that there were more woods hoodlums at large this summer than ever before.

SOME OF THEIR atrocities were unbelievable.

For instance, Along the banks of the South Branch of the AuSable River is a small stone and cedar chapel hidden amongst large pines. The chapel can only be reached by foot or canoe. The money to build it was left by pioneer conservationist and fly trout fisherman George Mason. This summer woods hoodlums used the tiny chapel as a toilet.

Who could do such a thing? Odds here are anything you want that it was canoeists. They also cluttered the chapel with literally tons of trash.

Things like this get our dander up. But they make the blood boil in men, like Owen and Charlie, who have dedicated their lives to preserving our natural wonders.

CHARLIE'S WEAPON is information and education. Apparently this won't do the trick. For there can't be anyone who hasn't read the "Don't Be A Litterbug" propaganda.

Owen's weapon is law enforcement. It is illegal to litter our outdoors. But, obviously, this doesn't work as you can't have a lawman behind every tree.

I can personally vouch for Charlie as the best in his trade. Owen must be top notch or he wouldn't have the job he's in. Yet they don't have the answer to exterminating woods hoodlums.

Nether does this column. But it does suggest that it would help if more decent citizens had guts

MYSTERIOUS COYOTE—John C. Sladek, R-1, Charlevoix, and Conservation Officer Harley Burris examine the red-colored coyote Sladek shot Friday off the Barnard Rd. The 30 pound, four foot long, coyote is the only red one he has ever seen, Burris said. It was almost the identical color of a fox. Most coyotes are dark gray and white. Three or four coyotes are shot in the area every winter Burris said. Sladek shot the coyote while deer hunting.

Kindergarten Parents Invited

All parents of Charlevoix Elementary School kindergarten children are invited to attend a program on speech Friday, Dec. 4, at 3:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Principal Glenn Snider reports parents will have a chance to ask questions. The importance of parent-teacher conferences will also be discussed.

enough to pounce on every woods hoodlum they see desecrating our outdoors.

Hike Tuition

The Charlevoix Board of Education will levy a $165 tuition fee on all students in grades 7-12 from rural school districts. Last year the tuition fee was $157.

Supt. Rex Milligan reports 30 students from rural school districts that do not have high schools are attending Charlevoix High School.

"Through the years man has been making enormous strides in producing weapons of war—from headbutters, to fortbustlers, to blackbustlers, to citybustlers, and he's well on his way now to producing countrybustlers."

Gun Club to Elect Officers

The Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club will hold its annual election tonight (Thursday) at the club house, 7:30 p.m. The annual meeting will begin with a supper at 6:30 p.m. A movie on hunting in Newfoundland, including moose, will be shown.

... DUE TO THE meeting, the pistol team will shoot on Friday, instead of Thursday.

Liquor License Request Withdrawn

Robert Wexstaff's request for a license to sell liquor in the package at Oleson's Shopping Center, has been cancelled by the State Liquor Control Commission.

Happy Holiday For Grandvue

Sixty-one Thanksgiving baskets prepared by the American Legion and its women Auxiliary were delivered to patients at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility, East Jordan.

How is your county and school property tax bill figured?

This is a complex question that haunts government officials because it is so confusing to explain. And now is the time the questions are being asked because tax bills are, or have been, mailed.

PROPERTY TAXES are determined by multiplying the tax rate (number of mills) by the amount your property is valued at.

This means that if your property has a state equalized valuation of $5,000 (which is about average for the county), and the total tax rate in your school district, township and county is 20 mills, you will pay $100 property taxes. One mill equals $1 in taxes on every $1,000 of state equalized property valuation.

Throughout the county every property owner pays 5.5 mills for county operation, .625 mills for intermediate school district operation, and 1.12 mills for Grandvue Medical Care Facility. This will raise $292,816 for the county and $60,000 for Grandvue. The county has a total state equalized valuation of $53,239,400.

Big Rock Pays 25% Of School Budget

What's the value of having industry in the Charlevoix area? County Equalization Dept. director Russell (Pot) Curtis gave some answers to this question. Some big answers!

CONSUMERS POWER Co. will pay $164,660 in school, county and township property taxes on its Big Rock Point nuclear plant, Curtis said. This is only $16,959 less than all taxpayers in the City of Charlevoix will pay.

Property taxes for county and school operation and debts in the City of Charlevoix total $181,619.

The nuclear plant, Curtis said, has a state equalized value of $7,063,947. The equalized value of all taxable property in the City of Charlevoix is $8,301,882.

Big Rock will pay $103,485 to the school district. This is nearly one-quarter of the district's total $432,000 annual budget. The school district has a total equalized valuation of $21 million, of which Big Rock's valuation is one-third.

OTHERS WHO will share Big Rock's tax payment are: Charlevoix County, $38,851; Hayes Township, $9,889; Grandvue Medical Care Facility, $7,982; and Intermediate School District, $4,450.

Curtis pointed out the plant does not send anyone to school or demand more than a minimum of services from the county or township.

Men who work at the plant and have children in school, pay taxes on their personal property, Curtis said.

Consumers is the county's largest single taxpayer. Second is the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative steam plant at Advance, which has a valuation of $1,724,000 and pays $121,900 in taxes.

Beats 2 C-G Pistol Teams

With the Sundew in port for the holiday, the Coast Guard fielded two teams (one for the ship and one from the station) to challenge the Rod and Gun Club pistol team last week.

The club shooters, however, eeked out a slim seven point victory. Final scores: Gun Club, 1020; Sundew, 1013; Station, 925.

THE ROD AND Gun Club's four man team was Frank Zed-nick, 279; Babe Mathews, 258; Dr. Robert Martin, 254, and Harold Lang, 229. Shooting but not making the team was Leston Brown, 210.

The Sundew shooters were David Smith, 278; Dick Gallant, 249; Terry Grey, 264, and Jim Dille, 222. Shooting, but not on the competitive team, were Roger Roznoski, 182 and Erbie Andalis, 202.

Members of the Coast Guard Station team were Charles Mil-lard, 278; Donald Thurston, 254; Ronald Sixberry, 218, and Robert Baker, 205. Also shooting was David Radatz, 191.

NEW PLUMBING SHOP--Novotny's Plumbing and Heating expects to move into this new building at 101 W. Upright sometime late this month or early next month. The 30 by 90 foot cement block and brick building is being constructed at a cost of approx-imately $20,000. The firm has been located at 105 Clinton St. for 30 years.

Let's Make Charlevoix Home for Servicemen

MANY, PERHAPS even most, of the men reading this have spent at least one Christmas away from home dutifully doing Uncle Sam's bidding. Those of us who have felt at least a bit lonely, no matter how hard the military tried to make Christmas enjoyable.

Which gets us to wondering about Charlevoix's many Coast Guard and Air Force people. They, too, must feel a long way from home as Christmas approaches.

THERE IS NO WAY to change this. But we can keep in mind that "home is where the heart is." And this we can try to do something about.

Every Charlevoix family could do its part by sending a Christmas greeting card to the "men and their families" of 1--The Charlevoix Coast Guard Station, 2--the Sundew, and 3--the Air Force Bomb Scoring Site. This doesn't seem like very much, but we're just willing to bet it would go a long way toward making Charlevoix more like home for our service men and their wives. Why don't you give it a try?

As part of a year-round effort many things can be done.

LAST WEEK THE Chamber of Commerce decided to move in this direction. Chamber manager Dean Davenport hopes to establish an Armed Force Committee. The committee will be asked to personally welcome all new service families, acquaint them with Charlevoix and provide any possible services they can in making them more comfortable and a part of the community. The committee, Davenport explained, will also be called on to work with military leaders in planning an Armed Forces Day to honor the Coast Guard and Air Force.

On our part at the Courier we are asking the military units to inform us of all new families coming to town so we can send them a free month's subscription. (This policy extends to civilian families, as well.)

There are many little things we can do to make Charlevoix "home" for our service families. All it takes is a little thought. So how about it?

Bright Future for Post Office

THE FINAL DECISION of the Charlevoix County Democratic Committee to promote Dan Genett to postmaster was a most anti-climatic. Many of us, including the Courier, have felt all along that this was the reasonable solution. And, in spite of protests to the contrary, we have trusted that ultimately this would be the decision.

By finally disposing of the matter, Democrats cleared the air. Genett's endorsement brought to an end one of the most interesting political wrangles in Charlevoix County Democratic party history.

IT MAY BE THAT hard feelings were created. Yet we suspect that those who will continue to carry a grudge were the same people we've always heard condemning somebody or something.

As we said in these columns when the conflict was at its height: Dan Genett is the man for postmaster.

The fact that he had to fight for the job only makes his position stronger. It leaves no doubt but what he was selected only after long and careful thought by all persons concerned. Perhaps this is better than having him automatically promoted.

WE ARE CONFIDENT that Charlevoixians will continue to be proud of their post office, and of their postmaster. The extras in friendliness and service that we have grown used to under retiring postmaster Peter Timmer's administration will continue without a moment's interruption.

For this we are indebted not only to Timmer and Genett, but to all of our postal employees. Let's wish them all a merry Christmas!

Happy Birthday, Kiwanis

NEXT WEEK THE Charlevoix Kiwanis Club celebrates its 30th year of fellowship and public service. This birthday warrants a toast from all Charlevoixians.

In years this isn't really old. Some of our local organizations can look back over more than half a century. But few, if any, have contributed more toward making Charlevoix a better place to live.

THE KIWANIS CLUB's roster of present and former members in itself takes the measure of the organization. Many of the men who stand out now as our community leaders, and others from former years who have become a part of the Charlevoix story, are on this roster.

Happy birthday Kiwanians! May your future be even richer than your proud past.

Club News

All clubs and organizations are urged to donate items about their activities for this column. They must be clearly written (either in story or note form) and include first and last names.

YOU HAVE NEVER before seen the head---"Club News"---that is above this editorial. We would like to have you see it in every week's Courier, with stories from all of our local clubs below it.

Actually we've thought about this for months. But we had reservations that it would work. A decade of small town newspapering has taught us that club people like to complain because their news isn't in the paper, but are seldom willing to put forth the little extra effort that is required for the newspaper to print their stories.

BARNEY ENGLEHART recently convinced us we might be wrong. To prove his point Barney called for a little help and queried several of our club leaders. So here we go.

Barney, and the other club leaders he contacted, suggested that the Courier make space available in one section for all clubs to report their activities. This includes church clubs, women's clubs, civic clubs, fraternal clubs, veterans organizations, extension groups, and the whole works.

We've done everything we can. Our first step was to print the head you see above. Beneath it we will make available room for every club to have their story printed (under a separate headline of their own).

Now the rest is up to you. It isn't difficult, really. All that's required to make Barney's plan work is for all clubs to appoint publicity chairmen. These people should submit news of their club's activities to us. The news, either in story or note form, should be clearly written, with all first and last names carefully spelled. Please bring, or mail, your club news to the office (there's a drop box in the front door for after-hours). Do not telephone.

AND IT IS ABSOLUTELY necessary that we get your news immediately. Waiting until the last minute before we go to press puts us in the same kind of impossible situation you would be in if you had to cook a week's meals in two hours, or do a week's work in one afternoon. Club publicity chairmen will find all of this is really a simple task once they get the hang of it.

CHARLEVOIX'S SWANS--This picture taken by photographer Bob Miles shows James Gaskin with his first flock of swans in Old River on the Chicago Club, sometime after 1918. Mrs. George Douglas of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, sent the first pair of swans to Mr. Gaskin in 1918, records kept by Miles revealed. Gaskin kept their wings clipped so they could not fly. The first pair mated and eventually Gaskin had a sizeable flock of tame swans in Old River. In the winter he kept the ice broken so they could swim. Eventually several of the swans journeyed to East Jordan, to give that city its "Swan City" name. Several swans were noticed in the Charlevoix Harbor this spring. Could they be descendants of Gaskin's first pair in 1918?

Dear Editor:

Careless Hunters

DEAR EDITOR:

Hunter's Luck? Funny, is it? Have you heard the "zing" of the bullet, the crash of glass, felt the blow and with blood streaming, a frantic daughter running to you -- it would not have had an essence of fun.

During our previous 35 years here on the old Rex Beach place we have been protected from the broad sweep on the south side of the house by a row of large maple and elm trees, which this summer, without the release being signed and against protests and pleas, were ruthlessly cut down by order of the Antrim County Road Commission.

trim County Road Commission.

AND NOW THIS: Shooting a woman inside her own home! "Hunter's Luck" is it! To me it is the mercy and providence of God, for which I thank Him that I was not a fraction of an inch taller or the bullet would have gone through an eye instead of hitting the hard skull above it.

I am still shocked by the careless, thoughtlessness of man.

Few Gym Seats at Gaylord

DEAR EDITOR:

I am taking this means of informing your basketball fans the procedure to follow to obtain tickets to the Charlevoix-Gaylord high school basketball game to be played in Gaylord High School's gym on Friday, Dec. 4.

Because of the large crowds which are expected to follow this game and in order to provide your fans with some assurance of a seat, I have forwarded to your high school principal 84 adult tickets and 84 student tickets which will be reserved. These tickets will be sold only through your local high school and when they are sold out, a fan's chances of getting into the gym are somewhat limited. Inasmuch as the seating capacity is limited in Gaylord High's gym, all permanent type seats are reserved. As mentioned earlier, when the advanced reserved tickets are sold at your local school it would generally lessen a fan's chances. However, on the night of the game, approximately 200 general admission and standing room tickets will be sold. These will be sold on a first come, first served basis and when they are gone, the doors will be closed to further admissions.

If you plan to attend the game, get your tickets (reserved) through the high school or take chances at the door of being admitted on a general admission ticket.

We are indeed sorry that such a condition exists, but it does and we hope that the reserved tickets sold in your local school will provide some protection on seating for your fans.

Couriers Helps Rec. Program

DEAR EDITOR:

Enclosed you will find an article summarizing the summer recreation program. (See story page ??). It is important that people recognize the scope of their program and this report will help.

Many people have said that this year's program was far and away the best ever. I agree that it has steadily improved, however, this year's program was not that superior to the program offered in previous summers. The big difference was in the fine publicity given us by the Courier during the past summer. People were made more aware of our program, its activities by the articles, and pictures printed by the paper.

I WANT TO express our thanks for your cooperation and thoughtfulness in recognizing the contribution that recreation and leisure time activities make and their important role in the community.

We Californians enjoy the Courier very much. We were especially delighted in the way the town came to life during the recent election.

Hoping that it is possible for us to work together again next summer. I remain,

SINCERELY YOURS,
DEAN DAVENPORT

EDITOR:

We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks, appreciation and gratitude for the many items of publicity you have given your State Police.

It was through the recognition you gave us that our recent plea for recruits met with such successful response. The increasing need for greater traffic safety awareness by citizens could not be brought to the attention of the public without your able assistance.

Again, many thanks for the help you and your staff have rendered throughout the years.

People passing 213 E. Lincoln recently did a double take. . . for there, just as big as though the date was Dec. 25, was a lighted Christmas tree. . . complete with decorations and gifts. . . Mrs. Jerry Buttler of Oak Lawn, Ill., who was visiting here, gave me the lowdown on the early holiday. Seems she has four children who would much rather live in Charlevoix than where they are. . . It was vacation time for her and her husband so they came in November for December vacations were out. . . since Mr. B. is employed by the postoffice department. . . "What's Thanksgiving and Christmas without grandparents and Charlevoix?" was the hue and cry of the youngsters. . . so it was Christmas and Thanksgiving all rolled into one. . . and a white Christmas at that. . . and four youngsters returned home content now that they'd received their real gift, a Christmas in Charlevoix. . .

And speaking of Christmas, don't forget to get those overseas gifts in the mail. . . You'd better check with the powers-that-be to see if they should be sent airmail. . . You wouldn't want your favorite service guy or doll to be without some little thing, come Christmas morning, would you? After all, it's bad enough to be away from home at holiday time. . .

DON'T KNOW how it all turned out but there was supposed to be skiing at Boyne Mountain over the Thanksgiving weekend. . . Everyone got excited when it turned cold. . . the old snow machines were thrown into high gear and mountains of man-made white stuff started to appear on the ski slopes. . . Then the real stuff started to come down in feathery, soft flakes and all the operators were on Cloud Nine. . . Then came this week. . . the barometer went up, as did the temperature, the sun came out and whammo. . . there went the snow. . . or at least a good part of it. . . But perhaps some was salvaged so those ski bugs could say they got an early start. . .

Here we go again. . . into another basketball season. . . with the Rayders opening here against Mancelona tomorrow night. . . I am aware of the fact that there are seeds of round-ball fans. . . but I guess one forgets from season to season just who they are. . . I've had more people mention the season, ask about the schedule and what-have-you then ever before, I swear. . . Everyone's hoping for a good season. . . so let's all keep our fingers crossed. . .

How lucky can you get? . . . Talked with the Homer Bradys the other day and guess where they were spending Thanksgiving. . . In Detroit where they'll see the Lions football game and then have Thanksgiving dinner with some of the players. . . This is an annual thing with them and I'd almost forgotten about it. . . Then there was mention of the Bears game and this came up. . . Mighty lucky people, say I. . . I'd just like a chance to tell those terrific guys just how much I enjoy their game every week. . .

BULLETIN: on the traveling tramps. . . or what ever happened to Dave Rader and Howard Majors, like they say in the serials. . . In the last episode, the twosome had arrived in New Orleans and had put in an appearance on the docks in an effort to find a job to get them to Europe. . . But things didn't turn out that way. . . Seems there were unions, and ships not covered with insurance for this type of thing and all sorts of complications. . . They considered booking passage out of there but that cost too much, they thought. . . so what to do? . . .

All this time they're making friends and seeing New Orleans. . . the French Quarter, all the famous places they'd read about or been told about. . . But this couldn't go on forever so, on their own, they started rechecking on the best way to get to where they were going at the least expense. . . The answer: get to Norfolk where they could get passage on a German freighter that would take them to Kiel. . .

So, in direct contrast to the Pilgrims who landed at Plymouth Rock that November day in 1620, these two pilgrims were scheduled to depart on Thanksgiving day on their great adventure. . . According to their parents, the ship will take them to the German port where they know someone and plan to spend a little time. . . Then across Germany, arrived in Brussels for Christmas with Dave's sister, Nancy, at the home of his uncle and aunt, the Hoffmanns. . . I shall attempt to keep you informed of their travels. . . Meanwhile, just be patient. . . they have all the confidence in the world so naturally, they'll make it. . .

A WELL-DONE (as per usual) by the Charlevoix high school bands who presented a real fine concert at the gym last week. . . attended by scads of admirers. . .

And now may we advise you to keep the afternoon of Dec. 20 open for the annual Christmas Vesper Concert. . . to be given by the Community Choir with, we hear, is bigger and better than ever this year. . . after an absence of one year. . . It's a wonderful way to usher in the holiday season. . .

Request Gas for Ellsworth

The Ellsworth Chamber of Commerce last week took steps it hopes will lead to natural gas service in the community.

The chamber's board of directors moved to ask Michigan Consolidated Gas to consider extending its lines into Ellsworth.

THE COMPANY this week announced plans to provide natural gas for customers in Central Lake and Bellaire.

Michigan Consolidated's district manager, D. S. Montross of Petoskey, could not be reached by the Courier for direct comment on Ellsworth's request.

The gas company's policy is that it must first determine if extending its lines to Ellsworth will be profitable, depending on the number of customers.

The chamber, directors learned, has a cash balance of $614, and a membership of 46.

A COMMITTEE was appointed to work on getting load limits removed on the road between Ellsworth and East Jordan.

The chamber's secretary was asked to write the State Highway Dept. requesting a sign at Woodward on U. S. -31, directing people to Ellsworth.

Future chamber meetings will be held the fourth Monday of every month at 7:30 p.m. The next meeting is Dec. 28.

Three meetings will be held annually at which all chamber members will be asked to be present. The first of these is scheduled for Jan. 25.

JULY 3 WAS set as the date for the annual community barbecue. Committees were assigned to begin planning the barbecue.

Con. Gas to Extend Lines In Antrim

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. announced today it will extend natural gas service to the villages of Bellaire and Central Lake and to Chestonia, Kearney, Forest Home and Central Lake townships next summer.

James C. Preston, general manager of the utility's Northern District, with headquarters in Mt. Pleasant, met with village and township officials and outlined plans for the project.

PRESTON SAID Michigan Consolidated proposes to invest $550,000 in the area to provide gas service to some 500 customers. The company would build a gas transmission line westward from its existing Petoskey pipeline to Bellaire and gas mains north to Central Lake, Preston said that the company would in-

NOW YOU SEE IT—Ellsworth Photographer Sam Corlisse caught this foul-in-action at last week's Ellsworth-Inland Lakes Game. The unusual shot shows Ellsworth's Chet Boss (in white, jumping) trying to tip a rebound in as he is fouled by the unidentified Inland Lakes player. Look at the hands under the ball and you can clearly see Boss' finger being bent backward. Other Ellsworth players in the picture are Gary Torga, (22), under basket, and Larry Torga (24). FROM ROY

If anyone is interested in having their picture taken, just go through some strange antics.

Last week I mentioned that the Cadets would stay out of the woods and remain home where it was safer. Well! Marty Rubingh had a slug go through his upstairs window. (Board the doors, they're coming through the windows).

It is a great feeling to hear people say they enjoy the Ellsworth section in the Courier. We can say, "More people are reading the Courier."

Mrs. Peter Burns was the driver of the car that took Mrs. Fred Gibbs, Mrs. Sam Carlisle, Mrs. Alex Klouster, of Ellsworth and Mrs. Herb Rose of Central Lake to Traverse City last week to attend the Extension Christmas workshop at Northeastern Michigan College.

The Ellsworth Extension Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Hazel Edson on Tuesday, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. A one dollar home-made gift exchange has been planned. Mrs. Opal Hastings and Mrs. Roy Staudenmeyer are co-hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. William (Chuck) Elzinga and son Todd found room in the car for Steve and they drove home to see their parents Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Elzinga and brothers Terry and Jim. Uncle Dean came home to see his nephew and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Hans DeYoung.

Marlene Wynsma, Sandy Jansen, Theima Drenth, Gail Yettaw, Chet Drenth, Bill Alward, Allen Rubingh, and Gordon Yettaw came home to nibble on the drumstick.

Who is paying John for all the ammunition he is using?

For the Thanksgiving weekend John and Marie Burns guests were their son Carl and his wife Bonnie. Carl and Bonnie also visited the Roy Staudenmeyer home.

We have been saving this space in the paper for those hunters who believe in taking advantage of the entire season to hunt and get their deer: Nels Spoelman, Rev. Gibbs, Steve Elzinga, Fred Gibbs.

Ron VanderArk and his wife spent the Thanksgiving holiday with his parents and sisters. Willard VanderArk is still convalescing with his injured leg.

Sybil Wynsma received a telephone call from John Vroom's son, that his dad had an operation and was released from the hospital Wednesday Nov. 25. John's condition is very good and surprises the family. We all send our best wishes.

The question has been asked, "Why can't Ellsworth be decorated for the Christmas Season?" The seniors might be interested in this chore.

It may seem like a small incident but litter along our county roads looks just as untidy as on the main highways. After three weeks vacation from this job, we are back typing very clear, concise reports of the basketball games. If small details, such as the score, are missing, please bear with us—it will take us a couple weeks to learn to write decent, decipherable notes.

The top scorer on our team was Harold DeYoung with 12 points.

ELLSWORTH'S varsity team also defeated their opponents from Inland Lakes. Captain for Ellsworth was Chet Boss and for Inland Lakes it was Dick Schultz. Our high point man was Chet Boss with 19 and for the Bulldogs, Mike King had 17.

The only thing of real significance that happened during the second quarter was that Rich Ruis went in to take the place of Larry Torga. Rich scored four points during the game and on behalf of the sophomore class (of which we are members) Suzi and I would like to say "Yeay Rich." The halftime score was Ellsworth 30-Inland Lakes 25.

The towering junior, Jim Kooyer, gave the Bulldogs a real tough time and the game ended Ellsworth 75-Inland Lakes 52.

Rambling

LAST SUNDAY morning was one of those unreal real mornings that makes winter in the northland a treat for those who refuse to vacate for the dull southland.

Trees at Idle Acres, and everywhere else were literally coated with impossibly light snow that glistened as the rising sun cast purple shadows into the valleys.

Even the smallest twigs supported a blanket of snow. How the snow hung to limbs and pine needles is beyond this column's comprehension. And if you have some perfectly logical answer I don't want to hear it. When you so much as bumped even a large tree with your shoulder the snow showered down.

A SNOWY OWL glided in on an arctic wind stream and landed in the top-most boughs of a large pine in front of Idle Acres. My cricket stomping canine pal and I stood below watching, wondering where this magnificent white feathered creature had been and what tales of the far-far north he could tell.

It seemed the owl must have come from the distant land of the little sticks. For he turned his head to look down over his shoulder at us and seemed to have no thought of fear. As his black-ringed eyes looked at us I wondered if he wasn't asking himself, "What kind of fool varmint is that that has four legs and doesn't know enough to use all of them?"

After a few long minutes he lifted himself out of the tree and sort of floated down into the swamp. Perhaps he will spend the winter with us and two former Arctic wanderers can share Idle Acres.

Opening Fete At Oleson's

After four months of operating with "very good results" Oleson's Food Store is holding its grand opening.

Bill Cooper, manager of Oleson's Charlevoix store, announced the grand opening will continue through the holiday season.

PRIZES WILL be awarded every week, he said. In addition a grand prize of a tv console will be awarded at the end of the grand opening celebration.

County Brochure Planned

Preparation of a county-wide tourist brochure and map has been started by the three chambers of commerce.

Coordinated by a committee of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission, the chambers are planning a brochure that will give Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City equal space.

OTHER TOURIST attractions, such as Beaver Island, Ironport Ferry and Walloon Lake will be included, Dean Davenport, Charlevoix chamber manager said. The new county road map, printed by the Road Commission, will be included in the brochure. Points of interest to vacationers will be identified on the map, Davenport said.

The three chambers will ask the Road Commission and County Board of Supervisors as well as private sources to help share the cost.

The grand opening was postponed until now because, Cooper said, it was felt the Christmas season is an appropriate time for the festive occasion.

Though the prizes will be the center of the store's grand opening, Cooper said shoppers will find equally important bonuses in the many "exceptionally good specials" of interest at Christmas time.

The store opened its doors last August. The block-long complex includes the super market, luncheon, music shop, home furnishings store, beauty shop, carry-out restaurant, warehouse and parking lot for 100 cars.

COOPER SAID business since the store was opened has proven that the market is here and that the store will succeed. "We have been overjoyed with our decision to come into Charlevoix and hope the people here are as happy with us."

"Our desire is to bring to the people of Charlevoix the lowest possible prices in the state and to give them the best possible service."

Many suggestions made by shoppers have been put into operation, Cooper said. The store, he said, always welcomes advice from its customers.

"IT HAS ALSO been gratifying to find that people from Petoskey, Elk Rapids, East Jordan, Ellsworth, Central Lake, Harbor Springs and Boyne City are driving to Charlevoix to shop with us," Cooper said.

People who drive from these towns to shop at Oleson's Charlevoix store usually tell check-out clerks where they are from, the store manager said.

Channel Unfit for Big Boats Industry Asks For Changes

Next Tuesday's public hearing on improving the Pine River Channel has been described by one of the county's major industrialists as a "once in a lifetime opportunity."

A. E. Steimbacher, manager of Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, steam generating plant at Advance, last week urged city officials to take advantage of this opportunity.

STEIMBACHER said the future of commerce on the shore of Lake Charlevoix depends on getting the channel widened, deepened and straightened.

The present channel is not deep enough or wide enough to handle modern Great Lakes freighters, Steimbacher said. The channel is a maximum of 18 foot deep and 60 foot wide at the bridge.

According to Steimbacher the channel is intended for the old type freighters that are from 400 to 450 feet long and need 17 feet of water.

These boats are slowly being phased out in favor of more efficient craft that draw 22 feet of water and are more than 600 feet long.

THE NEW freighters cannot enter the channel because it is too narrow, too shallow and the curves in it make it impossible to maneuver the long boats.

The 60 foot width of the channel at the bridge cannot be increased. The new boats, Steimbacher said, are almost 60 foot wide.

Even the old-type boats, which are from 40 to 50 foot wide, have difficulty getting through the bridge due to current and the turns in the channel.

IF THE CHANNEL is straightened and deepened, Steimbacher told councilmen, the bigger freighters, will be able to make the "squeeze" through the bridge.

It is also necessary, he said, to extend the north pier 100 to 150 feet. This will make it easier for incoming boats to maneuver in the channel as they will no longer be buffeted by northwest winds until the moment they are

Indian Study Bd. Sees City Slums

Charlevoix's "southwest slum problem and the Couriers continuing effort to solve it, last week came under the critical eye of Gov. George Romney's commission studying Michigan Indian problems.

Members of the powerless commission appointed by Gov. Romney toured the sub-standard housing area and visited with Charlevoix Indians. Four commission members spent several hours in the Courrier office, going over the more than 20 articles and editorials the newspaper has printed on the situation.

THOUGH NO specific program was recommended by commission members, two immediate

From Santa's Mail Pouch

Again this year Santa Claus is reporting to the Courier on all letters he receives from Charlevoix youngsters.

The Courier will print all letters sent to Santa through the Post Office.

POSTAL employees remind youngsters they must mail their letters to Santa as soon as possible if there is going to be time for them to reach Santa at the North Pole.

This year's earliest letter writers are Nita Martin and Kathy Martin. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Martin.

For getting their letters mailed early they were wished a merry Christmas by both Santa and the Post Office. Their letters follow.

county officials and local citizens interested in the problem and in a position to help do something about it, hold a day-long meeting with commission members.

A positive program to eliminate slum conditions in Charlevoix—for both whites and Indians—could result from these meetings, commission members told the Courier.

THE FOUR MEMBERS of the commission visiting the Courier were John Winchester of Bettleville, Mich., a member of the Potawatomi tribe; Mrs. Clarence Aikens, Detroit, a member of the Chippewa tribe; George Cook of Houghton Lake, an Indian and private businessman; Rev. R. S. Shanks, pastor of St. Johns Episcopal Church in Detroit.

It was pointed out to them that Charlevoix slum conditions have not been considered locally as an "Indian problem," and that the commission's concern with the issue was the first action to label it as such.

Request Public Donate

Must Raise At Least $500

A group of 25 Charlevoixians met Sunday evening and decided to make a last-ditch financial effort to reopen Mt. McSaubia this winter.

Mt. McSaubia Assn. Treasurer Maurice Foster said the ski hill has serious financial problems, but can open if immediate community support is forthcoming.

SUNDAY'S meeting was called to decide if the ski hill should operate this winter. Unless enough interest was shown at the meeting, Foster said, the hill would have to remain closed. The meeting resulted in a plan to raise funds to meet immediate expenses of getting Mt. McSaubia operating.

Foster said $500 in donations will be accepted. One of the donors will receive a gift of $50, to be given before Christmas.

The $500 will make it possible for the association to pay $100 for state licenses which are being demanded by Michigan ski safety authorities.

PART OF THE money will be used to pay the state inspector who must visit the hill and test its rope towers and slope before it will be allowed to operate. The remainder of the donations will meet expenses of coming up to state - required standards on the rope towers.

The association, Foster said, still owes $200 on a new rope tow that will be in operation when the ski hill opens, if it meets state requirements. Total cost of the new tow is $700, with the Community Chest paying $500.

Mt. McSaubia paid its way last year, Charles Meier, manager, reports. However, it did not make the necessary improvements to pass state inspections. Last winter Mt. McSaubia received $3,320 from skiers and the Kiwanis Club and Community Chest. Expenses totaled $3,285.

A TOTAL OF 1,347 skiers were reported to have used the hill. Twenty-one family memberships were sold, 63 student memberships and 1,058 single admissions.

Meier said he hopes to have the slopes and lifts ready for skiers by Dec. 15. However, this will depend on whether the $500 in donations are sold.

If all goes well Meier said Mt. McSaubia will offer the same program as last year.

This will include night skiing Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Hours will be from 7:30-10 p.m. evenings, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and Noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

BOTH CHILDREN and adults rates will be offered. The concession stand will be open. A ski patrol will be on hand to ensure safety during all official operating periods.

Instruction will be offered. Meier said last year was the best in Mt. McSaubia's history, in spite of poor weather.

New Plant Begins Moving in

Plans for a new electrical assembly plant employing 50, or more, persons in Charlevoix early in 1965 were announced last week.

Robert Wexstaff, 214 Belvedere Ave., said he and Robert Schlemmer expect to have the plant in operation shortly after the first of the year.

OPENING OF the plant, tentatively named Alpha Electronics, has been pending for several months due to what appeared to be a lack of potential employees, Wexstaff said. Through the Chamber of Commerce and applications taken at a private Post Office box, the firm now has queries from approximately 150 people seeking work, he said. "This," he said, "definitely shows there is a labor force here."

The plant will be located in the old StreamEze building on Ferry Ave. The building is owned by Schlemmer. The three story building has 4,000 square feet on the main floor.

WEXSTAFF SAID the building is being prepared now for installation of machinery and equipment.

Electrical components for manufacturers of commercial appliances will be produced by the plant, he said.

The firm will be involved in a highly competitive field, making it necessary to do at least a half-million dollars in gross business the first year, Wexstaff explained.

When the plant opens it is expected to operate on two shifts, with a total work-force of from 25 to 50 persons. When it reaches full production at least 100 persons will be employed.

Have Skull, But Who is It?

BEAVER ISLAND -- The upper half of a human skull found by hunters on Beaver Island during deer season has local police stumped.

Sheriff Glenn Rose reports he has no report of any missing persons from the area. His only guess, and he admits it's a guess at best, is that it is one of the men from the freighter Bradley, which sank in Lake Michigan near the islands six years ago.

CORONER DR. Robert Martin,

Rose said, inspected the skull and said it could be a woman, but he was unable to determine if the human being died recently or long ago.

Marks on the skull indicated the lower portions had been eaten away by animals.

The skull was found by Glenn Ingalls and Robert Somerville of Charlevoix. It was 40 to 50 yards off the beach a mile north of French Bay, which is near the southwest corner of the island.

After getting the skull from Somerville last week, Rose turned it over to the State Police laboratory in East Lansing. Somerville is a Charlevoix summer police officer. Ingalls works for the Conservation Dept.

TRYING TO guess where the skull came from is impossible, Rose said.

It could have come from Chicago, Mackinac or even through the straits, he said.

1% Tax Hike Brings Woes

City officials this week report they have received a rash of complaints about the 1% collection fee added to all county and school property taxes.

The fee, according to City Attorney John Michael, must be charged as required by state law.

The additional money will go into the city's general fund. It will not be used as a bonus for City Treasurer Annabelle Cunningham.

party's cause in the recent disaster.

Which got me to wondering if Gov. Romney didn't get such a letter of thanks from LBJ himself for his assistance in defeating the Republican party.

Doesn't it become rather sickening to read where all the people who contributed to the GOP's loss are now passing out advice on how to rebuild it? Among those who did the most to defeat Goldwater, and just about every other Republican in Michigan, but are now posing as friends of GOP are Romney, the Detroit Free Press and Arthur Elliot, state Republican party chairman.

Bosh! Why don't they join one of the more conservative Socialist parties already in existence, rather than try to remake the Republican party into an advocate of the welfare state?

HOW CLOSE DO YOU WATCH TV?

An Upper Peninsula weekly newspaper editor recently asked if viewers could identify the sponsors of their favorite tv shows. At first I gave the question little thought. But it got to haunting me so I tried to figure it out.

And, you know, couldn't remember who pays the fare for Gunsmoke, Bonanza, Combat, TW3, The Virginian, The Man From U.N.C.L.E., Daniel Boone of the Rogues. I hope the sponsors don't get wind of this and cancel the shows.

THANK YOU, MRS. HAYES

It wasn't. But we sure did appreciate her consideration. Thank you, again, Mrs. Hayes.

POST OFFICE HAS AN AMAZING CREW

EVER WONDER how much it costs to send an air mail letter to Japan? This column did last week. Rex Davis answered the telephone at the post office and without a moment's hesitation had the answer—25¢.

I, of course, expected he would have to pour through a pile of books to find the answer. But, nope, he knew it as readily as you would your own phone number. Amazing! Later I tried the same question on Bill Supernaw. He was just as fast with the answer.

Seems a lot of mail goes out of Charlevoix to overseas addresses. Enough so that our postmen are familiar with postal rates in most areas of the world.

Actually, Bill and Rex explained, it is really quite simple. Air mail postage on a regular letter to most places in Asia is a quarter. The same price holds to countries behind the Iron Curtain and to Africa. Air mail to Western Europe and South America is usually 15¢.

Which brings to mind that the miserable season for postmen has begun.

Walking city route carriers are used to appreciate it if you keep your sidewalk shoveled and mail box in good condition. On the rural routes keep drifts away from your mail box.

The mail always gets through. But why not make it a little easier for postmen to deliver on this promise?

Charlevoix clergymen have again been offered the front page of the Christmas edition of the Courier.

Last Christmas, you may recall, the front page was devoted to stories written by our clergymen. The stories weren't exciting, but they certainly had the most enduring theme in man's history.

We were a bit skeptical when we offered page 1 to church leaders last year. To our knowledge this had never been done before. But we have no qualms this year.

So, though there may not be anything new on the front page of the Dec. 24 Courier, it will tell a story that will continue to be retold long after you and this column are long forgotten.

Incidentally, the Courier's "From the Pulpit" features by local clergymen on days of special religious significance, are also unique to this paper, as far as we can tell.

Many large papers run regular religious columns. But to our knowledge the Courier is the only small weekly paper that offers ALL of its local churches a chance to deliver their message to the general public on days when that message is especially timely.

Slums

Mrs. Aikens said that similar conditions exist in other Michigan communities, but that, Charlevoix appears to be the only one striving to find a solution through local action.

Winchester said Charlevoix could be on the road to setting an example for other communities that would prove responsible local action can deal with such problems.

THE WORST conditions in the slum area have, in several cases, already been eliminated since the Courier started running articles last April quoting local officials demanding action on the problem. This came about through pressure put on property owners to clean up their rental holdings in the area.

After reading the stories and editorials in the Courier, the

Our clergymen obviously are dedicated to their faith if they will put forth the effort to prepare these messages for Courier readers.

All of which, we like to think, is just another indication of Charlevoix's unusual strength as a community.

NEWSMEN SHOULDN'T WRITE ABOUT KIOS

AS A BACHELOR newspaperman until 1962, I always frowned on my cohorts who wrote about the cute things their kids did. Everybody has kids who do things that make poppa proud, I reasoned. So why, just because a father happens to be a newspaperman should he have a license to brag about his kids to thousands of people at once?

Now I know why. Fathers just can't help but talk about their children. It's like alcoholism...and a newspaperman has an advantage he can't resist exploiting. So please forget I ever criticized anyone else for doing what I'm about to do.

But it seems out nearly-18-months old barbarian has found a new use for daddy. He's decided the old man was put in the house because he makes a downright fine horse.

So around and around we go. He lays on the horse's back, his head resting on his mount's neck, and chews away at the converted human being's ear.

The old horse eventually begins to sag in the front. But the minute the horse flops to the rug his rider sort of slithers off and begins tugging at his horse's nose until he's back on all fours. There's not getting away from it. Once you start being a horse there's no going back to being a people.

Yeah, I know. Your son did the same thing, so what's so special about it? Maybe nothing. But remember, you told everyone you could about it, and that's all I'm doing. Stand by for further installments.

four commissioners said they had been misled by false reports and half-truths about the Courier's campaign.

Incomplete information reaching them, Winchester said, had charged the Courier with conducting a malicious attack on Indians. When asked, he did not reveal who had been supplying commissioners with this report, which he agreed was distorted, but did not understand why.

Rev. Shanka said he saw no evidence in the stories or editorials that the Courier was attempting to persecute Indians.

WINCHESTER SAID the Courier's handling of the story may have been "extreme" in at least one instance, but that it was obviously done in the interest of arousing public concern and action to face up to the problem. The Courier's campaign, he said, has been an "effective instrument" in doing this job.

Commissioners who met for several hours with Courier executives said that though they understand the newspaper's position that the slums are a social, cultural and moral problem, the governor's study committee is concerned with it strictly as an Indian matter.

Courier executives Tom McDaniels and Glen Sheppard told commission members they feel the slum problem must not be tackled as one of a racial nature because county officials report both white and Indian children living in unhealthy conditions. However, the newspaper agreed to cooperate in any way it can with the commission.

actually in the river. Mayor E. D. Hawley said this problem also plagues pleasure boats which are tossed about by waves as they try to steer into the channel.

Steinbrecher asked the city to make "the strongest statement possible" at the hearing in favor of channel improvements. He said the Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative will have a qualified marine engineer at the hearing to testify.

THE PUBLIC is invited to the hearing in the County Building, Dec. 15 at 1 p.m.

The Army Corps of Engineers has called the hearing to determine what channel improvements it will ask Congress for money to make.

The hearing is part of a $150,000 study of the channel authorized by Congress. Steinbrecher said the cooperative has tripled its use of coal in the last ten years and it may triple again in the next ten. City Service Oil Co. brings nine million gallons of fuel through the channel annually, he added.

THE PROPOSED channel improvements would "develop and environment that will bring other industry to the shores of Lake Charlevoix," he said.

It was suggested that commission members make a thorough study of all facts concerning the alum problem by conferring with county health, welfare, juvenile and police officials.

Mrs. Daniel Bacot left to spend the winter in Madison Heights with her daughter, Mrs. Illida McGuire and other relatives in the Detroit area. Her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Bacot of Owosso, came for her and remained for a weekend visit.

your

VISION

What you see and what you look for, when you read, makes a difference. Vision is 87% of all avenues to the brain. Can your vision distinguish between good and evil, honor and dishonor? Jesus said, If your eye leads you into sin, pluck it out. The library of your church will give you reading of 20-20 vision for the soul.

The Bible, in any version, is the world's best reading. Has your Bible reading vision become impaired? Do you develop astigmatism when you start reading God's word? What reading the Bible has done for others...it will do for you. Read it with 20-20 vision of mind and of soul.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Pork Rib Chop.

Q. Where do they come from?
A. How are they identified?

A. They come from the loin section of pork. They have one muscle and may or may not have a rib bone, depending upon how thick they're cut.

Q. How are they cooked?
A. Usually by broiling or baking but they are also popular for grilling or broiling.

Q. What is a moist-heat method that calls for browning the meat in its own fat or drippings before a small amount of moisture is added. After browning, the chops are seared, the cooking liquid is added and the pan is covered tightly. The cooking may be done on a surface unit or in the oven, but it must be done slowly for best results. Chop cut by 1-inch thick require 45 minutes to an hour for cooking time. Chops may be broiled in a 325° F.-350° F. oven. Grill or bake at a moderate temperature so that the chops are well done by the time they are broiled.

Q. For what is pork noted?
A. Pork, in addition to being good to eat, is the best natural source of thiamine, one of the B-complex vitamins.

Research Tells How to Determine if Ice Safe

Thickness of ice on Charlevoix County lakes or streams is not always a good measure of its strength.

If cars are on the ice--and this is not encouraged--they should not be parked in one place any longer than necessary. Parked vehicles should stay further apart than moving vehicles.

CARS MOVING OVER ice cause "resonance waves" in the ice itself, and when one or several cars follow one another, these "waves" may crack ice that otherwise would normally be safe.

This information was gathered in a long series of studies which was given a formal focus some years ago when the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers set up an organization called SPRE -- short for Snow, Ice, Permafrost Research Establishment -- at Wilmette, Illinois.

Much of its research has been carried out to aid the armed forces in their Arctic activities, as in construction of aircraft landing strips on frozen lake and sea waters.

SPRE finds that you can't always tell the strength of ice simply by its look, or its thickness, or the daily temperature, or whether or not the ice is covered with snow.

FISHERMEN, skaters, and others are advised that new ice generally will be much stronger than old ice. Ice formed by direct freezing of lake or stream water will be stronger than ice formed from melting snow, refrozen ice, or ice made of water that bubbles up through cracks and then freezes on the surface.

In other words, clear new ice is usually stronger than ice clouded with air bubbles. And a couple of inches of this new ice may be strong enough to support you while a foot of old ice, or so-called "rotten" ice, will not.

At times when the thickness of ice is marginal, it is risky to park a car in one spot for a prolonged period, according to SPRE. This tends to weaken the ice. Vehicles should be moved around and parked at alternate locations from time to time to allow ice to recover its earlier, or "normal", shape and position.

car parked on a foot of ice will depress that ice about an inch in a saucer-shaped area 200 feet in diameter. Thus, cars parked close together on such ice may increase the weight enough to pass the point where it will do any more bending.

WHEN DRIVING across ice that has frequently cracked and refrozen, try to cross cracks at right angles, and then be sure not to park near cracks.

Other points of interest about ice: Shore ice is often broken and refrozen during the winter be-

editor's notes

(A North County editor's views and observations on things near and far.)

Is it even remotely possible there is a single voter in the City of Charlevoix who hasn't had enough of elections?

But whether you like it or not, another one's in the offing. Due to an 1895 state law that's so outdated it hasn't been embraced since 1909, Charlevoix is going through with its annual city election procedure.

CHARLEVOIX WAS incorporated in 1905 as a Fourth Class City. (It was incorporated as a village by the legislature in 1879.) The Fourth Class Cities Act requires that Charlevoix elect a mayor and three councilmen each year.

Since the legislature passed the Home Rule City Act in 1909 the Fourth Class City law has been ignored by all newly incorporated cities and abandoned by all but 26 in the state. This gives Charlevoix the notoriety of being one of a select few that has failed to take advantage of the new law giving cities the power to control their own affairs by establishing a charter that fits their specific local needs.

One of the major absurdities of the Fourth Class City law is that it requires election of a mayor every year and councilmen every two years. This is about as logical as driving an 1895 horse and buggy down the I-75 expressway.

JUST HOW unsound it is to have such short terms for city officials is seen by a regular observer at council meetings. The lack of continuity in city affairs is almost shocking. Time and again councilmen are stumped because they don't know what the policies of previous councils were.

If our mayor was elected for four year terms and councilmen for at least three years there would be continuity because there would always be someone on the council who served with someone else, and etc.

Furthermore, we wouldn't get so terribly bored with city elections. Consequently we would give them more serious attention and thought.

None of which is a reflection on city officials of the past or present. In spite of the outdated rules they must abide by (though they do bend them at times) our city government has been outstanding.

BUT LET'S get to the issue at hand. Electing a mayor and three councilmen. (Voters will also select three supervisors, three constables, a justice of peace, clerk and treasurer.)

Of course, interest will be focused on whether Mayor E. D. Hawley will run for reelection and who, if anyone, will oppose him if he does. Hawley has been mayor four years. Odds about town at the moment are that he will run, and without opposition.

What about incumbent councilmen Bob Neff, first ward; Don Parsel, third ward; and Bob Gill, second ward? I won't try to guess whether they will put their names before the voters again.

Chances are that even if they do they will have stiff competition. Last year's election made it clear that no "establishment" has control of city votes and that the underdog has a good chance of winning. Jerry Whitley's upset of incumbent Jack Grubbaugh and Dr. Walter Hoffmann

Two Holiday Music Programs Planned

Choir Sets Community Concert

The largest Community Choir in recent years is rehearsing for its Christmas Vesper Concert, to be presented Sunday afternoon, Dec. 20, at 4 p.m. in the local high school gymnasium.

According to its director, C. A. Odmark, of the local school faculty, 56 adults of the community and surrounding area have joined the group, and will conclude its rehearsals next week on Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday, Dec. 19 at a time to be determined.

TO BE presented by the group will be Christmas music of all ages, ranging from the "Adoration Te" of Palestrina, to the modern "Twelve Days of Christmas."

An added feature of the program will be an appearance by the Women's Shakespeare Ensemble, singing a group of Christmas numbers written for women's voices.

As in the past, no admission is being charged for this concert; it is rather an expression of goodwill to the community being made by the 56 voices of the choir and its accompanist, Mrs. Earl Lawrence, the vocal music instructor for Charlevoix Public Schools.

Atwood MRS. HENRY BURNS

A surprise birthday party in honor of Art DeVries was planned by Mrs. DeVries at their home Saturday evening. Also the birthday of her sister Mrs. Silas Doctor was Dec. 5 and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Holecheck and Mr. and Mrs. John Tornga were celebrated. The evening entertainment consisted of showing several slides and enjoying playing religious records. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Silas Doctor and St. Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Aardema and Mr. and Mrs. Miner Veenstra and Al, Mr. and Mrs. John Tornga and Mr. and Mrs.

Set Concert Dec. 17 Hold Free Concert

The Charlevoix High School concert band directed by C. A. Odmark, and the Charlevoix High School Girls' Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Earl Lawrence, will combine forces to present the Annual Christmas Concert next Thursday evening, Dec. 17 at 8 p.m. in the local high school gymnasium.

This complimentary concert is being presented as an expression of Christmas good will by the music department, and will feature music appropriate to the Christmas season.

OPENING THE concert will be the 90 piece concert band, playing the concert march "Coat of Arms", by Kenney, followed by three portions of the Christmas Suite by Walters, "O Come, O Come, Immanuel", "Ring Wild Bells" and "What Child Is This". These numbers will be followed by a concert band arrangement of "Cantique De Noel" by Adam. The Girls' Glee Club, a group making its first public appearance of the year, under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence, the vocal music instructor for Charlevoix schools, will continue with a group of Christmas numbers, including the familiar carols "Bring a Torch, Jeannette, Isabelle", "The Snow Lay on the Ground" (Venite Adoremus), and "Jingle Bells". Also included will be Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" and Meredith Willson's "Pine Cones and Holly Berries". The seventeen voice vocal ensemble will be accompanied by Miss Janet Pease. The Concert Band will conclude with Leroy Anderson's "Sleigh Ride" and his equally popular "Christmas Festival".

Erwin Holecheck and family. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. DeVries and a nice time enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Holecheck were Sunday dinner guests at the home of her cousin Mr. and Mrs. Ken Boss of Charlevoix. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potter moved to Atwood last week and are living in the home vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Potter.

School Report Card

Written by Charlevoix Public School Educators

by Jeanne Miles Public Health Nurse

The job of school and community nurse is a varied and interesting one. To try to separate the two phases of my work is difficult, as much of the time the jobs overlap.

For instance, a house call regarding a school child sometimes ends up by involving the whole family. But primarily this article will deal with the school child.

In the fall previous to entering Kindergarten there is a pre-school registration at which time the parents are requested to present a record of immunizations. According to a comparatively new state rule this is a must. Also any other pertinent health information such as disabilities, allergies, etc. are given, for this information is the basis for school health records carried through the elementary and high school years. Such a record is kept on each child about 12-1300 of them.

EVERY OTHER year every child takes part in a vision screening program which begins at the first grade level. Also, in the past three years we have also had a pre-school vision screening program. This is a comparatively simple test, to see if children are using both eyes before entering school. Every 2-3 years we have a mass hearing screening program.

Any failures in this program are referred to family physicians and/or ear specialists. Immunization programs are on a continuing basis every 2-3 years. This also includes skin tests for T. B. Positive reactors are followed through with X-rays.

Physicals are given by Dr. Litzenger each year to bus drivers, cooks, students taking part in such physical activities as football, basketball, ski team, track, and high school students in gym classes. The results of all these programs and tests are recorded on the school health record.

In between there are such things as first aid, in each school—communicable diseases, etc., emotional problems that are sometimes referred to the Child Guidance Clinic from which the child, teacher and parents receive invaluable assistance in helping children over some rather or distressing times.

MANY OTHER factors will enter in to the duties of a school nurse, but these are some of the high lights, hoping to give to the parents of the area an idea of programs available, in trying to help them keep their children as well as we possibly can. The other part of my time is spent working out of District Health Dept. No. 3, St. Mary's is a part of this program. Screenings, immunization program physical fitness exams, etc. are carried on here as well as in the public school.

Council Proceedings

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Hawley presiding. Aldermen present: Hoffmann, Neff, Parnell, Fochtman and Gill. Absent: Alderman Whitley.

The Minutes of the November 16, 1964 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The consent of such temporary appointment that was requested of the Council, was unanimously received.

THE CONCERT is presented by the music department of the local schools, but two school affiliated organizations, the Parents-Teachers Association, whose president is Mrs. Blanche Smith, and the Charlevoix Band Parents Association, whose president is Mr. George Hutchinson, are assisting with promotion and arrangements for the concert.

Following the concert the audience is invited to enjoy light refreshments in the lobby of the gymnasium, which will be decorated in the Christmas motif by members of these two groups. All are cordially invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

...For truck owners. Now you can have your trucks back on the road fast, when tire trouble arise. As the result of a Bishman Tire changer which has just been installed at the Carey Oil Company, truck tire changing is easy. This electric and air operated devise, the only one of its type north of Grand Rapids, will break-down a large truck tire and reassemble it in as little as 5 minutes. No more beating tires and rims with heavy hammers or bars, which weaken and shorten the lifetime of your truck tire castings.

Clair Martin demonstrates the ease of handling big truck tires in the picture at the left. Clair says he can handle any size tires from 14 to 24 inches on the Bishman truck tire machine. Why lay your truck up for a number of hours when in a few minutes you could be back on the road. If you bring your tire troubles to the tire experts at Carey Oil Co.

Whereabouts of Youth Unknown

Sheriff Glenn Kuse said Tuesday state-wide police efforts to find Richard P. Miller, 18, of Charlevoix, had produced no results.

Miller is charged with larceny of $246 from Don Meggison's service station. Miller worked for Meggison.

THE LARCENY charge, signed by Meggison, is the only one facing the youth, Kuse said.

Miller allegedly fled town late Friday night or early Saturday morning in a 1964 Mustang automobile. He was to have been married Saturday at St. Mary's Church.

Rose said Miller is believed to be accompanied by a 17-year-old East Jordan girl.

Miller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Miller of 112 W. Upright. He is a 1964 graduate of Charlevoix High School.

Sugar-Bowl Savers Can Help Solve The Coin Shortage

How would you like to solve the coin shortage?

Impossible? Not at all. It will be easy if you (and several million of your fellow Americans) will turn in all those pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters you've been stashing away in piggy banks, sugar-bowls, cigar boxes and dresser drawers.

There are nearly 48 billion coins now in existence more than enough to satisfy all normal banking and business needs. But if each of the country's 55 million households is holding onto 100 coins (that's only a dollar's worth of pennies), then 5 1/2 billion coins, or more than 10 per cent of the nation's supply, isn't circulating.

So if you've got coins around the house, take them down to the bank and convert them into paper money, or better yet, into a savings account nest egg. You will be doing yourself a favor and you will be helping to solve your country's annoying coin shortage.

All but two counties in Michigan have inland lakes, and seven boast in excess of 300.

First Criminal Appeal Under New Law Started

The first impact of a new state law offering all convicted criminals a chance to appeal their case is being felt here, Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown reports.

Judge Brown announced while holding court in Charlevoix Friday that one appeal case has been assigned to a county attorney.

HARRY POAK of Charlevoix, who is serving a 5-15 year prison term for manslaughter, has requested his case be appealed. He was convicted in 1961.

Robert Kleven of Boyne City, has been assigned to act as Poak's attorney, at the county's expense.

Any convicted person can demand an appeal, regardless of the facts in his case, or how long ago he was sentenced, Judge Brown explained.

If the person requesting the appeal declares he cannot afford to hire an attorney, this expense must be borne by the county. Judge Brown said how many attorneys appointed to such cases are paid is up to the court's discretion.

THERE HAS BEEN considerable speculation that this could lead to impossible financial burdens for county boards of supervisors.

Judge Brown said he doesn't foresee chaos, but the appeals are going to require considerable time for the court and lawyers.

The judge said he has already assigned eight appeals in Grand Traverse County and has four pending in Antrim County.

Drop Vote on Joining Grand Traverse

Antrim County May Annex

Speculation is mounting that all of Antrim County may annex to the Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District.

Antrim County's Board of Education has postponed a Dec. 4 vote on annexing to the Grand Traverse Intermediate District. A meeting of Antrim County educators has been called to discuss reconsidering the Grand Traverse proposal in favor of joining Charlevoix.

ELLSWORTH, AN Antrim

In all three counties;

County school district, is already a member of the Charlevoix - Emmet district. Central Lake votes this week on joining Charlevoix.

Two other Antrim County high school districts have previously been refused permission to join with Charlevoix. The Antrim County Board of Education rejected requests from Alba and Elk Rapids school districts to annex to Charlevoix.

The county's two other high school districts -- Bellaire and Manicoua -- have until now refused suggestions from others that they annex to Charlevoix.

Charlevoix - Emmet district Supt. Charles Robinson said his board of education has not been encouraging Antrim County to annex, but has made it known they are welcome.

ROBINSON SAID annexation of Antrim County would provide the following advantages for students

1--An increased number of students making operation of a comprehensive special education program more efficient. A total of 10,000 public school students and 1,000 parochial school students are in the three counties. Antrim County has approximately 2,500 of these students.

2--The intermediate district would receive additional state aid for having more counties involved in its program.

3--It would enhance the district's chances of establishing and operating a vocational education program.

ROBINSON SAID Antrim County educators appear to have switched their interests from Grand Traverse to Charlevoix because of the local program for special education and recently announced gift of up to $1 million to build facilities for exceptional and handicapped students.

Beaver Island Tales

Island Offers Sport Aplenty

BEAVER ISLAND--Archie LaFranciere was working on his snow mobile when the Courier called for him at the Shamrock last week.

Anyone suspecting Beaver Islanders are hibernating for the winter would have been enlightened, but fast, as Archie talked.

ON THE agenda for Islanders--and outsiders looking for real adventure--are rabbit hunting, fox hunting and pike fishing.

But, of course, there's more than that to winter life on America's Emerald Isle. There will be plenty of the church, school and neighborly activities that keep all small towns from cold-weather boredom.

As a jesting safeguard against the possibility that personalities will begin to clash due to the island's relative seclusion, Archie has hung a sign in front of his bar: "This Establishment Operated as a Private Club during January - February and March. Membership Requirement--Speak kindly of everybody."

It also gives Archie an excuse to close up and take the day off hunting rabbits.

The rabbit population isn't quite as thick as last year--when it received state-wide attention--but it is still excellent compared to mainland standards, Archie reports.

There are plenty of rabbit hounds on the island. Anyone interested in some zesty sport is invited to give Archie a call. He'll make all the arrangements necessary for dogs, lodging, meals, etc.

Fox hunting should be even better than last year, he speculates. And there are a few coyotes. However, Archie says hunters will have to bring their own fox hounds as there are none on the island this year.

ONE OF THE finest opportunities awaiting sportsmen who visit the island while it is in winter's grip is ice fishing for pike. Lake Genesee has some real lunkers, Archie has a 47 1/2 inch from the lake mounted over his bar. Transportation to the lake can be arranged.

One disappointment, Archie says reports that High Island has an abundance of coyotes will have to be passed over by hunters as there is no way to getting to the smaller island that he considers safe.

Though not as tangible a pleasure as fishing and hunting, the island does offer one winter bonus that is practically impossible to find in today's tense world. If civilization has harried you just a little too much by February you can always get away from its tempo by giving Joe McPhillips a call and flying over for a couple days of complete escape.

Archie reports 16 inches of snow fell Dec. 1 at St. James, the island's only real settlement. This is an unusually heavy snowfall for the island.

With more than two square miles of fresh water for every three square miles of land, Michigan has a greater proportion of fresh water to land than any other state, province or country in the world.

If Someone Knocks On Your Door And Asks You To Change Your Heating System Ask Him These Questions

1. Will your heating fuel cost more than my present fuel oil heat?
2. Will they guarantee in writing that it won't cost more?
3. Will I have to install storm windows and insulation to meet your cost estimate?
4. Will my heating supply be cut off, if due to loss of job or sickness, I am unable to pay my heating bill when due; or, will it continue during the emergency period as is the present situation with my fuel oil supply.
5. Will you guarantee in writing the BTU content of the natural gas delivered?
6. By using modern oil heat, I am free to buy both fuel and service where I choose. If I am displeased with your heating fuel or service, can I change to another supplier?
7. My oil fuel gives me plenty of hot water fast? Can your system match this?
8. Will you give me a written guarantee that heating costs under your system will not exceed your estimate.

NEW RESIDENTS

IRONTON -- Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jentzen have established their permanent year-round home in Iron-ton.

They moved here from Jackson, taking up residence in the former Albert Edwards home on Sweet Briar Lane overlooking the South Arm.

Getting away from it all? If, on vacation, you find yourself at a high altitude or in an excessively hot and humid climate, give your body a chance to adjust before you start sight-seeing or other exertions, and you'll come back in better shape if you avoid excessively strenuous sports and excess sight-seeing, the Michigan Heart Association says.

SAUR, A GRAND Rapids resident and former school superintendent, was Michigan Kiwanis governor in 1960.

The evening's entertainment was a trombone trio played by Don Solomon, Larry Hutchinson and Ralph Sweet.

Rev. Harris lead several group songs and gave the invocation and benediction.

Ralph Hamilton read a letter from first Charlevoix Kiwanis Club president Oscar North, explaining why the former local school superintendent could not attend the birthday party.

"DEAR RALPH...The weather is against my going. It is a long way from southern Michigan. I would want to make the trip up and back the same day. I am also older than I was 30 years ago. I make the brag sometimes that I intend to live till I am 64 and then be killed by a jealous husband. But actually I cannot make long trips anymore. Besides I was in the first World War and they used to put something in the coffee and it is beginning to take effect. But I do wish to congratulate the club for the 30 years of fine accomplishments and good fellowship...Sey hello for me."

Guests of the club for the birthday celebration were Meyer and Mrs. E. D. Hawley and Lions Club President and Mrs. Robert Lieberman.

FOR HER wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of white tissue taffeta fashioned with a scalloped neckline outlined with lace which also trimmed the full skirt and chapel length train. A seedpearl crown secured her shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Becky Ann Chalcraft of Detroit, sister of the bridegroom, as her only attendant, wore a hot pink floor length gown and carried a bouquet of white mums. James Alexander of Goodrich assisted his cousin as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Chalcraft have returned here to make their home at 310 West Huribut ave. following their marriage at Goodrich.

The bride is the former Irene Tilk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tilk, of Petoskey. Mr. Chalcraft, F.N., U.S. Coast Guard, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Chalcraft of Detroit.

THE BRIDE attended St. Francis high school in Petoskey. Mr. Chalcraft is a graduate of a Detroit high school and a veteran of three years in the U.S. Coast Guard.

A reception followed at the community hall.

East Jordan Favored To Win at Boyne City

While Charlevoix is challenging the Gaylord Blue Devils this week, the East Jordan Red Devils will be playing at Boyne City in an attempt to get into the win column.

With the big experienced squad that Coach Bill Gregory boasts, this should be comparatively easy, for the Ramblers have but one experienced player in Scotty Hall who carried the load for the team when they played at Grayling last week.

THREE MEMBERS of the Jordanite squad, Mick Bell, Fred Malpass and Chad McDonald hit double figures in the opening game, scoring 24, 14 and 11 points respectively. If they can continue this pace and control the ball, they could rather easily rack up their first loop win.

In the game with Pellston last week, the Jordanites trailed all the way 12-7; 34-28 and 53-49 by quarters before knotting the score 52-all with five minutes remaining. The Hornets then pulled away for the four point victory.

In other games this week, Harbor Springs will play at Mancelona and Grayling will invade Pellston.

Lake Superior is the largest fresh water lake in the world. It is 31,820 square miles in area and the greatest recorded depth is 1,333 feet.

GIVING IT HIS ALL—Del (Chip) Terrill, left, bounds in for a shot at the basket through space for a shot at the basket in Friday's opening cage tilt for the Rayders against Mancelona. Other Charlevoix players (white uniforms) in this action-stopping picture are Dave Smith (50) and Warren Belding (14).

Gaylord's Tom Lick Key Rayder Threat

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayders will go against the Gaylord Blue Devils on Gaylord's floor this week in a game in which the host team is favored.

The Rayders beat Mancelona 79-41, last Friday, in Charlevoix's first contest of the cage season.

Gaylord, with 6-10 Tom Lick in the pivot spot, is going to be hard to stop for he is an excellent shot once he gains possession of the ball. The Rayders will have to concentrate, as far as possible, on keeping him from doing just this. Because of his superior height he is difficult to guard and the man on him is always in danger of fouling him.

IN ADDITION, the Blue Devils boast several fine ball handlers who are also able of scoring, including Don Fitzek who had 17 and Mike Warner who had 15 against Harbor Springs last week. Lick scored 20 against the same team.

At present there are four teams sharing first place. Two of them are the principals in the Charlevoix - Gaylord game. The others are Grayling and Pellston who will clash on the Hornets small floor on Friday. When the smoke dies away, only two teams will remain undefeated.

The Rayders showed excellent teamwork last week winning 79-41, as they held the Mancelona Ironmen to 10 field goals. The visitors picked up another 21 points when they hit on slightly more than 75 percent of their free throws.

The Rayders, on the other hand, hit for 36 field goals while connecting on only seven of 20 free throw attempts.

DOUG WINNELL, Charlevoix forward, and one of 11 players who scored in the Rayders' 79-41 win over Mancelona last week. A returning letterman, he was a member of the all-senior starting five in last week's game and promises to be an important member of this year's squad. He scored 14 points, all in the third period when the team scored a total of 26 for their best period.

Jayvee Cagers Lose to Mancelona Squad 43-33

Charlevoix's Little Rayders took to the hardwoods Friday night with nearly an all-freshman squad that was no match for the visiting Mancelona J-V squad who romped to a 12-4 first period margin, leading to a 43-33 victory.

The second period was equally disastrous as they were outscored 7-6 to trail 19-10 at halftime.

AS THE GAME went into the second half, Coach Don Peterson continued to shift the lineup as 12 players saw action. The young Rayders had their best period, scoring 12 points but the visitors countered with 14 to keep ahead of the local lads. In the final period, the Rayders outscored the visitors 11-10 but they were unable to overcome the earlier deficit as they bowed to the visitors by a 10 point margin.

Fred Wabanmkee, with 13 points, led the Rayder scoring attack. John LaCroix had 16 for the victors.

This week the young Rayders will take on the Gaylord J-V's who last week defeated the Harbor Springs J-V's 56-47.

What kind of a tiger do you want under your hood? (Have you priced a tiger lately?)

If you're handy with a whip and chair, go for the 360-hp GTO. It bites. But then, even the 335-hp GTO bites. If you want a slightly more civilized package (but with lots of the GTO muscle), try the Le Mans. You can get it with a six or either of two V-8s. They all have bucket seats. Carpeting. And cost less than some tame cats. So go price a tiger.

Chamber Names Committees

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors last week established nine working committees, two of them new, for 1965.

The new committees are Publicity and Military Affairs. Frances Martin is chairman of the Military Affairs Committee. Bob Miles is chairman of the Publicity Committee.

THE MILITARY Affairs Committee will coordinate community activities with the two Coast Guard units and Air Force unit, Dean Davenport, chamber manager, said. It will also call on each new service family that comes to Charlevoix and try to assist and orient them becoming part of the community.

The Publicity Committee, Davenport said, will be responsible for sending out news stories and pictures promoting Charlevoix. These will be sent at least once a month to papers which print regular travel, vacation and outdoor sports pages.

The news releases can give Charlevoix publicity that otherwise would cost tens of thousands of dollars if purchased as advertising, Davenport said.

Members of the Publicity Committee, in addition to Miles are Harold Totten, Frances Martin and Glen Sheppard.

MILITARY Affairs Committee members are Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mary Margaret Gellert, Dorothy McRae, Dorothy Kohler and Mrs. Joseph King.

Other committees and their members are:

Retail Committee—Chairman Don Kowbel, Tom McDaniels, William Cooper, William Hansen, Orm Bergeron, Leo Fairbanks, Ken Empey, and Jack Erber.

Winter Sports—Chairman Bob Humphries, Bob Goss, Jerry Whitley, Charles Meier, George Lusk, Glen Sheppard, Carl Mitchell, William Supernaw (Post Office), Bob Livingston, Lt. David Smith, Major Woodrow Wilson and Maurice Foster.

Venue Festival Program—Chairman Harold Totten, Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff, Rev. Harold Kohn, L. V. Miles, Bob Miles, James Gallagher.

Vocational Education—Jack Mol, chamber representative.

A letter from 36 junior high school students requesting a more comprehensive winter recreation program has been answered by Mayor E. D. Hawley.

The students, many of them residents of neighboring towns, petitioned the city to provide them with better sliding and tobogganing facilities.

"WE THE students of Charlevoix want a recreation program not for skiing, but for sliding and other fun. We could use part of Mt. McSaubia for this," the petition stated.

The mayor's reply, to Charles Terrill, Junior High School president, pointed out the sliding hill on Grant St. and ice skating rink at the Elementary School are operated for the students.

"You are welcome to use part of Mt. McSaubia for tobogganing, that is the hill just south of the ski hill. This has been done in the past by those interested enough to do the work required to make a toboggan slide, frankly, the challenge to making the slide may prove to be more fun than the tobogganing," Hawley wrote.

"With the summer program and the sliding and skating," the mayor's letter said, "we feel we are providing a very comprehensive recreational program. We know we are spending much more per capita than our neighboring cities."

Odmark Presides At State Meet

C. A. Odmark, supervisor of music for Charlevoix Public Schools, was in East Lansing Friday and Saturday attending a meeting of the Music Education Workshop of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Assn.

Odmark, chairman of the committee, presided over the meeting of 30 instrumental music teachers from all over the state who are working on a "Handbook for Teachers of Band and Orchestra Instruments."

Another session of the Workshop is scheduled for January 22 and 23, 1965.

THIS WORKSHOP, a continuing project of the state association, last year published a Music Theory Handbook, which is being used by many Michigan schools, including Charlevoix, to improve the instrumental music curriculum.

Mr. and Mrs. Milo Kane left recently for Arcadia, Fla., where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Peterson and family have returned to their Nichols St. home after spending the Thanksgiving weekend in Crystal Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harris have returned from Flint where they spent the Thanksgiving weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Bennett plan to leave this week to spend the winter months at Phoenix, Ariz. They also plan to spend the holidays at Santa Ana, Calif., with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cross left last week for Tampa, Fla., for the winter months. Mr. Cross will leave shortly to join her.

OUTDOOR RAMBLING

with GLEN SHEPPARD

A BIG MEAL—Wesley White, 34, of R-3, Charlevoix shot this 490 pound bull elk at 2 p.m. on the opening day of Michigan's first legal elk hunt in a century. White, a Penn Dixie employee, was the only local resident to get on elk hunting permit. He shot the 13 pointer seven miles east of Wolverine with a .348 caliber rifle of about 30 yards. White is a bachelor. Five men were needed to load the animal on a toboggan and haul it out.

Dear Dick Affair

RICHARD DONALDSON

DEAR DICK: One of my neighbors is an elderly lady who keeps a cantankerous goat. He never stays home... eats up everything in sight. The kids left my refrigerator door open so he came in and helped himself, then thanked me by banging in the side of the refrigerator. Who will pay?—ANNNOYED.

DEAR ANNNOYED: Sounds like you're stuck with the goat damage. But instead of repairing, why not replace the old refrigerator. Take the butting troublemaker and your old ice box and trade them in on a new appliance at PUFF'S APPLIANCE CENTER. Puff's will trade for just about anything... on a top quality name brand appliance.—DICK.

Announcement that the Conservation Dept. intends to stock kokanee salmon from Colorado in Lake Charlevoix and Walloon Lake about 1969 seems, to this angler, to have created unwarranted enthusiasm among many local fishermen.

Admittedly, this column knows about as much about this fish the department calls exotic as it does about designing dresses.

BUT IF YOU simply take the department's report on the kokanee's size and habits at face value there seems to be little to get excited about. (And several years of experience with the Conservation Dept. have taught me it can be trusted to be as honest and accurate as possible.)

The department reports the kokanee reaches a maximum size of 14 inches or one pound. Fish this size sure aren't worth much applause.

However, dampening my enthusiasm even more is this observation by department fish section chief Dr. Howard A. Tanner, who fished for Kokanee in Colorado before taking his job in Michigan: "My own experience has been to troll for them with a deep running lure, usually red."

Now, drat it, anytime you have to troll for a fish it has to be a bruiser to put up a respectable battle. Fourteen inches just isn't what you classify in the bruiser category.

DR. TANNER made several other interesting comments in a special report to the Courier. "They do take flies early in the year," he stated. "Probably the peak time of year is August and early September. They are caught usually from temperatures of 55-60 degrees and will be found at whatever depth these temperatures are available."

"They fight as well as trout of their size. The mouth is very tender and makes them somewhat difficult to hold."

Dr. Tanner, apparently, isn't overly anxious to plant kokanee in Lake Charlevoix.

LAKE CHARLEVOIX and Walloon Lake, he told the Courier considered along with other deep, cold inland lakes and were given somewhat lower priority than Torch and Higgins lakes. They are possibly suited for kokanee, should abundant supply of kokanee eggs become available."

One of the reasons given for Lake Charlevoix's low priority rating on the kokanee project list is the difficulty in keeping them from leaving through the Pine River channel.

"Actually our final target will be Lake Michigan and Lake Huron and certainly if they are successful there, Lake Charlevoix should receive some," Dr. Tanner said.

Asked if there was some possibility of getting rainbow and/or mackinaw lake trout stocked here, Dr. Tanner did not specifically outline any plans for Lake Charlevoix. However, his reply to the question does not close the door:

"THERE WILL be a greater emphasis on stocking rainbow in the low reaches of streams tributary to Lake Michigan and Lake Huron," he said. "Lake Michigan first because of the earlier expected decline of the sealamprey, with the expectation that reasonable control will be received on this parasite by 1967. Young rainbow and mackinaw are going into northern Lake Michigan and connecting waters in 1965."

Whether Lake Charlevoix is one of the "connecting waters," he did not say.

RANDOM RAMBLINGS

Since we're on a fishing kick make a note to pick up a 1965 Garcia Fishing Annual when they go on sale Jan. 15. The company sent a preview issue of their annual magazine of fishing yarns and tackle to this desk last week.

A top notch story by Byron Dalrymple on Great Lakes smallmouth bass fishing appears on page 34. The Charlevoix Beaver Island area is said to have some of the finest, least explored smallmouth fishing in the country.

... If you want to do a little fireside adventuring this winter there's no better way to do it than with a set of good maps. You can visit Michigan's swamps, forests, lakes and streams without leaving the living room if your imagination is up to the challenge. For maps try ordering the Conservation Dept.'s updated series of each county in book form. They cost a buck and four-cents tax for each book. One book includes all counties in the Upper Peninsula and another book has all the counties in the northern Lower Peninsula. Order them from the department's Publications Room, Lansing.

... AND IF YOU still have time to kill during these long evenings don't forget fishing tackle that hasn't been touched since you put it in the corner of the basement or garage. Flylines should be taken off the reel and loosely coiled in a box so they don't get kinked up. Reels should be thoroughly cleaned with gasoline and stored away. There may be some loose guides or a wobbly reel seat that should be tended to now. All this can be fun, and it will pay dividends come next spring. Something I always enjoy is sharpening, or replacing, hooks on lures.

Kill 118,000 Deer in State

Michigan hunters scored their third highest take in the state's history during the 1964 firearm season with a kill of nearly 118,000 whitetails, according to a preliminary estimate of the Conservation Department.

Results of the Department's traffic counts, which will be cross-checked by a postcard survey of licensed sportsmen, point to a harvest of 69,850 bucks and 48,750 antlerless deer.

BOTH FIGURES are down from last season when hunters took home 124,000 deer. Michigan's second best kill on record.

This year's dip in kill is traced to the northern Lower Peninsula where hunters were "rained out" during the afternoon of their Nov. 15 opener and bogged down by a snow storm in the upper parts of the region on the second weekend of the season.

Compared with a year ago, the region's harvest fell by about 8,500—animals, totalling 41,500 bucks and 35,000 antlerless deer.

In the Upper Peninsula, sportsmen fared about the same as last season, taking 19,550 bucks and 12,500 antlerless whitetails. Overall, they came within 400

Hunters Keep Butchers Busy

By ROY STAUDENMEYER

ELLSWORTH—Most of the deer killed in the area are dressed out by local merchants, with the proper equipment necessary to process the animal, the hunter feels these people can do the job best.

Hunters prefer their venison packaged and then frozen. This meat should be handled the same way as beef, they should hang in a cooler ten days to two weeks before being cut up and quick frozen.

AT DEYOUNGS in Atwood I was told the deer came in so fast the first two days that the help could not keep up with skinning them. The coolers had heavy canvas hanging in them to separate the deer from other meat and permits were obtained for this procedure.

After the third day the deer kill was less and then the deer was skinned before going into the coolers. Hans said that they processed 75 deer, the same number as last year. Ton Wynsma told me that venison has more moisture than beef and if the skin would be left on the deer for 10 or more days that the meat would mold. So it is good practice not to leave your deer hang outdoors for any length of time.

John and Marie Burns have been kept busy at their slaughter house. The lucky hunters brought in 45 deer and 1 bear. John Burns has increased his process Burns has increased his processing facilities and can handle a large number of deer. Four other deer were dressed and cut up.

During the bear season the people at the DeYongs were given the chore to process 10 bear. Then two hunters from Elk Rapids, Charles Wilhelm and animals of matching their 1963 success.

AS EXPECTED, shotguns in the southern third of the state set another record for buck kill in their region, topping last year's figure of 4,800 by 1,000 animals. Added to this were 1,200 antlerless deer taken in 12 crop-damage areas of southern Michigan.

State-wide, deer license sales were estimated at upwards of $18,000, slightly above last season's all-time high.

Earl Edson, were hunting in Canada and bagged two moose. These were also hanging in Hans's cooler. They tell me these two gentlemen were credited with the same kill last year.

John Burns reported one bear hanging at his place. All this meat and how to prepare it? You will find in extension bulletin No. 253 "venison," some very helpful recipes.

Gas line freeze can happen to anybody, but when you're young and in a hurry, it's a disaster. Here's what gas line freeze is. Moisture collects in a gas line. It freezes. The flow of fuel to the engine of the car is choked off, frozen tight. You're stopped cold. Luckily, there's a simple solution to this wintertime worry. Be a steady user of either American Regular Gasoline or American Super-Premium. They contain the real thing—DE-ICER—to prevent gas line freeze. No extra cost. Boy Scout Troop 11, of Charlevoix, made garlands for the light poles on Bridge St. This project took four weeks and many hours. It was supervised by Scoutmaster Louis Edwards, committee chairman Richard Fochman and committeemen Earl Holborn. Each year this project is sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

The cedar boughs and trees were donated by Edward Shanahan, owner of Birchwood Ranch. The Scouts, working as patrols, spent evenings and Saturdays and Sundays on the project at the high school shop. Thanks go to Robert Cook for his time and the use of the shop. The troop hopes the decorations will be enjoyed by everyone living in Charlevoix and those persons coming into Charlevoix, and wishes all a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Deer Hunters Spent $13 Million

Michigan deer hunters spent more than $13 million on food, lodging and recreation during the 16-day season, according to preliminary figures from a Central Michigan University research study.

The survey of Michigan's overall tourist and recreational travel picture is being conducted under a special $78,000 grant by the Michigan Legislature. Safe Driving Tips

This is another in a series of safe winter driving by Police Chief Joseph Smith and Sheriff Glenn Rose.

Motorists make more driving blunders in winter than at any other time of the year, according to the Motor Vehicle Research Laboratory, University of Wisconsin.

This is because motorists do not adjust to winter's twin accident-producing conditions—reduced visibility and inadequate traction.

THE NATIONAL Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards which annually conducts extensive tests of vehicle equipment and behavior on ice and snow, makes the following recommendations:

1. Get the feel of the road by accelerating carefully to see if the wheels spin, then brake to see if they skid. This should be done at low speed and away from other traffic. If the car doesn't respond as expected, reduce driving speed, steer gently and brake smoothly, use gas and brake pedals sparingly.
2. Increase your following distance. Never tailgate. On clear dry roads a safe following distance is one vehicle length for every 10 miles per hour of speed. On snow and ice-covered highways it takes 3 to 12 times as far to stop, so lengthen your following distance accordingly.
3. "Pump" your brakes when you see you have to stop or slow down - don't jam them on. Slamming on the brakes may cause you to lose control. To pump brakes properly, press and release the brake pedal rapidly once or twice a second. This pumping action lets your wheels roll and allows you to maintain steering control. This prevents skids.

4. HAVE GOOD tires with good treads. In more than 25 years of traction testing, the Committee has found that good tire treads are always superior to smooth treads. Even better are snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires.
5. Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car and put them on when conditions are severe. These provide four to five times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires. After putting on tire chains, drive a few blocks to allow them to adjust themselves. Then stop and take up the slack. This assures a snug fit, which is best for maximum performance and maximum mileage. Take time to remove chains when they are no longer needed.

8. Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace wiper blades that may have been baked dry by summer sun. Tension on blade arms should be at least one ounce for each inch of blade length. See that your windshield washer solution contains anti-freeze.

Varnum Begins Work on Smoke Control Ordinance

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Varnum is preparing a smoke and dust abatement ordinance for Charlevoix Township to control Medusa Portland Cement Co.'s proposed plant on South Point.

Varnum said he has met with Medusa air pollution technicians as a preliminary step in writing the ordinance. Medusa's people, he said, are sending him copies of other ordinances to study in drafting one of Charlevoix Township.

THE ORDINANCE will include controls on smoke, dust, noise and other possible nuisances, Varnum said. He hopes to have it completed by June of next year.

Merchants Should Get To Work on Christmas

FIGURES ON THE City of Charlevoix's expenses for Christmas decoration and enjoyment prove to be quite an eye-opener. Not because the city is over-spending or under-spending. But because the city seems to be alone carrying the burden which, in most communities, is the primary interest of businessmen. Charlevoix last year spent well over $1,000 in decorating and lighting the business district, promoting home lighting decorations and paying for gifts to the kiddies that Santa handed out when he visited here as a guest of the Volunteer Firemen.

THE COURIER LAST year, and again this year, commends the city and its employees for a job well done. We would not suggest spending a penny less.

But we are terribly disappointed with Charlevoix businessmen. As far as we can determine businessmen virtually failed to do anything to effectively support the city's efforts.

Of course we expect to hear the wails of "capitalizing on Christmas." But to this we say "hum bug!" Part of the fun of Christmas is the jammed stores and meeting your friends on the sidewalk to discuss holiday plans in nose-nipping weather.

Christmas means having the children meet Santa in a downtown store and tell him what they hope to see under the tree on that biggest of big days. Christmas is many things that go with shopping. None of which need detract from its religious aspects, unless you insist on being a hypocrite.

PERHAPS MORE to the point is the fact that Charlevoix people aren't failing to get into the spirit of Christmas just because their hometown merchants won't help them. Shucks no. Their simply going to other towns to do their shopping and have the kiddies meet Santa Claus.

Frankly, we can't honestly say that we blame them. Though we hate to see Charlevoix money leave Charlevoix when it isn't really necessary. If our businessmen won't offer the Christmas trimmings other towns do, who is to blame? Not the shoppers.

Actually we doubt that the many persons leaving Charlevoix to buy their Christmas gifts are coming home with any better merchandise than they could have purchased at home. Further, we don't believe they are saving money by shopping elsewhere.

The only thing our businessmen are not offering is the gaiety, promotion and atmosphere that shoppers justly demand at Christmas time.

This can easily be rectified. And we hope it will be.

SEVERAL OBVIOUS solutions offer themselves. Rather than complain about losing business to more promotion-minded towns, our merchants should begin co-operating through the Chamber of Commerce retail committee. The committee in the past year -- businessmen admit -- has been virtually inactive.

After studying what other business districts are doing, as reported in our exchange papers from other small communities, the Courier would suggest our merchants consider forgetting their differences and begin cooperating next year on a plan that would include:

1--Bring Santa Claus to town the first Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving. Santa would move up and down the street, talking to youngsters in all the stores.

2--Stay open late at least Friday and Saturday evenings, and maybe one other each week, from Thanksgiving to Christmas. Have Santa in town each of these nights.

3--PUT UP SOME prize money and run a contest for the best decorated store front. Ask a womens group to do the judging.

4--Have strategically located microphones playing pleasant Christmas music in each block. Also have Christmas music in the stores.

5--Put up an attractive, tasteful display in East Park to compliment the city's fine decorations.

6--Promote . . . promote . . . promote. Get the message that Charlevoix is a Christmas shoppers' town to the people. Offer a wide selection of popular merchandise at good prices.

None of these suggestions are magical. They have been soundly proven to be successful by the towns that our merchants are now complaining about because our people are spending their Christmas gift dollars there.

the list has the chamber's endorsement. So let the customer choose for himself.

The chamber's job is to bring more vacationers to town. Plans are now in the offing to do a better job of this through a monthly news release to newspapers, and promotion of a Winter Sports program. However, once again, this can only be accomplished if members of the community are willing to cooperate in committee action.

The chamber is no more perfect than your business is. But it is improving with experience and there can be no questioning the sincerity and dedication of chamber leaders. So rather than turn the membership salesman down, give your share in both dollars and effort this coming year.

Our Best Wishes to Herb

OUR BEST WISHES for a speedy recovery and comfortable convalescence go this week to Deputy City Clerk Herb Campbell.

All of us were caught off guard by the announcement that Herb is suffering from tuberculosis. The respect and fellowship others at City Hall feel for him was immediately evident as they literally "insisted" on pitching in to help carry his load until he can return.

THE EXTENT to which the city depends on him was also immediately evident. City Council noted at its meeting last week that it will simply have to get along without the immediate answers to complex questions it has learned to rely on Herb for. Accountant Darrel Dinwiddie appeared before councilmen and asked permission for his firm to fill-in on the bookkeeping chores during Herb's absence.

OUR LUMBERING HERITAGE--Logging was once as important a part of Charlevoix's commerce as shipping. This log pile and the lumbermen were photographed in the 1890's at the Charlevoix Lumber Co.'s yards on the north shore of Round Lake. The logs were cut in the area and shipped out by schooner. The picture is from Mrs. Walter Smith's collection.

Self Help is Best Kind

(Ingham County News)

The United States has declared war on poverty. This is as it should be. Politicians in Washington, labor leaders, sociologists, educators, social workers and the average citizen are all digging for the answers--and unfortunately, for the time being, in trying to find the solution to this problem.

Unfortunately, everyone is concerned and trying for a solution except many of the poverty-stricken.

To verify that statement all that is needed is a trip through that part of the United States which is now being billed as a Pocket of Poverty, Appalachia, the coal mining areas of Kentucky, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Poverty does exist there. Of this there is no doubt. There is evidence of it in every direction. Help is needed for these unfortunate people.

But, let's face it. There are those who can not be helped because they refuse to help themselves.

Is education the answer? Is modern gratis health care the answer? Will government housing programs solve the problem? Can the direct and indirect dole cure the blight? In many cases the answer is no.

Basic problem rests with the people themselves.

The greatest pocket of poverty in this country is the socialist mind bent on numbering incentive in people. The give-away approach will not cure the sickness any more than the give-away approach has cured the similar disease for underdeveloped nations.

Socialism kills incentive except for those who profess socialism but are in reality trying for a power grab.

Creating incentive is the cure we should be seeking. People who want to help themselves will help themselves.

By FRAN MARTIN

Last summer I had occasion to meet and do a story on a Michigan dental student who was interested in swimming the English channel. . . . His name was Harry Huttaker and he was working at a counselor at a camp on Higgins Lake in order to get in some long distance swimming on weekends. . . . He swam Lake Charlevoix from Boyne City here and later the Straits of Mackinac and French Lake before going to Dover. . . . I never heard any more about him until recently when I received a clipping from the Michigan Daily in Ann Arbor from Jim Ladd, a student at Michigan. . . .

Seems Harry, a most personable, determined and dedicated young man, had gone to England, as planned, and had started the swim from Dover to the French coast. . . . but two miles short of his goal blacked out and had to be pulled from the water. . . . The result of metabolic acidosis which affects all competitive swimmers and which, in his case, was caused by too much protein in his diet. . . . according to the account. . . .

BUT EVEN THIS has not discouraged this young man and, after graduation from the Michigan School of Dentistry school in the spring of '66, he plans to give it one last try. . . . He is one of the top 15 long-distance swimmers in the world who has been invited to participate in a long distance meet at Lake Windermere in northern England. . . . He'll follow this with that one last try. . . . After having covered 90 per cent of the distance last summer in record time, perhaps '66 will be the year. . . . And many thanks to Jim for sending the clipping. . . .

It's getting on toward that time. . . . and if you don't think so, look about you. . . . With the new snow, Charlevoix's downtown is like a Christmas wonderland. . . . and here and there Christmas decorations are beginning to appear. . . . Before long it will be great fun driving around to see what's been done to beautify the city. . . . What have you done about making your home look more like Christmas? . . . Nothing? Come now, you can add a few lights here and there and, like magic, you're the prettiest house in the block. . . .

Was chatting with Mrs. Carl Johnson the other day. . . . She told me something I don't think I like the sound of. . . . (which is lousy English but you get what I mean)

. . . . Seems her husband, who is employed at the Belvedere Club, was checking the property one day recently (this is done regularly, I might add). . . . when he saw what he thought was a post on the beach which hadn't been there before. . . . As he neared the "object" he saw it move. . . . and then it flapped its big wings and took to the air. . . . Flying only a short distance above the water, it flew and coasted its way toward Look's Point. . . . It was rather grayish in color and looked like an Arctic owl. . . . One usually doesn't see those out in the daytime (or am I wrong on that count?). . . . I've always been told that when these large birds make their way this far South, it's a sign of a hard winter in the north country. . . . and when it's cold in the north country we have a hard winter here. . . . I have seen only one of those birds. . . . What impressed me the most was the size of them. . . . I don't think too many are seen around here. . . .

WHICH REMINDS me of something else. . . . I was talking to Mrs. P.D. Campbell on the phone recently when she asked me to wait a minute. . . . When she came back to the phone she said she had caught a glimpse of something flying west over the channel. . . . (Her home overlooks the channel on the north). . . . She watched the birds and discovered they were swans. . . . They came down in Lake Michigan very time before taking off to the southwest. . . . Could be they were enroute to their winter quarters on Grand Traverse Bay where the good citizens look after them all through the cold months. . . .

And don't you forget your little feathered friends. . . . It's great fun feeding them and watching their antics. . . . They'll repay you a million times over for your kindness by putting on a daily show. . . . And if you don't know how to go about it, I'm sure the person I refer to as the "Bird Lady" will help you. . . . I spent an afternoon with her recently and she showed feeding birds for years and can tell you exactly how to go about it. . . . Her name is Mrs. Gormell. . . . She's Don Anders' mother and can be found at that number. . . . Probably the most important thing about feeding the birds is to do it regularly. . . . they get used to coming to your feeder and may go hungry if you don't leave it filled, once they've gotten in the habit of coming. . . . If you have small children and are looking for a way to entertain them, place a feeder where they can see it from a window. . . . It will entertain them and also teach them much about the workings of Mother Nature. . . .

Haven't you survived when you've watched the Sundew leave port recently? . . . They're going about the business of removing buoys from Lake Michigan and Lake Huron. . . . In preparation for the closing of navigation on the Great Lakes. . . . This is just about the most bonechilling job they have. . . . It will go on until all the buoys are out. . . . and marker buoys are put down. . . . and until crews are removed from all the lighthouses in the northern end of both lakes. . . . It's a cold, hazardous job and I'm sure every one will feel better once the buoy season is over. . . .

And don't forget the gifts and cards to those service guys and gals around the world. . . .

FROM ROY

Have you noticed through the years, that the farmer's field work is finished at the start of deer season. No matter how busy he was, how many fields needed to be plowed, what buildings needed repair, or if Bessy needed a haircut, these jobs are put on the shelf.

A farmer will set his alarm clock to ring a half an hour earlier so he can be in the woods on time. Then at 5:30 p.m. the cows are waiting patiently for the boss but there is one thing more important at the present. Finally at dark he comes dragging his frame into the house exhausted.

Only one job faces this hunter (farmer) 20 to 50 cows to milk. There is one thing that people don't hear during deer season is farming. Shortly after deer season the farmer is thinking of farming. His thoughts are based on the next year's business. The real concern is merchandise to order.

A person will say, the farmer has just finished harvesting his crops. Yes! This is true, but plans have to be made as discounts are available on certain materials.

The number of livestock usually determines the feed needed and from this knowledge the farmer plans the acres to be planted. I wonder if this is the reason why there is deer season so the farmer can forget about farming.

AT THE LIONS Club last meeting a motion was made to continue operating the ice skating rink during the winter season. This is the third season that the Lions sponsored this project. Rules should be obeyed, so that ice skating can be enjoyed. When you see the red flag at the rink stay OFF and this means YOU. The Lions plan on giving Christmas baskets to the needy. Look out for these roaring Lions in the near future they will have brooms, and not to sweep with, but to sell. Nels Nelson was the winner of the drawing at their last meeting.

Lancers Look Good In League

With the Ellsworth team being idle this week we can't portray any excitement. It probably would be interesting to know about the schools that are in the same conference as Ellsworth.

This conference is known as the "Snowland D." The teams in this league are, Alba, Del-laire, Central Lake, Ellsworth, Frederic, and Rapid City.

Two schools have started that without enough boys coming out for basketball they may not be able to have a Junior Varsity team.

Ellsworth is the returning champion, (Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Junior High teams). Central Lake was strong last year and with the return of their star players, this team rates high in the conference.

Bellare's team last season looked like they were on a teeter totter up for one game and down for the next. I believe they have the greatest number of returning lettermen and could be the most improved squad.

Rapid City is still suffering from not participating two seasons ago.

The two remaining schools can come up with some surprises but it will take plenty of experience to compete against Ellsworth. If this squad puts their nose to the grindstone it could be one of Ellsworth's greats.

Coach Bob Danforth is pressing and pushing the Varsity squad for he knows these boys have basketball ability. The boys know that Coach has on the bench with him a person that could replace any one of them if they don't put-out during the game and that is what makes this team strong. Ken Richardson has joined the squad and is getting himself in shape. Ken told me his leg feels good, the muscle is soft and from the exercise of practicing, the next morning the muscles are tight. Ken is giving all he has, teaming up with Fred Gibbs these two fellows made the basketball. As I watched the starting five play against the subs it was encouraging to hear the boys from one squad praising the other group for a well maneuvered play. Team spirit plays an important place on any team.

Glen Peebles has discontinued basketball. The Junior Varsity practice session begins an hour earlier than their seniors. Coach Jerry Albright has this team working hard.

I have stated, and the experts will agree, with the right techniques taught to boys in their early teens, clumsy habits can be more readily eliminated.

Mr. Danforth was helping coach Albright with the JVs. This team has height and speed and some of the boys were considered good shots on the Junior High team. We shall see Friday night.

It's Christmas In Charlevoix

Charlevoix merchants tomorrow evening (Friday) launch their cooperative Christmas shoppers promotion.

For the convenience of Christmas gift shoppers, and to get everyone in the holiday spirit, merchants are staying open until 9 p.m. every night until Christmas, Don Kowbel, Chamber of Commerce retail committee chairman announced.

KOWBEL SAID businessmen are decorating their stores, both inside and out to compliment the city's downtown decorations.

Several stores are expected to provide seasonal music, piped outside, to spread Christmas cheer to all within hearing distance.

Perhaps the biggest feature of the program is that Santa Claus is expected to be in town every evening until Christmas. The jolly old fellow will wander from store to store talking to youngsters and handing out treats.

Shoppers will find Charlevoix merchants offering just as wide a selection of gift items, at competitive prices, as anywhere Kowbel said.

"RATHER THAN leave a store disappointed," he said. "Tell the clerk why. We're all in business to please our customers, but can't if they don't tell us what they want."

For a preview of some of the Christmas gift specials merchants are offering turn to pages 7 and 8 of this week's Courier.

Kowbel said the Retail Committee expects this to be only the first of a series of planned year-round promotions.

Deadline Nears For Yule Contest

Santa Claus may not make his final visit of 1964 for nine more days, but you only have five days left to get your outside Christmas decorations plugged in.

Rambling

A snowshoe hare in winter plumage hopped (if you will) from behind a brush pile. I saw small growing, 22 automatic rifle instinctively snapped to my shoulder, my thumb flicked the safety off and the firing pin split a 40 grain slug through the rabbit's rear leg.

This slowed him down enough for a second shot that shattered his back at the shoulders.

BUT HE WASN'T letting me off that easy. As his legs thrashed the air, he let out one of those soul-rending death shrieks that told he was dying and didn't want to.

My heart sunk. Why couldn't he have died quietly?

I recalled a battle-savvy sergeant's remark when we asked him one morning to go hunting with us. "You go," he said. "I've got nothing against those critters. They don't want to take anything from me. It's only people who want to hurt people, so if I have to kill anything that's what I'll be, people."

We accepted his answer as honest and reasonable. He said it as a matter of fact, without

Aging Hasn't Hurt Courier

This week the Charlevoix Courier marks its 68th birthday. It doesn't sound like much of a milestone, especially when you consider the entire Christian world is on the brink of celebrating a birthday of nearly 2,000 years ago.

And 88 years isn't long in the measure of time in northern Michigan. But it does cover a substantial part of Charlevoix history.

WE ALSO NOTE with a certain amount of satisfaction that at 68 the Courier is healthier and has more energy than ever before.

And Santa will make his first visit to town Saturday afternoon Dec. 19.

THE CITY'S annual home decorations contest, sponsored by the electric utility, will be judged Monday evening.

All homes in the city and immediately outside the city will be judged for $100 in prizes being offered by the electric utility. Judges will look for the most attractive outside decorations using electricity. The judging will be after dark.

In past years dozens of city residents have gone to great lengths to give their homes, and consequently all of Charlevoix, a holiday atmosphere with outside decorations.

Santa Claus will arrive at 1 p.m. Saturday for his pre-Christmas visit with the kiddies. The Volunteer Firemen's Assn. will host the jolly gent from the North Pole.

HE WILL GREET all area children, and give them small gifts of candy and nuts, at the foot of Clinton St. A fire truck will serve as his temporary throne.

Fire Chief John Curtis reminds parents to bring the whole family down to greet Santa. This is the only chance of the year most Charlevoix area youngsters get to see Santa in person.

The home decorations contest will be judged by wards. There will be a $15, $10 and $5 prize winner in each ward. A $10 prize will also be given to the best decorated home immediately outside the city limits.

Charlevoix's colorful outside decorations at private homes have become an envied tradition with other communities. Mayor E. D. Hawley pointed out. He urged city people to make this Christmas better than ever.

JUDGES FOR THE contest will be Ellsworth School Supt. Jerry Albright, Charlevoix Township Supervisor Clarence Rabach and Charlevoix Courier Editor Glen Sheppard.

Sledders Move To New Hill; Will be Safer

The years of winter gaiety and the happy, excited voices of children that have dominated the neighborhood at the intersection of Grant and Antrim Streets are over.

The children are going to have just as much fun, and maybe even more. And parents are going to do a lot less worrying.

THE CITY sliding hill is being moved from the Grant-Antrim St. hill to the Grant-Park Ave. hill, leading down to the National Fish Hatchery.

Highway Planned Far to East of City State Recommends School Build New Public Library

Federal Grant Pay Two-Thirds

Board Studies Proposal to Ask for Public Gift Campaign

The Federal Govt. appears reluctant to help Charlevoix remodel its present library, but anxious to foot two-thirds of the shot for constructing a new building, the Board of Education was told Monday.

Supt. Rex Milligan said state authorities have discouraged local officials from proceeding with plans to seek federal assistance for a $25,000 remodeling of the Carnegie Library on the corner of Clinton and State Streets.

HOWEVER, THESE same state people, went so far as to urge the Board of Education to initiate plans for a new library building, Milligan said.

The superintendent's report on the state library board's position was supported by board members Mrs. L. R. Hooper, Dale Boes and Burr Blanchard. They also met with Clarence Wallers, state library consultant, who made the recommendation to construct a new library.

Milligan said the possibility of two-thirds federal support for new building was unexpected. The school has not had time to make any positive plans, or come up with tentative costs and designs for a new library.

Board members speculated that a suitable building would cost between $60,000 and $100,000. They pointed out that these were nothing more than rough guesses. On a $60,000 building the federal government would pay $40,000.

MILLIGAN SAID the State Library Board spokesman virtually assured him the federal government will approve a two-thirds grant for a new Charlevoix library under the Library Service and Construction Act.

According to Boes, the state official said the federal government is eager to spend some of the available funds in rural areas. Most of it is now going into urban communities.

This same official, Milligan said, indicated the federal government would question the wisdom of participating in a plan to remodel the present building. It is felt, he said, that the Carnegie Library cannot be made functional through remodeling.

Hawley to Seek His 5th Term

Mayor E. D. (Pat) Hawley Tuesday told the Courier he will run for re-election to his fifth term.

Mayor Hawley's decision has been the only focal point up to this time in the pending city election. Even interest in the mayor's race, however, has been meager during the pre-Christmas season.

CANDIDATES HAVE until Dec. 28 to fill nominating petitions for the February primary election. Three councilmen, one from each ward, three county supervisors, city clerk, city treasurer and justice of peace are up for election.

Councilmen whose terms expire are Robert Neff from the first ward, Robert Gill from the second ward and Don Parsell from the third ward. As of Tuesday no petitions had been filed by council candidates.

No one has filed a petition to oppose Hawley.

Petitions have been filed by Kit Carson and Harry Gebeau for supervisor, Annabelle Cunningham for treasurer, Hugh Mayne for clerk and Ira H. Olney for justice of peace.

Winter Sports Can Bring 60,000 Here

The Chamber of Commerce's new Winter Sports Committee Chairman, Bob Humphries, predicts as many as 60,000 can be attracted to Charlevoix for weekend winter activities.

Humphries can back up his prediction with plenty of authority and practical experience. Before moving to Charlevoix he was president of the Petoskey Winter Sports Club for six years.

DURING THIS PERIOD the Petoskey program became recognized as one of the most successful in the north country. Charlevoix, Humphries said, has at least as many natural assets for such a program as other towns.

The difference between success and failure, he said, is in how hard people work.

He said he will call the first committee meeting after the holidays. Sub-committees and a basic outline for a winter sports carnival in 1965-66 will be established at this meeting.

THE MAJORITY of the planning and arrangements, he reports from past experience, must be completed before the 1965 summer tourist season.

The program can be planned for a one-weekend festival, or two or three separate weekends. If the committee decides to try for three weekends Humphries feels as many as 20,000 people can be attracted to town each weekend.

The program can be focused on several major activities, including dog sled races, ice boats, ice skating races, a Winter Sports Ball, sports car races on the ice and ice fishing, Humphries said.

One of the focal points of any such program would be a Winter Sports Queen, he said.

THE COMMITTEE chairman feels financing of the program should be separate from the Chamber of Commerce's regular budget. The committee will be asked to decide how to raise these funds.

A Winter Sports Committee formed last winter by the chamber failed to function.

The committee, under Robert Neff as chairman, was expected to form a separate organization to arrange a winter sports festival for this winter. However, it only held one meeting.

But Remains 15 Years in The Future

When the State Highway Dept. builds its much-discussed U.S.-31 freeway, probably 15 years from now, chances are it will skirt Lake Charlevoix to the east, going through or near Boyne City, instead of Charlevoix.

The cost of building a bridge over Lake Charlevoix, or condemning a wide portion of the city's downtown area, has been ruled out in the highway dept.'s preliminary planning.

THE COURIER received this information through a special report from John Takacs of the department's Highway News Bureau.

It is considered virtually impossible to build a modern freeway through town as there is only a narrow strip of land between Lake Michigan and Lake Charlevoix that would not require an extremely expensive bridge. This narrow strip of land is the heart of the city and would cost millions of dollars to condemn for highway use.

However, Takacs emphasized that all plans are preliminary and no construction is expected for at least 15 years.

Mayor E. D. Hawley, when asked for his reaction to the likelihood that the highway will ultimately carry traffic far east of the city, said, "I can see their reasoning."

HAWLEY SAID that if traffic into Charlevoix increases at the rate the highway dept. has predicted, it will create a real problem in town. There will be no parking space on Bridge St. and Petoskey Ave., the mayor said.

On the Courier's request, Takacs asked the department's Chief Planning Engineer, E. A. Bell-Enbaum, for information on future plans for the U.S.-31 freeway. His statement follows.

"Long-range planning calls for eventual construction of a north-south freeway in the Antrim-Charlevoix area. Although the location of this future freeway has not been determined, preliminary planning studies have indicated that a freeway facility on, or immediately adjacent to, existing U.S.-31 in Antrim and Charlevoix counties would not be feasible because of the limitations imposed by Lake Michigan and the large inland lakes in the area. Therefore, any future freeway location will undoubtedly be limited to a corridor east of Lake Charlevoix.

"ON THE BASIS of existing state highway needs and anticipated revenues to meet these needs, it does not appear that such a freeway will be programmed in Charlevoix area for another 15 years or more."

Request Improvement of Channel at Public Hearing

Persons representing Charlevoix County industrial, resort, boating, railroad and public utility interests were among the 40 present at Tuesday's public hearing in the County Building called by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. A. E. Steinhilber, standing, manager of the Northern Michigan Cooperative electric generating plant at Advance, testifies on behalf of company. Others around the table are from left, Michael Perini; Corps of Engineers' information officer; Fred Waldo, navigation engineer; Lt. Col. E. C. Bruce, district engineer, and an unidentified court reporter. A variety of reasons were presented by local persons for asking the federal government to widen, deepen and straighten the channel. Col. Bruce said the requests appear to have merit, but before the Corps of Engineers can do anything local, county and state agencies must agree to pay for all required land acquisition, relocation of utilities, roads and bridges. The Corps of Engineers, he said, will only pay for actual work on the channel. The testimony presented at the hearing will be studied further before the engineers make any firm plans, he said.

day that the hill above the fish hatchery will be safer than the Antrim St. intersection. Though there have been no reported injuries at Antrim St., parents and city officials have been holding their breath. The new hill will be opened as soon as adequate sliding snow is accumulated. One side of the hill will be kept open for the few cars that use the street in the winter.

THE HILL will be supervised the same hours as the present one. Hours of supervision are 3-5 p.m. and 8 to 8 p.m. daily; Saturdays from 10-Noon, 1-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. City Supv. James Taylor said straw will be put on the ground in front of the stone wall at the base of the hill to prevent sledders from slamming into it. A sign will be posted at the Antrim St. hill informing parents when the new hill is open.

MRS. SCHIED said the board has 30 members. Earl Young is the only other Charlevoix member.

Members are accepted, Mrs. Schied said, after the board reviews their qualifications and is satisfied their business procedures meet required ethical standards.

The local board is a member of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards and the Michigan Real Estate Assn. The next meeting is Monday, Jan. 14, in Petoskey.

emotion or dramatics. The sergeant was one of the most respected professional infantrymen in the outfit. He'd been a Marine Corps sergeant and earned a Silver Star before he was 17. After the Marines found out he wasn't of age (and the war was over so they no longer needed him) Joe accepted an Army uniform. A few years later he was decorated again and turned down a field commission in Korea.

LIFETIME civilians and disgruntled former soldiers have a habit of classifying professional military people as misfits, who couldn't make it on the outside. Of course this is true of many. But not of my sergeant friend who didn't want anything to do with killing animals who weren't out to do him any harm. Nor is it true of most of the career infantrymen I knew. Of the other services, and branches of the Army, I cannot speak. Somewhere along the line Joe had picked up a super-strong feeling for his country. When war broke out it called him to enlist to fight for that country. Serving his country as one of its ultimate weapons (an infantryman) was the most fulfilling thing he could do. And he did it well and proudly. But, so what, you ask. Well, a few hours after the rabbit's death scream got me to remembering Joe's humble philosophy, I picked up the Sunday Chicago Tribune. The headline announced that two more men had been killed in the fighting in Viet Nam. I scanned the names to see if he could be Joe, or another of my former comrades. It wasn't.

BUT MY THOUGHTS then flashed back to the rabbit. Instead of the innocent little white-furred hare I saw a fatigue-clad Special Forces infantryman lying in the mud writhing in his last spurt of life.

In his eyes--as in the rabbit's--I knew you could read the question: Why? His country had called and he had been proud to answer. But now that he knew what the price was to be, he didn't really know why he was there.

Did he, I couldn't help wondering, ask himself if his countrymen were as proud of him as he was proud to be one of them. I immediately hoped he hadn't asked himself this question. For, if he had, he realized his countrymen didn't really care or they wouldn't allow the finest patriots and warriors man has ever known to die in a war their nation is unwilling to win.

THE MEN WHO are fighting our useless war for us in Viet Nam know full well there can be no victory. They dare not say so (and as loyal soldiers they won't). But this column and its readers are not bound by this duty. We, too, can see that Red China cannot be whipped in a little clash of commandos at isolated spots in a small Asiatic country. And it is Red China we are fighting. Furthermore, we know that Viet Nam can no more be converted into a democratic nation than America can be converted to feudalism. So why are we letting our patriots die in Viet Nam? Even one American soldier's life is too many to sacrifice in a war our leaders do not have the backbone to win. And we have already let our political bosses send hundreds of our fighting men to this useless death.

Mr. and Mrs. David Schuchard arrived Sunday from Fayetteville, N. C. to spend Christmas week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Bergmann. They will be joined for the weekend by the Bergmanns' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mol and two children of Birmingham who will spend the weekend here. The Mols will also visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mol.

Rayders Tie for 2nd

The Charlevoix Rayders are sharing second place in the Northern Michigan Class C league with East Jordan, Gaylord and Pellston.

Tuesday night the Rayders made a strong comeback as they limmed Pellston 77-58 in a game that saw them jump into a 17-11 first period lead which they increased to 41-31 at halftime and 84-40 going into the final quarter.

BOB SHIER paced the game with 23 points for the Hornets. Jim Uhrick had 19, Del Terrill 14, Warren Belding 12 and Dave Smith 11 for the Rayders.

In other games East Jordan upset the league leading Gaylord Blue Devils 82-59 in a game in which the top team led only once late in the game. This leaves Grayling alone in first place in loop standings. Elsewhere Grayling defeated Mancelona 59-42 and Harbor Springs roared past Boyne City 82-55.

Charlevoix's Little Rayders posted their first victory of the season by defeating Pellston 47-32.

architect have estimated it will cost $25,000 to make "necessary" repairs in the present library.

THE BOARD has already applied for federal assistance in making the repairs, but expects the request to be turned down. Mrs. Hooper told board members the Library Advisory Committee has unanimously agreed that construction of a new building with a two-thirds federal grant is the most feasible move to make.

"I think there's quite a lot of interest here," Boss said. "I've talked to several people I thought would be opposed to it and they weren't. I'm surprised. Milligan said if the community raised the $25,000 needed to bring the present building up to acceptable standards, it would be better spent for a new building. With the federal government paying two-thirds, this much local money would pay for a $75,000 new building."

DARRELL Dinwiddie suggested the board, or Library Advisory Committee, organize a gift raising campaign to get money for the new building.

Board members agreed a new library would be located on the present site. This means tearing down the Carnegie Library.

Dinwiddie pointed out the half-million voted for library operation will not cover the cost of new construction.

Milligan said that if it is decided to apply for the federal grant, plans should be completed and the money raised by June 1.

YOU IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN YOU
 Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions that fortify and influence for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the ministerial one molds religious character. Statedmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we ask our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Williams Newspaper Features
 P. O. Box 211, Ft. Worth, Tex.

THE "Circuit Riders" of yesterday were Prophets of The Long Trail. Those noblemen read their Bibles by candlelight and preached wherever men would assemble. Their little churches were very ordinary but a serious minded people attended them. After a week of hard labor from which they earned their living these men of God would drive many miles to break The Word of Life to a hungry people.

THESE men were God's men, first and last. They were committed to do His will...to bring His message to the careless, sinful and needy. They asked only for people who would listen. Their ministries were sincere. Their churches were sacred places which were used to mold men for God. Disbelief of the inspiration of the Scriptures, or the divine origin of Christianity were not tolerated. The unfaithful were "turned out."

THESE servants of God were imbued with such love that they counted no sacrifice too great. They carried books and Bibles and tracts for hungry minds. They brought comfort to lonely spirits; the Touch of God for the healing souls. Thank God then for the church and for these Prophets of The Long Trail.

Council Ok's Bid For Airport Work

Charlevoix City Council Monday evening approved the State Dept. of Aeronautics awarding the contract for $25,490 to Charlevoix Lumber Co. to construct a new administration building at the Municipal Airport. The city and state will share the cost of the building equally.

THE BUILDING is a more economical version of the first plan presented by architect Jack Begrow of Charlevoix. Construction bids on the first plan were above the estimated $30,000 cost. Made of wood frame construction with rough-sawn red cedar exterior, the new building will measure 40 by 26 feet. It will be approximately in the location of the present white frame building used by airport manager Joe McPhillips. In addition to its 50% share of the $25,490 contract, the city will pay for construction of a hard surface road from US-31 to the building and installing utilities.

School Report Card

Written by Charlevoix Public School Educators

Teachers in the Charlevoix area are going to have the opportunity to start the New Year right with a continuing education is concerned. For the first time since the fall of 1959, regular credit courses will be offered in the Charlevoix Public Schools by both Central Michigan University and by Michigan State University.

MUCH OF THE credit for this educational development is due to the initiative shown by District Superintendent Charles A. Robinson, Supt. of Schools Rex E. Milligan, high school principal Harry E. Bingham, elementary school principal Glenn Snider, and Dr. William Ratigan, counselor who has acted in a liaison capacity between the universities and the public schools.

The actions of the above-named administrators reflect the attitude of the community and the philosophy of the Board of Education in offering contracts and added benefits to an outstanding professional faculty whose members are constantly on the lookout for new methods and materials of teaching in a rapidly changing world. During the winter term, Michigan State University will offer two regularly scheduled courses in Charlevoix:

ENGLISH 201 -- Nature of Language (3 term hours), Tuesdays, 7-10 p.m., beginning January 5, and ending March 9. MATH 201 -- Foundations of Arithmetic (4 term hours) Thursdays, 6:30-10 p.m., beginning March 18, and ending May 27. Starting on Thursday, January 7, at 7 p.m., in rooms to be assigned at Charlevoix High School, Central Michigan University will offer the following courses:

PSYCHOLOGY 320 (2 semester hours), Mental Retardation, Prerequisite: Psychology 201. This course may apply toward special certification for teaching the mentally handicapped. EDUCATION 520 (2 semester hours), Problems in Reading in the Elementary School. Prerequisite: Education 427 or equivalent.

PARTICULAR Interest has been shown in special education courses, ever since the voters last spring authorized the establishment of a Special Education District. In a recent letter to Dr. Ratigan from Russell J. Kleis made the following statement:

"...I am sure you will be interested to know, we are undertaking a series of courses of special education to help with the certification of special education people for the area. Dr. Douglas Gilmore will be conducting a course during each of the next two terms. Winter and Spring. During the late summer a third course will be offered by Mr. Ben Yep.

Currently we plan to continue with another course in the fall of 1965 under Dr. Burke. This, together with your own teaching and the other courses which have been offered in the area, will make it possible for any teacher to achieve at least minimum certification for special education."

IN ADDITION to the above courses, Michigan State will offer regularly scheduled courses in Petoskey during both the winter and the spring term. All classes will be held in North Central Michigan College. Listed for winter term are EDUCATION 800 (3 term hours) Crucial Issues in Education, and POLITICAL SCIENCE 360 (3 term hours) International Politics and Foreign Policy Making.

Looking ahead to spring term, the MSU list includes ART 421 (3 term hours) Art for Classroom Teachers, and EDUCATION 815B (3 term hours) Principles of Guidance and Personnel Services.

In addition to its course offerings in Charlevoix, Central Michigan University has scheduled spring semester classes in several northern Michigan communities. EDUCATION 564 (2 semester hours) Public School Finance, will be taught at Gaylord. At Cheboygan, instruction will be held in EDUCATION 363 (3 semester hours) Foundations of American Education, and GEOGRAPHY 425 (2 semester hours), United States.

All in all, it looks like a lot of homework ahead -- for teachers!

Snow Bill Tops $1 for an Inch

Snow isn't just a nuisance, or a pain in the neck. It's also an expensive stuff. Just keeping it off Charlevoix County's roads and highways costs from $128,000 to $166,000 a winter.

THAT'S a pretty steep price to pay for snowball makings. It adds up to more than $1 for every inch of snow, when you compare the official average snowfall figure to the number of dollars spent to get rid of it.

Ralph H. Hamilton, Charlevoix County Road Commission secretary, reports between 20% and 30% of the annual commission budget is spent getting snow off the roads.

The amount of snow that falls each winter and the number of heavy snowfall storms determines the amount of money spent for road clearance.

For instance, in 1962-63 the county had an annual average snowfall of 105.33 inches. It cost the Road Commission $166,224 for snow removal that winter, Hamilton reports.

LAST WINTER we had a light snowfall, only 88.93 inches on a county average. Snow removal costs dropped to $126,032. Still not chicken feed.

The 1961-62 snowfall was deeper than any in the past two years, 118.47 inches. Removal costs were $162,208.

Figuring out what percentage of the Road Commission's annual budget is spent for snow removal Hamilton reports:

In 1962 the budget was $366,201 of which snow removal took 29.46%.

In 1963 the commission spent 29.91% of its $374,492 budget on snow removal. Last year 20.58% of the $390,799 budget was spent for snow removal.

"JUST REMEMBER this (snow removal) is a service item only and it uses up about 30% of the income and the roads are not improved one bit, in fact winter damages the roads and make higher maintenance costs," Hamilton said.

The county receives snow removal fund monies from the state annually, based on the average snowfall. In 1962 this totaled $18,884. It dropped to $9,148 this year due to last winter's light snowfall.

Local roads generally get the biggest portion of the county's snow removal money. State highways rank a close second, with primary roads third.

The county has 554 miles of local roads, 171 miles of primary roads and 70 miles of state highway.

IN THE 1962-63 winter $82,019 was spent removing snow from local roads, $54,205 on state highways and $49,999 on primary roads.

Last winter $45,610 was spent for snow removal on state highways, $42,441 on local roads and $37,980 on primary roads.

Rather than hire additional men to help cope with snow removal chores, the Road Commission works its regular crew of 48 men extra hours, if necessary. Adding to the work force for this seasonal problem would result in men being idle much of the time, Hamilton said.

The Road Commission has 50 pieces of equipment that is used in one way or another for snow removal operations.

When snow plows go on the road in the morning their first duty is to get a path cleared for school buses. Second consideration is mailmen.

THE ANNUAL average snowfall is determined by measuring devices at both the eastern and western side of the county and at Beaver Island.

Ellsworth Tops C-L, Elk Rapids

By KATHI WIELAND
ELLSWORTH - The Lancers met their rivals from Central Lake last Friday, on Ellsworth's floor, winning 55-44. The game was Central Lake's home game, but it was held in Ellsworth because of the larger seating capacity here.

The gym was packed for the big game, and the spectators and players were very keyed up.

The varsity led the scoring all the way, but they earned every basket they made. Scoring was very light in the first quarter, the Lancers only having 9 points, and the Trojans 3 by the end of the 1st period.

In the second quarter both teams came to life and the game got kind of rough. The first half ended with the Lancers leading the scoring by 16 points, with the score 30 to 14.

In the second half, the Trojans outscored the Lancers by making 30 points to the Lancers' 25. This small margin was not enough to upset Ellsworth's earlier lead. The final score was 55 to 44.

High point man for Ellsworth was again Chet Boss, with 19 points. With 12 points, Dennis Burns led the scoring for the Trojans.

Earlier in the week Ellsworth beat Elk Rapids 73-57.

WHO SHOT WHAT

The Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club pistol team set a crackling pace last week as it scored 1,364 points to the Coast Guard team's 1,186.

Frank Zednick, new club president, led the pistol shooters with 279 points. Paul Johnson shot 277; Roger Hull, 274; Bernie Ward Jr., 289, and Harold Lang, 265.

Lt. Cmdr. Charles Millrad, with 274 points, lead the Coast Guard team. Edwin Pyrzynski shot 257; Ronald Sixberry, 224;

Other shooters at the weekly club pistol shoot, but not on either team, were Sam Alexander, 173; Dick Smith, 235; Herb Boss, 235; Ken Boss, 259; Babe Mathews, 239; Bernie Schaner, 257; Bill Ball of Petoskey, 267 and Bill Blissett, 240.

When Boyne City Comes to Town

Bitter Rivals Clash Friday

An old and bitter rivalry will be renewed this week when the Charlevoix Raiders host the Boyne City Ramblers Friday night.

Last Friday the Raiders lost a close one, 78-72 to Gaylord. Raiders will be remembering their tournament game with the Ramblers when they meet and this, undoubtedly, will spur the local quintet to greater heights.

FOR THE first time in several years the Raiders will be favored over the visitors. However, this could still develop into quite a game, especially if the Raiders let down after their tough games with Gaylord and Pellston. Thus far the Ramblers have lost to Grayling (59-33) and East Jordan (54-36) while the Raiders have won over Mancelona (79-43) and have lost to Gaylord (78-72). In addition, the Raiders have a more experienced squad and this will be favored for this reason also.

In Friday's game at Gaylord, the Raiders, playing without regular, Doug Winnell, who was benched with an ankle injury, made an excellent showing against big Tom Lick and Company.

Jim Uhrick did an outstanding job of guarding Lick, holding him to 22 points while scoring 21 himself. Del Terrill also played an excellent offensive game, matching Lick's scoring total.

A BAD FIRST period in which they were outscored 28-9 was the Raiders' undoing for they never managed to overcome the 19-point deficit, though they outscored the Blue Devils 21 to 20 in the second half and 26-13 as the second half got underway to trim the Gaylord lead to 61-56 going into the final period. Gaylord made a comeback in the last period outscoring Charlevoix 17-16 to hand on for the victory.

As so often happens, Charlevoix outscored Gaylord 30-26 in the field goal department but lost out on the free throw where the Blue Devils hit on 26 of 37 tries while collecting only 15 personal fouls. Charlevoix, on the other hand, connected on 12 of 19 tries but had 26 personal fouls called.

Lancer JV's Lose Twice In One Week

ELLSWORTH'S junior varsity team lost their game to Central Lake by one point, 26-25. In the first quarter, each team kept the other from scoring and when the quarter ended, Central Lake was only ahead 8-7. At the end of the second quarter, the lead was reversed and Ellsworth led, 14-13.

IN THE THIRD quarter, both teams fought hard to gain the lead and at the end of the quarter, we still held only a one point lead, 20-19.

In the fourth quarter, with three minutes to play, the score was tied. Then a Central Lake player got a free shot which proved to be the winning point and they won 26-25.

High point man for Ellsworth was Darryl Kaley with 11 points. Ellsworth's J. V. team was defeated 34-17 when they traveled to Elk Rapids last Tuesday.

WITH NINE points to his credit, Harold DeYoung, who we all remember as the tall blond kid that always gets the jumpballs, was the high point man for Ellsworth.

Members of the Ellsworth Junior Varsity squad are, Duane Drenth, Ed Nachazel, Harold DeYoung, Daryl Kaley, St. Doctor, Bruce Chellis, Joe Nachazel, Danny Boss, Jack Kooyer, Roy DeVries, Eugene Drenth, Peter VanderArk, Marvin Best, Ed Burns, Bob Dennis.

East Jordan Riding High

East Jordan will travel to Mancelona this week to take on the Ironmen after having clashed with Gaylord on their home floor Tuesday night.

This game should be a breeze for the big and talented Jordanites who racked up their first victory last week with a 54-36 win over Boyne City.

THE RED Devils had everything their way in their meeting with Boyne City as they led the Ramblers 11-8, 27-23 and 43-31 by quarters behind the scoring of Fred Malpass who came through with 19 points and Mick Bell who had 11.

Four Ramblers left the game via the foul route in the final period. Scott Hall, one of the four, had 13 points before he went to the bench.

Representatives from Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Otsego counties have been asked to attend.

CHARLES B. Park, coordinator of the poverty pockets program for the 33 counties in northern Michigan, said it is necessary for these counties to act fast if they expect to benefit from the Economic Opportunity Act in the present fiscal year.

Lancers Will Play in Yule Tournament

ELLSWORTH'S Lancers have accepted an invitation to play in the Christmas tournaments in Traverse City at the St. Francis gym. The first game Saturday, Dec. 26, at 3:30 p.m. Suttons Bay against Bellaire, at 5:30 p.m. East Jordan against Ellsworth, at 7 p.m.; the second bracket will start with Traverse City St. Francis against Cheboygan Catholic Central, and at 9 p.m. Northport against Frankfort.

Class D and class C schools are playing in this tournament. Coach Bob Danforth says this is a challenging tournament and has confidence in the Lancer team.

Ice Still Not Safe for Play

With Michigan drownings already numbering 286, the worst toll in five years, the State Police Sgt. Jack Brouard is cautioning youngsters, ice fishermen and other outdoor sports followers that early winter ice is still treacherously thin on many lakes and streams.

Of the water deaths this year, at least 10 victims drowned in falls through ice. Two occurred recently when youngsters broke through and drowned under thin river ice.

Brouard emphasized that freezing temperatures generally have not yet been prolonged or severe enough to produce ice about four inches thick, which is considered the safe minimum for bearing the weight of humans. Drownings caused by falls through ice have averaged nine annually in the last four years, with a high of 13 in 1961 and a low of five in 1963.

Make Outdoor Yule Light Safe

By ED REBMAN
Extension Director

BOYNE CITY--Make outdoor Christmas lighting safe as well as attractive. You will enjoy lighting more when you are certain there are no fire or shock hazards.

Whether you purchase ready-made decorations or design and wire your own, these basic precautions apply.

BE SURE CORDS have waterproof sockets and connections. Drape connections over a wood spike to keep them above ground and out of snow and slush. Wrap insulated tape around each connection to keep it dry.

Turn the power off before working on lighting equipment --even when replacing a bulb --when you are standing on damp ground.

Use only outdoor-type rubber-covered extension cords and weather proof lighting strings approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories. Lighting strings made in the United States with the U. L. approval may be a little more expensive, but the additional cost at purchase time for the guarantee of safe wiring may mean saving your home from fire.

Rayders Fight Hard, But Lose

THE BALLET?—Players at Friday's Charlevoix-Gaylord basketball game (Charlevoix in black uniforms) almost look like they may be performing a ballet number. (Otsego Herald-Times)

You take the high road and I'll take the low road... This line sort of staggered through my mind as I looked down on the swamp that winds its way through the hills on both sides of Stover Creek south of the Belvedere Golf Club. It was going on 9 a.m. I had just huffed and puffed my way to the top of a hill for the sixth or seventh time that morning.

Also plodding through the near foot of snow in and on both sides of the ribbon of bog were Irv Drost, Ken Staley and Art Westfall.

BUT FOR THE moment the sound of Irv's red hound and the fox he was chasing were forgotten. What about this low road and high road?

Many other men who tramp the outdoors to find spiritual renewal have asked themselves this question: Is it easier walking in the swamp or the high ground?

Think back a minute. Haven't you at one time or another looked over the country and wondered where the going would be easier? Should you drop down into the cedars or stay along the ridges? Not a very exciting or newsworthy subject, I'll grant you. But surely a perplexing question if you've ever stood leg-weary and winded wondering what the easiest route home would be.

IF YOU STAY to the ridges you find yourself going down a slope and up the next one. Hills that looked gentle a couple of hours ago now become muscle torturing misery.

Of course, you tell yourself this is absurd. You spend just about every free minute you get romping in the outdoors, so you must be in good shape. How can a slight, 100 foot long, grade like this be such a trial?

Yet the fact remains that walking uphill is the hardest damn test on legs there is. The mere realization of this sort of steels your determination to tackle it.

If you chose the swamp route you're not getting any bargain, either.

DUE TO STUMPS, fallen trees, etc., the swamp keeps you constantly lifting your legs to knee-level to step over or around something. This is just about on a par with walking uphill. Added to all this high-stepping, the swamp keeps you busy dodging around thick undergrowth and falling when you miss your footing because the snow covered up a hole.

The swamp is also somewhat frustrating as you must pot forth a great deal of thought trying to figure out what the easiest path is through the thickest spots. Your rifle or shotgun proves to be a problem because it is always catching in the brush. These are all handicaps the high road doesn't have.

Those of you who sit back in your easy chairs and haven't tried tramping the quiet hills and swamps of western Charlevoix County when the snow is on the land may scoff at this lengthy discussion. However, if you are so inclined, before passing your final judgment, park your car at 7:30 some morning beside a country road and take off cross-country at a steady clip for a good five miles.

I GUARANTEE you in a couple hours you, too, will be trying to figure out whether the low road or the high road offers the easiest route back. But you'll have to make up your own mind. It's hard work either way.

Don't misunderstand, it's worth every minute and every ache of it.

There's a certain intangible, but very definite, spell on the hills and bogs during its clash with winter.

There's a solitude and bigness that exists at no other time. There's a hush that can be heard by only you.

A lone deer track stretches across an open field. You watch it narrow down to nothing in the distance. Suddenly that cold path through the snow becomes your closest companion. It's your only tie with the living.

AS YOU LOOK across the frozen hills there is the shocking awareness that it is unwanted by all others. That only you care. Then the haunting sensation that you're no longer a free agent, that you belong to the land.

I've seen this thought drive men from the outdoors forever. It was too much for them to admit their soul really belonged to nature and that they are created by the same power.

Don't let it unnerve you. Plod your weary track up the ridges, through the hardwoods and down into the cedar. Feel new strength flow into your soul and mind as it drains from your muscles.

If your taste doesn't run to chasing fox or rabbits there are plenty of other excuses (through none as good). You can't photograph. The creek bottoms when they are heavy with snow, and the rising sun behind shimmering white hilltops make camera subjects as quietly beautiful as anything of summertime.

Mt. McSauba Warrants Community's Support

WHY SHOULD I donate to Mt. McSauba, several people have asked us since last week's campaign started to raise $500 in $1 donations.

When we counter by asking them why they shouldn't we hear two basic reasons: 1--The ski hill has been stumbling for years and always seems to need help; 2--It isn't much of a place to ski, anyway, and Charlevoix people have many nicer places to go to within easy driving distance.

AS FOR THE first point, our answer is easy to come by. Mt. McSauba wasn't set up to be a money-making proposition. Many of any community's most worthwhile organizations need perpetual public support.

But what about this squawk that Mt. McSauba isn't really worth supporting because it is a small hill, with only minimum facilities? There can be no denying the slope is short and the ropes tows are modest.

However, the very fact that the hill is gentle enough for youngsters and beginners, and doesn't require expensive fees to operate elaborate equipment and is close to town is what makes it worth your support.

And we might point out, that this same criticism (excepting the modest facilities) could be made by a true skier about

Boyne Mountain, Nubs Nob or any other Michigan ski area. Certainly the Rockies provide ski runs that make Boyne and Nubs look like child's play. And they're farther away from home. But this is hardly a logical excuse for looking down your nose at Boyne or Nubs. They are the best the state has to offer.

By the same token Mt. McSauba is the best Charlevoix has to offer.

HOW MANY CHARLEVOIX youngsters of the past, present and future would never learn to ski if they had to depend on their parents to take them to Boyne Falls and pay the fare for lifts and instruction? Not Many. And the same hold true with many of our adults who have learned to ski because Mt. McSauba was convenient and inexpensive, skiing potential.

Wouldn't it, we ask, be a shame to deprive these people of this chance to enjoy their winter months in the north-land?

We don't propose Mt. McSauba be kept open for outsiders who might bring a few dollars to town. No. Our interest is strictly in our own children and their parents. Mt. McSauba is a unique community recreation venture for all Charlevoixians to enjoy.

You can help keep it that way with a $1 donation. Will you do your share?

Highway Relocation May Not Suit us But is Reasonable

ANNOUNCEMENT THAT the State Highway Dept. expects to build a freeway to replace US-31 as the main Lake Michigan shoreline highway that will skip far east of Charlevoix around Boyne City raises some eyebrows.

We, frankly, expect to hear some people howl like a rabbit that's just been nabbed by a fox. And though the Courier isn't in the habit of going along with plans made in Lansing or Washington for the local area, on this one we have to pass the battle flag to someone else.

UNQUESTIONABLY WE would prefer to see a new freeway come within a mile or so of Charlevoix. But we sure don't know of a single argument that seems to have an weight when matched against the highway department's reasoning.

To put a modern expressway through Charlevoix would virtually require gutting our town. We're against this. And so are you if you think about it. Furthermore, it would cost untold extra dollars for the state to buy the downtown property it would need.

The only other possible way to build the highway near Charlevoix would be to bridge Lake Charlevoix. Though we may not like facing them, the facts are that the cost of such a project is unreasonable in lieu of the present and projected flow of traffic over the next 20 years.

Ultimately, we have no doubt such a bridge will be required. (Unless cars are abandoned by the general public in favor of airplanes.) But at present the highway department has no information that indicates the bridge is justified in their planning for the new freeway 15 years from now.

OF COURSE, THERE is no excuse for our giving up. If we can promote Charlevoix to the point where oncoming traffic literally makes travel on US-31 impossible and unsafe, the highway department will reconsider.

So instead of ranting against the long-range plans to take traffic away from Charlevoix into the Boyne City area, get to work and do your part in proving these plans are wrong. You have 15 years in which to do it.

Find Common Ground on Slums

MUCH TO OUR surprise the Courier recently found itself the subject of an investigation by Gov. George Romney's Indian study committee.

The committee, we were confounded to learn, was investigating complaints received by it in southern Michigan that the Courier was running an anti-Indian campaign in Charlevoix. As we put the picture together from conversation with members of the governor's committee, they had the notion we were running a hate Indians crusade, similar to those conducted by a few southern newspapers against Negroes.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS had received their information from northern Michigan sources. These persons, whom committee members refused to identify, had charged the Courier was urging clean-up of Charlevoix's slums to get rid of Indians and in general attempting to picture Indians as undesirable citizens.

The committee asked its northern Michigan "informants" to supply it with actual copies of the Courier to prove its charges. They refused. So the committee sent some of its members to the Courier to investi-

Likewise, committee member Rev. Shanks of Detroit admitted he had come in prepared to scalp the Courier's editor.

SO WE STARTED out on equal footing. Fortunately it only took a few moments for both the Courier and committee members to learn we weren't really at odds. Rev. Shanks and John Winchester (whose Indian name is Thunderhawk) both dismissed suspicions that the Courier was discriminating against Indians. In fact they were thoughtful enough to point out we are getting things moving toward a solution to the slum problem.

On our part we were fast to realize they hadn't come in to nail a hate shingle on our door, but that their interest was purely in getting the truth. A commodity we were glad to supply.

We were happily surprised to learn the caliber of the governor's committee members. Our experience with such committees led us to suspect this one, like most others, would be made up of a pack of idle do-gooders. Perhaps we only met the best of the committee. But if so, we suspect they have enough sincerity and leadership ability to see that a good job is done.

While the Courier does not consider the slum situation an "Indian problem," this is the committee's only interest. So if it will pitch in and help Charlevoix, we'll

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editors:

Smoke is Clearing

DEAR EDITOR:

You've probably noticed that sports heroes are shaving more and smoking less. The tobacco industry, late and limping, has agreed to stop advertising cigarettes as guarantors of athletic, romantic, and business success.

It would be naive to suppose that the new advertising code is nothing more than a whole-hearted, unselfish response to disclosures in the surgeon general's report on smoking and health. And it would be unfair to condemn the code as merely a cynical effort to seem responsive and thus to avert government regulation. The truth lies between those extremes.

THE BULK OF the evidence on which the surgeon general's report was based had been known for some time prior to its release in January. Indications of links between heavy cigarette smoking and a variety of ailments, including lung cancer, had been increasingly bolstered by research during the past several years. The cigarette companies are thus, at best, somewhat late in acknowledging their responsibility not to portray smoking as something eminently desirable and harmless, even healthful. It is reasonable to conclude that action finally came because the alternative would be some form of government control.

All the same, the companies are to be commended for adopting a code which should temper specious claims and reduce smoking's appeal for the young. If the code administrator is given a free hand at forcing compliance, a big step forward will have been taken.

IT DOES NOT follow that the public can now sit back and consider the matter closed. The evidence that excessive smoking is a menace to health is too strong for that.

There is still a place for an enlightened educational program so that those who still want to smoke will at least be able to balance hazard against satisfaction.

Socialism Robs Americans

DEAR EDITOR:

We watched the political campaign with interest and with some disappointment. Perhaps the most disappointing part has been the willingness of so many to accept, and of many to promote, the deceit that is socialism.

Socialism is the enemy of mankind. It robs the industrious to make life easy for the slothful. It pretends to help people while it enslaves them. It is a cancer in our society that will destroy it if not checked.

LET ME GIVE a concrete example of its workings. Under a socialist government for the past 30 years we have, like a marijuana smoker, built up delusions of prosperity while destroying our society's health by building up the biggest public debt in the world's history. Last winter our socialist controlled government in Washington pretended to give us a tax cut. At the same time our "social security" (second income) tax went up. We were supposed to use our savings to buy "prosperity" and help re-elect the present administration which while it pretended a tax cut was raising taxes at the same time and in addition was adding 8 billion dollars to the public debt -- all to buy votes.

THE CROWNING point of this infamy is to be seen in the farm legislation of this summer. A socialist congress, prodded by a socialist president, passed a typical bit of socialist legislation to be found in every socialist country in the world. It expropriated one-third of the farmers' wheat crop by placing a 70¢ a bushel tax on every bushel of wheat he sells.

Americans who have been shocked by the expropriation of American property in countries like Russia and Cuba are for the most part unaware that socialism is now robbing Americans at home in the same way. "Ignorance is bliss" but it can't last.

Our Laughs Last Longer

DEAR EDITOR:

Laughter is the best safety device known to man since it helps relieve tensions, anxieties and frustrations. We have a tendency to take our problems more lightly when humor is injected into our situation. It's easy to look at the sunny side of life and mirth can often bring the sunshine of good cheer to what seems a serious incident at the time.

When you laugh, just notice how soothing your nerves are and how easily it is to calm a temper. Laughter is like a tonic which cures many ills. Those who use it often, -- just a little longer, "A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest of men."

odds 'n ends

By FRAN MARTIN

Charlevoix got quite a mention recently, in the event you missed it, in John Walter's Prep Notebook in the Detroit News . . . Many of you know this sports writer . . . he's here every summer for the Michigan Amateur and has quite a spot in his heart for Charlevoix . . . after all, he's a northwestern Michigan lad himself, having been born and reared in the Leelanau or Northport area . . . In his column he was commending on prep school football records and of course, Charlevoix's was one of those mentioned for it stands second to only one other, Morenci . . . which had 44 straight wins in the 1948-53 years then a tie and three more games before the team suffered a loss . . .

CHARLEVOIX'S record ran from 1945 through '50 for 42 games without a loss tho' some of them were squeakers the players of those days will tell you . . . 33 of these were under Ray Kipke from whom the team, the Rayders, take their name . . . In case you've ever wondered why Rayder is spelled as it is . . . Of the 33, two were ties at East Jordan in the years when Danny Devine, now head coach at Missouri, was fresh out of Minnesota and on his way up . . . Then came Del Terrill who ran the streak to 42 before this same East Jordan, then under Gayle Saxton, toppled the Rayders . . . Then in '55 came our own Don Carey who racked up quite a record with 23 wins in 24 starts . . . for a 90-5-3 win - lost-tied record over a 13 year period . . . Mighty fine in anyone's book . . .

The sports philosophy of those years is carried on by many a youngster who played under these fine coaches . . . Many have gone into coaching and thus continue the tradition of which they were a part . . . others apply it to their everyday living for it's left its mark on the youth who passed through our high school . . . Add the name of the late Irish Coleman to that list and I'm sure you'll agree that, all in all, we've been lucky, fortunate, blessed . . . call it what you will when it comes to coaches . . .

JUST A NOTE to those of you who have fled to warmer climes: we have winter in a big way . . . It's been coming on for some time but early this week we got about eight inches of the white powdery stuff we call snow . . .

On Sunday the temperature dropped to 8 degrees and everything was covered with frost (tho' the boss insists it was snow) . . . Not realizing it was as cold as that I'd gotten out real early . . . only to find Round Lake covered with steam rising from the "warm" water, giving the whole area a sort of "English moor" look . . . and you couldn't see past the piers into Lake Michigan for the same condition existed . . . Over on the south side I heard a sound that just didn't fit into this scene . . . For a second I couldn't place it and then when I realized what it was I started looking around . . . and there, high in a maple at the corner of State and West Upright was a crazy mixed-up robin . . . chirping as tho' it was April . . . but looking as though he was hunching his black overcoat tighter around his neck with each chirp . . . I hope someone's informed him that it looks like a mighty long and cold winter . . .

All this is making the skiers and the winter resort operators happier than they almost have a right to be . . . Boyne Mountain had a terrific weekend and the others are getting started . . . and even Charlevoix shared in the windfall for the Lodge had a charter bus of skiers from LaGrange, Ill., the earliest in its history . . . So off we go, into the winter season . . .

On the Outdoor page of Sunday's Grand Rapids Press was a picture about deer hunting in the "good old days" . . . In the event you didn't see it, it was taken in December 1898 and showed 32 deer taken in the U. P. by 14 hunters from Traverse City . . . 27 of the 33 deer were strung along the side of a 45-ft. excursion boat named the Onkema and skippered by a Capt. Emory . . . (Don't know if it was related to our Emory's)

According to the story, the license cost 50 cents and entitled the hunter to take anything . . . a buck, doe or fawn . . . and there were some of each in the picture along with extra sets of antlers . . .

Pete Burns called my attention to it for the Onkema is one of the boats that lies in the ship's graveyard at Byster Bay . . . This one is on the west side of the bay . . . and Pete should know for he grew up out there and used to play on these abandoned boats when he was a kid . . .

THOUGH THIS may sound a bit premature, Christmas is almost upon us . . . In fact, when you read this, it will be just a week away . . . so, if you don't mind, I'd like to wish you all the greetings of the season . . . May you find under your Christmas tree this year all those things you've always longed for . . . I hope you will find among those gaily wrapped packages friendships, old and new, that are to be treasured, happy memories of other Christmases long gone, the promise of a bright future, happiness in great abundance, and dreams . . . these are things one sometimes miss for they're elusive and unless you look carefully you might not find them . . . for they're also small when you first see them and eventually become reality . . .

All this and more I wish for you all this holiday season for you are unique . . . boss (Glenn Sheppard, to you), Tom McDaniels, Hilda Gibson and Harold "Sonny" Lang . . .

Classroom --Report--

The 4th, 5th, and 6th grades will present a short history of some of the Christmas carols sung during the first 3 centuries of American history and some of our own twentieth century Christmas songs. The first American Christmas carol was written in 1641 by a French missionary for the Huron Indians in Quebec. It is entitled "Jesus Atonia" which means, "Jesus is Born". Many carols were brought by immigrants from Germany, Sweden, France, etc. Some carols are truly American, written by two American ministers; Edmund Sears, and Phillip Brooks. After the history of the carols are given, groups of boys or girls or the chorus will sing them. The presentations will be accompanied by suitable scenery, actions, or pantomime.

Kindergarten and first grade children will present a choral reading, "CHRISTMAS COOKIES". The cookies have many sizes and shapes. There will be bells, stars, reindeer and many others. The little chefs also declare these cookies are good to eat.

The Second and Third grades are going together to put on their part of the Christmas program. It is called, "Signs and Sounds of Christmas", and is under the direction of Mrs. Doubkin and Mrs. Spoelmann. It will include many of the familiar Christmas

The crutch slid from under Jays arm and he went falling. The fall caused his hip joint to come out of socket. Jay is now in traction at Munson Hospital in Traverse City.

ROY SAYS...

Central Lake fans came in throngs to hoot and scream for their home team but try as they did they went home the loser, 55-44.

Chet Boss broke the ice and tipped in the first field shot. Ellsworth's defense in the first half was superb. Wait Kooyer once again was the playmaker and had the team under control. He being fast and shifty had the ball in Chet's hand at the right time.

Marv Ruis was healthy for the game, news was withheld before the Elk Rapids game that Marv had sprained his thumb and in that game wasn't at his top performance but against the Trojans was working hard.

All through the game Coach Danforth was substituting. His starting line up was center Gary Torga, guards Chet and Walt, forwards Marv and Ken Richardson. Coach used Larry Torga, Carl Golman and Fred Gibbs and the team moved at a steady pace.

The Lancers held Powers Payton, the big gun of the Trojans, to 11 points and their high scorer for the evening Dennis Burns with 12. Many fans cheering for the Ellsworth Lancers as they hit their mark. Boss received most of the loud cheers. His 19 points were high for the team, Gary had ten.

The most exciting game for the evening was the Junior Varsity game. Ellsworth held the night with Harold DeYoung at 6'9" but the Trojans commanded the boards. This team will get better the more it plays.

Bruce Chellis is the only reliable sub, if Joe and Bob would put their noses to the grindstone and get back on the team, this could help the squad.

Ellsworth's Junior High team was host to the Central Lake team. Again the Lancers had the tallest boy. Randy Ruis (a cousin to Mary and Rich), stands at six foot and this gave him the advantage to score.

Randy lead the squad with 18 points and victory of 37 to 27. This team is continuing where it left off last year. Their coach Olin Kaufman is very pleased with this team's first game. The boys are a hard working group and the coach is taking every advantage of practice, other than school hours.

The Ellsworth fans are giving the Lancers good support and can continue to do so. See you in the front row.

Wise Men Trod Weary Road in Quest of Truth

By Rev. EVERETT HERBERGER
Assembly of God Church

Many found their footsteps leading them toward Jerusalem. Upon arriving they registered as citizens, paid their taxes, wandered about the city; and at the dawning of the next day wended their weary way along the trails home. (Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born king of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east and are come to worship him. --Matthew 2:1,2)

But, there were other just as weary travelers; men who did not have to come for the census registering or to pay taxes, certain men who came from many miles farther away than the average traveler and, who came with perhaps a much more important purpose than any of the other travelers. These are called wise men, Magi, or the Three Kings. Yet, it was not their station in life nor their wisdom which makes their story important. It was the purpose of their coming which is more important. (Run ye to and fro, and see now if there be any that seeketh the truth. --Jeremiah 5:1) The slowing, plodding pace of their camels, the heavy dust upon their magnificent cloaks were mute testimonies of the persistence of their seeking.

THEY CAME TO Jerusalem, thru the east gate or Shushan gate, up the hill, thru the city and to the kings palaces. After all, an event so important as the birth of a prince, the future king would be celebrated by all from the palace to the least subject.

We see their faces, masked with surprise. Incredible as it seems, the king and his wise men were ignorant of any such event. Nor, in all Jerusalem was there any sign that a new born deliverer was anywhere near. Disappointment sagged their shoulders as they turned to leave the palace. (Seek and ye shall find. --Matthew 7:7)

But lo! Behold a bright light in the heavens! Was it an angel messenger carrying a bright torch to guide them thru the darkness of the Eastern night? Or perhaps an unusual alignment of the planets forming a sign of direction? Or maybe a single miraculous bright star, novae, flicked into the sky above them by the finger of the Almighty. You decide. Whatever, it reveals the desire of God to help any sincere seeker.

It was not to the Kings palace or the hallowed, beautiful temple of the Jews to

St. Mary's Students Pray Before Advent Wreath

These, and all, children at St. Mary's school observe the beautiful Christmas custom of the Advent Wreath. Every morning the children say a prayer around the wreath which represents God's everlasting message. The four candles represent the 4,000 years man had to wait for Christ's birth. One candle is lighted each of the four weeks before Christmas.

Christmas Edition

Again this year the front page of the Courier's Christmas edition is written by Charlevoix clergymen. Their stories carry a contemporary message for Charlevoix County residents about the most lasting event in mankind's history. This unique experiment in community journalism was initiated last Christmas by the Courier and Charlevoix ministers. It met with overwhelming reader approval. Consequently, readers can look for it to become a lasting tradition. Of course, there are other things--of considerably lesser importance--going on in Charlevoix this week. For stories and pictures on these events turn to the inside pages.

Oh yes, a MERRY CHRISTMAS to you all from the Courier Staff: Hilda, Sonny, Tam and Shep.

If Christ Were Born Here?

By the Rev. Dr. HAROLD E. KOHN

A few days ago I was asked, "If Christ were born in Charlevoix this December 25th, in what ways would His coming contrast with His birth in ancient Bethlehem?" My answer? There would be hardly any contrast at all! At least not in the important things.

To be sure, there would be little differences. The Wise Men would come from the East by jet airliner rather than on camel-back. Instead of shepherds coming into town from starlit fields to adore the Holy Child, a few factory workers would gather to do Him honor. The crowded inn of Bethlehem would be replaced by some Charlevoix motel where a sign flashed, "No Vacancy." And, since we don't have many cattle stalls in our town, Mary and Joseph would likely settle down for the night in the empty stall of a two-car garage. If Jesus were born in our town this Christmas-tide, some things would be a bit different from His coming to Bethlehem. But these matters are all trifling in comparison with the real essentials of Christmas.

IN ALL IMPORTANT regards the birth of Christ in our town would compare, rather than contrast, with the event in Bethlehem nearly twenty centuries ago. This is so because God has not changed either in His character or in the way of accomplishing His purposes. Furthermore, it is so because human nature has not changed, not basically. Our material advancement in these two thousand years has been astonishing and has outdistanced spiritual progress by far. We have improved on Bethlehem's sheep, but not on the shepherds. Wise men can travel farther, faster, more comfortably now, but are

Let Fear-Crazed World Hear Christ's Message

Calvary in the Congo for World Betterment.

In November of 1964 the Congo's Stanleyville took its place with Dachau and Birmingham, with Nagasaki and Calvary.

"The decision of brutal death, it is true, was made by ignorant and superstitious men, but it followed the familiar pattern of horror and heroism as well.

THAT PATTERN is simple. First comes an event that needs interpretation, like the American and Belgian planes that roared above the Congolese rebels.

Then a word to interpret the event to the confused, like the Swahili cry, "Ciyuga, kill them all! Finally the response, like a Belgian baby ripped in half by gunfire or an American Mission-

Material Ambitions Can Cloud our Minds

By Rev. ALEXANDER WOOD
Christ Episcopal Church

"For unto you is born a Saviour, which is Christ, the Lord!" To the Wise-men, the shepherds, Mary and Joseph, this pronouncement meant a great deal. But not everyone was equally concerned. There were many that treated the coming of a Messiah with an attitude of casualness and indifference. Who were some of these people?

PERHAPS THE first that comes to our mind is the inn-keeper. With the throngs of people who had come to Bethlehem to be registered in the census, the inn-keeper was busy filling up his inn with important persons -- census takers, tax gatherers, the rich, high ladies and their lords. To him any spiritual implications of God sending His Son into the world had little significance. When Mary and Joseph appeared at the inn in all their humility, they lacked the standards of his worldly importance. Yet there stood at his door -- the Son of God, Jesus of Nazareth, the Prince of Peace, and Saviour of the World. No room for Him in the inn? How incredible!

Census takers and tax-gatherers were in Bethlehem, too. But they better men, wiser men, than those of yesterday when they reach the end of their journey? And is the purpose of today's traveling any improvement over that of the Wise Men of the East, or could it ever be? Are we not much like Bethlehemites of old, crowded together, excessively busy, preoccupied with secondary things, too conscious of trifles, and generally unaware of what God is doing among us? Doesn't the passage of two thousand years leave us in the inn keeper's predicament? Our accommodations are crowded. We are too full. And modern man's most familiar excuse for turning away the Highest and Best God sends our way is still, "I'm too busy!" So God's glory passes us by, and we miss it, because our attention is absorbed elsewhere.

If Christ Were Born Here?

But if Christ came to our town now, as on that first Christmas night there would be some who would be sensitive enough to feel the brush of angel wings, quiet enough to hear the angel song, attentive enough to listen to the heavenly messenger break the good news, "Unto you is born this day..... a Savior." There would be those who would excitedly say, as did the shepherds, "Let us go...and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us." They would find Mary and Joseph and the Babe.

There are still some wise men and women who would travel any distance at any cost to find the Christ and bow at His cradle. Times have changed, but we have not, and our need of Him has not. Wise men still come to Him and find Him in the most unexpected places.

PHILLIPS BROOKS, the Boston minister who wrote the Christmas carol, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," was widely known as a man of kindly manner and splendid influence. One day this note about Dr. Brooks appeared in a Boston newspaper, "Yesterday opened cloudy and unpleasant, but about noon Phillips Brooks came downtown, and everything brightened up." The presence of that good man made life in Boston take on a different hue.

One who is far greater than Phillips Brooks, or any one else who has ever walked the earth, came to our world one glad night long ago. His presence made a difference in all who looked upon Him and loved Him. Mary and Joseph, the shepherds and the Wise Men were never the same after they looked upon Jesus. He will make a difference in us, too, if we really are aware of His coming, and welcome His presence among us.

Material Ambitions Can Cloud our Minds

they were too wrapped up in the thoughts of money to give much attention to the coming of God's Anointed Son. What difference did it make if a messiah did come? Money, power, authority, and position were of greater importance. There was no place in their hearts and minds for a Saviour. Money was their god!

Besides Jesus Christ, King of Kings and Lord of Lords, there was another King who was much concerned about the event, King Herod. His concern was purely one of jealousy and fear of what might happen to his own kingship if this usurper should be acknowledged king by the multitudes. So he issued the order to kill all boy babies under two years of age, being confident that thus the rival "king" would be eliminated as a threat. Yet time has proven who was the real King - not Herod, but Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who came as a Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger.

Also there were the curiosity and sensation seekers, who did not want to miss the unusual. If there were to be any stupendous thrill they wanted to be in on it. But the birth of a child to a village carpenter and his young bride among the animals of an inn's stable did not seem to qualify as sensational enough to bring any comment or notice.

WHAT MADE THE difference between all these people and the shepherds and wisemen? The shepherds and wisemen could see beyond things temporal and material. They were willing to take time out of their daily vocation and activity to give homage, honor and worship to the spiritual and eternal values of life. They had the insight to see in the everyday occurrence of events the hand of God manifesting Himself to all people.

In our own age, we still have the inn-keepers, the tax gatherers, census takers, Herods, and the crowds - too concerned with material ambition, security, prestige, power and earthly possessions to take note of the spiritual implications of Christmas. In our own "busy-ness" for the material side of Christmas we miss the Person. We find no room for Him in the Inn of our hearts, minds, and souls.

We also can have shepherds and wise-men. In our world of hate, fear, suspicion, mistrust, and greed (not so different from the world surrounding our Lord's birth) - we must turn to the alternative that will lift us out of our materialism and secularism. God gives us the road to travel which will lead us to our true freedom and peace - the road to Bethlehem. The Christmas angels still tell us - "unto you is born a Saviour." Let us, with devotion and adoration, come and kneel before Him, and give of ourselves to Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour, the Prince of Peace for all mankind.

Wise Men Trod Weary Road in Quest of Truth

which the star led them. Not even within the city itself. The star appeared to them as they walked thru the western gate called the Valley Gate. They turned south on the road to Bethlehem, King David's birth place and continued to where the star hung over the place of the Christ Child. No sigh of royalty did they see. Not even any pretense in the manner of speech of the lowly family. But, something happened to the learned Ancients. They fell upon their knees before Him, worshipping Him and presented their rich gifts to Him. Gold for the King, Myrrh for the Victor, and Frank-incense for the Very God. (For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour, who will have all men to come unto the knowledge of the truth.--1 Timothy 2:3,4. Jesus saith, I am the truth.--John 14:6)

THESE ARE NOT the gifts of children or the actions of unbridled immature sentimentality. They were convinced by all the unmistakable signs and the encounter with the Christ. The depth of their experience is measured by the words, "they worshipped Him," and, their journey home over another strange road and not the one they had so carefully charted for their searching and seeking. Home, with a satisfaction which remained with them to their dying day.
